PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH,
VICTORIA, B.C., June 30th, 1918.

To His Honour Sir FRANK STILLMAN BARNARD, K.C.M.G.,
Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of British Columbia.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR:

The undersigned has the honour to present the Report of the Provincial Board of Health for the six months ending June 30th, 1918.

J. D. MACLEAN,
Provincial Secretary.

REPORT of the
PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH,
VICTORIA, B.C., July 31st, 1918.

Doctor the Honourable J. D. MacLean,
Provincial Secretary, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the Twenty-second Report of the Provincial Board of Health, being for the first six months of the year 1918. I do not call this an annual report, as it forms the connecting link as between the previous annual reports and those to follow. It is an annual report in so far as the report of the Medical Inspection of Schools is concerned, but the other matters deal only with the first six months of this year.

In my report of last year, submitted to you in January of this year, I recommended for your consideration a change in the date of the issuance of the report in order to enable the Department to issue the report in midsummer; my reasons being that under the Statute we are obliged to present our annual report at the meeting of the Legislature, which occurs in this Province in January. The result of this was that we were often obliged to say that returns have not been received from certain outlying districts; this not because of any fault on the part of the officials at these points, but owing to distance and uncertainty of the mail service. The Department desires to acknowledge the fact that you have seen fit to concur in the request, and for the future the annual report of the Provincial Board of Health will be issued at the end of June.

In the present report the report of the Medical Inspectors of Schools embraces the term from August 1st, 1917, to the completion of the school term in 1918, thus covering the full school-year of two terms.

British Columbia is fortunate in the physical conditions presented in the Province. It is a mountainous country with an abundant supply of water derived from the forest-clad hills, and in all parts, with probably a few exceptions where industries are developing along the water-courses, remarkably pure, and being a new Province sparsely populated we are better able to control the source of supply, with a consequential diminution in the number of water-borne diseases. Our population is composed of people accustomed to outdoor life, and this, coupled with the fact that we possess an unrivalled climate, is another factor in the preservation of the health of the community. We have, of course, to contend with the fact that there are vulnerable points due to our being a seaboard Province, also that we are at the termination of three trans-continental railroads.

Our Municipal Health Boards, however, are well established and well administered, especially in our seaport towns, and while there are a sufficient number of cases of infectious diseases from time to time to keep us on the qui vive, we have been able to keep perfect control, and the results are that our returns of the existence of infectious diseases are very satisfactory from a health point of view.

We have continued, during the past six months, our work along educational lines, and we are pleased to report what we consider very satisfactory progress. The health propaganda in the Province, as well as in the Dominion as a whole, has been wonderfully assisted by the fact that probably every Canadian has some friend in the army, and everything in connection with the work of our men is eagerly read and discussed. Naturally those immediately related to the men are very much interested in their environment in the camps, in the conditions surrounding them when they are travelling, and particularly their modes of life at the Front. In the war we accept and are prepared for the account of the casualties on the firing-line, but what we do not want to hear of is the existence of disease in cantonments or the prevalence of epidemics amongst our men. The history of previous wars has always been a sad one, from the fact that the enumeration of the fatalities always shows from three to five dead from disease where one died of wounds. During the present war, with millions of men in the field, and living under the highest pressure of effort, both mental and physical, the reports of deaths from disease have shown a small percentage of the total casualties of the army. This has been brought about by strict observance of health regulations, insistence upon sanitary surroundings, and the inoculation of our men against the inroads of infectious diseases. The people of Canada are educated and intelligent, and the publication of the state of health of the troops has led them to ask, if such virulent diseases as smallpox and typhoid can be stamped out in the army, why they cannot be stamped out in civilian life where conditions are more organized and stable. They are coming to the conclusion that there is no reason why they cannot be, if the people themselves will follow the directions given by their officers of health in the same way that their friends are following them out under military command. In the army they have to do it; in civilian life, the effort, to be successful, must be voluntary. They are beginning to realize that within natural limitations any community can determine its own death-rate, and also to realize that "prevention is better far than cure." The result of this has been that we have seen that during the past three years conviction is dawning in the minds of the people that under other circumstances would have probably taken twenty-five years of constant effort to have brought about. They are beginning to realize what the influence of the individual as regards his relation to the community means, and as regards the efforts he must make individually in the prevention of disease by attention to personal hygiene, the education of himself and others in the idea of prevention of disease as distinct from its cause. They are beginning to believe health authorities when they say that there are more people dying in civilian life to-day from preventable causes than are being lost as a result of the war, and they are determined to so order their lives that this immense drain upon the population of the country shall cease.

The majority of our people belong to some one of the many organizations that are concerned in war-work, and they are learning this lesson, and learning it in such a way that many of these organizations will continue after the war to carry on the war against disease. They are learning what splendid results can be obtained from unity of action, especially when the unity of action is backed by a thorough knowledge of the results to be attained and a consciousness of the fact that in their organization they have the means of accomplishing these ends.

Co-operation as between the Board of Health, the medical profession, and the general public is absolutely essential for the carrying-out of a successful health propaganda, and in this connection I would beg leave to call your attention to the laxity on the part of the medical profession in regard to the provisions of the "Health Act" in reference to the reporting of infectious diseases. It has been a source of constant anxiety on our part to note that the profession does not seem to recognize that upon them devolves the care of the health of the public at large.

Many of our problems have to do with physical facts capable of direct demonstration, while others deal with the ethical bearings of certain groups of facts upon man's relations to society. The notification of disease belongs peculiarly to the latter class. The war has been of importance to our generation, since it has forced into prominence certain public issues which have demanded attention, but which in time of peace are merely academic discussions. We have reached the point where positive action is necessary. It ought to be clearly recognized that, if medicine is a profession, then its highest ideals must be maintained in the practice of it. If, however, it be an art of business sanctioned by law and licences, then in the interests of the public it must be strictly regulated, and one of the first things the Legislature can say is: "That for the granting of the licence to practise medicine a physician must be under the 'Registration Act,' report at once every birth and death occurring in his practice, and likewise must report every case of communicable disease that comes under his charge. Indeed, it is an axiom in all law and government that the licensing power carries with it the right not only to regulate what it licenses, but also to inspect the carrying-on of the art or trade which it licenses as to its complying with the law."

If we accept this view—and we must—we arrive at the point where we must say that if the physicians of the Province fail to recognize their obligation to the State, then the State must resort to compulsion in order to make sure that every man will do his duty.

The health of the people is above the law, and I would earnestly recommend to your consideration the suggestion that some means be adopted whereby the fact may be brought home to the medical profession that in accepting from the State a licence to practise their profession they are assuming an obligation that is mandatory.

Supervision of the work of the hospitals must come more directly under the purview of the Government. In co-operating with the physicians the hospital must become more of a health centre in the community. The staff of these hospitals must be educated in health matters, and house-to-house work must be carried out in order that the purpose of the regulations of the Board of Health may be explained to the people. Where a case of tuberculosis exists it must be reported by the physician. It is absolutely essential that the case should be reported if the health-work emanating from the hospital centre is to be made effective, and the people taught that a case of tuberculosis is infectious, and also taught how the other members of the family may be protected from it. If the physician does not report it we can never hope to control the disease. Under your directions, the Board of Health has gone ahead with requests to the physicians to co-operate, but I regret to say that we have not been met with the response that we hoped for.

This is especially true in reference to our efforts to have our cases of tuberculosis reported. In the State of New York, about twenty years ago, the City Board of Health of New York took positive steps to make the notification of tuberculosis compulsory. That was in 1897. Speaking of this in a paper in 1913, Dr. Briggs, now State Commissioner of Health of New York City, said:—

"Of the various features of the anti-tuberculosis work, none is more fundamentally important than notification and registration of cases; and none has been more misunderstood or opposed by the medical profession. In spite of almost innumerable objections at first urged, it has finally been realized that no adequate control of tuberculosis can be effected without such notification and the objectors one by one have been silenced. Certain it is that not one of the disastrous consequences urged against notification has materialized, and in New York City such notification has now been in force for almost twenty years."

Clearly in British Columbia, if we want to give effect to the measures instituted by yourself, we must be notified of active cases of tuberculosis and have these registered. This is necessary for very obvious reasons; but it is enough to say that, with notification ever increasing the effectiveness of the measures taken, the death-rate in the Province will decrease, because if we do not know of the cases we cannot give effect to the measures which will tend to control and gradually eliminate the disease from amongst us.

Every good physician to-day is too much of a sociologist not to co-operate in any general practice in the public interest, but it is to be feared that in too many cases it is the indifferent and sometimes incompetent physician who neglects his duty. As a matter of fact, he cannot act in the best interests of his patient and of the highest art and science of his profession, unless he makes provision for sanatorium treatment of the patient and for the examination of other members of the exposed family with a view of their early treatment if found diseased.

I am mentioning tuberculosis in particular because we have made a special appeal to the profession to report these cases, but the argument advanced as to the physician's duty applies equally to the reporting of all other cases of infectious diseases. A fire which might develop into conflagration could be controlled if found when it is only a small blaze, and just so in the case of infectious diseases. Two or three cases of smallpox which are not reported and are not looked after, but allowed to mingle with the people, may give rise to an epidemic that will cost hundreds of thousands of dollars, to say nothing of the loss of life.

I think I am safe in saying that we have learned nothing of great importance along public-health lines in the present war up to the present time, but what we have gained is the awakening of a very satisfactory proportion of the people to the importance of health-work and to its possibilities. Not in a theoretical direction, but as demonstrated by actual accomplishment.

We must look upon our health-work from a broader outlook. Formerly it was the highest ambition of public-health workers to show each year a diminished morbidity and mortality rate from certain named diseases. If the Public Health Officer could show that in a brief period of his incumbency he had cut the typhoid death-rate down to one-fifth of its former proportions and had a steadily diminishing rate for scarlet fever or diphtheria, he felt that he had done a great deal. But within the past few years we have had a higher ambition. We have felt that we must deal with more than the negative side of health, and that it was most distinctly within the province of a Health Officer to put forth every effort to raise the vitality of every human unit in his community to the highest point of efficiency. He must no longer be satisfied with the knowledge that from the result of his efforts a number of individuals have survived who might have died from some preventable disease, but he must also feel that he must lay a foundation for the robust citizens of to-morrow, and so our ideals have advanced, taking in not only the previous field of sanitation, but also that of personal hygiene.

How to reach the individual, however, has been the problem. Health Officers could not personally supervise the daily life of each individual in the community, and he recognizes, therefore, the necessity for educational measures, directed both to the end of securing better understanding, and hence better support to the Health Department, and also to so educate the individual as to furnish him with the knowledge of how to promote his individual health and with the incentive to put that knowledge into effect. To accomplish this we must do as I said in the beginning; that is, to secure co-operation as between the Board of Health, the medical profession, and the public. Our efforts are being directed along these lines, and during the past six months we have been able to secure the active co-operation particularly of the Women's Institutes in British Columbia. Series of meetings have been held, health films for moving pictures and slides for lanterns have been procured, and a great amount of literature is being distributed. During the coming months an active campaign has been outlined, and a constant effort will be made to bring to the people the knowledge of the fact that public health is purchasable, and that "within natural limitations a community can determine its own death-rate."

In our work in the immediate future special stress will be laid upon the question of rural sanitation. This is a very important question, especially in a Province such as ours, but at the same time the physical conditions in British Columbia are such that we should be able to deal with the difficulties that arise and to educate the people to the adoption of such measures as will do away with the sources of contamination which have been in the past all too prevalent in the rural districts. The logical course, of course, is to deal with contamination of water and food-supplies at the point of origin. The agricultural resources of British Columbia are being developed in a gratifying manner, and especially so in our cannery industries of fruit and fish. The Sanitary Department of the Board has been very active during the past months in the supervision of the canning industries, and a detailed account of their efforts will be found in the Chief Sanitary Inspector's report.

In the matter of milk inspection, we believe that we can be congratulated upon the effective measures which have been adopted for the Province through the Agricultural Department inspection of the cattle and dairies, and also the enactment of the municipal by-laws founded upon the "Milk Act" of the Province. The Agricultural Department, through their very efficient staff, are lending the Board of Health splendid assistance in this department, and there is no doubt that the value of our milk inspection is unquestioned. But there remains a further field of food inspection which merits further development, and the Board of Health would recommend for your serious consideration future activity along certain lines.

First: As to the physical examination of all food-handlers, and the exclusion from food-handling of those having communicable diseases.

Second: The inspection of methods of food-handling to prevent the contamination of food with disease organisms through unclean methods.

Third: The inspection at slaughter of the carcasses of animals used for food purposes.

The carrying-out of the provisions for the first two above suggestions would rest upon the Board of Health, and more particularly upon the Local Boards in the municipalities. Their work in this respect is hampered by inadequate appropriations for health-work, but more particularly by the failure of Municipal Health Officers to develop information which will indicate the need and value of the services mentioned and convince the citizens of the community of its necessity. In our larger cities much credit is due the Local Health Officers for the advances that they have already made in this respect, and their organization is developing in a way that will permit of a normal growth and the accomplishment of effective results.

As regards the third, however, the inspection of animals intended for food purposes, I regret to say that this has been either neglected or ignored entirely not only in British Columbia, but in practically all the Provinces of the Dominion, as inquiry will reveal. The Dominion Government provides inspection of carcasses, but for carcasses used only for export, neglecting entirely any protection for our own citizens. Their system is a splendid one and would prove adequate could it be available for the inspection at the time of slaughter of the meats for the home markets. A great difficulty experienced by the health authorities of the Province and by the municipalities is in controlling the small slaughter-houses and in the inspection of so-called

"farm-killed" animals. Your Department has been working along these lines for some time, and I would recommend that the Board be authorized to undertake a campaign which would bring about the adoption of means that would provide for the future inspection of all slaughtering, and I would recommend:—

First: That the municipalities be empowered to pass laws requiring the slaughtering of animals within prescribed limits and in certain definite places.

Second: To bring about, if possible, the co-operation of operators of small abattoirs. If such co-operation is not possible, then to provide for the regulating of the days and hours of slaughtering in small abattoirs, so that even a small inspection force will be able to visit all establishments and inspect the slaughtering in all.

For the controlling of the inspection of "farm-killed" animals—that is, those slaughtered by individual farmers on their own premises—a large Western city has adopted a plan which works well, and is one which could be adopted successfully by practically all small cities. A city inspection station is provided, to which all carcasses, not otherwise inspected at the time of slaughtering, are brought for inspection before being sold to local dealers. A veterinarian is stationed at this inspection office, and stamps, as approved, or condemns all carcasses brought to the office.

These suggestions are made to meet the present conditions. The question of the establishment of a municipal abattoir is one that is very debatable, but I believe that a practical solution may be worked out from the suggestions offered above for the control of the meat furnished our citizens. If fees for the inspection of carcasses are required, meat-inspection services should be largely self-supporting.

Water.

In my last year's report I referred to the important question which had come before the Board as to the water-supply of the City and District of North Vancouver and the City of Vancouver and adjoining municipalities. Subsequent reservations were placed upon the watersheds by the Government reserving all unalienated lands within the bounds of the watersheds. Regulations governing the companies operating on the watersheds have been issued. Inspectors have been appointed, and I beg leave to report that to date the procedure adopted by the Board has been approved of by the municipalities and the conditions imposed found not to be too onerous, but have proved efficacious in the protection of the water-supply. It is the purpose of the Board to ask that these districts be declared game reserves in order that fishing and hunting parties may be prevented from frequenting them. It is found to be very difficult to deal with people who go in for a day or two for fishing or hunting, as they do not seem to realize the necessity of protecting the water-supply. However, with the Inspector working as a Game Warden for the district, this trouble will be gotten rid of.

Approval was given to the water-supplies at Silverton, North Vancouver (MacKay Creek), East Trail (McKelvey and Dry Creeks). The extension of the cemetery-site at Maple Ridge was also approved.

We have distributed 289,000 units of antitoxin and 415 vaccine points for smallpox. The small amount distributed is an indication of the little trouble which we have had in dealing with infectious diseases, and I beg to report for the Province as a whole a remarkably clean bill of health for the six months past. There was a report of a slight epidemic of mumps in the Langley District and of whooping-cough at Ocean Falls, and reports of measles which was the aftermath of the epidemic which we suffered last year.

I feel that we are to be congratulated upon the condition of affairs, and I am attaching a table showing the report by the Medical Health Officers of the different infectious diseases in the different districts.

The work of the Department during the past six months has been very onerous, particularly in the Vital Statistics Branch, owing to the compulsory registration of the population, and I feel very much indebted indeed to my staff for their very great devotion to duty and the splendid co-operation that they have given me.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
H. E. YOUNG,
Provincial Officer of Health.

GENERAL REPORTS.

SANITARY INSPECTION.

SANITARY INSPECTOR'S OFFICE,
VICTORIA, B.C., September 9th, 1918.

H. E. Young, Esq., M.D., LL.D.,
Provincial Officer of Health, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I herewith beg to submit the Eighth Report on Sanitary Inspection for the Provincial Board of Health.

This report, coming at a time when we are speeding to the limit in our field-work, must of necessity be extremely brief, yet full of meat to those interested in such work.

As a "curtain-raiser" for 1918, the protection of watersheds from which Greater Vancouver derives its water-supply was taken up in earnest, and regulations framed for enforcement through your Sanitary Department. Up to this time the Lynn Valley watershed is the only one where industrial development, such as logging and mining, is being carried on within the defined watershed areas. An experienced resident Inspector is in charge of the sanitary arrangements of these camps and works, the writer making frequent visits in order to be familiar with conditions. The sanitary precautions insisted upon and followed in these camps removes any probability of water-pollution through industrial development on the watershed. All sewage and urinary waste is incinerated daily; kitchen and table waste is incinerated or removed from the watershed; dish-water is disinfected and run to septic pits; the camps are visited regularly by a duly qualified registered physician; every employee is examined and a medical certificate issued for each man; any employee not able to pass the doctor's examination or found to be possessed of any insanitary or filthy habit is at once removed from the watershed area. This is accomplished through the co-operation of the operators in their desire to effect the intent of the Provincial Regulations in safeguarding a public water-supply.

Whilst on the subject of protection for watershed areas, I beg to suggest in all seriousness that immediate steps be taken to insist upon the installation of approved chlorinating plants for every public water-supply or reservoir. In spite of the most drastic laws or regulations to protect a watershed area, an absolute certainty is quite impossible unless the watershed is owned entirely by the municipality or party distributing the water. Therefore, in view of such ownership control, they should be given an opportunity of showing their desire to protect the consumer by chlorinating the water in a scientific modern yet inexpensive manner.

Another source of danger to watershed areas which should and could be easily disposed of is the menace of camping and fishing parties. The taking of fish or hunting for game upon any prescribed or defined watershed should be prohibited and all waterwork or intake officials appointed as Game Wardens for such watershed connected with their regular employment. This would, to a great extent, mitigate an existing menace. Furthermore, the intake officials at Seymour and Capilano should be instructed to stop trespassers passing through waterworks property. The lack of such instruction or power indicates, to my mind, the missing link in the chain of co-operation on the part of affected municipalities. So far this year there has been no sickness attributed or traceable to infected water from a public supply in British Columbia.

Quarantine-work of this Department for unorganized districts has been unusually light this year so far. During February and March an outbreak of variola occurred in a construction camp near our southern boundary-line. Through the vigilance and assistance of the Local Medical Officer of Health we were enabled to confine and stamp it out.

During the past sixty days there has been one death and five recoveries from typhoid fever amongst Japanese camped on a small island near Musquam, on the North Arm of the Fraser River, some twelve miles below New Westminster. The cause was drinking Fraser water which receives the sewage of Westminster and adjacent settlements. There has also been five isolated cases at remote parts of the Province—four Orientals and one white; three deaths and two recoveries. The cause of infection is now being investigated.

At Vernon, during an inspection of the municipal sewage-disposal plant and water-supply, my attention was called to a case of typhoid which was traced by Dr. Williams, the attending physician, to defective house-plumbing. City Engineer Blakeborough instituted remedial measures without delay. The Okanagan Valley has been almost free from infectious fever, due, no doubt, to the vigilance of the Local Medical Officers and the distribution from your office of prophylactics. Whilst in Nelson during July I arranged for the posting of typhoid warning notices at points along the Kootenay where the waters are liable to infection. During June some alarm was taken by the residents of Kootenay River District owing to the discharge from Balfour Sanatorium septic works finding its way to the river. The matter was taken up with the Supervising Medical Officer and a proper sub-irrigation system of disposal adopted.

Summer Resorts.

The British Columbia seaside resorts have been invaded this season by record-breaking crowds. At the larger and thickly populated camps health notices have been conspicuously posted for perusal by parents and guardians. These notices excite favourable comment and much good will undoubtedly result. A notable improvement of sanitary conditions exists in all the summer camps visited, but, with few exceptions, an adequate and convenient supply of pure drinking-water is lacking.

Fruit and Vegetable Canneries.

Following last year's survey of the food canning and storage establishments of the Interior, the following regulations were provided:—

"Every owner or person in charge of premises used for the preparation, canning, packing, curing, cooking, preserving, or manufacture of any food product, either in liquid or solid form, shall be held responsible for the sanitary condition of the said premises and grounds or yard belonging to or adjacent thereto.

"Adequate washing facilities of modern and efficient type must be furnished for employees.

"Efficient and separate toilet accommodation for both sexes, conveniently located and screened from observation, must be provided and maintained in an orderly and clean condition for employees.

"Where sleeping or living quarters are furnished for employees, ample lighting and ventilating facilities must be provided.

"All knives, tables, trays, conveyors, or implements not herein specified, but used in the preparation, handling, or preserving of food products, must be maintained in an absolutely clean state at all times, free from rust or stain.

"The employment of any person afflicted with any skin, blood, or infectious disease of any kind is strictly prohibited in or about the premises used for the preparation of any food product. Wherever any doubt exists, the person under suspicion must produce a medical certificate from a duly registered physician.

"Dogs or other animals must not be allowed in or about any establishment used for the preparation of food for human consumption.

"All outbuildings and rooms used for the storage of raw or prepared food products shall be limewashed, or coated with approved antiseptic, at least once in every year when buildings are to be used.

"The accumulation of cuttings, peelings, liquid or solid refuse or wastes in or about premises used for the preparation of food or food products is strictly prohibited.

"Storage-space enclosed and kept in a sanitary condition, properly screened from flies, must be provided for the reception of all refuse, pending removal from the premises."

These regulations were welcomed by the operators, employees, and district municipalities throughout the great Okanagan Valley. The recommendations made in my July report to the managers of these establishments have been more than met. Columns could be written on the awakening of the Okanagan Valley, an empire in itself. The days of canned, bottled, and dried fruit and vegetable imports are ended. British Columbia will have ample fruit and vegetables to spare for export from now on. Furthermore, such food exports will create an increasing demand not wholly because of excellence of flavour, but because it will be known that the preparation and preserving is under most favourable climatic and sanitary conditions, where Government Inspectors and visitors alike are ever welcome.

Extract from my July report: "My next stop was at Penticton; from here I worked the southern part of the Okanagan Valley. On the whole, the Okanagan Valley is very prosperous. The crops are good, everybody is working hard, and nearly every farmer has an auto to aid him in his rush to get the products of his labour to the rapidly increasing number of canning, grading, and packing establishments. The inauguration of Government Sanitary Regulations governing such food-preparing places was timely and welcomed by both employers and employees. Posters setting forth our requirements were nailed to every establishment and commented upon most favourably. Some of the plants will be in operation until December. Many new plants of a modern design are under construction. The machinery used in the canneries is in many respects similar to that used in the canneries for salmon. Ninety-five per cent. of the places are preparing to abide by your new regulations, and in one or two cases we may have to take drastic action to enforce them in order to protect the public health and provide sanitary conditions for the employees.

"It may be necessary for me to pay another visit to some of the doubtful places, but in the meantime I am preparing a list of the names of local constables where I have requested follow-up work. To these constables will be sent additional copies of the regulations to supply the proprietors with and insist upon observance where necessary."

SALMON-CANNERIES.

On the Fraser River, far-famed for its salmon, I regret to report that, owing to scarcity of fish, only half the usual number of canneries are in operation. The Fraser canneries are operated strictly according to our regulations, and the comment offered by visiting tourists is most favourable. The falling-off of the Fraser salmon harvest is, however, more than compensated by largely increased catches in our northern and western coast waters. In regard to the sanitary operation of these canneries, the only fly in the ointment is the lack in many places of proper disposal of fish offal and cuttings. Whilst the present method of dumping it into the sea does not in any manner affect the purity of the canned product, it does in many instances create a foreshore nuisance which is nauseating when disturbed by storm or steamer-wash during fall and winter months. Some few of the cannery locations are infested with dogfish. These fish act as scavengers, and thus the cannerymen and locality is relieved of a nuisance. At Tuck Inlet, near Prince Rupert, a site was approved of by the writer for the establishing of a modern oilery plant. This institution will take care of all the fish-refuse it can get from the Nass and Skeena River canneries. This waste will be converted into valuable skid-oil, guano, and poultry-cake. This cake is similar in appearance to linseed-oil cake, and for poultry is claimed to be highly nutritious. The operation of this plant will remove the principal objections of the local canners for proper removal to sea of their fish-offal.

During May I visited the following fish canning and curing establishments located in northern British Columbia waters:—

Alert Bay Cannery (located on Cormorant Island).—Manager, Mylo Chambers; operated by the British Columbia Packers' Association, of Vancouver. Cannery premises and outbuildings in good sanitary condition. Six new bunk-houses just finished for white employees. The entire plant is well equipped, and with the exception of an offal-chute our regulations are being observed.

Shushartie Cannery (Northern Part of Vancouver Island).—Manager, A. E. Hamilton, for Western Packers' Association, Standard Bank Building, Vancouver. Premises and outbuildings clean and isolated. No provision for offal-removal. Those in charge of cannery informed me that the local waters are infested with dogfish, which devour every particle of refuse fish dropped from cannery wharf.

Namu Cannery and Sawmill.—Operated by the Drainey Fisheries Company for R. V. Winch & Co., Vancouver. This plant is located on Namu Inlet under the management of Henry Doyle. During the canning season the employees number 300. A number of new dwellings for married employees are under construction.

Gosse-Millerd Cannery, Bella Bella.—Captain Gosse, manager. This is an extensive canning and curing plant with good living accommodation for its employees. Entire premises are well cared for from a sanitary standpoint. The only omission is the lack of some means for the lawful removal of offal and refuse from the foreshore. Complaints regarding the nauseating odour from fish-offal at this point during low-water periods in the fall seasons have been numerous. Captain Gosse assured me that he intends taking remedial action as soon as possible. I beg to suggest that a letter be sent reminding him of the necessity for such action in order to obviate this increasing nuisance and menace.

Butedale.—British Columbia Packers, Limited; Mr. Jefferson, manager. This is a large new plant just being erected, and at the time of my visit no responsible official was available. A copy of the regulations was posted on the office and another marked copy mailed to Mr. Jefferson.

Lowe Inlet Cannery.—Operated by British Columbia Packers' Association; local manager, Mr. Curtis. General sanitary condition good. Latrines are over tidal water. Offal is dumped into sea from cannery below low-water mark.

Claxton Cannery, Skeena River.—Operated by the Wallace Fisheries, Limited, Vancouver; local manager, T. Wallace. This is a large canning and cold-storage plant. The general living condition is good. I requested a general clean-up of the Oriental and Indian quarters; also discussed the offal question with Mr. Wallace, who informed me that he was negotiating with the new Oilery Company, of Prince Rupert, for its removal in future.

Carlisle Cannery, Skeena River.—Operated by the Buttermer & Dawson Canning Company, Vancouver; local manager, T. Lake. Sanitary conditions good. No means apparent for lawful disposal of offal.

Oceanic Cannery, Skeena District.—Operated by Findlay, Durham & Brodie Company, of Victoria; local manager, Mr. Carter. General conditions good; latrines over tide-water; offal dumped into the sea.

Inverness Cannery, Skeena Slough.—Owners, Todd & Sons, Victoria; local manager, Bob Johnson. Large cannery well arranged. Living conditions for employees good. Arrangements for the lawful disposal of cannery fish-offal are being made with the new Oilery Company, of Prince Rupert.

North Pacific Cannery, Skeena Slough.—Owners, Anglo British Columbia Canning Company, of Vancouver; Dr. Bell-Irving, superintendent; local manager, Mr. Lord. The cannery and outbuildings are sanitary, but there is not as yet any provision for the lawful disposal of offal.

Dominion Cannery, Skeena Slough.—Operated by the British Columbia Packers' Association, of Vancouver; local manager, Mal Dickinson. Cannery and outbuildings quite sanitary, but no apparent provision for the lawful disposal of fish-offal.

Sunnyside Cannery, Skeena Slough.—Owned by Gosse-Millerd Packing Company, Molson's Bank Building, Vancouver; local manager, F. Strang. Cannery premises clean, and a number of new bunk-houses under construction. Entire premises undergoing improvements along sanitary lines. Mr. Strong informed me that he was negotiating with the new oilery concern at Prince Rupert for the removal of offal.

Owing to unfavourable weather and tidal conditions it was not possible to visit the canneries at Port Essington; consequently I called on Chief Constable Gammon at Prince Rupert and requested that he forward some of our regulations and notices to Constable Birchall at Port Essington. Constable Birchall is permanently located at Port Essington, which is known as the Steveston of the Skeena. Many complaints have been made regarding the general insanitary conditions of this unincorporated village, and I beg to suggest that my action be augmented by a letter to Chief Constable Gammon, asking for a report as to any or what action is being taken by the Port Essington constable. The foreshore conditions during the fishing season are said to be abominably insanitary.

Whilst at Prince Rupert a visit was made to the site of a new oilery now being constructed for a company known as "Fish Oil and Products, Limited," with office at foot of Victoria Drive, Vancouver; R. G. Thompson, managing director; local manager, Captain C. R. Betts. The location is well isolated at a point known as "Scissors Bay." The machinery is being brought from Washington, and the main building is well under way. Should this plant be properly equipped and handled it will be able to take care of all fish-offal from the Skeena River and Portland Inlet canneries. Judging by the size and condition of the plant, apparent at the time of my visit, I do not think it will be able to cope with more than six canneries during the season just opening. However, Captain Betts appears to be an energetic man with good backing, and it is to be hoped that this concern will prosper and develop. The success of such an industry means the conversion to profit and use of a valuable fish by-product now being wasted and becoming a nuisance and menace to the public health.

Canadian Canning & Cold Storage Co.'s Cannery, Tuck Inlet.—This cannery is located some five miles west of Prince Rupert, under the management of F. Johnston. The cannery and outbuildings are splendidly equipped and sanitary, with ample fresh-water supply. This will be one of the first canneries to be served by the new oilery in regard to the removal of offal.

Somerville Cannery, Portland Inlet.—New cannery being constructed for the Western Salmon Packing Company, Rogers Building, Vancouver; local manager, Colonel J. McMillan. Left copies of regulations and suggested sites for latrines and offal-chute.

Kincolith Cannery, Mill Bay.—Operated for R. V. Winch Co., Limited, Vancouver; Henry Doyle, superintendent; local manager, J. Cousins. This cannery uses a scow to convey the fish-offal out to deep water. The general sanitary conditions are good, excepting the Indian quarters, which are badly needing limewash and a general clean-up of the surrounding yards. I called Mr. Cousins's attention to it, but he said that if he limed or cleaned up the Indian quarters the Indians would desert him.

Nass Harbour Cannery.—Owned by British Columbia Packers' Association, Vancouver; local manager, Mr. Chambers. The general conditions of the cannery and outbuildings are good. A scow is kept for the removal of salmon-offal, but local reports indicate that it is not always used. Mr. Chambers assured me otherwise.

Arrandale & Port Nelson Canneries, Nass River.—Operated jointly for the Anglo British Columbia Canning Company (Bell-Irving Company), Vancouver; local manager, Mr. Walker. Canneries and outbuildings fairly sanitary; offal dropped into river; copy of regulations left for manager.

Kumeon Cannery.—New cannery under construction for the R. V. Winch Company, Vancouver; local manager, F. Rudge. Dozen bunk-houses being erected for employees. Latrines over tidal water; ample fresh-water supply; good site and isolated; left copies of regulations governing canneries.

To summarize on the canneries of Skeena, Nass, and intermediate canneries: The number of canneries are being increased and general sanitary conditions much improved since my last visit. There is yet room for improvement, especially in regard to the disposal of fish-refuse. The new oilery near Prince Rupert will surely have a desirable effect in that respect for a distance of twenty-five miles from Prince Rupert, north and south. To take drastic action for the lawful disposal of fish-offal at this time would be to seriously embarrass the canners owing to the present difficulty in securing material and skilled labour for construction of chutes and scows. The cannerymen in most instances recognize the desirability of effectively disposing of their fish-offal and will no doubt use every available means to that end. An occasional visit of inspection reminds them, and I am sure that the time is coming when by tactful methods the Northern canneries will be of the same enviable sanitary standard as the Southern British Columbia and Fraser canneries.

INDUSTRIAL CAMPS AND TOWNS.

The inspection of logging, mining, and quarry camps in unorganized districts throughout the Province is now being vigorously followed, through the efforts of the Honourable Dr. McLean in providing this Department with a suitable launch. This work will be handled in a more thorough, systematic, and less expensive manner than in previous years. The majority of our industrial camps, towns, and summer resorts are located along our extensive island and coast-line; consequently, a launch conveyance is absolutely necessary. This part of our work is now being attended to, and already the industrial and summer camps located on the lakes, inlets, and islands of the Lower Mainland have been visited. This work will be continued along the islands and coast from the 49th parallel to Queen Charlotte Sound.

In regard to logging camps, numerous complaints of a varied nature and from many sources have been received and are being investigated. Observation and experience gained thus far shows that the small camp is the greater offender. The larger the camp the better the general sanitary condition. Many of the small logging and shingle-bolt camps are operated by gangs of men on the co-operative partnership plan. In many instances these camps are most insanitary, located in isolated places, each man for himself, and they would prefer to do without ordinary sanitary comforts or conveniences in order to save the apparent expense. The commonest excuse given to the writer is that "We do not intend to operate here but a few weeks." In the larger camps, where some responsible head can be interviewed, it is not difficult to have necessary sanitary improvements made. This branch of our work requires much patience and tact. Precipitous log-chutes have to be negotiated and an extensive wardrobe maintained to meet the varied requirements and climatic changes. One of the most generally needed and very necessary wants of the logger is some manner of having his blankets laundered. Facilities for such are not provided except at the largest camps. The average logger possesses only one pair. These he gets laundered every time he quits and goes to town. Since prohibition came into force he stays at his work many months longer; consequently, very often his blankets become infested with vermin. The above is the gist of an explanation offered by one of our most prominent transportation officials, who wrote complaining of vermin-infested loggers using his company's steamers between their camp and the cities. The shortage of labour is responsible for many improvements in the industrial camps. The food provided is of the best and without stint. In fact, it would be impossible to procure better in the highest-priced city café during these war-restriction days. In old camps where there is anything to indicate the existence of vermin, limewashing and disinfectants are requested. In many cases the employees object to this procedure. The living conditions of the average logging camp are far superior to many of our coal-mining towns, notably Natal and Michel. Our reports on file would show the city slum as a palace compared with the shacks used by well-paid coal-miners from Southern Europe at the towns mentioned. They pay a ground rental on small 30 x 90 lots. Their term of residence is uncertain; consequently, they decline to erect shelters of proper dimensions commensurate with the number of their household. The fact that every Provincial constable is a sanitary officer is the one redeeming grace to check insanitary features of such places.

Referring again to logging camps, I am reminded of the completion of what is termed "the logging camp de luxe," designed and built for G. G. Johnson, of the Capilano Timber Company, for use on the Capilano watershed from salt water to Squamish. The camp consists of a train of large 10 x 60 x 8 cars with cupola ventilation; also ample windows, high-grade porcelain wash-bowls, shower-bath compartments, modern flush toilets and urinals, hot and cold running water, steam heat, and electric light. The sleeping-cars are equipped with sanitary mattresses, two men to a compartment-room. The dining-cars are equipped to serve fifty persons seated. The commissariat is equipped with steam-tables, fly-proof food-storage compartments, and every conceivable contrivance for expeditious and sanitary handling of food. A library-car is also to be added. All the plumbing is of the most modern type and work. Solid and liquid wastes are conveyed in Imhoff septic tanks. These portable camps are side-tracked at a suitable and convenient place to the logging operations, the cut logs being railroaded to tide-water on the regular logging-train.

The value of running a camp along such sanitary lines is shown in many ways, but most especially in the fact that whilst there exists a great scarcity of logging help, it is not felt at this camp. Good men are constantly offering and being accepted. There is an economic feature to a camp of this type, and no doubt our employing loggers will note it.

Complaints made to the Provincial Board were investigated and disposed of for Local Boards of Health, as follows:—

Langley: School latrine menace to local wells.
Vernon: Septic sewage discharge to Long Creek.
Whiterock: Insanitary squatters' shacks on foreshore.
Victoria-Saanich: Septic discharge at boundary limits.
Maple Ridge: Municipal cemetery drainage.
Steveston: Removal from foreshore of serious menace through the partial destruction by fire of 25,000 cases of salmon.

Numerous complaints of alleged menace or nuisances of a minor nature have been attended to at various parts of the Province, and other cases are now under investigation.

Chief Inspector.

HOSPITAL INSPECTION.

VICTORIA, B.C., September 9th, 1918.

H. E. Young, Esq., M.D., LL.D.,
Provincial Officer of Health, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the Sixth Report on Hospital Inspection in British Columbia.

Since my last report there has occurred no breach or untoward incident in the maintenance and general operation of British Columbia civilian hospitals. During July of this year the first meeting or convention for those interested in hospital-work was inaugurated by Dr. MacEachern, Superintendent of the Vancouver General Hospital.

Dr. MacEachern is to be congratulated upon the success which has attended his inauguration of the scheme of a yearly convention of the representatives of the hospitals in British Columbia. Standardization in hospital management and work is being discussed by the hospitals of the United States in an earnest desire to arrive at an understanding in the management of these institutions which will increase their effectiveness and at the same time bring about an economy in the expenses of management and maintenance. There was a large attendance at the convention. Very interesting papers were read by those immediately concerned in the care of their institutions and practical suggestions offered by those who have become expert in the particular phase of the question in which they have had experience. Committees have been formed, plans outlined, and effect will be given to many suggestions which appealed to the practical people present as being worthy of consideration. We look for much benefit being derived from these deliberations, and we hope that the enthusiasm displayed at this the first meeting will give the movement such initial impetus as will result in benefits to the hospitals of the Province as a whole.

My work of inspection has been confined chiefly to the small or private hospitals having no Board of Directors or Government representatives.

During the past few months two new licences have been issued for maternity homes—one at Victoria and one at Kamloops. Another one is now being considered on the Lower Mainland. Two illegal alleged maternity hospitals have been suppressed, and another is under suspicion.

Government representatives have been appointed to sit at the Boards of Control for Alert Bay, Rock Bay, Vananda, Lytton, and Powell River Hospitals. This action is commendable, having a tendency to promote keener local interest in hospital-work. Furthermore, it will prevent unjust criticism or suspicion of mismanagement on the part of those in charge.

The following licensed private hospitals have been periodically inspected and any changes or improvements suggested have been carried out:—

Arnold Maternity Home (Mrs. M. Arnold), 316 Robson Street, Nelson.
Backett Sanatorium (Miss R. A. Backett), 1301 Georgia Street, Vancouver.
Britannia Hospital (Dr. Burke), Britannia Beach, Howe Sound.
Bass Maternity Home (Mrs. M. C. Bass), 2625 Prior Street, Victoria.
Bute Hospital (Mrs. M. E. Johnson), Bute and Robson Streets, Vancouver.
Bell Nursing Home (Mrs. L. Bell), 756 Cloverdale Avenue, Victoria.
Coquitlam Hospital (Dr. Sutherland), Coquitlam.
Corbman Maternity Home (Mrs. E. Corbman), 855 Eleventh Avenue E., Vancouver.
Down Maternity Home (Miss R. Down), Battle Street W., Kamloops.
East Kootenay Hospital (Dr. Garner), Fernie.
Grandview Hospital (Dr. E. Hall), 1090 Victoria Drive, Vancouver.
Grindon Hospital (Mrs. A. F. Grindon), 61 Nicola Street, Kamloops.
Handley Maternity Home (Mrs. J. Handley), 1218 Queen's Avenue, Victoria.
Impey Maternity Home (Mrs. M. Impey), 243 Eighth Avenue West, Vancouver.
Lonsdale Private Hospital (Mrs. M. D. Schultz), 1900 Lonsdale Avenue, North Vancouver.
Moore Nursing Home (Mrs. E. Moore), Baker and Falls Streets, Nelson.
More Maternity Home (Mrs. C. More), 949 Fisgard Street, Victoria.
Murray Convalescent Home (Miss E. Murray), 215 Sixteenth Avenue E., Vancouver.
Rutherford Maternity Home (Mrs. E. Rutherford), 2321 Shakespeare Street, Victoria.
Roadley Nursing Home (Mrs. L. Roadley), 360 Battle Street, Kamloops.
Roycroft Private Hospital (Miss Roycroft), 1036 Haro Street, Vancouver.

Ross Convalescent Home (Miss E. G. Ross), 1145 Faithful Street, Victoria.
Salmon Maternity Home (Mrs. A. Salmon), Garden Avenue, Cranbrook.
Smith Maternity Home (Miss Kate Smith), 855 Queen's Avenue, Victoria.
South Vancouver Private Hospital (Mrs. Jane Webb), 1298 Fifty-first Avenue, South Vancouver.
Skelland Nursing Home (Mrs. E. Skelland), 2316 Lee Avenue, Victoria.
St. Luke's Home (Sister Francis), 309 Cordova Street, Vancouver.
Steveston Fisherman's Benevolent Society Hospital (Dr. W. Hepworth), Steveston.
Sunnyview Sanatorium (Dr. Irving), Powers Addition, Kamloops.
Tomley Maternity Home (Miss L. Tomley), 129 Twenty-second Avenue W., South Vancouver.
Victoria Private Hospital (Miss J. B. Archibald), 1116 Rockland Avenue, Victoria.
West End Hospital (Miss M. G. Tolmie), 1447 Barclay Street, Vancouver.
Witt Maternity Home (Mrs. A. C. Witt), 1845 Forty-sixth Avenue E., South Vancouver.
Winters Nursing Home (Mrs. M. Winters), 1020 Harwood Street, Vancouver.

The charitable institutions in British Columbia are as follows:—

Children's Aid Society, Vancouver.
Catholic Children's Aid Society, Vancouver.
Children's Aid Society, Victoria.
Loyal True Blue Orphanage, New Westminster.
Monastery of Our Lady of Charity, Vancouver.
Providence Orphanage, New Westminster.
St. Ann's Orphanage, Nanaimo.
St. Ann's Boys' School, Quamichan.
Salvation Army Maternity Home, Vancouver.
British Columbia Protestant Orphans' Home, Victoria.

Of the last-enumerated charitable institutions nothing but praise can be said. There are but few vacant cots, the food provided is wholesome, and the general environment cheerful and sanitary. There is nothing in British Columbia more worthy of help from the public purse than the Orphan and Refuge Homes, where, owing to war-time calls on the usual contributors and increased cost of foodstuff, the burden of carrying on is doubly heavy to those in charge or responsible.

I have, etc.,

FRANK DEGREY,
Acting Hospital Inspector.

MEDICAL INSPECTION OF SCHOOLS.

PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH,
VICTORIA, B.C., July 31st, 1918.

Doctor the Honourable J. D. MacLean,
Provincial Secretary, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I beg leave to submit the Report of the Medical Inspection of Schools for the past year previous to June 30th. My request to issue the report at midsummer was based primarily upon the necessity of securing complete data of the medical inspection of schools and to make our report coincident with the termination of the school-year.

We have included in the tables submitted the reports for the school inspections from September, 1917, to June 30th, 1918. Some question has arisen as to the results obtained from the inspection of schools, and it has been felt that probably the results obtained were not commensurate with the financial expenditure. I regret that such an implication has been made, because if one were to go over the reports for the past five years, since the inception of the inspection of schools, and were to read the reports received from our Inspectors, one could not help but be struck by the optimistic tone of these reports and the improvement of the condition of many of the pupils now in comparison with the condition found when the work was begun. It would be regretted very much indeed if any change were made in the future in this branch of the Department, other than changes which might be suggestions to further the efficiency of the work.

The Medical Inspectors are paid for their work, and I must say that in the majority of cases the responsibility for the proper performance of the duties required has been fully recognized by the Inspectors. In other cases I cannot say so much. The one defect that impresses itself upon the Department is this: that under the conditions of the "School Act" the physician who makes the examination is debarred from attending the case. The insertion of this provision was deemed necessary in order to prevent the accusation being made that the Medical Inspector was simply creating work for himself. The result is that, while the defect may be recognized and the parents' attention called to it, unfortunately they do not seem to realize the necessity of having the defect corrected, and the result is that in some cases the child does not derive the benefit that it should.

I would suggest that an extension of this work be attempted by the appointment of qualified nurses to follow up the cases and also to assume the work of the examinations. Power to do this is embodied in the Act.

The Women's Institutes of the Province have been urging that some such step should be taken, as they are very anxious indeed to co-operate with the Department in anything for the welfare of the rising generation. They have assured the Department in their desire to co-operate especially in the supervision of the sanitary condition of the schools, and have been urging the adoption of some means whereby the dental needs of the pupils may be attended to. Many of the dentists are engaged in war-work, and it has been difficult to devise a scheme whereby dentists might visit the outlying districts. We have approached the College of Dental Surgeons asking them to co-operate with the Department and with the municipalities, but as yet we have not received any reply from them as to their intention in the matter. We, however, propose to continue our efforts to bring about a solution of the question and feel confident that we will be able to do so.

In my last report I begged leave to suggest for your consideration recommendation to the School Boards for the establishment of open-air school-rooms for weakly and pre-tubercular children. These suggestions have been acted upon by Vancouver and Victoria School Boards, and we are confident that, with the demonstrations in this work, centres for the work will extend throughout the Province.

I beg leave to submit a detailed report of the work done by the Department, and also a copy of the reports of the work done by the Medical Inspectors of Schools.

I have, etc.,
H. E. YOUNG,
Provincial Officer of Health.

SCHOOLS INSPECTED.

RURAL AND ASSISTED SCHOOLS.

REGISTRAR'S REPORT UNDER THE VITAL STATISTICS ACT.

VICTORIA, B.C., September 20th, 1918.

H. E. Young, Esq., M.D.,
Secretary, Provincial Board of Health, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—Herewith please find Forty-sixth Report of Vital Statistics, being for the first six months of the year 1918.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Yours obediently,
MUNROE MILLER,
Deputy Registrar of Births, Deaths, and Marriages.

In presenting this report for the first half of the year instead of for the full twelve months, an explanation of why the departure from the former custom was made may not be out of place.

First: The year has heretofore closed with December, and the report of the business of the immediate past twelve months, fully classified and arranged, was to be laid before the House as soon after the first of January following as possible. As the number of the agencies and volume of transactions increased, new difficulties presented themselves.

Second: The distance between many of the District Registrars and the head office, coupled with the delays attending the inclement season of the year, made it anything but easy to get the report ready.

Third: At that season the King's Printer is swamped with reports from all departments, and the strength of his entire staff is required to produce documents considered of paramount importance; and, finally, there is no time left to scan exchanges, make comparisons, and draw conclusions.

By adopting the present plan, commencing the year with July and ending with June, a far better opportunity is given to prepare a more fully detailed report, and, as far as possible, make a mass of statistics interesting.

For the assistance of all or any who may wish to communicate with the different District Registrars of the Province, the following list of offices is published:—

Under proper headings, and in tables of the returns of births, deaths, and marriages, will be found returns of each of the above places, but for expedition the gross for each division or group of divisions follows for the years 1916, 1917, and 1918. The loss or gain can be readily determined.

In all tables and totals let it be remembered that figures for 1918 apply only to the first six months of the year.

As usual, the question of population of the Province has arisen. On interviewing the Inspector of Municipalities he pronounced in favour of the figures used last year, expressing the belief that no material change had been made in the matter of increase or decrease. Such being admitted, the natural increase was sought that it might be added to the number assumed for 1917, resulting as follows:—

Assumed population in 1917		379,804
Registered births, 1918	4,940
Registered deaths, 1918	2,046
Natural increase		2,894
Present population		382,698

On obtaining these figures it was found that another adjustment was required, it being apparent that the three principal cities had increased in population by and through enterprises put afoot through exigencies created by the present great war.

To obtain the just allotment to the principal cities it was considered expedient to resort to school enrolment, with the following result:—

Vancouver City has enrolled	16,465	x 6½ =	107,022
Victoria City has enrolled	5,711	x 6½ =	37,121
South Vancouver has enrolled	4,851	x 6½ =	31,531
Total			175,674
Assumed balance of Province			207,024
Population of Province being			382,698

These figures will be used in our computations.

Following are the registrations for:—

	1915.	1916.	1917.	1918 (6 mos.).
Births	10,516	9,841	9,450	4,940

That one may be better enabled to make comparisons the results of the above tables have been segregated, and each division charged with what belongs to it. It is desired to forcibly impress upon the reader the fact that column 1—"General diseases"—contains returns for both tuberculosis and cancer, as well as many diseases peculiar to children, which will account for its large total—523—making it responsible for 25.55 of all deaths.

The following table of diseases has been compiled from returns of the whole Province from 1900 to June, 1918. It is considered deserving of attention. Also the same table has been segregated, thus showing the different localities' liability to or immunity from the diseases contained in the list.

The following table relating to cancer shows that deaths resulting therefrom are on the increase. For the year 1917 there were 248 deaths, and for the first six months of 1918, 144. Should this rate be maintained the increase for the present year will amount to 16.66 per cent. over 1917. The report is given as a whole as well as by specifying each division. The percentage of all deaths, exclusive of still-born, for the six months is 7.30, and the rate per thousand is 0.37.

Tuberculosis: Under this heading the same course is pursued as in preceding diseases; that is, the report as a whole, and then recapitulated. Number of deaths in 1917, 413; for the first six months of 1918, 236, which rate, if maintained, will amount to 472, a gain of 59, or 14.28 per cent. over 1917. The percentage of all deaths, exclusive of still-born, for 1918 (first six months), is 12.07, and the rate per thousand of population is 0.62.

In Fairview Group is included report from Tranquille Sanatorium.

Not the least interesting portion of this subject is the part borne by Asiatics, and the opportunity is taken to introduce the following statement. For the first six months of the year the—

Total number of deaths of Chinese amounted to	139
Total number of deaths of Japanese amounted to	103
Total number of deaths of East Indians amounted to	7
	249
Deaths from tuberculosis, Chinese	45
Deaths from tuberculosis, Japanese	10
Deaths from tuberculosis, East Indians	1
	56

Of the total Chinese, 139, 45 died of tuberculosis = 32.37 per cent. of all Chinese deaths. Of the total Japanese, 103, 10 died of tuberculosis = 9.7 per cent. of all Japanese deaths. Of the total East Indians, 7, 1 died of tuberculosis = 14.3 per cent. of all East Indian deaths. Of all deaths of Asiatics named, 249, 56 died of tuberculosis = 22.49 per cent. of all Asiatic deaths.

Let us view this statement from another angle: Of the 236 deaths from tuberculosis, the Chinese contributed 45 = 19 per cent. of all deaths from tuberculosis; whilst all three of the Asiatics are responsible for 56 deaths out of 236 = 23.72 per cent.

Now, if we deduct this 56 from 236 (total deaths from tuberculosis for the first six months of 1918), we have 180 left for the white race, which cuts our rate very materially; that is to say, 180 deaths from tuberculosis becomes 9.21 per cent. instead of 12.07 per cent.

The following information is presented as a comparative statement re the ages of decedents for the years 1916, 1917, and first six months of 1918:—

	1916.	1917.	1918 (6 mos.).
Under 1 year	601	587	260
1 to 2 years	121	82	45
2 to 5 years	108	107	58

Age and sex not given	2	...	...
Totals	3,686	3,721	1,954

In the above figures the still-born are not included with deaths under one year. There were 201 still-births reported in 1916, 175 in 1917, and 92 for the first six months of 1918.

The cash receipts from January to June, inclusive, 1917, amount to	$ 636 69
The cash receipts from January to June (first six months), 1918	1,617 88
An increase of	$ 981 19

In fact, the receipts for the first six months of this year amounted to $187.73 more than the receipts for the whole of the year 1917.

The receipts are a fair index to the increase in the amount of work which fell to our staff; yet, thanks to every one being familiar with the work of the Department, esprit de corps, and not a small amount of hard work individually and collectively, we pulled through with very little assistance.

The certificates issued for military purposes from this office for 1917 were 2,500, and for the first six months of 1918, 1,143.

Letters received and dealt with from January to June, inclusive, number 3,311. This does not include 547 notices of births received from physicians of Victoria and adjoining municipalities, nor 1,444 notices received from issuers of marriage licences, all of which have to be noted and filed.

All returns from the District Registrars of the Province amount, to the end of June, to 4,940 births, 2,046 deaths, and 1,445 marriages, making the total entries, on account of the double indexing of marriages, 9,876, all of which have been indexed, numbered, and placed in alphabetical order under their proper divisions, in addition to which transcriptions from Church records have amounted to fully 120,000 words.

One word about registration of births, deaths, and marriages: Assuming that one working in a department governed by a special Act is more liable to discover, or have thrust upon him, imperfections in that law, permit me, with all due respect, to suggest an amendment to section 14 of the "Vital Statistics Act." That section and its subsections specifically set forth who may register the birth of a child. Cases are arising every day where registration is sought, which registration cannot be made in accordance with the provisions of the Act. It is held that discretion in accepting such returns is not admissible, in that, if allowed, the very backbone of the Act may be overturned at the whim and caprice of the individual.

The foregoing remarks have been brought forth by and through painful cases presented for consideration through exigencies created by the present war, as well as by the neglect and death of all the parties authorized to attend to the matter at the proper time. Let authority to register be extended.

In the matter of returns of vital statistics in relation to Indians the tabulated statements following show:—

Registrations of births, January to June, 1918	204
Registrations of deaths, January to June, 1918	171
Registrations of marriages, January to June, 1918	47
Total registrations	422
For twelve months of 1917 registrations stood—
Births	144
Deaths	310
Marriages	67
Total for 1917	521

Undoubtedly an improvement; yet, inasmuch as three agencies have furnished no returns for 1918, it is hardly fair to construe the information furnished as being complete. Were it so, there is no reason why the Indian population (in round numbers, 25,000) should not be added to that which we claim (382,698) as the present population of the Province, and all percentages and rates per thousand calculated on that total. However, until the system works more smoothly re Indians, we must adhere to the old plan and present two reports. It cannot be denied that much is to be said in behalf of the Agents, on account of the different bands not being confined to their own agencies. At certain times of the year the various tribes virtually swarm to different locations in search of occupation, and whilst away from home the Agent loses touch with his charges, and until there is a stock-taking on their return he cannot answer for the condition of his band.

All tabulated statements follow.

To His Honour Sir FRANK STILLMAN BARNARD, K.C.M.G.,

Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of British Columbia.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR:

Herewith I beg respectfully to submit the Annual Report of my Department for the fiscal year ending 31st March, 1918, in compliance with the provisions of the "Public Works Act."

PUBLIC WORKS REPORT.

REPORT OF PUBLIC WORKS ENGINEER.

VICTORIA, B.C., December 9th, 1918.

J. E. Griffith, Esq.,
Deputy Minister of Public Works, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the following general report on the operations of the Public Works Department for the fiscal year 1917-18:—

ORGANIZATION.

At the commencement of the fiscal year a radical change was made in the conduct of the outside affairs of the Works Department. In place of the Road Superintendents formerly in charge of almost every electoral district, eight District Engineers, two of whom had previously been Assistant Engineers in the Department, were appointed to take responsible control of the eight engineering districts comprising two or more electoral districts, depending upon area, geographical location, etc. These Engineers are capable, technically trained men and have had wide practical experience, and the reports submitted by them are based solely upon the individual merits of the case from an economic and engineering standpoint.

Few valid complaints as to the administration of their engineering districts having been recorded, it is to be concluded that the general public has approved of this change, and are, on the whole, satisfied with the work done throughout the Province.

As assistants to the District Engineers, twenty General Foremen, several of whom had been former Road Superintendents, and eleven Assistant Engineers, with practical experience in handling men, were appointed to take charge of the work in one or, in a few cases, more than one electoral district.

Generally speaking, we have been fortunate in the selection of the outdoor permanent staff. Since, however, many of these officials were previously unacquainted with the location, conditions, and requirements of their districts, naturally the most efficient results cannot be expected during their first year in office, but it is hoped that our anticipations for success of the reorganization will be more fully realized next year.

Local foremen directly in charge of all local construction and maintenance work, being appointed on a daily wage basis during the working season only, are naturally subject to considerable change. As it is recognized that much of the success of the new mode of handling the work depends upon these local foremen, it may take some little time to procure the right men and educate them along the proper lines. The Road and Bridge Bulletins now in course of preparation should materially assist in our educative aims.

Regarding indoor operations at headquarters, pending the return of the overseas military members of the Engineering staff, there had been for some considerable time insufficient technical assistance to properly undertake the routine work, particularly in the Draughting Department. Hence the additional work connected with the preparation of departmental forms, standard plans and specifications had perforce to stand in abeyance. However, towards the end of the fiscal year one of the District Engineers was transferred to the Victoria office, and an effort is now being made to cope with the arrears of such necessary work. Moreover, with the return to duty in March, 1918, of the Assistant Public Works Engineer from military service overseas, the handicap under which the Department was placed for lack of sufficient technical assistance will eventually be overcome.

SUPERVISION.

Chiefly due to the following reasons, the cost of supervision was higher than was anticipated: (a) Increased cost of living and meals at hotels, camps, steamboats, etc.; (b) increased cost of transportation in trains and boats; (c) the heavy cost of furnishing new automobiles for the Engineers and their assistants and repairing or renewing the existing cars; (d) the extensive travel that had to be undertaken by the new officials to familiarize themselves with their districts and to investigate the accumulated requests for new work urgently required, in addition to looking into the multifarious matters of long-standing dispute left in abeyance or rejected by the previous Administration.

Much of the officials' time and interests were in this way and in similar other respects involved in straightening out more or less important matters which do not show tangible results, and cannot be definitely expressed on a percentage basis for the aggregate expenditure incurred in the various public works.

DAY-LABOUR.

With the exception of a few bridge contracts and one or two contracts for clearing and grading, all the work was undertaken under the former system of day-labour. Since our operations are at present confined chiefly to the repair and upkeep of roads and trails and the repair and renewal of bridges, this system, with all its disadvantages and uncertainties, will necessarily require to be retained to a large extent, although on an improved basis. It is but fair to state, however, that labour conditions throughout the Province were far from satisfactory last year, and therefore particularly detrimental to the success of day-labour. Reports from the District Engineers agree that the best workmen were employed by corporations, companies, and private parties at much higher rates than our wage schedule, although same had from time to time been raised by us in an endeavour to satisfactorily adjust the claims of our workmen. In one of the northern districts the District Engineer reports "that the better class of men do not prefer to work for the Government. It does not appear that this condition can be wholly overcome. Then, too, we employ a class of labour which does not usually work in the mines or the mills (lumber). Our force is made up of the local elements, the odd lots, the new settlers, men who prefer Government work, those that dislike underground work, prospectors with only their assessment-work to do. . . . The lack of young men on account of the war is to a degree irreparable. It is a young man's country. Older men do their best, but the climate and the conditions require the young and we feel the lack in our work."

The shorter hours (eight-hour day in place of our nine-hour day) and the more regular employment connected with such work also attracted many of the former road employees. Consequently we had to employ what remained on a labour market already depleted through enlistment. It is worthy of mention that the District Engineers were requested to employ returned soldiers, and preference was always given to such men physically capable of manual labour. Where procurable, returned soldiers were given the positions of ferrymen at monthly salaries.

Good axemen and powdermen were particularly at a premium, as the Overseas Forestry Corps and the lumber camps devoted to war productions absorbed the bulk of the available skilled men. Generally speaking, therefore, much less work, and that not always of the highest standard, was accomplished with the fixed appropriations available than would have been the case under normal conditions.

It was, however, fully recognized that war-work, including the greater production of crops and fruits in the agricultural districts, should always take precedence over the Government road-work. Reference should here be made of the increasing difficulty of obtaining and the disadvantages of employing private teams. The heavier class of teams were employed at prohibitive wages at lumber camps, mines, etc., leaving us dependent upon the generally lighter and sometimes inferior rancher's team. To quote from one of the District Engineer's reports: "The hired ranch-horse usually is too light and often comes on the job in poor condition, with shoes all but dropping off, and after a month or six weeks' work is often required on the farm again, just when most needed."

Such circumstances would therefore appear to justify the continuance, in some districts at any rate, of the use of Government-owned horses, in order that a more regular, better, and more economical standard of work could be undertaken. In other districts, however, the supply of suitable and adequate draught horses is likely to remain a problem difficult of solution, particularly in view of the national demand for increased agricultural production.

It is therefore proposed to more generally introduce the use of tractors, in districts where the roads will permit of their satisfactory and economical operation, for the hauling of road and bridge materials, as well as in ploughing and road-grading with the road grader. A series of hauling experiments on some of our Island highways resulted in the work being undertaken by tractor at about 20 per cent. less than by the best team-labour. Further tests are now being made with different kinds of tractor with a view to the purchase of the more serviceable and economical types.

CONTRACT-WORK.

As previously mentioned, contract-work was limited to a few undertakings representing an expenditure of $11,289.

Until such times as labour conditions improve and the Department is better organized, I am strongly of the opinion that this system should be greatly extended and should embrace all new work. With proper plans and specifications and under close and careful supervision, it should be possible to undertake work as efficiently and certainly more economically by contract than by day-labour. If contract-work has hitherto failed, the modus operandi rather than the principle must have been at fault. Cities and municipalities have almost invariably found the contract system, under proper management, more satisfactory and less troublesome in the long run. We must soon follow the example of other Provinces in Canada and States in America, where the contract system has, after some years of varied experiment, proved most efficient.

MATERIALS, ETC.

As a natural result of higher wages and shortage of labour, due chiefly to war conditions and measures, the prices of material advanced in every direction. Merchantable timber used in ordinary bridge structures increased 36 per cent., while selected Douglas fir for timber trusses advanced 26 per cent., ironwork in bridges increased 64 per cent., and even ordinary spikes, so much used in bridge and culvert construction, went up 42 per cent. in price. Owing to the greatly enhanced price of explosives, 40 per cent. higher than in the previous fiscal year, the use of powder for clearing and rock-work was practically prohibitive. Steel cable, so much used in the operation of the numerous Provincial ferries, was hard to procure at almost any price owing to the embargo on the importation of same.

Transportation difficulties also added to the supply problem, as not only were freight rates increased, but there was a very limited and irregular supply of freight-cars, delivery being therefore very uncertain and unreliable. Hence our construction programme, conservative though it was, was perforce restricted and the costs of work frequently unavoidably increased beyond our estimates. Towards the end of the fiscal year a step in the right direction was taken in purchasing in bulk quantities such supplies as explosives for distribution as required throughout the Province. It is the intention to extend this system wherever practicable.

For the supply and delivery of the timber for the construction or renewal of the standard timber trusses, tenders are invariably invited from Coast firms as well as the mills convenient to the bridge structures. Such competition secures the most favourable prices and usually ensures the earliest delivery. All bridge materials, including ironwork, obtained from the Coast are inspected and tested by a competent Materials Inspector. In this way timber of the best growth and ironwork of workmanlike fabrication are procured for our highway bridges, thus tending to increased durability and life of such structures.

ROAD MACHINERY AND PLANT, ETC.

As will be noted from the detailed statement of the valuation of the machinery elsewhere recorded, the Department has on hand about a quarter of a million dollars' worth of road and bridge-building equipment. As much of the plant has been idle for years, chiefly owing to the decreased amount of construction-work, the surplus plant in one district is either being transferred where required, or where not likely to be necessary for years to come, disposed of to the highest favourable bidder. Advantage was thus taken of the present high prices to satisfactorily dispose of three of the steam donkey-engines, together with other equipment. Several donkey-engines have also been conditionally rented on favourable terms. As the time has arrived for the more general introduction of labour-saving road machinery, adequate provision has been made for same in the 1918-19 Estimates. The District Engineers comment favourably upon the introduction of automobiles for superintendence of the outside work in a more serviceable and more economical manner.

To obtain some specific and reliable data as to the comparative cost for repairs, renewals, and depreciation of plant respectively, it is proposed to keep special accounts of all expenditures on the purchase and maintenance of plant. Special note will also be kept of stable equipment and camp equipment. In this way we hope to segregate such specific expenditures to their proper accounts, and incidentally be in a position to contrast day-labour with contract operations.

ROADS AND TRAILS.

As will be seen from the details of expenditures, attention was confined chiefly to the maintenance and repair of existing roads and trails. Comparatively little construction-work was undertaken, although the requests, individual and collective, for new roads were even more numerous than in the previous year. The attitude of the Department was consistently adverse to the carrying-out of any new work unless same was urgently required to further useful production or accommodate new industries.

The total mileage of roads and trails at present in unorganized districts is estimated to be 14,623 miles and 8,207 miles respectively. As the mileage had been greatly increased during the past few years, the Department must be prepared to spend an increasingly greater annual sum to properly maintain particularly the main roads in order to protect the initial capital outlay. The regular upkeep of roads through sparsely settled districts for the express benefit of only one or two settlers, whose neighbours had abandoned their ranches and either enlisted or removed to towns, will continue to be a drain on our financial resources until times become more normal and the land is more thickly settled. To quote from a District Engineer's report: "Few settlers are coming in to take the places of the young and strong who have left; consequently, many of the roads which were built in the 'boom' days have few, if any, settlers adjacent to them. It is very difficult to decide whether we are justified in even keeping them in repair. If we do not keep them open, it would look as if we were abandoning the country to its fate. There are many such roads that should never have been built where they are, but it is difficult to decide whether they should be abandoned altogether now that settlers have had the courage and initiative to locate on them. Until the war is over and the tide of immigration starts back there are many of the roads and trails that will have to be neglected. We considered, however, that it would not be good policy to allow the trails particularly to become impassable so long as there was any one living adjacent to them or prospectors likely to use them, and therefore we did our best to keep them open."

As the building of such settlers' roads is equivalent to advancing credit to the settlers, the Government has a justifiable right to expect in due course some material compensation. I am convinced, therefore, that before undertaking further extensions of settlers' roads, or even extensive repairs to existing ones, it is imperative that the Lands Settlement Board be more frequently requested to investigate present and prospective conditions and recommend as to the nature and extent of any work reasonably justified. In this way unnecessary roads could be eliminated and a system of really useful roads thereby gradually evolved. Further, it seems to me that in any future sales of Government lands the Department of Lands should carefully consider the cost of construction of accommodation roads to, through, and adjacent to such lands. Under existing conditions there are Government subdivisions with a few widely scattered settlers who repeatedly appeal to this Department for assistance in opening up such subdivision roads.

Our road appropriations, instead of being diverted to the construction and maintenance of such roads, should be almost wholly concentrated upon a comprehensive road system connecting up all the centres of population and industries. In this connection it is proposed to draft an Act which can be used as the policy of the Department with a view to bringing down legislation along those lines in the future. This proposed Act will provide for the proper classification of roads and a definite system of appropriating funds for the construction and maintenance of same. It will also include very necessary provision for taking care of main highways through organized districts. Hitherto Government assistance in or towards the construction or upkeep of such highways has not been given on any definite basis or on any proper understanding, and generally with no comprehensive scheme in view. In the past fiscal year the Department contributed 50 per cent. of the cost of improving—usually with hard-surfacing—several recognized trunk highways.

It was contended that as such highways carry interdistrict traffic (on the Lower Mainland heavy interurban traffic) it was too much to expect the smaller organized municipalities to entirely provide for the upkeep of same, especially as with the advent of automobile traffic—particularly motor-trucks—the roads were increasingly used, and in many instances subjected to traffic conditions for which they were not originally constructed. Last year about two miles of hard-surfacing of trunk roads was undertaken by the municipalities according to plans and specifications approved by the Department, whose District Engineers carefully supervised such work. The largely increased motor traffic, especially that of motor-trucks, has created a difficult situation which it will be necessary to adequately meet in the near future. Experience has conclusively proved that "hard-surfacing" is the most practical solution, particularly for trunk roads contiguous to the larger centres of population. As it will be financially impossible to build such comparatively expensive roads (that is, as far as the initial expenditure is concerned), it will be advisable to seriously consider the question of issuing road bonds (preferably serial bonds) for such more permanent work, the term of the bond to extend over a period of years equal to the estimated life of the pavement. The question of the heavy truck traffic on roads in the outlying districts will also require to be specially considered. Particularly in the Grand Forks District, and between Fairview and Oroville, in the Similkameen District, serious damage to the main roads was done by motor-trucks. Some remedial action will therefore require to be taken under the head of "extraordinary traffic" to suitably provide for such a situation, as, of course, it will be quite impossible under present conditions to pave such roads. While such special work will greatly increase capital expenditure, it must be always remembered that the cost of maintenance spread over a period of from ten to twenty years would be correspondingly reduced. The annual expenditure on maintenance of ordinary roads is becoming increasingly out of proportion to the less effective services rendered by such roads.

Of the 372,630 square miles in the Province, less than ½ of 1 per cent. is organized into municipalities and contains 86 per cent. of the total population. The mileage of roads and trails previously mentioned is thus practically all located in the 99½ per cent. of unorganized territory, which has a population of about 70,000. Hence in this respect this Province is materially different from most of the other Provinces. With its widely varying topographical and climatic conditions, physically it occupies a unique position in the Dominion, rendering the construction and maintenance of roads a difficult and proportionately expensive undertaking.

In addition to the ordinary road programme, the Department carried out or supervised works comprising the construction and maintenance of roads and trails, towards which the Department of Mines contributed the sum of $93,397.30 from the special "Aid to Mines" vote. Owing chiefly to the increased activity in mining, such work entailed greater expenditure than formerly for investigation and supervision, as the Engineers had usually to travel long distances to prepare reports and estimates thereon, and latterly to oversee the work carried out.

BRIDGES.

While it was possible to limit the construction and maintenance of roads and trails to reasonably necessary work, bridges had perforce to be constructed, renewed, or repaired to meet the wear and tear of traffic and the ravages of floods and storms. Absolutely new construction, however, involved only 1.73 per cent. of the total expenditure on bridges. A large number of bridges which had outlived their usefulness had to be reconstructed, and where necessary this was done by substituting standard types where traffic and other conditions justified same. In the fall of 1917 and the spring of 1918 we were unfortunate in experiencing a number of unusually severe storms and floods throughout the Province, causing extensive damage to bridges which had to be replaced, thereby involving unexpected heavy expenditures. The districts which suffered most severely were Bella Coola, Salmon River (Comox District), Chilliwack, Omineca, Atlin, and Fort George. In the renewal of such damaged structures the existing and prospective requirements were fully considered and unnecessary structures either eliminated or built at more convenient locations.

Some bridge-work was undertaken by contract this year, and it is the intention in future to have all such work done by contract wherever practicable. The dearth of efficient Bridge Foremen has been partly responsible for the day-labour work costing more than was anticipated.

WHARVES.

The Department controls about ninety wharves, of which sixty-four are on tidal waters and the remainder on inland lakes (Okanagan); although greatly in need of extensive repairs or entire renewal, work was chiefly confined to urgent repairs on the more used wharves. To counteract the ravages of the teredo, creosoted piles were used in most of the repairs to tidal wharves. But as the cost of such piles is at present about 60 cents per foot on scow at the creosote plants, their extensive use will be prohibitive. However, in the past few years the policy has been to carry out as little work as possible on the wharves on the tacit understanding that the Federal Government would shortly assume control of same. Fortunately, recent negotiations have satisfactorily resulted in tentative arrangements being consummated for relieving the Provincial Government from the heavy responsibility of maintaining such wharves.

FERRIES, ETC.

In addition to subsidized steamboats used chiefly on inland waters, the Department now maintains forty-eight ferries, the majority of which afford free transportation. Of the six new ferries constructed during the fiscal year, the most important was that at Hall's Landing, on the Columbia River south of Revelstoke. Traffic conditions have since proved that this ferry was justified and is now serving a long-felt want.

Traffic returns of every ferry are submitted to the Department monthly, from which data it will be possible in future to decide as to whether the expense of maintaining certain ferries is reasonably justified. The elimination of one or two little-used ferries and the amalgamation of some others unnecessarily close together are questions worthy of consideration in endeavouring to reduce the increasingly heavy maintenance charges.

RIVER-BANK PROTECTION.

Besides the charges made directly to the particular road or bridge specially benefited by protection-work, a sum of about $30,000 as particularized in the annual returns, was spent on river-bank protection-work.

The safeguarding of the Government townsites of Golden, Fernie, and New Denver, situated respectively on the Columbia and Elk Rivers and Carpenter Creek, accounted for the bulk of such expenditure. Further and heavier outlays on the Columbia and Elk Rivers will be necessary this year to retain and supplement the work already done. Hitherto river-protection work generally has been somewhat indiscriminately carried out and on no well-defined and comprehensive scheme. This question will therefore require to be consistently dealt with on some practical basis, as the amount of money involved will be very large in event of the Government undertaking to protect private property abutting on the larger rivers subject to the ravages of periodical freshets. In the past the avowed policy of the Department has been to spend money only where it was necessary to protect or safeguard roads, bridges, or other Government property, but in several cases this policy has not been strictly adhered to. Hence the present proposal to undertake such work along local-improvement lines and tax the costs pro rata on the parties or interests directly benefited is one which commends itself for earnest consideration as a sane step along the proper lines. Such a method is in vogue in the State of Washington, U.S.A., and appears to operate satisfactorily.

CO-OPERATION WITH OTHER DEPARTMENTS.

Mention has already been made of the work done in conjunction with the Mines Department and the Lands Department. An endeavour was also made to co-operate with the Forestry and the Agricultural Departments in matters of mutual interest and concern. I should like to see realized even greater co-operation with all Government departments affected in order to attain all-round efficiency of administration, both in the indoor and outdoor service. Meantime the courtesy extended and the assistance rendered by other departments should be recorded.

The co-operation of responsible associations, such as Boards of Trade and Farmers' Institutes, throughout the Province was also sincerely sought. By explaining to them just what the Department is attempting to accomplish and the difficulties we have at present to contend with, and inviting their practical co-operation, much good can be and is being accomplished.

CONFERENCE.

The Conference of District Engineers held in January last was of material assistance to all who participated in the comprehensive programme, and the results should be most beneficial not only to the Engineers, but to the Department, thereby greatly increasing its efficiency. Special committees then appointed are now engaged in drafting for the Department's approval standard plans and specifications and forms for keeping proper records of the various works and detailed expenditure thereof.

GENERAL.

The branch of the Department dealing with roads, bridges, wharves, and ferries has been dealt with more fully, as that is where the greater part of the reorganization has taken place.

The construction of and repairs to public buildings are dealt with in detail in the report of the Acting Supervising Architect. We are endeavouring to have all contracts for new buildings let before September or October, so that advantage can be taken of fine weather, with corresponding economy in cost. It was necessary to increase the wages of the lower-paid janitors and others, but by a readjustment of the staff the total cost of the work was materially reduced. Graphs were plotted of the cost of the more important work and the men in charge supplied monthly with a copy. The curve on cost of janitors clearly indicates the improvement in that branch of the service. We have endeavoured to use the staffs of the Boiler Inspector and the Inspector of Electrical Energy in connection with mechanical work on our larger ferries, in checking up and improving the heating and other mechanical equipment, and in assisting in alterations in our buildings, and the results have been very satisfactory, thanks to the splendid co-operation of Mr. Peck, the Chief Inspector of Machinery and Boilers, and of Mr. Roberts, Inspector of Electrical Energy, and their staffs. An endeavour has also been made where possible to have repair-work carried out by the Engineers and mechanics in charge.

The details of work carried out in the Departments of the Inspector of Machinery and Boilers, Inspector of Electrical Energy, the Inspector of Factories, and the Inspector of Dykes are given in separate reports submitted by the heads of those departments.

In conclusion, this report would be incomplete without sincerely recording the co-operation invariably extended to me by the various members of the indoor and outdoor staff, without whose support, encouragement, and assistance the work of the Department could not have been so harmoniously and efficiently carried out.

Accompanying this report are details of the expenditures on roads, trails, bridges, ferries and wharves, and public buildings, together with other miscellaneous data relative thereto.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Yours obediently,
A. E. FOREMAN,
Public Works Engineer.

REPORT OF ACTING SUPERVISING ARCHITECT.

SUPERVISING ARCHITECT'S OFFICE,
VICTORIA, B.C., December 9th, 1918.

A. E. Foreman, Esq.,
Public Works Engineer, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the following report on the work carried out in this office during the financial year 1917-18:—

In addition to usual work carried out in this office, such as erection of new school and public buildings and general upkeep of the Parliament and other Government Buildings, we have given considerable assistance to the engineering section of the Public Works Department in the preparation of tracings for the Banff-Windermere Road and sundry other minor works.

Assistance was given Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co. in the preparation of an inventory and valuation of the furniture, etc., in the Parliament and other Government Buildings, and in many instances the valuation of the buildings themselves; also to the Parliament Buildings Housing Committee in the preparation of plans showing the allocation of the various offices, their staffs, etc.

A complete list of the Government-owned buildings throughout the Province was prepared, giving description, location, etc., for the Comptroller-General and preparation of sundry forms, etc., for this official.

A considerable number of landscape drawings were prepared for various buildings from information supplied by Mr. Gibson, of the Education Department.

At the request of the Hon. the Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, plans and specifications prepared by outside architects for schools, hospitals, etc., that the Government was assisting by grants have been examined, and, where found necessary, suggestions have been made for their improvement, accompanied by sketch-plans showing the suggested alterations.

In other cases where no local architect has been available, complete sets of plans and specifications have been prepared and such other assistance that has been found necessary.

The actual cost of running this office, omitting such overhead expenses as office rent and furniture, is approximately 1.9 per cent. on the work executed, against at least 5 per cent. if carried out by an outside architect, and is arrived at as follows:—

WORK EXECUTED.

New school buildings		$ 90,967 50
Alterations and additions to school buildings		4,890 00
Alterations and repairs to Parliament Buildings		9,874 93
Repairs, alterations, etc., to other Government buildings		6,062 00
		$111,794 43
Plans prepared for school and Government buildings not carried out, at 2½ per cent. on estimated cost	$ 840 00
Sketch-plans prepared for outside architects, charged on time basis	100 00
Value of work done for Engineering Department, charged on time basis	495 00
Value of work done for Housing Committee	35 00
Value of work done for Price, Waterhouse & Co.	90 00
Value of work done for Comptroller-General	60 00
Value of work done for landscape plans	75 00
		$ 1,695 00
Total expenses, including salaries, etc.	$ 3,802 00
Less work done on time basis	1,695 00
		$ 2,107 00

This sum being 1.9 per cent. on the value of work executed, viz., $111,794.43.

Yours obediently,

HENRY WHITTAKER,

Acting Supervising Architect.

REPORT OF CHIEF INSPECTOR OF MACHINERY.

New Westminster, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

The Honourable the Minister of Public Works,
Victoria, B.C.

Sir,—In accordance with the provisions of the "Boilers Inspection Act," I have the honour to submit to you the Sixteenth Annual Report of the operation of the steam-boilers and machinery inspection service for the year ending March 31st, 1918.

The personnel of the service at present consists of the Chief Inspector, twelve District Inspectors, one clerk, and three stenographers, located as follows: Chief Inspector, four Inspectors, one clerk, one stenographer and typist at the head office in New Westminster for District A; three Inspectors and one stenographer and typist in Victoria for District B; one Inspector in Nelson for District C; four Inspectors and one stenographer in Vancouver for District D.

The following is a summary of the routine work performed in the office of the Chief Inspector during the year, exclusive of inspections, engineers' examinations, and the work of engineer surveying, details of which will be found in the reports of the Inspectors for the different districts and that of the Chief Engineer Examiner:—

Letters inward	5,987
Letters outward	6,583
Telegrams inward	37
Telegrams outward	29
Inspectors' monthly reports examined	144
New designs examined, calculated, and reported on	68
Amendments to designs examined, calculated, and reported on	70
Fees collected for designs	$424
Number of miles travelled by Chief Inspector	4,335

I am pleased again to be able to report that there have been no boiler-explosions during the year.

The number of accidents to persons and machinery are fully set forth in the District Inspectors' reports.

It will be noted that there were three accidents to persons, one of which was fatal. This was a case in which a logging-locomotive, No. 1832, ran off the track and fell down an incline, killing the engineer.

Regarding defects discovered, it will be seen from the summary that people still operate boilers without safety-valves; four such cases having been found, with ten safety-valves overloaded and twenty-nine defective in construction. Under pressure-gauges, twenty-five were found to be inoperative and 276 defective.

The number of new boilers built for British Columbia was 156, as compared with sixty-six for the previous year; 113 of these were built in British Columbia, eleven were built under inspection in Eastern Canada, twelve not built under inspection in Eastern Canada, and twenty built in the United States. Of these, 130 were put into operation in British Columbia, the remainder being exported to France and the United States.

The number of second-hand boilers imported was twenty-four from Eastern Canada, as compared with twenty-one during the previous year; and thirteen from the United States, as compared with six for the previous year.

Boilers inspected for the first time during the year number 189; fourteen were taken out of service, being condemned as unfit for further use.

The total number of boilers now on our books is 5,989. Of these, 2,730 were inspected internally and externally, fifteen inspected internally only, and 308 inspected externally only; thus leaving 2,936 on which no inspection was made during the year, a large number of these not being in operation.

The number of plates tested during the year was 346, as compared with 282 for the previous year. Fourteen plates were rejected as unfit for use in boiler-construction, as compared with four in the previous year. On account of the difficulty in securing boiler-plate much of the material tested this year has not been up to the usual quality, and in a large number of cases the specimens had to be submitted to a series of impact tests and to microscopic tests before we felt that it would be safe to use them. This accounts for the large number of plates condemned.

The cruiser "Adanac" was used in connection with inspections in Districts A and D; all the logging camps operated on the coast-line in these districts were visited. The total number of miles run was 2,603. The coal-oil used for engine, lamps, and all purposes was 836 gallons; engine-oil, 17 gallons. The average consumption of coal-oil per mile for all purposes was 0.321 gallon, and the average consumption was 0.125 gallon per horse-power per hour.

In addition to the usual work of this office, we have during the year undertaken extra work as follows: Reports on various matters for Imperial Munitions Board; supervision of repairs and operation of the Ladner-Woodward and the Mission Ferries; surveys and reports on the launch "Faloma" for the Health Department, the "Whistlewing," "Douglas," and "Embree" for the Forestry Department, and the "Watla" for the Attorney-General's Department, the latter being handed over by the Game Warden to the Attorney-General's Department and by the Attorney-General's Department to the Forestry Department. Repairs were arranged for and supervised on the "Faloma" and the "Watla"; extensive repairs were carried out on the Ladner-Woodward and on the Mission Ferry.

During the year I have been working with the British Columbia University in connection with the education of returned soldiers to fit them for engineers. Many who held certificates of low grade before going overseas have taken the course in the University, and have secured high-grade certificates. Others with little experience have taken the course, and have been given temporary certificates to operate under Chief Engineers, and have thereby received such practical training as enabled them to pass examinations for certificates of competency.

Efficiency tests have been carried out at the Mental Hospital, alterations made in the boiler settings, and some instruments installed, resulting in decided improvement in connection with this plant.

Active co-operation between this Department and the engineers in various public buildings is also showing advantageous results. It is expected that during the coming year this co-operation will be continued and that a system of taking and plotting records will be introduced.

Preliminary arrangements have also been made for the Inspectors in our service to undertake the work of inspection for the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Appended you will find a summary of the total work done by all the District Inspectors, as well as their separate reports.

In conclusion, I desire to thank you for your active interest in support of this office, and also to thank the members of the staff for the efficient manner in which they have carried out their work during the year.

Trusting this report will meet with your approval,

I have, etc.,
JOHN PECK,
Chief Inspector.

Report of the Chief Examiner.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

The Honourable the Minister of Public Works,
Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit to you the following report with respect to examination of candidates for engineers' certificates for the year ending March 31st, 1918:—

During the year I have received 954 applications for examination for the different grades of certificates.

On March 31st, 1917, I had on hand 268 applications, making a total of 1,222. Of these, 901 have been examined; 235 applicants have had their fees returned, as their testimonials did not show the necessary service qualifications required by the Act. This leaves on the "Accepted for Examination" file eighty-six application forms.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

John Peck, Esq.,
Chief Inspector of Machinery, New Westminster, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit to you the following report with respect to work done by me during the year ending March 31st, 1918:—

During the year my time was occupied in carrying out the varied work relating to this office—namely, examining, calculating, and registering designs of boilers, boiler accessories, pipe plans, etc., and examining engineers.

I made two visits to the Upper Country inspecting boilers at Kamloops, and examining engineers at Revelstoke, Vernon, and Kamloops.

Appended you will find a list of the boilers inspected by me, also a list showing the number of candidates for engineers' certificates who were examined in this district during the year.

Re designs for year commencing April 1st, 1917, and ending March 31st, 1918; these are as follows:—

Total designs for the year	138
Total new designs for the year	68
Total design amendments for the year	70
Fees collected for designs	$424

Trusting this report will meet with your approval,

I have, etc.,

Inspector's Report, District A.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

John Peck, Esq.,
Chief Inspector of Machinery, New Westminster, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit to you herewith my report for the year ending March 31st, 1918.

I am again pleased to report that no boiler-explosions have occurred during the year in this district.

Unfortunately, there was one accident which involved personal injury to the chief engineer of the plant of the Dominion Evaporators. While feeling the bearings of the fan-engine he apparently slipped, and his arm, passing through the spokes of a pulley on the shaft, was broken and wrenched off below the elbow.

Boilers Nos. 1231A, 1769A, and 2015A were damaged through excessive accumulations of scale on the fire-sheets.

Boiler No. 97A was damaged through an excess of lime having been fed into the boiler in an endeavour to arrest pitting on the tubes.

Two old marine boilers were inspected with the object of having them used for stationary purposes. The tubes of both were pitted through and useless, although the shells and furnaces were in good condition. The boilers were ordered to be retubed.

Boiler No. 1216A was damaged by low water. After washing out, some scale had lodged over the blow-down outlet; the boiler was filled up without closing the blow-down cock, and when steam was generated the scale blew out, thus allowing the boiler to empty. The tubes at the back-head were damaged, but were made good by rolling.

Other defects, as noted in the tabulated report attached, were of minor importance and such as occur in every-day operation.

Trusting this report will meet with your approval.

I have, etc.,
JOHN D. KAY,
Inspector, District A.

George C. McGown,
Inspector of Steam-boilers, District A.

Inspector's Report, Districts A and E.

New Westminster, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

John Peck, Esq.,
Chief Inspector of Machinery, New Westminster, B.C.

Sir,—I have the honour to submit my report for the year ending March 31st, 1918, for work done in Districts A and E.

During the year twelve vertical-tubular boilers, one locomotive-type boiler, and twelve return-tube boilers, 72 inches diameter by 18 feet, were built under my supervision at the Vulcan Iron Works, New Westminster. All plates used in the construction of these boilers were tested and each boiler was inspected at least once during construction, and when completed was subject to the hydrostatic test.

I inspected all the boilers in the Okanagan District from Penticton to Sicamous and along the Canadian Pacific Railway from Field to Kamloops, and held engineers' examinations at Golden, Revelstoke, and Kamloops, making four trips during the year to the Upper Country.

I inspected all the plates for building one 93-foot diameter and one 115-foot diameter tank, also a large economizer at the Imperial Oil Company's plant at Ioco.

I assisted you at an evaporation test at the Kamloops Hospital, and inspected Government boilers at the Court-houses at Vernon and Kamloops and at the Old Men's Home, Kamloops.

The remainder of my time has been occupied in the office, examining and calculating new boiler designs, making drawings and office records, and assisting in engineers' examinations.

Trusting this report will meet with your approval,

I have, etc.,

A. S. BENNETT,

Inspector, Districts A and E.

REMARKS.

JOHN DOWNIE,
J. D. KAY,
G. C. MCGOWN,
A. S. BENNETT,
Inspectors of Steam-boilers, Districts A and E.

Senior Inspector's Report, District B.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

John Peck, Esq.,
Chief Inspector of Machinery, New Westminster, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit my report of work done during the last twelve months in this district. The general details of examination and correspondence applies to the inspectorate of this office, while appended summary relates to my work outside of the office.

During the year we examined 190 candidates of the various grades; of these, 149 passed the examination, forty-one failing to attain sufficient marks to obtain the desired certificate. In addition to the applications for examinations received after approval at head office, we accepted forty-nine without being registered and approved at New Westminster. This was principally caused by the Inspectors meeting applicants in out-of-the-way places in the Province where not many visits are made, thus preventing undue delay and inconvenience to such candidates. In this way $144.50 in fees was obtained. During the year engineers were examined each month in Victoria, tri-monthly in Nanaimo, at many points along the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and also at the following places: Atlin, Anyox, Port Alberni, Courtenay, Port Alice, Cumberland, Queen Charlotte Islands, Headquarters, Prince Rupert, and Comox.

Approximately 25,000 miles were travelled by the Victoria staff in the course of their duty, by train, steamer, and sundry other means of conveyance. The work done for this district by other districts was: Three boilers tested by District D and shipped here, and four boilers by District A, the Inspectors of that district having inspected them for installation and equipment.

Nearly 300 visits were made to steam plants in addition to the inspections made; therefore close supervision was made and advice given during the intervals between regular inspections.

During the year the following defects came under my personal observation:—

Steam Plant No. 739B.—An accident occurred to the engine, due to priming, the entrained water in cylinder causing the fracture of the steam-port walls. This was repaired by oxyacetylene welding, strengthened by outside clamps.

No. 1540B.—This engine was wrecked by the failure of the crank-pin, which was beyond repair. No one was hurt.

No. 1492B.—This boiler was seriously overheated and bulged over the combustion-chamber, caused by exfoliation of scale from the tubes owing to a change of the feed-water. A quiescent portion of water-circulation permitted its accumulation almost below the main steam-outlet. I had the damaged portion cut out and patched inside, and directed the insertion of a long dry-pipe to make the steam-liberation more diffused.

Another accident was narrowly averted by the prompt action of the engineer. A large Corliss engine, the governor of which, being driven by bevel-gear and having the pins securing one of those bevel-pinions sheared through by the sudden acceleration of speed, was gaining dangerous rapidity when the engineer shut off main stop-valve and prevented damage.

No. 207B.—This mishap was at a steam "nigger" in a sawmill. The piston overreached and burst off the cylinder-head. Steam was shut off and cylinder repaired. Fortunately, no one was scalded by escaping steam or hurt by flying portions.

No. 421B.—This was a large mill engine with a 9-inch shaft which broke in the middle of the main bearing, causing the smashing of the cylinder and piston. Cylinder was 24 x 30 inches and considerable steam escaped before the valves could be closed. Engine is over twenty years old and has had hard and trying work right along with fluctuating loads, which caused crystallization and fatigue of metal.

Boilers Nos. 1204 and 1206.—These were bulged by overheating caused by oil getting into feed-water. Boilers were repaired and suitable oil separators and filters installed to prevent further ingress of oil.

No. 639B.—This was a resaw engine which gained undue speed owing to a break-down of the governing-gear. A cast-iron pulley burst owing to the excessive speed attained, and a portion of it was hurled against a steam-pipe, fracturing same. The escaping steam added to the confusion, but no personal harm was sustained by any one.

One fatal accident was reported. This was in connection with logging-locomotive No. 1832B. The engine got off the track and rolled down an incline, killing the engineer. Apparently there was no fault with condition of the steam plant, which would make it appear that defective track was the cause of the trouble.

Among the boilers put out of service by the Inspection Department of this district were two put afloat, one sent to the Yukon, and others discarded and cut up for scrap.

I inspected six boilers for the Provincial Government, totalling 578 horse-power, with accruing fees of $136, which account was not presented for payment.

I might suggest that this office get the use of a good-powered launch for the early summer months in order that the boilers from Smith Inlet north to Prince Rupert, as well as those in the Queen Charlotte Islands, could be inspected with a greater degree of dispatch than now obtains. At the present time we almost depend entirely on the irregular arrival of the larger steamers, as there is great difficulty in getting launch-owners—principally fishermen—to take Inspectors from steam plant to steam plant. I believe there are available and suitable launches belonging to the Government that might be used for this work.

The following appended summary gives the defects noted, office-work done, etc.

In conclusion, I would state that I believe the present year will see greater industrial activity, with a consequent increase of work. During the past year greater returns were obtained than I estimated at the beginning of 1917. I would also acknowledge the able and efficient assistance of my colleagues in this office in connection with the work of this district.

Trusting that the foregoing report will be satisfactory,

I have, etc.,

S. BAXTER,

Senior Inspector, District B.

Inspector's Report, District B.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

John Peck, Esq.,
Chief Inspector of Machinery, New Westminster, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit my report for the year ending March 31st, 1918.

During this year I inspected steam plants on Vancouver Island, and at every place from Smith Inlet to Prince Rupert, the Queen Charlotte Islands, and the west coast of Vancouver Island, and found the majority of these plants in a satisfactory condition.

The following is a list of the most serious defects observed:—

Return-tube Boilers.—No. 860B was badly burnt and bulged through shortness of water, and as large repairs were necessary this boiler was discarded. Nos. 726B, 857B, and 859B were burnt and bulged, due to a layer of zinc on the sheet above the fire which had been placed in hangers to prevent pitting and had fallen to the bottom of the boiler. Nos. 2088B, 2096B, and 781B were burnt and bulged, due to scale. No. 366B and vertical No. 804B were found to be in such poor condition that they were condemned.

One sawmill engine was wrecked, due to the crank-pin breaking.

The one fatal accident which occurred is given in Mr. Baxter's report.

Trusting my report will meet with your approval,

I have, etc.,

Inspector of Steam-boilers, District B.

Inspector's Report, District B.

Victoria, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

John Peck, Esq.,
Chief Inspector of Machinery, New Westminster, B.C.

Sir,—I have the honour to submit my annual report for the year ending March 31st, 1918.

I believe that possibly the main cause of the more serious defects which have come under my notice has been the excessive forcing of boilers with oil-fuel. In very many plants where oil-fuel is used, bulging or burning of the plate has taken place. I would strongly recommend that a boiler be allowed to evaporate no more than a fixed quantity of water. It seems quite out of reason that good boilers should be quickly spoiled and, at the same time, a distinct element of danger introduced.

Very many cases of broken stays presented themselves. I have always thought that the factor of safety on screwed stay-bolts should not be less than twelve.

The main shaft of a hoist owned by the Western Fuel Company, Nanaimo, gave way in the main bearing. This would seem to have been caused by "fatigue," the shaft being over thirty years old. From this and from some other observations, it would seem wise to apply our ordinary boiler-plate tests to portions cut from the shells of some of the older boilers in the Province in order that we may note just what the plates' properties are.

I applied the hydrostatic test to 307 boilers and completed inspections on 308 boilers. I partially inspected eleven more boilers which were not in use.

My work has taken me to many plants on Vancouver Island, to Anyox, the Nass River, and from Prince Rupert inland to the borders of Alberta. Besides the ordinary work of inspection, I conducted engineers' examinations in Prince Rupert and also assisted in such in Victoria.

This has been a busier year than last, as will be shown by the enclosed detailed list of work done, which I trust will meet with your approval.

I have, etc.,
John Clark,
Inspector of Boilers, District B.

Inspector's Report, District C.

NELSON, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

John Peck, Esq.,
Chief Inspector of Machinery, New Westminster, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit my report for the year ending March 31st, 1918, and I am pleased to say that there were no boiler-explosions and no accidents resulting in personal injury during that time.

Several return-tube boilers were damaged by mud on the fire-sheets, and in two cases part of the damaged plates had to be cut out. Quite a number of these boilers were found to be low at the front end, and this generally happens where the boilers are supported by lugs resting on the brickwork. Apart from the difficulty of keeping a boiler in its proper place, the riveting of a heavy bracket on a lighter plate should not be encouraged.

During the year examinations for engineers were held in different centres in the district, and most of the candidates who were notified came up for examination.

Trusting this report will meet with your approval.

I have, etc.,
ANDREW SUTHERLAND,
Inspector, District C.

Senior Inspector's Report, District D.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

John Peck, Esq.,
Chief Inspector of Machinery, New Westminster, B.C.

SIR,—Enclosed please find my annual report for year ending March 31st, 1918.

During the year there have been only three accidents to engines reported. One at Peers & Anderson's shingle-mill, when strap on crank end of connection-rod of Corliss engine broke and wrecked the engine beyond repair. This was investigated by yourself and found to be a case of "death from natural causes," or, in other words, of old age; no fault being attached to any one connected with the plant.

The other accident happened at Rainy River Pulp & Paper Company's mill. The engineer's report of same was sent to you in August, 1917.

The crank-shaft of main engine at Vancouver Hotel plant was found broken by engineer after shutting down, although it had given no indication of anything wrong while running.

In July I visited the plant of the Moore Logging Company, Wickersham, Washington, who wished to bring their equipment over to this side if it could pass inspection. I inspected three log-haul boilers, but found they were not good enough for the pressure required by owners; they were therefore not brought in.

In November the crown-sheet of No. 1 locomotive at Rock Bay came down through the heads of stays, being burnt off in fire-box. Ninety new stays were put in to repair same.

Outside of the foregoing the work has been a matter of routine, most of my time being spent in the office arranging work for Inspectors and keeping records.

I have, etc.,

GEORGE O. MADIGAN,
Senior Inspector, District D.

Inspector's Report, District D.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

John Peck, Esq.,
Chief Inspector of Machinery, New Westminster, B.C.

SIR,—I beg to submit herewith my report for the year ending March 31st, 1918.

As far as the number of inspections is concerned, the year has not been greatly different from other years, but in respect to new boilers there is a marked difference. It is now practically impossible for the private individual to obtain new boilers. This has resulted in an inflated price for second-hand boilers, which throws a good deal more responsibility upon this Department. In spite of this, no boiler accidents have happened in this Department through which any lives have been lost.

For the first time in the history of the Department acetylene-welded tubes were allowed. The first set welded in this city were by no means an unqualified success. Not so much on account of the weld, but because the tubes themselves were unfit for welding. Of about 200 tubes, at least half were condemned after welding on account of pitting. Had our office been asked to examine and cast out tubes unfit for welding, a considerable amount of expense would have been saved the persons interested. Six of the welded tubes gave out at the weld when subjected to hydrostatic test. The effect of acetylene-welding of tubes should be carefully watched after the boiler is in use. I would suggest that where the weld is conveniently placed in vertical or locomotive boilers, that hand-hole plates be cut opposite them for that purpose.

Every lap-seam boiler that I have examined during the year has had a slot cut across the seam, but no cracks were located.

Twelve cannery retorts were built under inspection during the year. Deflection tests were made upon flat heads and doors of tanks built to the conventional form. A deflection of ¾ inch in centre was found to be common. This was reduced to ¼ inch by proper bracing and reducing the surface exposed to steam-pressure (15 lb.).

Two new digesters for pulp-manufacture were installed—one at Powell River and one at Mill Creek—both built and erected by the Williamette Iron & Steel Company, of Portland, Ore.

At the end of the year the shell of a boiler in the old Pacific Coast mill fractured in a longitudinal direction for about 7 inches from the stop-valve flange towards the manhole. The fracture was discovered under hydrostatic test. The flange of stop-valve was small in diameter compared to those at present in use, and as there was considerable overhang of steam-piping supported from the roof of a building not too stable upon its foundations, it threw a severe strain upon the shell of boiler where the flange was riveted on. It seems probable that considerable fretting action also took place here, due to vibrations of the pipe-line, which would hasten the action. Small cracks extended from edge of flange in all directions, although the main one was in a longitudinal direction.

Trusting you will find this report satisfactory and thanking you for your assistance in the past,

I have, etc.,
PERCY A. GOEPEL.
Inspector, District D.

Inspector's Report, District D.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

John Peck, Esq.,
Chief Inspector of Machinery, New Westminster, B.C.

SIR,—I have pleasure in forwarding you my report concerning the extent of work done during the past year.

It may be noted that the majority of my inspections has taken place in logging camps located on the Coast between Vancouver and Seymour Inlet, the number of camps visited being 119, with a total number of 343 log-hauls. Steam plants other than logging were visited, and totalled seventeen, with fifty boilers operating. The remainder of my inspections took place in Vancouver.

I regret that owing to various delays beyond my control it was necessary to carry on the work late into the season, and also that at least ten logging camps were left without inspection.

I am pleased to inform you that the launch "Adanac" worked on the whole fairly satisfactorily, more especially during the latter part of the trip; but there are indications that the engine needs a thorough overhaul, one being the difficulty in keeping up the oil-pressure in the crank-case, due no doubt to looseness of the bearings.

I am also pleased to be able to report that only one accident resulting in personal injury took place in connection with logging-boilers. In this case the crown-sheet stays pulled through the sheet. On investigating I could find no signs of overheating, nor were any broken stays found. The accident was to a very old locomotive in the British Columbia Mills Timber & Trading Company's camp at Rock Bay. The fireman, in jumping off the engine at the time of the trouble, broke his arm.

The logging industry during the past year was exceedingly busy, but with the exception of two or three large camps, all the camp-owners complained of a shortness of men, including engineers.

The enclosed tabulated form shows the result of my year's work in detail, which I trust you will find satisfactory.

I have, etc.,
F. BATH,
Inspector, District D.

Inspector's Report, District D.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 1st, 1918.

John Peck, Esq.,
Chief Inspector of Machinery, New Westminster, B.C.

SIR.—I have the honour to submit my report of inspection-work done during the year ending March 31st, 1918, also the enclosed tabulated statement.

Apart from the great scarcity of material for boiler-construction, which scarcity was accentuated as the year progressed to its close, there is nothing to report of especial public interest. Certain modifications of conventional practice in respect to the testing and approving of boiler-plate might be referred to at some length; however, this matter will probably be fully cared for by yourself. On the whole, a more charitable attitude had to be taken in regard to the quality of steel as judged by the standards of less strenuous times. The same applies to used boilers, also faulty tubes, the scarcity of the latter having been more pronounced than plate.

About fifty vertical-tube boilers were built to the order of the Imperial Munitions Board for service overseas. There were also a few second-hand boilers inspected prior to export to the United States. These inspections were, of course, incidental to the war, and in no sense to be regarded as indicative of a future export trade in machinery. There may be just a little satisfaction in the fact that the Munitions Board, as well as a few steam-users in the United States, took advantage of our modest facilities for the inspection of their purchases. It is good to know that our efforts are appreciated to this extent.

During the year I found what is probably the last remaining suspect of boiler design 1319. Suspicions that grooving at longitudinal seams would have taken place were well founded. About $^{3}/_{16}$ inch material only remained to hold the boiler together. As an exactly similar case was investigated by the Chief Inspector two years ago and afterwards fully referred to in that year's Annual Report, no further action—save scrapping the boiler—was considered necessary.

The examination of candidates for engineers' certificates takes up a lot of time in the office. Roughly, two weeks in every alternate month of my time were so occupied. There has been no dearth of aspirants for certificates, and it seems in the nature of a paradox that complaints should be made now and then of the paucity of certificated men. In the lower grades the work was fair; in the higher, not at all good. The presumption is that capable and good men had transferred their activities to the more urgent work elsewhere.

Recognizing fully an indebtedness to you for the continuance of generous counsel and support,

I have, etc.,
FRED. BIGGAM,
Inspector, District D.

REMARKS.

Nothing occurred worthy of special mention during the months of January, February, and March, 1918. A memorandum accompanying my annual report for 1917 forwarded to the head office takes note of conditions of inspection-work for the period April to December, 1917.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF ELECTRICAL ENERGY.

Provincial Inspector of Electrical Energy,
Vancouver, B.C., December 6th, 1918.

Hon. J. H. King,
Minister of Public Works, Victoria, B.C.

Sir,—I have the honour of submitting to you a report of the inspections made under the "Electrical Energy Inspection Act" for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1918.

Distribution Systems, Transmission-lines, Power Plants, and Sub-stations Inspected.

British Columbia Electric Railway Co., Ltd. (Mainland and Vancouver Island).
Western Power Co.
Granby Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., Anyox.
City of Prince Rupert.
West Kootenay Light and Power Co.
Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., Trail.
Canada Copper Corporation, Princeton.
Princeton Coal Co.
Daly Reduction Co., Hedley.
City of Nelson.
Prince Rupert Dry Dock, Prince Rupert.
Victoria Lumber and Manufacturing Co., Chemainus.

High-potential Transmission-lines.

On the whole, the transmission-lines were found to be in good condition, although some of the existing lines operating in the limits of the cities (particularly in the City of Vancouver) are so located that they are liable to hamper and endanger city firemen while performing their duties. One case was reported where firemen were out practising, when the aerial truck came in contact with a 34,000-volt line, resulting in two of the men being seriously burnt. In most instances, however, an arrangement exists between the fire departments and the power companies whereby the lines are immediately killed on request by telephone or otherwise. In this particular case no request was made to have the line disconnected. Previous to the outbreak of the war, plans were prepared and arrangements made to remove certain sections of these lines and adopt an underground system. Owing to the considerable advance in price of and the difficulty of obtaining material, this has been held in abeyance until the termination of the war, when the matter will be reopened.

A number of high-potential wire crossings with telephone and other signalling systems were inspected and approved. A special protective cross-arm was designed by the British Columbia Telephone Company for use at crossings to subscribers' premises. After certain improvements recommended by the Department were made, this special cross-arm has been installed in several places and is giving satisfaction. It eliminates expensive crossings and is effective. A number of decayed poles supporting the above lines were condemned as being unsafe.

The protection of private telephone-lines installed on transmission-line poles is being given close attention, and the Department is now insisting that adequate protection be given at all points where a telephone is installed. The number of break-downs reported in transmission-line conductors were few. In one instance a 34,000 line broke and fell on a building. This was caused by leakage, which eventually burnt the cross-arm and the top of the pole. This line ran along the water-front, and was subjected to deposits of salt and smoke from the large number of mills in the vicinity. The company operating this line was notified by the Department that the line was considered to be a hazard and was condemned. A new line was constructed through another district, and it was finally arranged that one circuit only should be used on the defective line, which was to be used only in case of emergency. No trouble has been experienced since the changes were made.

DISTRIBUTION SYSTEMS.

The majority of the distributing systems built during the last five years are well constructed, and are well designed in the way of affording protection to linemen so far as climbing-space is concerned. In the congested districts of the cities a number of the older lines are no doubt hazardous, and great care must be exercised in working on them. This is particularly so in cases where lane-construction has been adopted, and which has been continually added to from year to year. Some lanes in the City of Vancouver are very congested, making it impossible for the fire department to erect ladders. Conditions were improved recently, due to a number of circuits being removed from the Main Street Sub-station and connected to the Haro Street. Nevertheless, the Department is convinced that more improvements will have to be made in the near future. I may say that after an interview with the chief engineer of the company, a report was made and plans prepared providing for a large section of underground construction. This scheme was again handicapped by the outbreak of war. The only way in which all these hazards can be removed is by providing an underground system. This matter will be considered again after the termination of the war.

A number of fire-alarm and police-patrol systems are installed on lighting-poles, and instructions were issued to have all the boxes permanently grounded. This was objected to by the City of Vancouver, the reason given being that it was liable to interfere with the fire-alarm system; in fact, past experience has proven this to be so. I am, nevertheless, satisfied that the boxes should all be grounded in order to give ample protection to the public. The Department is now corresponding with other cities on the continent to see what action has been taken in the matter. Where possible, these circuits are strung on telephone-poles. Instructions are being issued to have the secondaries of all transformers not exceeding a potential of 150 volts grounded.

Rules and regulations are being prepared covering overhead electrical construction, which will be submitted for approval in the near future.

GENERATING STATIONS AND SUB-STATIONS.

During the inspection of these plants close attention was given to the following:—

Protective Grounding.—The regulation calling for the grounding of non-current-carrying parts, such as frames of generators, motors, transformers, switchboard-frames, oil-switches, was found to be closely adhered to in the larger plants. In some of the smaller installations ground-wires were occasionally omitted or installed in an unsatisfactory manner. In some cases it was difficult to check the continuity of the wires, which, in addition, were not adequately protected. In one industrial plant a fatal accident occurred, due to a ground-wire from a starting compensator being connected to a water-pipe. During alterations in the plant the water-pipe was disconnected from the main, thereby isolating the compensator, which was defective, from ground. Another matter which added to this hazard was the fact that an insulated platform had been removed.

Guarding of Live Parts.—Care has been taken in every instance to provide protection for persons near exposed current-carrying parts, such as bus-bars and other conductors, as well as the terminals of generators, motors, and transformers.

Floor Openings and Stairways.—In a few cases instructions were issued to protect floor openings and stairways.

Insulated Platforms.—It was found necessary in several instances to insist on the providing of insulated platforms and mats.

Working-space about Electrical Equipment.—The regulation governing the working-space around electrical equipment was found to be well observed.

Protection to Men working on Lines and Supply Equipment.—The larger electric power-supply companies have a very efficient method of protecting linemen working on high-potential lines. The chief load-dispatcher has full control over the entire system. In the event of it being necessary to disconnect a line or part of the equipment, the workman in charge applies to the chief operator to have that particular section killed. The chief operator directs the proper person to open all switches and disconnectors, at the same time tagging the switches with a card indicating that the men are at work. The workman in charge is then notified by the chief operator that the specified section of the line has been disconnected and that he may proceed to work. The lines remain disconnected until the workman in charge reports the completion of the work and that the line is clear. One accident was reported from a small plant, where the operator in charge neglected to tag the switch and pull out the disconnectors. For some reason which has not been explained he threw in the main switch, causing a generator which was connected to a water-wheel to revolve. A workman who was attending to the nozzles of the wheel was seriously injured. This accident was the result of carelessness.

500-VOLT DIRECT-CURRENT COMMERCIAL POWER.

The following regulation was issued during the year and has been rigorously enforced: "Lighting and power wires will not be permitted on the same circuit with trolly-wires with a ground return, except in electric railway-cars, electric car-houses, power-houses, passenger and freight stations connected with the operation of electric railways."

Temporary permits were granted to two concerns fulfilling contracts for the Imperial Munitions Board.

2,200-VOLT INSTALLATIONS.

A number of these were connected up during the year. On inspection it was found necessary to make several recommendations with regard to protection of exposed parts, the grounding of non-current-carrying parts, and the provision of disconnecting-switches. Owing to the difficulty of obtaining suitable lead-covered cable, consent was granted in three cases to use rubber-covered wire, provided that it was adequately protected. A number of these installations were for work in connection with the production of war supplies, so that it was absolutely necessary that no delay should take place. In all public buildings the 2,200-volt supply is given to transformers installed in fire-proof vaults, the majority of which were found to be satisfactory.

A number of industrial plants and public buildings were inspected, a list of which is appended. In cities and some municipalities these plants are also inspected by the local Inspectors. It was found that the civic by-laws and regulations are being well enforced and observed. In outlying districts the Department found it necessary to make numerous recommendations.

May I be permitted to express my appreciation for the assistance and co-operation given by all the civic and municipal Inspectors.

ELECTROLYSIS.

A few complaints were received concerning damage done by stray currents to underground cable and water mains. On referring the matter to the company responsible, I found that plans were already arranged for the installing of additional feeders, etc., to overcome at least a portion of the trouble. The company realized that damage was being done, and was anxious to remedy the trouble. A number of improvements were made recently, and up to the present no further complaints have been received.

ACCIDENTS.

The following accidents were reported during the year; all were investigated and detailed reports have already been submitted:—

Trade or Industry.	Locality.	Date.	No.	Remarks.
Smelter employeee*....	Trail	June 18th, 1917.	1	Electrocuted.
Sub-station helper.....	Westminster.. ...	Oct. 4th, 1917...	1	Burnt by switch.
Lineman	Fraser Valley.....	Oct. 5th, 1917...	1	Slipped off platform while raising transformers.
Engineer's assistant ...	Britannia Beach ..	Feb. 24th, 1918..	1	Caught in Pelton wheel.
Floorman	Vancouver.....	Feb. 28th, 1918..	1	Threw shoulder out of joint in closing bus-structure doors.
Fireman.....	Vancouver.....	March 11th, 1918	2	Aerial ladder coming in contact with high-voltage line; severe burns.
Cleaner*	Trail	March 11th, 1918	1	Touched high-voltage wire in smoke-treater plant.
Boy*.....	Vancouver..	March 16th, 1918	1	Climbed over fence on to window and touched 40,000-volt wire.

*Fatal.

In addition to the above, the Department has acted in an advisory capacity in connection with the various Government Buildings.

Respectfully yours,

D. P. ROBERTS,

Inspector of Electrical Energy.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF FACTORIES.

Vancouver, B.C., March 31st, 1918.

Hon. J. H. King,
Minister of Public Works, Victoria, B.C.

Sir,—I have the honour of submitting herewith the annual report of the Factory Inspection Department for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1918.

In submitting this annual report, I am unable to compile a complete account of the activities of this Department owing to the fact that no detailed records were kept of the work performed prior to my taking over this office in June last. Under the different headings which follow, an effort is made to present the most important phases of the work in such a manner as to furnish real information to yourself and those directly interested.

In taking over the administration of this Department, I found in its files that orders had been issued during the preceding nine years for safeguarding of dangerous machinery, improvement in ventilation, sanitation, toilet facilities, and other provisions required by the Act, but that no attempt had been made on reinspection to enforce the carrying-out of these instructions. Therefore a great many of the employers and managers apparently had gained the impression that the orders of the Department of Factory Inspection were not to be taken seriously. I am now pleased, however, to be able to report that this old impression is being supplanted by the impression that the British Columbia Department of Factory Inspection is sincere and thorough in its work of enforcing the law on the basis of reason and common-sense. Furthermore, I have no hesitation in saying, and I invite contradiction when I make the statement, that there is not an employer in the Province of British Columbia who can honestly deny that this Department has been reasonable and fair in the enforcement of the Provisions of the Act, and that no partiality has been shown.

Child-labour.

The law prohibiting the employment of boys under fourteen and girls under fifteen years of age in most cases has been complied with, although in several instances we found that children were holding positions through false representations regarding their age being made by themselves and their parents.

In justice to the employers, I might say that in suspicious cases this office was generally consulted. A great deal of difficulty was experienced during the year in enforcing this section of the Act, as many pleas were made from mothers of children whose husbands were serving in overseas forces and who needed the monetary assistance.

The matter of prevention of child-labour is an important one, and requires constant watchfulness on the part of the Inspector, as I am satisfied that if there were any laxity on our part many of the factories would employ children under age, and many parents would be ready and willing to sacrifice their little ones. It is only by constant surveillance that child-labour can be kept down to the minimum, as at present.

Hours of Labour.

Notwithstanding that the hours of labour for female employees are set out very clearly in the "Factories Act," investigations disclosed the fact that the statutory hours of labour were being exceeded by many employers since the beginning of operations, many of whom were in business before the Act was in force. This was not altogether the fault of the employers, as it was found that a great many were ignorant of the provisions of the Act regarding the statutory hours of employment, and had been informed by the previous Inspector that they were conforming with the Act.

A considerable portion of the time of this Department has been taken up in explaining and enforcing this particular provision of the Act, owing to several firms, such as garment-manufacturers, etc., offering the excuse that they were in competition with firms in Eastern Provinces engaged in the same line of industry, and whose employees are allowed by law to be employed for a longer period than is allowed by the British Columbia "Factories Act." The excuse was also advanced that contracts for goods were entered into specifying certain dates for delivery; the employers being under the impression that, if from any cause the orders were unable to be completed in the time specified, all that was necessary was to make application to this Department for permission to work their female employees an unlimited number of hours.

The disorganizing of the staff, when females would cease work at the end of eight hours, was another source of complaint regarding the enforcement of this particular provision of the Act put forward by many employers whose employees consisted of male and female operators. On one occasion written notice was served on an employer that this provision of the Act must be complied with, and we found, on making a subsequent inspection, that the girls had been replaced by Oriental labour.

In several cases employers have fought strenuously against our instructions to comply with the provision of the Act relating to the hours of female employment, and appealed from our decision to the Hon. the Minister of this Department direct.

Numerous complaints have been received from different sources regarding the hours of employment of children, young girls, and women engaged in the business of fish-canning and fruit-packing, as the public generally are not aware that it is permissible under the Act to employ children, young girls, and women in these industries. It is further provided that the limitation upon the hours of labour, the hours of commencement and cessation of work shall not be binding upon the employers of any child, young girl, or woman engaged in this occupation during the respective seasons. The hours of labour in these particular plants depend almost entirely upon the capacity of the plant and the amount of raw material on hand.

OVERTIME PERMITS.

Numerous requests were made to this office during the year for overtime permits. Investigations, however, were made in all cases, and resulted in only four of these being issued. These permits had apparently been issued heretofore without any restrictions as to period of hours of employment per day, or as to the hours of commencement and cessation of work, notwithstanding the fact that the Statute expressly prohibits the employment of girls for more than nine hours per day, or before the hour of 7 o'clock in the morning or after 8 o'clock in the evening, while working under this exemption. The explanation of the hours as set forth in the Act in this connection was a disappointment to many employers of female help.

SANITATION.

Owing to the increased activity in many of the large industrial plants throughout the Province, it was found that in a great many cases the toilet accommodation provided the employees was very unsatisfactory, both as regards the location of these conveniences and the number provided. After going into this matter very thoroughly, this Department is able to report the installation of some 200 toilets of a most up-to-date and sanitary character during the year.

We find our greatest difficulty in this matter in small places, as the sanitary and safety precautions are very often disregarded, and the idea seems to prevail that anything will do where there are only a few employed. In these places we have very often found that separate toilets have not been provided for female employees, and in some cases where employers were instructed that this provision must be made they would attempt to brush the subject aside by stating: "Oh! they are used to it; they don't mind it." Remarks of this nature are not a reflection on the workers, but rather an indication of what kind of a man such an employer is.

Our tours of inspection during the past nine months has shown us that it has not occurred to some employers that proper separation of sexes and strict privacy are essential to good morals. The most objectionable violation of the law in this connection that came to our notice during inspections was in three instances, where white girls were using the same toilets as their Oriental employers. Needless to say, this was ordered to be immediately discontinued.

It seems to be a difficult matter to have toilets kept in a clean condition. It requires constant attention, for there are always some employees who damage and otherwise cause the toilets to become unsanitary and filthy, and the responsibility cannot always be fairly placed upon the factory-owners.

VENTILATION.

Instructions are issued by this Department for the removal by mechanical means of dust, gases, fumes, or other impurities which are inhaled by the employees to an injurious extent.

Several installations of this nature, some on a large and some on a small scale, have been ordered to be provided in factories throughout the Province.

Acting on instructions from this Department, one of the large plants installed a blower system at a cost of $5,000. Before this blower system became a part of this company's equipment, it was found impossible to fully man the plant owing to the extremely dusty nature of the work carried on therein. In conversation with the superintendent following the completion of the contract, he stated that since the blower system had been installed the labour situation affecting the plant had been entirely reversed, and conditions were improved to such an extent that, instead of being unable to man the plant, he was in possession of a waiting-list.

The proper installation of a mechanical exhaust system is a very important matter, as the success of the fan not only depends upon its speed and its proper proportioning to the work, but also upon the system and piping of the hoods in order that they will give the greatest efficiency.

After the completion of the installation of the blower system in some of the buildings of this city, we found in making tests that the installation was entirely inadequate. Although the fan was of adequate capacity, owing to faulty construction of the main ducts it failed to give the required velocity of air.

Lighting.

Our manufacturers have been somewhat tardy in seeing the beneficial side of good lighting. It is only lately that employers have recognized the fact that good lighting increases production and decreases accidents. Very often, however, good lighting is confined to certain sections of a plant. There are many places in factories, particularly in the ground floor of sawmills, where little or no attention is given to illumination. When it is realized that most sawmills in the Province generate their own electricity for lighting purposes, it is hard to understand the laxity displayed on the part of some of the owners and managers of these plants in not having sufficient lighting provided. In several cases the Inspector had to be furnished with a lantern in order that a proper inspection could be made, notwithstanding the fact that electric generators form a part of the equipment of these plants.

An instance can be cited where from purely economic reasons sufficient lighting had not been provided, with the result that a fatality has to be recorded owing to that neglect.

In general, good lighting in factories and workshops not only facilitates the work direct, but is of the greatest indirect value because of the feeling of security given the workers. Such being the case, it naturally follows that the Inspector, while making his official visit, will carefully scrutinize the system of lighting in force, and numerous orders have been issued to install more lights at certain designated points.

While this Department has set no standard for this very important provision, nevertheless we have at all times insisted that proper illumination must be provided.

Elevators.

This Department being responsible for the inspection of freight and passenger elevators in factories, hotels, and shops of more than two stories in height, it naturally follows that a considerable amount of our time has to be devoted to this portion of our work, in order to safeguard the operators and that portion of the public who are daily required to use this form of conveyance.

When making an inspection of an elevator, the cables supporting the car and counter-weights are carefully examined, and if the wires are cracked or badly worn they are ordered to be renewed. The safety devices on the machine and elevator are thoroughly inspected and subjected to a practical test, in order to determine as to whether or not they will perform what is required of them in case of an emergency.

Projections in the shaftway, which form a shear with the platform of the car, are a frequent cause of accidents, and when conditions are such that these are not guarded against by the car enclosure a smooth bevelled guard is required to be placed under all such projections.

The operation of elevators by inexperienced and unauthorized persons is largely a contributing factor in connection with a number of elevator accidents reported to this office. This was forcibly and sadly illustrated in the case of a young errand-boy who, for purposes of pleasure, was using the freight-elevator in one of the large buildings of this city, resulting in his being crushed to death between the platform of the car and the floor. This was the only fatality occurring in elevators coming under our jurisdiction during the year.

SAFEGUARDING MACHINERY.

Since assuming office in June last, this very important part of our duties has received our special attention. Notwithstanding the fact that this Act had been in force for some nine years, it was soon realized that very little had been accomplished in the way of safeguarding dangerous machinery, essential to the protection of workmen. Report of accidents reaching this office goes to prove that injuries to employees of a preventive nature were happening all too frequently. Many proprietors and operators of even the largest and oldest established plants throughout the Province had never made any serious attempt to eliminate hazards in connection with their industry.

Firm methods were therefore necessary to convince the employers that our instructions must be complied with, but we are pleased now to be able to record that a marked improvement has taken place, and many have made expenditures amounting to thousands of dollars in installing safety appliances through recommendations of this Department. There is still a great deal of work to be accomplished, however, but we expect, through continuance of co-operation with employers and employees throughout the Province, to have the factories of British Columbia compare favourably with those of any other on the continent.

It has been the policy of this Department not to request anything in safeguarding that is not practical, and the installing of which we do not understand, and to always give the manufacturers the benefit of experience and ideas gathered at other plants.

Acting in conjunction with the Workmen's Compensation Board, we are enforcing the Safety Rules and Regulations which have been adopted by that Board to come into effect on June 16th, 1918.

ACCIDENTS.

The files of this office show that a very limited number of employers have previously conformed with that portion of the Act relating to the reporting to this office of all accidents disabling employees for a period of six days or more. As the Workmen's Compensation Board are now supplied with a report of all these accidents, and as they immediately notify this office if an investigation is necessary, we have not been enforcing this requirement of the Act.

COMPLAINTS.

Most complaints are received at this office by telephone, some through the mail, while many are made in person. In the majority of cases the informant does not care to reveal his or her name, fearing probable exposure and possible dismissal, as might happen to an employee who enters a complaint against his or her employer with reference to violations of some particular portion of the Act.

It has been the policy of this Department to immediately follow up all complaints, and encouragement has been given to employees to report any violation of the Act; at the same time assuring them that any information given would be treated strictly confidential.

In conclusion, I wish to remark that the work of enforcing the laws of this Department has been carried on with only one motive in mind—that of carrying out the intentions of each law impartially.

In many cases where some of the orders issued by the Department appeared rather stringent, and exceptions were taken by the recipients of such orders, they have been invited to meet in conference at this office to discuss all alleged grievances. In every case the matter was subject to a sound debate, which invariably resulted in a better understanding between the Department and the owner of the business, and in securing his co-operation.

I wish to thank you yourself, sir, and also the Deputy Minister, for the hearty encouragement and assistance that you have both given me in the performance of my duties.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. J. STEWART,
Inspector of Factories.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF DYKES.

Office of the Inspector of Dykes,
Victoria, B.C., December 24th, 1918.

Hon. J. H. King,
Minister of Public Works, Victoria, B.C.

Sir,—I have the honour to submit herewith my annual report for the current year relative to the maintenance and management of the dyking-works in the Chilliwack, Matsqui, Maple Ridge, Coquitlam, and Pitt Meadows Dyking Districts.

The following table shows the maximum freshet heights of the Fraser River for the years designated, as recorded by gauge-readings at Chilliwack, Matsqui, and Pitt River. These readings represent the height above low-water mark at Pitt River near its mouth, which is approximately 6.80 feet above low-water at the Sand-heads.

By reference to the above table it will be seen that the freshet of 1918 was the highest during the last fifteen years, with the exception of that of 1908, which was about the same height.

The freshet season commenced at an earlier date than usual, the sluice-gates at Matsqui closing on May 2nd, the reading on the river-gauge being 9.90. The river continued to rise gradually until May 19th, the end of the first rise, when it reached 15 feet on the gauge. On May 29th the gauge-reading was 11.20, when the second rise began, and continued until it reached the maximum freshet height, 21.40, on June 29th. On August 15th the water had dropped to 9.90 on the gauge when the sluice-gates opened. The gates at the Pitt River pumping-station, however, on account of the effect of the tide, did not open until August 31st.

The following is a detailed statement of Maintenance Account from October 1st, 1917, to September 30th, 1918:—

ANNUAL TAX SALE.

Owing to the general financial depression prevailing on account of the war, only those lands, the assessments for which were delinquent for the year 1915, were exposed for sale.

ARREARS OUTSTANDING.

The following is a statement showing approximately the net amount of arrears outstanding in each of the dyking districts for the years 1914-15 and 1916-17. The arrears for 1914 and 1915 are made up, principally, from delinquent dyking assessments on streets in municipalities which are not subject to tax sale; these arrears include also some lands which are exempt from sale under the provisions of the "Military Service Act."

	Chilliwack.	Matsqui.	Maple Ridge.	Coquitlam.	Pitt No. 1.	Pitt No. 2.
Arrears for 1914 and 1915	$ 139 30	$ 42 58	$ 78 37	$1,930 65	.....	$ 43 34
Arrears for 1916 and 1917	2,344 26	4,698 26	7,037 27	8,452 02	$364 89	2,434 49

RIVER-PROTECTION WORK.

Besides the menace to the safety of the dyke on account of the increased accumulation of log-jams at a point about two miles below the upper end of the Chilliwack Dyke, referred to in last year's and former reports of the Inspector of Dykes, the gradual encroachment by the river, extending from the upper end of Camp Slough down-stream for a distance of about 2,000 feet, seriously threatens the safety of the dyke at a point where the dyke is nearest to the river-bank. According to measurements taken at different times since 1905, when the distance from the centre line of dyke to the river-bank was 325 feet, the total encroachment amounts to 208 feet, or to a point 117 feet from the centre of the dyke, leaving a margin of only about 90 feet between the toe of the dyke and the top of the river-bank. As the erosion from March, 1917, to December, 1918, amounted to 33 feet, while that for the three years prior to 1917 was only 25 feet, it would appear that this encroachment of the river is gaining at an increased ratio, which renders it necessary that steps be taken as soon as practicable for carrying out adequate works of protection in order to safeguard the dyke.

Before a decision can be arrived at as to the best method to adopt for carrying out the work or an estimate of the cost be formed, it will be necessary to have a survey made, showing soundings and cross-sections of the river-bank between Camp Slough and Greyell Slough, a distance of about 2,500 feet. River-protection work will also be required in the near future at a point about half a mile below the upper end of the Matsqui Dyke, where the latter runs parallel to the river for a distance of about 1,000 feet. The average distance at present between the outside of the dyke ditch and the river-bank is about 150 feet. The river has encroached for an average width of about 100 feet along this stretch during the last ten years, and is still encroaching.

In order to secure the safety of the dyke, the bank of the river for a length of 1,000 or 1,200 feet will have to be protected, and for the purpose of obtaining data as to the nature and cost of the work required a survey will be necessary.

Respectfully submitted.

Inspector of Dykes.

GENERAL REPORT.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION. 1917-1918.

EDUCATION OFFICE,
VICTORIA, B.C., December, 1918.

To the Honourable J. D. MacLean, M.D., C.M., Minister of Education.

SIR,—I beg to submit the Forty-seventh Annual Report of the Public Schools of British Columbia for the school-year ending June 30th, 1918.

The total enrolment in all the schools was 67,516. The number of boys was 33,540, and of girls 33,976. The grand total actual daily attendance made by all the pupils enrolled was 10,279,933½. The average actual daily attendance was 54,747. The percentage of regular attendance was 81.08. The total number of teachers employed was 2,246. Of this number, 184 were employed in the high schools, 920 in the city graded schools, 537 in the rural municipality schools, and 605 in the rural and assisted schools.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

The enrolment in the high schools during the year was 5,150. Of this number, 2,151 were boys and 2,999 were girls.

The number of divisions, the total enrolment, the average actual daily attendance, and the percentage of regular attendance in each high school are shown in the following table:—

INSPECTORS' REPORTS.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

VICTORIA, B.C., July 27th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit herewith the following report on the work of the high and superior schools of the Province for the school-year ending June 30th, 1918:—

Forty-three high schools, with 184 divisions, and fifteen superior schools were in operation during the year, giving a total of 199 divisions, with 218 teachers. Included in this number of teachers are two specialists in physical drill, one in vocal music, five in technical work, six in agriculture, and fifteen in commercial work. The number of pupils in high schools was 5,150, while upwards of 200 superior-school pupils were taking high-school work. I was able to pay at least one visit of inspection to each school, making in all 214 inspections. While a few schools were inspected twice, I found it out of the question to carry out my original plan of visiting all the smaller schools twice during the year. When the first High School Inspector was appointed in 1910 there were only eighty-three teachers in the high and superior schools of the Province. The next year there was an increase of six teachers, and during the last six years the average increase has been more than twenty-one, so that at the present time the number of teachers is more than two and a half times the number in 1910.

The superior schools at Ashcroft, Chemainus, and Port Moody last year gave no instruction in advance of the Entrance Course, but Port Moody will probably reopen the superior division next year. The year just closed saw a superior school established at Phoenix and a high school at Prince George, while in Vancouver City the Kitsilano High School, with five divisions, was opened to relieve the congestion at King Edward High School.

Two new agricultural specialists were appointed during the year, and classes in Agriculture were opened for the first time in four high schools and one superior school. Two hundred and twenty-seven pupils were enrolled in the Agricultural classes, being distributed among the following schools: Armstrong, Chilliwack, Duncan, Enderby, Kelowna, Vernon, and Victoria High Schools, and Belmont, Cloverdale, and Rutland Superior Schools. A change in the requirements of the Agricultural Course is imperative. This at present is a two-year course, is almost invariably begun in the Preliminary year, and is consequently completed at the end of the second year, but pupils who wish to matriculate into the Provincial University have to write an examination in Agriculture along with the other matriculation papers at the end of their third year. Pupils are thus required to sit for their examination a year after they have dropped the subject or spend their third year in reviewing the work covered during the first two years. I am convinced the course for matriculation should be spread over three years or should be started in the second year.

Districts are manifesting a growing appreciation of the excellence of the training received in the High School Commercial Course. At the beginning of the year classes in this work were formed for the first time at the Kamloops, Nelson, Oak Bay, and North Vancouver High Schools. In addition to the schools just mentioned, the course is being followed in the following: New Westminster, Point Grey, Revelstoke, South Vancouver, Victoria, Britannia, and King Edward High Schools. In all, 716 pupils followed this course during the year. Next year algebra and grammar will be dropped from the Course of Study for commercial pupils and Canadian history and civics substituted.

Recently the Education Office decided to admit to Normal School pupils who are successful in passing the Departmental Examination for third-year commercial pupils. I understand that four Vancouver pupils, who have completed three years of high-school commercial work, are planning on attending Normal School next year. The probability is that in future a number of such teachers will be sent out from our Normal Schools each year; if so, School Boards will not experience the difficulty they have had in the past in securing commercially trained teachers.

Now that the Departmental Examination for second-year commercial pupils has been done away with and thus no diplomas can be granted to such pupils by the Education Office, and since the majority of our commercial pupils leave high school at the end of their second year, it is highly desirable that the different School Boards issue official certificates to those students who have successfully passed their two years' work.

The technical work for boys begun two years ago at the King Edward High School, Vancouver, is growing in favour with the pupils and the public. At the time of my visit 137 pupils were enrolled in these classes. A class in Household Arts for girls was opened in this school at the first of the year, with twenty-nine pupils enrolled. In addition to the ordinary subjects, these girls received a very excellent course in cooking, canning, kitchen-work, sewing, and dressmaking. Changes in these two courses are needed. Latin should be replaced by French. I question the wisdom of asking the girls of the Household Arts class to cover the geometry demanded of the academic classes. It may be necessary to differentiate between the requirements demanded of those looking ahead to a University course and others, unless we wish to shut the doors of the Provincial University against those who choose a Technical High School Course, as the present Course of Study does not meet University matriculation requirements.

In my reports to the Vancouver School Board regarding the King Edward High School, I have emphasized the desirability of separating the commercial and technical from the academic classes. It is impossible for one principal to properly supervise the four courses now being given in this school. I am in hopes that the Commercial classes at least will be housed in a separate building next year. In the near future the Vancouver authorities must provide a modern well-equipped separate building for the Technical classes if they expect to attain the highest success in their technical work.

I believe that technical work in our high schools should receive every encouragement, not in order that it may usurp the place of the academic and commercial courses which have been taught so successfully in the past, but to supplement these and train for future citizenship many who might otherwise be lost to our schools. Technical schools for the most important centres in the mining districts, with special attention to mining and mineralogy, cannot long be delayed in a Province such as ours.

Important changes in connection with High School Examinations came into effect during the year. In cities of the first or second class Entrance pupils were promoted to high school on the recommendation of their principal. The Departmental Examination for promotion of second-year high-school pupils was eliminated, pupils being passed to the third year by their teachers. It is still necessary, however, for Advanced Junior pupils who wish to enter Normal School for third-class certificates to write the examination set by the Provincial Board of Examiners. This year for the first time the Junior and Senior University Matriculation Examinations were conducted by the Departmental Board of Examiners.

The number of candidates writing and the number passed in each grade are given below:—

Grade.	No. of Candidates.	No. passed.	No. granted University Supplemental Examintion.
Advanced and Full Course, Junior Grade, and Third Class Non-professional	220	190	...
Intermediate Grade	121	113	...
Third-year Commercial	4	4	..
Senior Grade	21	17	...
Senior Academic Grade	6	4	...
University Matriculation, Junior	601	306	152
University Matriculation, Senior	25	12	4
Totals	998	646	156

Of the 998 candidates, 196 failed completely—a percentage of 19.63.

It is fitting that special mention should be made in this report of the valuable service the high-school boys and girls have rendered to the national welfare in connection with the "Soldiers of the Soil" movement. Hundreds of our high-school pupils filled very acceptably the breaches which the pressing military needs of the time had made in the ranks of those engaged in food production. The Education Department offered the movement every encouragement. Pupils who had been in regular attendance and whom the principal considered proficient in their studies were allowed to leave before the end of the summer term without forfeiting their school-year. The University authorities granted matriculation standing to a number of these on the recommendation of their principal. I am pleased to report that the main body of our teachers were very careful and conscientious and did not recommend pupils unless they showed conclusive evidence of being capable of doing next year's work successfully, but unfortunately in one or two cases teachers showed considerable laxness in this regard. These pupils have no doubt lost something in their school-work, but they have performed a really valuable service to the nation in a time of stress, and have received a training which will stand them in good stead in whatever field of endeavour their life-work lies, and which will give them a keener insight into comparative essential values in their outlook on life's activities.

During the Christmas vacation a meeting for the purpose of discussing the High School Course of Instruction and high-school text-books was held at the Education Office. The Honourable the Minister of Education presided over the meeting, at which were present the President and the majority of the professors of the Provincial University, representatives of the high-school teachers from both large and small high schools of the Coast and Interior districts of the Province, as well as the Superintendent of Education and other officials of the Education Office. Chiefly as a result of this conference the following changes in the Course of Instruction will become operative at the beginning of the next school-year:—

(1.) Canadian history and Canadian civics have been added to the list of subjects prescribed for first-year high-school pupils.

(2.) Pupils are given an option in their first year, being allowed to drop one of the two foreign languages formerly compulsory and substitute elementary science in its place.

(3.) The formal study of English grammar has been dropped from the High School Curriculum.

(4.) Hall and Stevens' Geometry has been adopted in place of Hall and Stevens' Euclid.

Much greater responsibility is placed upon the high-school teachers of the Province because of the fact that through the curtailment of the Departmental Examinations promotions to the second and third year are now entirely in the hands of the teachers, and because of the system of granting options in the first year. It is to be hoped that teachers will measure up to this added responsibility. First-year high-school pupils are hardly at an age to decide wisely regarding options in their course. Many are inclined to select the subject which apparently presents the least amount of difficulty, whereas the subject discarded may be in reality fundamental and necessary for these pupils in their life-work. Since the agricultural option was established three years ago not a few pupils in their second year have asked permission to take up the optional subject discarded in their first year, and have tried to cover two years' work in one, as they had begun to appreciate the fact that this subject was absolutely essential for them in the work they had decided to follow after leaving school. It behoves teachers, therefore, to take this matter seriously and direct pupils wisely regarding the selection of options.

Now that the formal study of English grammar has been dropped from the High School Curriculum, it is imperative that teachers recognize the fact that this subject still demands attention. Grammar must still be taught in connection with English composition as well as by the teachers of foreign languages. The only difference is that the host of unprofitable technical terms which served to worry and in many cases confuse the pupil will be no more.

It was the intention of the Education Department to carry out in toto the recommendations of the committee of university professors and high-school teachers—in fact, a new Course of Instruction was prepared—but later the Department came to the conclusion that it would be unfair to the teachers and pupils to introduce too many changes in text-books this year, because of the probability that an agreement would be reached with the Prairie Provinces before the end of another school-year regarding a uniform system of text-books for use in the four Western Canadian Provinces, and hence there was the possibility that books prescribed now might be changed in a year's time.

Representatives of the Education Departments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and British Columbia met at Calgary on May 1st and 2nd of this year, when good progress was made towards the unification of the educational systems of these Provinces, and the committee adjourned to meet again next August, when it is hoped to reach a final decision regarding this important question. The chief objects aimed at are the mutual recognition of teachers' certificates and uniformity in text-books and in the naming of grades. Should these objects be accomplished, a pupil moving from one Province to another will be able to take up his school-work with the same texts and at the point at which it was left off, and no loss of time will result or extra expense be incurred .

A change in regard to the high-school work within the borders of our own Province is still more urgently needed. At present, if a pupil who is taking third-year work in a high school where the Intermediate Course is given moves to a district where the Matriculation Course is followed, he finds himself confronted with an entirely different course. As a result, if the change was not made in the early part of the year, he finds it impossible to do the work, and hence loses his year or drops out of school altogether. A combination of the Intermediate and Junior Matriculation Courses as well as of the Senior Grade and Senior Matriculation Courses is urgently needed. Last year the Intermediate Course was given in the following high schools: Fernie, Grand Forks, Kamloops, Kaslo, Ladysmith, Matsqui, Nanaimo, Nelson, Prince George, Revelstoke, South Vancouver, and Trail.

I have found the high-school teachers with few exceptions conscientious, hard-working, and efficient. Upwards of forty-eight are without Normal training. Some of these are among the most excellent teachers of the Province, and the majority had had considerable teaching experience before coming to this Province. Efficiency will come with experience, but it is impossible for the teachers with no special training to accomplish what the Normal-trained teachers can during the first few months of their teaching experience. I believe the time has come when some professional training should be demanded of our University graduates before they are granted academic certificates. The establishment of a Faculty of Education at our Provincial University would be the most satisfactory way of providing this training for our own graduates, provided the students were offered, through some arrangement with the near-by municipalities, facilities for an adequate amount of practical work in teaching during their course, but this practice-work in teaching is absolutely essential. Failing the above, graduates should be asked to take a short course at one of the Provincial Normal Schools. Graduates from outside universities should have professional training equivalent to that suggested above.

As the different subjects of the course were dealt with fully in my reports on the individual teachers, I shall refer to them only briefly here. There has been marked improvement in the methods of teaching science. Much more attention was paid to practical work and in most schools the teachers insisted upon science apparatus and supplies. Teachers who have learned that experimental work by the pupil is really fundamental in this subject have attained such satisfactory results and have succeeded in awakening so much interest in the subject that there is little danger of a return to the old method. May the good work continue until all local school authorities realize that their high school is incomplete without a convenient, well-equipped laboratory. Most of the large high schools at the Coast are well equipped in this respect; while of the Interior schools, the science laboratories at Kamloops, Kaslo, and Revelstoke are worthy of special mention.

Latin, history, and English literature are as a rule well taught.

Many teachers, some of whom are finished French scholars, do little conversational work in French. The skilful union of oral and written exercises, with the emphasis on the oral, is an important condition of success in this subject.

In algebra and arithmetic teachers must insist on accuracy.

In English composition many teachers still assign almost altogether abstract subjects which call up to the pupil no spontaneous vigorous individual thoughts. Topics from the history, literature, and other lessons must be assigned, but we should not forget that the most beneficial composition exercise is the one based on an actual experience either in thought or fact.

Methods of presenting botany show little improvement.

Geometry is still memorized in many schools. In this subject haste should be made very slowly. Teachers are often satisfied when some clever member of the class is able to recite the proof of a given exercise, even though the teacher must realize that the majority of the pupils are listening in bewilderment. This procedure is doing a gross injustice to the very pupils who most need the training geometry provides and is laying up trouble for the future. A pupil seldom acquires proficiency in this subject unless he is started properly in solving exercises in his early days.

Physical drill is still unsatisfactory. Strathcona Trust prizes in this subject were awarded last year as follows:—

First—Division 1, Oak Bay High School, Mr. H. P. Hope, B.A.
Second—Division 2, Kamloops High School, Mr. T. R. Hall, B.A.
Third—Division 2, Armstrong High School, Miss Ida Tompkins, M.A.

Many teachers have the mistaken idea that class-questioning and a show of hands should be left behind when pupils enter high schools, and consequently address their questions almost altogether to individuals. To be effective in securing concentration of attention, questions should be addressed to the whole class, and all should be expected to take an interest in replying and endeavour to get ready to reply.

Signs are not wanting that the public is beginning to appreciate that the teacher is worthy of his hire. More than two-thirds of our high- and superior-school teachers were granted salary increases last year. These increases varied from as high as $50 to $5 a month, but in only five cases was the increase less than $10. While the cost of living has increased by fully one-third, the men and women engaged in educational work in many quarters are expected to carry on with their former salary, although the wages of the working man and woman and the income of practically all the other classes of our citizens has been increased in proportion to the increase in the cost of living. Vancouver is one of the few districts to take cognizance of these facts, and has made an honest effort to meet present conditions by granting the teachers, in addition to the regular increases, a war bonus of $8 a month.

This brief survey of our high-school work is to my mind evidence that the year has been one of progress.

I have, etc.,
JOHN B. DELONG,
Inspector of High Schools.

INSPECTORATE No. 1.

VICTORIA, B.C., November 2nd, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR.—I beg to submit the following report on the public schools of Inspectorate No. 1 for the school-year ending June 30th, 1918:—

The inspectorate comprised the schools within the Municipalities of Alberni, Courtenay, Cumberland, Port Alberni, Victoria, and Saanich, and the rural and assisted schools situated near these municipalities. A total of fifty-eight schools were in operation and 219 teachers employed: Urban municipalities, 23 schools, 146 teachers; rural municipality, 14 schools, 44 teachers; rural and assisted schools, 21 schools, 29 teachers. Of the 21 rural and assisted schools, 15 were ungraded, 5 employed two teachers each, and 1 employed four teachers; there was one ungraded school in the Rural Municipality of Saanich.

No new school was organized during the year in the rural sections, nor was any school closed; a division was added to the school at North Saanich and one to the school at Sidney. In Saanich Municipality a new four-room building was opened at Tillicum at the beginning of the school-year, with a full enrolment, without, however, relieving the pressure upon the accommodation at the Tolmie School to any appreciable extent; provision has also been made at Cloverdale for the education of Saanich children attending the Quadra School, Victoria, where congestion was arising. In the urban municipalities only minor changes were made in the matter of accommodation.

Consolidation has been extended in Saanich by the closing of Cadboro Bay School and conveying the children to Cedar Hill School. This municipality has three conveyances on the road at present, two conveying children to Cedar Hill School and one to Royal Oak School; other schools could be consolidated with advantage to the children attending them, and it is quite possible, since the principle has been accepted by the municipality, that further consolidations will be effected in time. Sidney, after having the matter under consideration for about five years, finally decided against consolidation with North Saanich. No consolidation has yet been effected amongst the rural and assisted schools, the majority of which are within the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway Belt, and, as these school districts are under no financial obligation other than that of incidental expenses, it will be difficult to convince the ratepayers that the benefits of consolidation will equal the extra cost that they will of necessity be asked to assume. The three rural schools in Alberni Valley are within easy reach of that city, and the children in the Comox Valley could, without physical discomfort and with educational advantage, be conveyed to the schools at Courtenay and Comox.

The attitude of the teachers towards their work has been, almost without exception, most commendable. It was not to be expected that all would be equally successful with the classes entrusted to them, this depending much upon the adaptability of the teacher, but all seemed to be imbued with the necessary enthusiasm. While a few yet remain who consider their duty performed and responsibility ended with formal instruction in the subjects of the curriculum, the majority are using the Course of Study as a means to an end only, the child and his future in society receiving their greater consideration. The rural school appointment is still regarded by many teachers as of a temporary character, being permanent only until such time as the teacher may obtain an appointment to a city graded school. With such teachers, while the instruction may be good, the interest in the school does not, as a rule, extend beyond instruction in some of the subjects of the curriculum; unadorned class-room walls and untidy grounds oftentimes bear evidence of this lack of interest. The Entrance class is the important feature with such teachers, for many still believe that their future in the profession depends upon the Entrance pass-list.

With the appointment of an instructor in Agriculture for the Victoria High School, whose duties also include the supervision of the school-gardens in Saanich, this branch is being better organized and the work taken up with greater enthusiasm than formerly. The care of the gardens during the summer vacation has yet to be solved; they were very successfully carried over this summer through the devotion of the supervisor, but it is not to be expected that he will always assume this responsibility. There is much need for a general utility official for the Saanich schools, one whose duties would embrace repairs to furniture, etc., supervision of janitors, attendance of pupils, and to these might well be added the responsibility for the successful carrying-over of the gardens during the summer vacation. Only a few of the rural schools attempted the work, and there was no extension of the work in Victoria. The gardens, generally, were very successful, teachers and pupils having the added incentive of "greater production"; teachers are finding, also, that lessons learned in the garden oftentimes assist in other studies.

Manual training and domestic science were not extended to new districts during the year under review. These subjects have been taught in the Victoria schools for some years, but it is my opinion that the sewing syllabus might be extended in many schools in the city with much benefit to the girls. It is my opinion, also, that cooking is commenced at too early a stage in the child's life; the girls are too young to practise the art at home or to appreciate the importance of the subject in school; cooking could well be delayed for a year and further time concentrated upon the subject of sewing. In the northern portion of the inspectorate the schools are too scattered for organization in these subjects. In Saanich, though the boys have been receiving instruction in manual training for the past six years, no provision has yet been made for the girls to receive instruction in any of the branches of domestic science. It is true that sewing is being taught by some teachers with very creditable results, but no attempt has yet been made to organize the work, and no official recognition has so far been given it by the Board of Trustees.

Singing is a subject that is not receiving the attention which is due to it, except in the City of Victoria, where it has become firmly established and a high standard is being attained. It has been spasmodically attempted by teachers in various other parts of the inspectorate, but these attempts have been without result. I ascribe the reasons for this failure to the inadequate knowledge the teachers have of the staff notation, the only notation officially recognized by the Department, and to the high cost of text-books in this notation. The tonic sol-fa notation is much simpler and therefore better suited for school purposes, and the cost of text-books but a small fraction of that required for the staff. The English and Scottish Education Departments have always given the two notations equal consideration, and I would recommend that a similar course be followed in British Columbia by prescribing text-books in both notations.

While the normal child is receiving every assistance towards mental development, very little attention has so far been given to the necessities of the sub-normal child. Such children are at present received in the common schools of the Province with little benefit to themselves owing to the large size of the classes and consequent impossibility of the teacher giving special attention to them; oftentimes they are responsible for much disorder in the school and retardation of normal pupils. Victoria has one teacher specializing in the training of these children, but those outside the city are suffering through neglect. With proper education many of these children might be trained to be self-supporting, whereas, without the proper facilities, they will attain maturity a menace to society and a constant charge upon the community.

The Saanich Institute met regularly throughout the year, and the Victoria principals met the Municipal Inspector and myself on several occasions when school matters were openly discussed.

The decision of the Department to permit entrance to the high school upon the recommendation of the principal was received with much satisfaction generally. I do not anticipate a lower standard for entrance in the City of Victoria, for all the principals are tried and experienced in our schools; an extension of this privilege to the smaller schools of the Province might to some extent be safeguarded by requiring the Inspector of the district to endorse the recommendations of the teachers.

I have, etc.,
W. H. M. MAY,
Inspector of Schools.

INSPECTORATE No. 2.

VICTORIA, B.C., August 16th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I beg to submit the following report on the public schools of Inspectorate No. 2 for the school-year ending June 30th, 1918:—

This inspectorate comprises Oak Bay Municipality, that part of the southern end of Vancouver Island lying west of Victoria City and Saanich Municipality, the west coast of Vancouver Island, and the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway Belt as far north as Little Qualicum, excepting the schools near the head of the Alberni Canal. It also includes the islands on the south-western side of the Strait of Georgia from Pender to Lasqueti.

Assisted schools were established at Ecoole, False Bay, Ganges Harbour, Grant Mine, Port Alice, and Sylvania. The status of the assisted school at Errington was raised to that of a regularly organized school district. The Government erected a one-room school-house at Errington and a four-room school-house at South Wellington. In order to avoid confusion the name of the Malahat School was changed to Shawnigan Lake and that of the Shawnigan School to Mill Bay. At the end of the school-year there were in the inspectorate eighty-seven schools, with 173 teachers. With the exception of Quatsino, all the schools that were open during the entire school-year were inspected at least once.

Earnest attempts were made to effect the consolidation of schools in the vicinity of Duncan and Metchosin, but without success. The high cost of transportation, as compared with the low salaries of teachers, makes consolidation difficult at the present time, but the feeling in favour of centralization is gaining ground.

While a few School Boards have increased their teachers' salaries, it is to be regretted that the average salary paid in this inspectorate is slightly less than before the commencement of the present war. There seems to be little excuse for this in the cities and rural municipalities, and none in the great majority of the rural districts, where the school rate is usually low. This is particularly true in the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway Belt, where very few of the school districts exercise their right to increase the salaries; yet in that portion of the Railway Belt lying in this inspectorate the average assessment of a rural school district is about $300,000, and in more than two-thirds of these school districts the school rate is less than one-sixth of one per cent. Because they can often obtain higher wages at other work, good teachers are increasingly difficult to secure.

Yet the great majority of the teachers continue to do most conscientious work. Particularly amongst the lady teachers, it has not so often been necessary to ask for greater effort as to warn against the danger of overwork. Frequently this overwork could be avoided without interfering with the progress of their classes; some of these teachers waste energy in work of doubtful value, such as the teaching of another class during the writing period, or the marking of written work that is not afterwards corrected nor even looked at by the pupil.

The prizes for physical training were awarded as follows:—

First—Miss Vivien Colbert, Somenos Station School, North Cowichan Municipality.
Second—Miss Grace E. Gibson, Division 2, Middle Ward School, Nanaimo.
Third—Miss Maude Knappett, Division 3, Esquimalt School.

I have, etc.,
LESLIE J. BRUCE,
Inspector of Schools.

INSPECTORATE No. 3.

VANCOUVER, B.C., October 5th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the following report on that portion of Inspectorate No. 3 which formed my district for the school-year ending June 30th, 1918:—

Inspectorate No. 3, which was in charge of Inspector Pollock and myself during the past year, embraces the schools within the City of Vancouver, the Rural Municipalities of Burnaby, Point Grey, and Richmond, as well as about forty rural and assisted schools on the Coast Mainland and adjacent islands north of Vancouver. In all, upwards of 500 class-rooms were in operation within this inspectorate during the year.

My duties were confined for the most part of the year to the schools of Point Grey, Richmond, a number of Coast schools, and the following in Vancouver City: Beaconsfield, Central, Dickens, Fairview, Gordon, Grandview, Hudson, Macdonald, Nightingale, Secord, Seymour, and Simon Fraser. During the latter part of the year, owing to the illness of Inspector Pollock, I was called upon to devote some time to several other schools in Vancouver.

No permanent new buildings have been erected during the year, and not a great deal has been done by way of improving school property generally. Assisted schools were authorized for the Blubber Bay and Eagle River Districts, while the school at Milbrooke Cove was closed. A fifth teacher was appointed to the Powell River School, and two additional teachers to the Point Grey staff, one to the Shaughnessy and another to the Magee School. In the Municipality of Richmond a further step was made towards consolidation; the School Board, rather than reopen the old school on Sea Island, made arrangements whereby the children are transported daily to and from the Bridgeport Graded School.

Because of the large number of teachers within the inspectorate and an unusual amount of special work, most class-rooms received but one inspection during the year; in some cases, however, a second visit was paid. With but few exceptions I found the teachers working faithfully and with due appreciation of their responsibilities and opportunities. The attitude of the teachers generally towards their school-work and towards inspection was very pleasing, and I found them ever ready to adopt any suggestion that might lead to better results. I regret, however, to say that within the district there are a number of very mediocre—in fact, weak—teachers who are not giving satisfactory service and under whom children are not receiving the training due them. Altogether too large a number of young and inexperienced teachers are finding their way into the city and rural municipality schools. These beginners, although usually enthusiastic and familiar with approved methods of teaching, very often fail in the matter of control, and are quite unable to arouse and interest the children under their care. Many of the Junior and a few Intermediate classes are afflicted with this type of teacher. Trustees in appointing teachers frequently fail to remember that the schools are for the children, and that under no condition should any but the best teachers available be appointed to their schools. It is very obviously, too, the duty of a School Board, to call for the resignation of any teacher in its employ who is not giving satisfactory service and who shows no signs of improvement.

Results in the various subjects on the Course of Instruction varied largely with the individual teacher. Arithmetic is probably the weakest subject, and in not many class-rooms is really satisfactory work being done. In the majority of rooms in which the work in arithmetic was observed and examined I found the pupils slow and inaccurate. In my judgment, altogether too much book and pencil work is being done in this subject to the exclusion of the oral, and until our teachers appreciate the true value of oral arithmetic I fear results will continue to be unsatisfactory. The standards, too, of many teachers in this subject, more particularly in the Junior classes, are not sufficiently high. In fact, in many of the so-called Receiving classes number is almost an unknown subject.

At the close of the school-year 841 pupils in the Vancouver schools were recommended by their principals for promotion to high school without examination, and eighty-three others wrote the Entrance Examinations, forty-seven of whom succeeded in obtaining High School Entrance certificates. In this connection it is interesting to note that last year, under the old system of promotion to high school, but 672 pupils out of 858 who wrote the Entrance tests from the Vancouver schools succeeded in obtaining Entrance standing. Very satisfactory Entrance passes were obtained in the schools of Point Grey; eighty-nine out of the ninety-five pupils who tried the examinations were awarded certificates. The Bridgeport School also made a good showing.

The three prizes for excellence in physical training were awarded to Vancouver teachers. The standard reached in this department of school-work in the City of Vancouver is high, and much credit is due the very capable supervisor, Captain A. C. Bundy, for his efforts in this connection.

The awards were as follows:—

First—Miss E. A. Middlemiss, Division 6, Hudson School.
Second—W. R. Fleming, Division 2, Secord School.
Third—Donald McLean, Division 2, Gordon School.

INSPECTORATE No. 4.

VANCOUVER, B.C., October 30th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the following report upon the public schools of Inspectorate No. 4 for the school-year ending June 30th, 1918:—

During the school-year under review this inspectorial district included not only the public schools of the Municipality of South Vancouver as formerly, but in addition the schools in the Cities of North Vancouver and Port Moody, the assisted and rural schools on Burrard Inlet and on Howe Sound, and the schools in the Rural Municipalities of North Vancouver, West Vancouver, Pitt Meadows, Maple Ridge, and Mission (together with four rural schools adjacent). In addition to the above-mentioned schools, visits of inspection were made also to three public schools in Vancouver City—viz., Kitsilano, Lord Roberts, and Mount Pleasant. The 261 class-rooms represented by these schools were each visited once, and, as far as time permitted, a second visit of inspection was made.

To attempt to give the full time and attention to each and every class-room that any system of true and helpful inspection must call for is manifestly impossible when an inspectorial district comprises 261 class-rooms. Nevertheless, when the watchword of the hour is ora et labora in a truer sense perhaps than ever before, and when every teacher is an outward, living, and visible sign of this inward faith and principle, it surely behoves an Inspector, if he is to perform his true function of real assistant to the teacher, to pray and to work unceasingly.

One could not go in and out of the public schools during the past year without imbibing to the full the very spirit and essence of service. Under the dark, lowering shadow of the great world war, the light and brightness of the spirit of self-sacrifice, self-denial, and service shone out in the public schools of the land in all its full-orbed radiance. From the little lisping beginners, who, in their bright-eyed, unfeignedly enthusiastic way, proffered their earned pennies for the Prisoners of War box, to the 'teen-age boys and girls of the S.O.S. Army, Canada's second line of defence, there was amply demonstrated the fact that the public-school teachers of this country had succeeded in inculcating in their teaching the highest ideals of patriotism, loyalty, and service.

To turn aside from a contemplation of what teachers and taught have accomplished in this regard in the public schools to any lengthy criticism of the general or particular routine of class work is not my intention. Full detailed reports upon the character of the work accomplished in each class-room and upon each school as a unit have been forwarded at regular intervals to the Education Office. Reports, oral and written, have likewise been furnished to the respective Boards of School Trustees in order that the trustees might be kept more closely in touch with the school situation.

On the completion of a visit of inspection to a graded school, it has been my policy to hold a meeting of the full teaching staff of the school. At such meetings there was always a full and free discussion of methods of instruction, as well as of matters pertaining to grading and classification and school-management generally. On such occasions it was no uncommon experience to find the staff of a large graded school anxious to remain for two and even three hours after a hard and exacting day's work in the class-room for the purpose of discussing their problems and to grasp anything that might in any way be calculated to further improve their efficiency as teachers. I cite this merely as a testimony to the earnestness and conscientious zeal of the great body of our public-school teachers, who manifest ever a spirit of willingness and zeal to give unsparingly and ungrudgingly of their time and energy in order that they may fit themselves still further to be helpful to others.

A wider application of the principle involved in these staff meetings is seen in the institute gatherings such as are held annually at Mission. In the month of November of each year in the City of Mission the public- and high-school teachers of the municipalities and districts adjacent to Mission meet together in a teachers' institute. The convention is usually held on a Friday, permission being granted by the Education Department for the holding of the meetings on a regular school-day. Last November it was my privilege to be present and to take part in the proceedings of this teachers' convention. A more pleasant, more helpful, and more profitable educational gathering it has not been my lot to attend. I am persuaded that it would be a step in the right direction if a day in each school-year, known perhaps as "Local Institute Day" or designated by some more suitable form of nomenclature, were set apart for the holding of local teachers' institutes at different centres throughout the Province. On such a day the public- and high-school teachers of the Province, grouping themselves at convenient centres, might hold such institutes as are held each year at Mission City. I feel assured that such gatherings would be found to possess the same stimulating, rejuvenating characteristics as the Mission annual convention. To Mr. D. M. Moore, principal of Mission Public School, and his associates, the credit for this progressive movement is due.

Before concluding this report, I wish herein to refer again to several points relating to the presentation of the ordinary school-work, closer attention to which by many teachers would ensure a greater degree of efficiency being attained. As a preface to such observations, however, I wish to state emphatically that nowhere in the 261 class-rooms visited did I find work being done that could reasonably be rated as poor. In many cases defects in class-management or in the methods of instruction employed were noted, but in practically all of these the weakness was due entirely to lack of experience, and what these young beginners in the profession of teaching lacked in experience they almost invariably made up for in unbounded enthusiasm in and zeal for their work. On the other hand, it was my privilege to observe much excellent teaching and to meet with and confer with many of the most successful exponents of the art of teaching in our public schools.

In the first place, I am persuaded that it is a matter of the first importance that prospective teachers should receive a much more extensive training in history (Canadian, British, and Universal), geography, nature-study, and English literature. It is an indisputable fact that the young third-class certificated teacher at least is too often lacking in sufficient knowledge of subject-matter in these subjects to present successfully the work of the Intermediate and Senior Grades of the public school.

In primary reading there is much evidence of mere word-recognition or word-calling. Often there is but a weak attempt to associate the symbol with the idea-element, the picture-element, the thing symbolized. The child does not see the pictures which the author is endeavouring to present, there is no thought-getting, and as words and phrases are not associated with the thought symbolized, these words and phrases are not added to the child's vocabulary. Thus there is little development of language-power. This is particularly true of rural schools where teachers are inexperienced and where the Child Life Primer is not supplied as the Receiving class reader. In the great majority of schools visited I found a serious lack of sufficient reading material for the pupils of the Junior Grade. The Vancouver City schools afford a marked contrast to such conditions, however. Such supplementary reading-matter is vitally essential not only to the acquisition of ideas by the Junior Grade children, but also to the development of language-power and of the literary instinct as well. In this regard I wish to take this opportunity to express my admiration and appreciation of the splendid work accomplished in primary education in the Vancouver City schools under the direction of Miss E. J. Trembath, supervisor of primary classes for Vancouver City. It is very questionable if a higher standard of proficiency in primary work has been reached anywhere in the public schools of this continent than that attained by the Vancouver City schools under the supervision of Miss Trembath.

The subject in which there seems to be a great lack of continuity of aim and of method is language, and under the caption of language I would include grammar and composition. With the possible exception of arithmetic, no subject ranges lower in the average class-room. There are many contributing factors to this low standard attained in language-training. Space here forbids entering into a padagogical dissertation as to the best methods for developing language-power, but I would most earnestly commend to those prospective teachers undergoing a course of professional training to devote their most earnest attention to a subject the importance of which is of the first magnitude. Possibly the introduction of a thoroughly good series of manuals in language, composition, and grammar, setting forth a progressive course in English training from the First Reader to the Entrance class, would be of great material benefit to the great majority of teachers. I am of the opinion, also, that the introduction of good, well-illustrated History Readers and also Geography Readers for the Intermediate Grade pupils would not only be of great service to teachers in their work of presenting the Third Reader History, but would provide excellent material for language development as well.

I shall conclude this report with one final observation. In the rural schools for some years past, and now since the outbreak of the war, in the urban schools as well, we have witnessed the passing of the male teacher. When the young schoolmasters return from the battle-fields of Europe—as God grant they all will—how many will return to their old vocation in the class-room under present living conditions? Does the average rural school with salary and living conditions attached hold out any inducements to the returned men? The question which should engage the most earnest consideration of the educational authorities in every Province in Canada at this very hour is not only how can the position of public- or high-school teacher be rendered attractive to the returned men who have been trained for the teaching profession, but how can we also recruit from the ranks of all returned men prospective schoolmasters who may be induced to fill this breach which threatens to weaken the whole educational structure? The women who have taken the places left vacant by men of military age are carrying on nobly, and reference to their faithful and loyal service has been made in the opening paragraphs of this report. But even women cannot perform miracles. At divers times and in sundry places I have observed a spirit of restlessness among the 'teen-age boys in our public schools. Is it because the red-blooded boy of fourteen or fifteen years of age misses his old leader and teacher in outdoor athletic sports? Is it because he cannot become reconciled to a new type of discipline? Whatever the cause or combination of causes, there is, questionless, a call from the lusty young boys who comprised that second line of defence of Canada for leaders of their own sex. And why not? If we are to have manly men and womanly women as the product of the public schools, let 'teen-age boys come under the supervision of men and 'teen-age girls under the supervision of women. And where from the four corners of the earth are we to expect the proper type of men to come, who can fire the imagination of our boys, hold them in check, and develop the very fibre they need, if not from the ranks of returned heroes? To the average boy, in comparison with the real living heroes of Ypres, Vimy Ridge, or Cambrai, the heroes of song and saga, the heroes of Intermediate Grade history even, pale into utter insignificance. Is it not possible for Provincial and municipal authorities working in unison to evolve out of their inner consciousness some scheme whereby the position of rural schoolmaster may be magnified? As preliminary steps towards such a consummation, I would suggest as part and parcel of the standard equipment of every rural school a modern residence on a reasonably sized plot of ground, and the guarantee of a respectable salary, not a mere pittance, so that the rural schoolmaster might come with his family and take his proper place in the community, not flitting in as a mere sojourner for a season, but a permanent resident and bulwark of the community, the educator of its youth, the sage counsellor of the citizens, and at all times the advocate and champion of liberty and democracy.

I have, etc.,
H. H. MACKENZIE,
Inspector of Schools.

INSPECTORATE No. 5.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., October 18th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the following report upon the public schools of Inspectorate No. 5 for the school-year ending June 30th, 1918:—

The inspectorate for this school-year embraces the City Districts of Chilliwack, New Westminster, and Port Coquitlam; the Rural Municipal Districts of Chilliwack, Coquitlam, Delta, Langley, Matsqui, Sumas, and Surrey, as well as the rural school at Abbotsford and the assisted schools at Barnston Island, Cultus Lake, Essondale, and Popcum.

During the year 198 rooms were in operation. The school at Jubilee, in Matsqui Municipality, was closed; an additional room was opened at Sardis, Chilliwack Municipality; and one at Ladner, Delta Municipality. The school at Annacis Island, Delta Municipality, was reopened, and assisted schools were established at Essondale and Popcum. The number of public-school teachers within the inspectorate were allotted as follows: Chilliwack City, 9; New Westminster City, 59; Port Coquitlam, 6; Chilliwack Municipality, 26; Coquitlam Municipality, 7; Delta Municipality, 15; Langley Municipality, 20; Matsqui Municipality, 18; Sumas Municipality, 6; Surrey Municipality, 24; rural, 4; assisted, 4.

This year a radical change was made by your Department in the regulations governing entrance to high school. Principals of schools in the cities of the first and second class were permitted to promote pupils into high school by recommendation. The schools affected in this inspectorate were those of New Westminster and Chilliwack. The innovation has met with general appreciation from both teachers and parents. In my judgment, due care has been taken by principals in the above cities to promote only those who were prepared to carry on high-school work. When any doubt was entertained the pupil was required to sit for the High School Entrance Examination. Those who wished to compete for the Governor-General's medal had to take the regular examination. Under this scheme New Westminster City schools promoted 123 and Chilliwack City School 17. The Governor-General's medal was awarded to Thomas H. Mileson, of Chilliwack City School. He was in competition with candidates from all schools in the districts from New Westminster to Harrison River, along the north bank of the Fraser River, and along the south bank to the United States boundary-line from Chilliwack to the mouth of the river.

The number of candidates who sat for the High School Entrance Examination in the inspectorate is as follows:—

District.	No. of Candidates for Examination.	No. passed.	No. recommended.
Chilliwack City	9	2	17
New Westminster City	35	16	123
Port Coquitlam	15	7	....
Chilliwack Municipality	37	21	....
Delta Municipality	19	6	....
Coquitlam Municipality	1	....	....
Langley Municipality	37	29	....
Matsqui Municipality	24	15	....
Sumas Municipality	2	1	....
Abbotsford (rural)	10	10	....
St. Ann's Convent, New Westminster	6	4	....

The Municipality of Langley has the highest percentage of promotions (78.37) among the rural municipal schools. Special commendation must be given to the schools at Abbotsford and Langley Prairie. The principals there passed with a high average mark all those who sat for the examination. The number of candidates sent up in comparison to the size of the schools is worthy of high praise.

The prizes for physical drill, awarded by the Local Committee of the Strathcona Trust for the Province, for the school-year 1917-18 were assigned as follows:—

First—A. J. Devereaux, Esq., Division 2, Ladner School, Delta Municipality.

Second—W. H. Gray, Esq., Division 2, John Robson School, New Westminster.

Third—Miss Mary Gladwell, B.A., F. W. Howay School, New Westminster.

School-gardens were carried on under the supervision of district supervisors in all the schools of Chilliwack, Langley, and Surrey Municipalities. There were gardens conducted in the majority of other schools throughout the inspectorate under the guidance of the teachers. The proceeds from these gardens were donated to the different patriotic and Red Cross funds. School-garden competitions were held at the annual Agricultural Fairs at Chilliwack, Langley, and Surrey. The judges had nothing but praise for the high standard of the exhibits, and congratulated teachers and children on the practical results obtained from their labours. The gardens have added largely to the sum total of agricultural production throughout the district; the children have gained mentally and physically from engaging in the work; while the patriotic and Red Cross funds have been increased materially as a result of the sale of flowers and vegetables.

The school-work in the rural municipal schools is greatly hampered by the continual change of teachers. In some of the municipalities from 50 to 75 per cent. of the teachers engaged leave every year. Many are anxious to secure positions in the larger graded schools in the cities, but the greatest factor is the low salary paid and the absence of any regular increase when satisfactory service is given. It should be the policy of every progressive School Board to grant increases in salary at least yearly up to a certain maximum without the teachers having to beg for them. Salaries in the rural districts should be higher than in the urban centres. Teachers there have to pay transportation; often walk long distances to the school; do their own janitor-work, including lighting the fires; live in boarding-houses where conveniences are few; and endure petty abuse from parents, who do not give them the slightest encouragement or support. It is true that during the past year a few School Boards have recognized their duty to the children and have made, in some cases, generous allowances to their teachers. But such increases have not yet become common. The greatly increased cost of living during the past four years has not resulted in a proportional increase in the teacher's salary. This condition is one that would not be tolerated by any other body of workers.

Detailed reports dealing with the character of teaching, progress, etc., in the respective schools in the inspectorate have been received by your office during the year. It will not be necessary to discuss them further here. I should like, however, to commend the general improvement in penmanship and neatness noticeable in the written exercises throughout the inspectorate. This has been brought about by the trustees supplying the standard exercise-books and the teachers supervising the work more closely and keeping a higher standard before the children.

I have, etc.,
JOHN MARTIN,
Inspector of Schools.

INSPECTORATE No. 6.

KAMLOOPS, B.C., June 30th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit herewith my report upon the schools of Inspectorate No. 6 for the year ending June 30th, 1918.

This district covers the heart of south-central British Columbia. It extends diagonally some 442 miles (by rail) from Harrison Mills, near Vancouver, to Lucerne, in the Yellowhead Pass, and is roughly some 200 miles across in either direction.

A year ago, when I took over this district, there were 105 schools actually running, employing 133 teachers. Of four new schools previously authorized, three have since opened. Two new schools have since been authorized; four closed ones, reopened; and one, then open, closed, Kamloops and Merritt have each added a new division to their public schools. There are thus actually running, at this date, 113 schools, employing 143 teachers; thirty-six of whom are in city or rural municipality schools, thirteen in graded rural schools, and ninety-four in ungraded rural or assisted schools. In addition, there are seven ungraded schools at present closed and two not yet opened.

A great deal of restless criticism on educational matters has found vent in the press during the past year; much of it ill-informed as to the facts, or ill-considered as to the true end of education; and some of it not inspired by educational purposes at all, but by less worthy motives skulking beneath a show of civic zeal. Informed and honest criticism, on the other hand, should always be welcomed, for the soul or the institution that cannot receive and profit by it is already dead. Insistence has been laid on the suggestion that education should be made more "practical," and that, to this end, our curricula should be denuded of all studies not directly convertible into dollars and cents. They who urge this do not realize—nor do their dupes—that the most practical education is that which makes the most and the best of the man himself, not that which merely puts a tool into his hand by which to earn a living. "Practical" studies can be, and should be, so taught as to provide a practical training in this higher and truer sense, without loss—nay, with actual gain—to their use as means to a "living." But there are essential elements in the development of the individual which such studies can never supply. The humane and humanizing elements which are nourished by a knowledge of the life, the conduct, the struggles, and the achievements of men in all times and countries, and which are enshrined in the language, literature, and history of mankind—these are supremely important to the education of the man, as man. But—and let the "practical" man mark this well—these very subjects, properly presented, will enhance the "practical" value of every man; for they will increase his knowledge of and his sympathy with men, and his ability to co-operate with or to lead his fellows. Ask the most practical man—at the head of large affairs—at what price they value such qualities as these, and the answer may well give pause to the advocates of the merely practical in education; it may well help them to realize that, while their "practical" studies have, as well, a certain, though not sufficient, human value, the "human" studies which, as such, they are so apt to despise have also, as well, a highly important practical value.

It is just the absence of these human and humanizing qualities that constitutes the difference between the merely practical kultur of the German and the culture of the rest of the world; it is their loss that has turned the German of to-day into the malignant disease, the cancer of humanity. Consider, as best you can, the awful flood of suffering, shame, and death with which, as the result of his merely practical education, the German has deluged the earth, and in which he himself is certain to be engulfed, and then say, O "practical" man, what the most wholly practical training is worth, unbalanced by those nobler human qualities which it is the prime function of a true education to reveal and to develop in the child.

It will be an imperative necessity in the future for mankind to see that no nation shall be allowed to develop a purely "practical" education. But it will be equally essential for each nation to see that each individual within its borders shall receive a truly human education, if the evils that afflict and the dangers that threaten all modern societies are to be happily overcome.

The highest moral courage is demanded of those who steer the ship of our education amidst the veering winds and shifting currents of public opinion, in order that she may be held true to her course and that the true flag of humanity may not be displaced by one which, spread to the breeze, shall be found to disclose the skull and crossbones of a piratical kultur.

Insistence has been laid by others on the evils of examinations. The law places the teacher in the place of a parent towards the children attending school; it would be, it is, the pride and the joy of the true teacher to fulfil this position. The first requisite is such a love for children that their interests shall be the guiding principle of all the teacher's efforts. The health and the healthy development of the children, physical, mental, and moral, will be the teacher's engrossing object. Physical drill will be systematically and regularly carried on, and the personal habits of the children carefully watched, in order that their bodies may have the best chance. Studies will be so presented as to stimulate and develop the children's powers, and to promote, aided by the teacher's example, the formation of moral ideals. Children so taught will take a natural joy in their work—in their own activities; children so prepared will not be afraid or nervous at examinations, nor will they, generally, fail. The teacher's reputation will no longer obstruct his own view, as it too often does now, and the consequent criminal "stuffing" of children at the sacrifice of their health will, happily for all, become a thing of the past. But examinations will not necessarily be done away with. They have been erected into a bugbear—as a consequence of the evil way in which preparation is too often carried on. This will cease. An examination is, or should be, after all, merely a test, a trial, of one's powers; the normal child delights in the trial and exhibition of its powers, and will meet such an examination with confidence and pleasure if properly trained and prepared.

The important step taken by the Education Departments of the four Western Provinces, in arranging for common standards in respect of curricula, texts, and classification, should prove of very great benefit; but if it is fully to secure the end desired it will have to be extended to the limit tables, which regulate the work carried on in the respective grades. Then a pupil transferring during term and bearing a certificate from any grade in any school would have an unquestionable right of admittance to the same grade in any other school; whereas, at present, owing to their being no co-ordination between the limit tables of the graded schools at different centres, pupils so transferring, even within this Province, are too apt to be put back a grade.

It seems very necessary to draw attention again, as I have already done in previous annual reports, to the condition of education throughout the country districts. If one endeavours to maintain the true ideal of education and to secure fair standards of what should be attainable, it is a depressing experience to go up and down, as an Inspector, through this vast country with its scattered communities. The school-house, often locally built, is too often a mere makeshift, with little or no attempt to make it or its surroundings attractive. Little interest is taken in its condition by the parents whose children it is to house and influence during a large portion of their waking hours. School meetings are ignored, or sparsely attended, unless some local quarrel is astir. While, within the school itself, conditions are often hardly better than outside. Is it generally realized that there are, in the aggregate, hundreds of children in this Province attending such schools who as a result of distance, weather, outside work, physical defects, indifferent teaching—due, sometimes to incompetence, sometimes to the excessive burden imposed upon the teacher—are receiving the merest scraps of an education? That there are other hundreds who, owing to the scattered nature of the settlements and the fact that it requires ten children, six to sixteen years of age, to start a school, are receiving absolutely no public education at all? This may seem a black picture; it is a black picture, and the public must face its blackness. There will be no improvement until the public does—since both the cause and the cure lie primarily with the public; in the public ignorance and indifference; in the public apathy and inertia; in the slighting recognition awarded, whether in dignity or in dollars, to the most fundamental of all its services; and in its readiness to sacrifice this first in any time of stress.

A great educational campaign is needed to awaken the public to its duty towards itself and towards the growing public of to-morrow. The public must demand the best of its men and women as its teachers; it must demand the best of its teachers for the teachers of its teachers, as normal trainers and inspectors; it must demand the best of these as directors of its educational policy and expenditure; it must secure them absolutely against the intrusion of politics; it must provide them conditions under which the work can be carried on with true efficiency and economy; it must award them a recompense commensurate, in dignity and in money, with the demands it makes and with the value of the services it receives. Improper or useless buildings, inefficient apparatus, incompetent teachers or officials must be ruthlessly scrapped.

Such a public campaign would be of immense value, too, in furthering (1) the consolidation of adjacent ungraded schools, whether municipal or rural, into central graded schools, and (2) the collection of children from similar schools, too widely scattered to admit of so simple a solution, as well as of hundreds of children at present uncared for, in fully graded boarding or residence schools to be erected by the Government at convenient centres and surrounded by sufficient land to provide for ample playgrounds, as well as that elementary agricultural education so important for such pupils. Such schools, being fully graded (including provision for manual training and domestic science adapted to rural needs), would provide the country children with the educational advantages now exclusively enjoyed by city children. The physical defects of the children could be efficiently dealt with in school clinics, and their physical training and personal habits properly cared for. In association with large numbers of other children, each pupil would find room for the development of its social instincts and for that training in willingness and ability to co-operate, upon which the welfare of all future societies must ultimately depend.

The cost of such a rearrangement, if it exceeded the saving resulting from the closing of large numbers of small schools in which maximum cost and minimum efficiency are now unhappily married, might be met by a general school-tax imposed on every resident of the Province, large numbers of whom are at present contributing nothing towards education.

Some there may be who will laugh at the programme I have sketched as equally beyond the vision and the purse of the public. But he who doubts that the public, once aroused in such a cause, will both act and pay is an infidel and no true democrat. The time is big with effort. Shall it be confined to lesser ends? Or shall it endow this Province with an educational organization that shall establish for ever its motto, Splendor sine Occasu, and place it among the noblest of human societies in the coming age?

A year ago, in my report upon the schools of Inspectorate No. 10, I criticized in some detail the teaching of certain of the subjects on the school course; the same remarks apply to this inspectorate and it seems unnecessary to recur to them. It may be well, however, for the sake of those teachers who may read this report, to illustrate the method of teaching phrasing and emphasis in oral reading to which reference was then made.

As soon as a few words are immediately recognizable, a short sentence may be written on the blackboard, such as:—

A cat is on a mat.

By simple questions, eliciting well-known facts within the intimate experience of the youngest of the children, they may be led to realize (1) that children that are closely related—e.g., brothers and sisters—live in the same house, and (2) that the same is true of the words in a sentence. They should then be asked to read the sentence silently and to tell the teacher which words in it they think "live in the same house." The children will give, generally, the words "A cat," which the teacher then puts in the "same house" thus:—

A cat.

But they will probably not give the other phrase; which the teacher can, however, easily obtain by asking the children, "Where is the cat?" To which they will at once reply "On a mat." The teacher then puts these words in the "same house," and the sentence stands thus:—

A cat is on a mat.

The children are then drilled individually in reading this sentence, correctly phrased. Emphasis may be dealt with similarly. The teacher may write on the board two sentences, such as:—

Cats run.

Big cats run fast.

The children are then asked what the second sentence tells that the first does not. And they will reply that the cats are big, and that they run fast. These words are then underlined thus:—

Big cats run fast.

The children are then drilled individually in reading this sentence, correctly emphasized. Thereafter no sentence should be read aloud by the children until the teacher has satisfied herself by questioning the children that (1) each word is instantly recognized; (2) the emphatic words are settled; (3) the phrases determined.

It is to be observed (1) that in using this method the teacher is teaching not merely these particular sentences. She is doing that; but she is doing more. She is leading the child to extend its knowledge and to perceive new relations through the medium of its own particular previous experience. She is "opening the door" for the child's mind. She is letting it see for itself, and with its own eyes, why sentences should be read in a certain way. She is leading it to use its own powers and to rely upon its own efforts. And the children respond with avidity to the opportunity. (2) She is teaching not merely this particular subject. She is doing that; but she is doing far more. For a child so trained in one subject is strengthened for all subjects, and is being prepared not for its school-life only, but also for its world-life to come. The teacher will observe further (3) that the careful development of this method (a) covers also the more difficult part of the pausing—the pauses that are not marked by punctuation-marks; and (b) thus helps to regulate the speed at which a piece should be read. Nor is this all, for (4) this method prepares the way, by an informal recognition of phrases and qualifying words, for the later and more advanced language-work.

Other kinds of phrases and emphatic words and the different modes of emphasis—lengthening or shortening the sound, raising or lowering the voice—should be taught similarly as occasion arises.

An honest unflinching facing of the facts is never an easy or a pleasant task; but it is the first condition of improvement, and never more essential than now. In the course of this report I have endeavoured faithfully to fulfil this harder part of my duty, and I cannot close it without bearing witness to the earnest and devoted efforts of certain teachers whose classes I have had the pleasure of visiting during the past year. Much of the best of such work is naturally being done in the fully or partially graded schools; though not exclusively so, for there are occasionally to be found in country schools teachers whose intellectual and spiritual qualities enable them to carry on work far beyond what could be expected or demanded of them in view of the conditions under which they labour. Such facts, however, must not be allowed to lull us into an easy contentment, or to dull our ears to the urgent and insistent needs to which I have called attention. On the contrary, they should spur us to a ceaseless endeavour until every child has been given, so far as the State is competent, an equal educational opportunity.

After all, it is a matter of ideals. Betrayed, denied, scorned, crucified, ideals still rule. In their own image they create. What, then, is our ideal? For such, and no other, will our attainment be.

INSPECTORATE No. 7.

VERNON, B.C., October 25th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I beg to submit the following report on the public schools of Inspectorate No. 7 for the school-year 1917-18:—

The school attendance in this district, which includes the Okanagan and Similkameen Valleys, has varied but little from that of last year; industrial developments around Princeton have rendered necessary the provision of two more schools in that vicinity; otherwise the numbers of schools in operation and of teachers employed have been practically unchanged. Of the 128 teachers in the district (which number does not include manual training, domestic and rural science instructors), eighteen hold an academic certificate, twenty-one are first-class teachers, forty-eight second, thirty-eight third, while only three hold temporary certificates. The municipal areas (with the exception of Armstrong and the Spallumcheen) are provided with modern well-equipped school buildings, and in many of the rural districts (e.g., Mara, Oyama, Rutland, Naramata, Hedley, and Princeton) the accommodation is also very good. In a few of the smaller rural schools and in a considerable proportion of the assisted schools improvements are urgently required, particularly in such matters as heating and lighting, water-supply, and provision of washing facilities, cloak-room and toilet accommodation, and inadequate and unsuitable school-grounds; in many cases it would appear that the omissions were due to lack of knowledge on the part of the original trustees, and the Department would render a service to these outlying communities by the issue of a circular embodying practical suggestions as to the minimum of modern demands in the sanitation and equipment of a country school, including advice on such matters as orientation of the building, floor and cubic space, heating and ventilation, lighting, water-supply, blackboard accommodation, size and arrangement of school-grounds, and so forth. After buildings have been in use for a few years it is difficult to convince the trustees of the advisability of making changes in conditions that have appeared to meet the needs of the district more or less satisfactorily.

Reference has been made to the Armstrong School and to the one-room schools of the Spallumcheen Rural Municipality; in this district the holding of a series of public meetings has resulted in an agreement between the city and rural municipality to erect a large, modern, well-equipped consolidated school to accommodate the school population of the two areas. It is earnestly to be hoped that this project will be carried through at an early date, for the present buildings, both in city and municipality, are inadequate, unsuitable, and entirely unworthy of two such wealthy and progressive communities.

A study of educational conditions in the various districts shows that, irrespective of the teachers' personality and efforts, there are surprisingly wide variations in the results attained by the schools, and that these differences may frequently be traced to the attitude of the local trustees. The School Manual suggests visits to the schools, conference with the teachers, regular inspection of buildings and equipment, and—most difficult of all to secure—educational leadership in the school district. Where these duties are faithfully carried out the results are obvious and unmistakable; the attendance improves, the tone of the school is satisfactory, and the teacher is fortified and encouraged by the co-operation of the local leaders of educational opinion. Those trustees who attend the annual convention have an opportunity of comparing notes with others, and of ascertaining the aims and accomplishments of progressive Boards elsewhere; but there is no apparent reason why local trustee associations should not be formed, so that the various Boards from a given area might confer from time to time.

It is gratifying to note that in many of the schools the teachers already have the hearty support of their Board in such matters as the provision of equipment, conference in school matters requiring concerted action, difficulties with parents, and so on. Primary supplies and apparatus are being more generously provided; school libraries are being discussed and in some cases well supported; organ or piano is being supplied and put to daily use; one school has introduced a gramophone for class-singing and musical drill, even a lesson on Scott's Lady of the Lake being enlivened by a musical rendering of some of the famous songs; "nature-study" is becoming more a study of nature, based upon first-hand observation of plant and animal life and of weather phenomena, with records kept by the children; collections of leaves, flowers, and insects are being made, not for permanent preservation, but to be repeated next year by other children; pictures and prints are making their appearance on the school walls, again not permanently, but to be changed from time to time; and in this connection the issue by the Department of a suitable selection of prints and pictures of educational value might sometimes induce trustees to purchase a supply for their schools.

All this is encouraging; but it must be stated that in every case where schools were found following a live and progressive policy, whether it involve the use of apparatus and equipment, school libraries or successful school-gardening, there without exception was found an earnest teacher who had secured the co-operation of sympathetic trustees; in no case under my observation has successful work of this kind been forced upon them merely by outside influence. It is not suggested that outside pressure is destructive to good work of this nature; the point is that there are two desiderata of success—earnest sympathetic effort on the teacher's part and hearty support from the trustees as representing local opinion.

In graded schools, where the principal is usually an experienced teacher, the general supervision, games, and playground activities are well cared for, and in some of the smaller schools this is also the case; in others organized play is rarely to be seen, and the children are left very much to their own devices; teachers should recognize the importance of and the splendid opportunities for character-training provided by games and playground activities, and should allot part of their time each week to a deliberate attempt to control and organize them.

The Strathcona drill awards were made as carefully and as fairly as circumstances permitted; it is to be regretted, however, that a larger number of schools do not make an effort to excel in this matter; the exercises have a recognized educational value; their successful application furnishes opportunity for the exercise, on the teacher's part, of a high degree of pedagogic skill; in fact (as the Strathcona Syllabus points out, page 25), "there is no part of school-work in which the spirit and capability of the teacher are so clearly reflected in the performance of the children as in physical exercises." The awards were as follows:—

First—Kelowna School, 3rd Division (Miss M. Page).
Second—Kelowna School, 11th Division (Miss E. M. Thomson).
Third—Summerland School, 2nd Division (Miss L. Wolfenden).

Further extensions have taken place in regard to instruction in manual training and domestic science, two more centres—Enderby and Summerland—having now made arrangements for this work; in these, as in the previously established schools at Armstrong, Spallumcheen, Vernon, Kelowna, and Penticton, provision has been made or is in contemplation whereby these facilities may be extended to the schools of the adjacent rural districts. The number of school-gardens in the inspectorate is steadily increasing, and at four points—Enderby, Armstrong, Vernon, and Kelowna—the work is under the control of the district supervisors responsible for the high-school agricultural instruction.

Turning to the ordinary class-room studies, the year's work may be characterized as having reached a satisfactory standard. In the Senior and Intermediate Grades many pupils failed to complete their year's attendance owing to their being engaged in war-work on the land; the "S.O.S." movement was well supported, 180 boys being employed in the Okanagan, with the hearty co-operation of principals and teachers. Many promotions were based upon the year's work instead of on a final examination, and (on departmental instructions) this principle of promoting to high school was put into practice in the city schools of Vernon and Kelowna; its advantages are obvious, but equally obvious is the fact that it will make greater demands than heretofore upon the energy, ability, and courage of the public-school principals; these will not be found wanting, and an extension of the privilege to other large graded schools would appear a natural corollary. The teachers through the district have generally shown themselves earnest, capable, and ready to accept any suggestion making for more efficient work; the graded-school principals exercise their supervisory duties with marked success, and it has been a privilege to co-operate in their efforts to assist some of the less experienced members of the staff.

As a result of careful observation and study of conditions in the schools, the following comment is offered on some of the work: Handwriting shows a general improvement, and the best results are being attained in those schools where in each class a definite period (say, ten or fifteen minutes daily) is allotted to practice—not as "busy-work," but under the teacher's direct instruction and supervision. An enormous amount of written work is required of the pupils, and much of it finds its way very quickly into the waste-paper basket. Complete sets of written papers should be kept, and frequently compared to ascertain that progress is being made; when children know that their written work will ultimately find its way into a filing system they are far more likely to exercise care in its production.

Reading is well taught, especially in the Junior and Intermediate classes; in the Senior Grade a higher standard may reasonably be demanded, and some attention should be given to the elocutionary aspect of the exercise. Spelling also shows improvement; most teachers realize the value of a careful assignment of the lesson; difficulties are adequately cleared up and the pupils' interest is aroused; in those cases where purpose and motivation are lacking the work is correspondingly unsuccessful; careful assignment induces purposeful and intelligent study by the class.

Arithmetic usually occupies a prominent position on the time-table, but the amount of time devoted to it is not always justified by the results; in such cases observation frequently reveals the fact that there is too much testing of the work and an insufficient amount of inductive oral development in class. Skilful oral teaching diminishes the necessity for individual attention to the weak pupils, which, though admirable in theory, often entails waste of the teacher's time, dissipation of energy, and the destruction of class interest.

Some good work is being accomplished in geography and nature-study; these branches lend themselves, especially in the early stages, to intelligent methods of development, and in the higher classes may frequently be utilized to establish the scientific habit of observation, comparison, and formulation; outdoor work, pictures, diagrams, and apparatus should be still more extensively made use of. In history-teaching in the Intermediate Grade two causes frequently operate to disappoint the teacher of the results that may reasonably be expected—the various topics are not sufficiently connected, the teaching lacking coherence; and, secondly, insufficient attention is given to review; for the purpose of the latter the children's written reproductions of the stories should be carefully preserved. In the Senior classes the results attained depend almost entirely upon the teacher's development of the subject-matter and on a careful assignment of the lesson; few children are so gifted as to be able to study the text-books, or any considerable part of them, profitably without careful preparation of the ground by the teacher; co-operative work is needed and rarely fails of success.

These suggestions will serve to indicate a few directions in which observation has shown that progress may be accelerated.

I have, etc.,

ARTHUR ANSTEY,
Inspector of Schools.

INSPECTORATE No. 8.

REVELSTOKE, B.C., November 25th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I beg to submit herewith the following report on the public schools of Inspectorate No. 8 for the school-year ending June 30th, 1918:—

During the year assisted schools were opened at Krestova, in the Slocan Valley; at Pass Creek, near Robson; at Kinnaird, a short distance from Castlegar; at Outlook, near Grand Forks; and at Christian Valley, about thirty miles up the main Kettle River from Westbridge. The assisted schools at Ingram Mountain and Myncaster, which had been closed, were reopened. In the Trail School District a new two-room school was opened across the Columbia River from the city proper to accommodate the children living in East Trail and Trail East, while a new division was opened in the Central School and another in the Smelter Hill School. In Rossland the Central School and the Cook Avenue School had each one division less than last year. The assisted schools at Taft, Gerrard, Whatshan, and Columbia Park were not operated during 1917-18 owing to the lack of a sufficient number of children to keep up the required minimum attendance. There were in all eighty-nine schools in operation in this inspectorate during the school-year, with a total staff of 149 teachers, a net increase over last year of four schools and six teachers. Of these, ten were graded city schools with a staff of sixty-four teachers, two were graded rural schools with a staff of six teachers, two were graded assisted schools with a staff of four teachers, and the remaining seventy-five were ungraded rural or assisted schools.

The teachers are maintaining very well the standard of good work noted in previous reports. Entrance examinations were held at ten centres in June last, when 123 candidates from the public schools presented themselves. Of these, ninety-four were successful, a percentage of 76.42. In addition, eighty-nine pupils of the public schools in cities of the second class (Grand Forks, Revelstoke, Rossland) were granted high-school standing without examination on the recommendation of the principals of their respective schools. The Governor-General's bronze medal for this district was won by Phyllis M. Gregory, of the Rossland Central School.

The plan of admitting pupils of certain schools to high school without examination was very favourably received, and the principals concerned appear to have used good judgment in making their recommendations. It is to be hoped that it may be found possible in the near future to extend this scheme in such a way as to include within its provisions all schools worthy of the privilege.

INSPECTORATE No. 10.

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., October 9th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the following report in respect of the public schools of Inspectorate No. 10 for the school-year ending June 30th, 1918:—

The boundaries of this district remain unchanged from last year; included within it are the Electoral Districts of Atlin, Prince Rupert, Omineca, Fort George, and Cariboo south as far as Soda Creek. During the year sixty-eight schools, employing eighty-eight teachers, were in operation; these consisted of the following:—

	Schools.	Teachers.
City municipality districts	2	17
Rural districts	9	14
Assisted districts	57	57

New schools were opened for the first time at Central Pouce Coupe, Usk, Castle Rock, Noosatsum, Swanson Bay, and Burns Lake, and an additional division at Ocean Falls; Woden River and Kundis were closed, while Skidegate was reopened. Schools have been authorized and will be in operation during the present school-year at Dome Creek, Hartley, Beaverly, Bickle, Braeside, Rose Valley, Cumshewa, Tatalaska Lake, Cedarvale, Sunnyside Cannery, Surf Inlet, and Surf Inlet Mine.

My work during the past year, and more particularly during the spring term, has been largely of an organization character. This has been due to increased activities in various lines in Northern British Columbia; along the Coast new canneries, mines, and logging camps have opened up; on the Queen Charlotte Islands settlements have been established in connection with the production of aeroplane spruce; in the Interior settlers are arriving in larger numbers than at any previous time. The immediate school requirements of these districts have been attended to, though in some cases pressure of work in other parts of the inspectorate have necessitated delays which have been a source of irritation to the parents concerned. A more serious result has been the enforced neglect of actual class-room inspection; during the year eight schools were not visited at all, and not more than eighteen received a second visit. This is incidental inspection only and can in no sense be construed as professional supervision of school-work; under existing conditions an Inspector can do no more than interpret to teachers and to trustees the policy of the Department of Education in its generalities.

At the close of the fiscal year, March 31st, a readjustment of assisted-school salaries was made. In many of these schools no salary change had occurred since they were first established, while the teacher's living expenses had radically altered; unfortunately, no uniformity existed in respect of this alteration, in some cases a marked decrease being evidenced, and in others a considerable increase. In arriving at the new salary due consideration was given to such matters as the normal local cost of board, the number of pupils enrolled, cost of transportation, isolation of the locality, etc., with the result that a reasonable degree of uniformity now exists. A further adjustment will be required in the near future to meet the serious advance in the cost of living. In this connection the School Boards of Anyox, Kitsumgallum, and Prince Rupert are deserving of commendation; in the first two mentioned substantial increases in salary have been given, and in the last a "war bonus" of $150 per annum.

A recent amendment to the "Public Schools Act," by which rural and assisted districts are to receive from the Provincial Treasury the full amount voted at their annual meeting, will be of distinct value. In the past many districts have been greatly hampered by an inability to collect overdue taxes, and in some cases the resultant financial muddle has been almost incapable of solution. The change is a most welcome one, and already an increase in efficiency is a direct result in certain schools.

The teaching staff continues to do faithful and, in most cases, efficient work in the class-room, and to take an increasingly important place in the public life of the district. The problems of the older and more populous districts of the Province are not the problems of these pioneer communities, where maintaining the very existence of a school is the primary consideration—a school which shall send out into the world men and women able to solve the problem of their future well-being and trained to become loyal citizens of the land of their birth or their adoption.

Inspector of Schools.

REPORT OF MUNICIPAL INSPECTORS.

VANCOUVER SCHOOLS.

VANCOUVER, B.C., October 24th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the following report on the Vancouver public schools for the school-year ending June 30th, 1918:—

SCHOOL ACCOMMODATION.

The school-year 1917-18 was in many respects fraught with unusual difficulties for the Vancouver School Board. To provide adequate school accommodation was practically impossible. In 1913 the citizens voted over three-quarters of a million dollars to be spent chiefly on increasing the school accommodation of that time. For four years, during which the school population increased quite slowly—an average of a little over 350 per year—the greater part of the moneys voted in 1913 was spent, and the present Board found itself with no capital funds to furnish school accommodation for 1,264 additional pupils—the increase for the school-year 1917-18.

A small sum of $60,000 out of the total voted in 1913 had been specifically voted for the erection of a high-school gymnasium and the installing of a heating plant in the Model School. As the need of these was considered not nearly as pressing as the need of additional class-rooms, the trustees had a by-law submitted to the ratepayers in January, 1918, hoping to have them sanction the expenditure of this $60,000 for increasing the class-room accommodation. The by-law was defeated, however, and thus all sorts of temporary expedients had to be resorted to to provide necessary class-rooms during the year. Basement-rooms were provided at Roberts, Florence Nightingale, and Livingstone Schools. Attics and principals' offices were turned into unsatisfactory class-rooms in some schools; while in others Receiving classes attended only half-time, thus making one room serve two classes. In a few instances the classes had to be too large for the doing of efficient work, because the accommodation was so limited.

The indications are that for 1918-19 the school population will continue to increase much as it has for the past year. The necessity, therefore, for the expenditure of a considerable sum for the erection of additions to a number of our schools in the near future is urgent.

TEACHING STAFF.

Many changes took place in the teaching staffs during the year. The large increase in enrolment necessitated an increase from 398 teachers on June 30th, 1917, to 444 on June 30th, 1918.

The changes in the various staffs were as follows:—

Public schools	from	320	to	357
High schools	„	50	„	56
Manual training	„	15	„	16
Domestic science	„	10	„	11
Special instructors	„	3	„	4
		398	to	444

While the increase in the public-school staff seems large, it was only sufficient to keep the average enrolment in normal public-school classes at about forty. The addition of six teachers to the high-school staffs, however, reduced the average enrolment in the classes of the four high schools from thirty-seven to thirty-four. The increases in Manual Training and Domestic Science classes were scarcely sufficient to teach satisfactorily the increased numbers of Intermediate and Senior Grade pupils.

A very large majority of the public-school teachers appointed in August, 1917, and again at the beginning of last term, were young and comparatively inexperienced. They have, however, for the most part done good work. The additions to the high-school staffs were generally experienced and successful teachers. These have greatly strengthened our high-school teaching forces.

Roll of Honour.

The following is a list of teachers who were granted indefinite leave of absence for overseas service during the year: William Flett, Central School; W. N. Kemp, Charles Dickens; W. J. Nesbit, Model; S. F. Moodie, King George; B. H. Howell, Livingstone; G. S. Selman, Britannia; Paul L. McCreery, Dawson; A. E. Shearman, Alexandra; D. P. McCallum, Manual Training; S. D. Meadows, Florence Nightingale; W. F. Houston, Tennyson; C. R. Messinger, Lord Roberts; W. R. Fleming, Laura Secord; W. T. Abercrombie, Mount Pleasant; I. M. Mullin, Dawson; Miss L. M. Ross, Mount Pleasant; Miss M. N. Marlatt, Domestic Science; Miss E. M. Frame, Simon Fraser; and Miss E. M. Johnson, Grandview.

Fifteen of these were young men holding very important positions in our schools and doing very satisfactory work. The Board did their best to secure capable teachers to fill their places and a good selection of appointees was made. There can be no doubt, however, that our schools have been materially weakened by the temporary withdrawal of these men. In a number of the large schools there is only one male teacher at present. This means a lack of that leadership for boys in sports and other activities that counts for so much in their proper development.

Supervision.

No change was made in the supervising staff for the year, though the need of a change was greater than during the previous year. In both the domestic-science and manual-training staffs certain changes have taken place that call for more supervision of the work. This is especially true of the manual-training work, which for the time being has to be entrusted in a number of cases to men with limited experience and training as instructors.

With the extension of school-work along all lines, I have found my own time more and more taken up with administrative duties. Consequently I have had less time to devote to supervision when more was needed. The School Board, recognizing this unsatisfactory state of affairs, made provision in their estimates for the appointment of an Assistant Municipal Inspector of Schools and a Director of Night-schools. Both of these officials have already been appointed.

Night-schools.

The night-schools did good work for the entire session. They opened in October with an enrolment of 1,329, an increase of 227 over that of the previous year; and the attendance kept up very well till the end of March.

Of the thirty-eight classes organized in October in charge of twenty-two teachers, not one had to be closed during the session. In February a thirty-ninth class in Physical Drill for Teachers was organized. A new departure was also made during the year in the opening of a class in Naval Architecture and a class for Home-makers. Besides these classes, instruction was given in music, art, English and arithmetic, French, English for foreigners, penmanship for teachers, shorthand, typewriting, book-keeping, commercial English and arithmetic, electrical engineering, iguition, mechanical engineering, mathematics, machine construction and drawing, navigation, and dressmaking.

The success attending the night-schools for the past year may be attributed mainly to two causes. The teaching staff remained almost unchanged from the previous year. All consequently understood what was required of them and gave excellent service. The new appointees to the staff also proved themselves capable teachers. The financial and other assistance given by your Department was much appreciated and made the task of administering the night-schools much simpler.

Cadet-work and Athletics.

Little change can be reported in the carrying-on of the cadet-work and school athletics during the year. Greater difficulties than usual were encountered in both. To a dearth of funds was added a scarcity of workers. Those remaining, however, did their best, and much creditable work was done along both lines.

Medical Inspection and Dental Work.

Very little change was made in the work of medical inspection. The staff included, as in the previous year, the Chief Medical Officer, giving full time to the work, two lady assistants on half time, and five nurses on full time. In June Dr. F. W. Brydone-Jack, Chief Medical Officer, resigned after seven years of faithful and efficient service in the schools.

No branch of school-work was increased as much during the year as that in the dental department. A second clinic was opened in the Florence Nightingale School, equipped for two doctors, who gave half time to the work twelve months in the year. A similar clinic is operated in the School Board Office Building.

It was with much regret that the Board accepted the resignation of Dr. J. M. Jones early in the year. As head of the department he had rendered excellent service. He has been succeeded, however, by Dr. R. L. Pallen, who is taking much interest in the children, and under whom the work in the clinics will, undoubtedly, be well done in the future as it has been in the past.

SPECIAL CLASSES.

The School for the Blind continued its work throughout the year with the six children enrolled in 1917 and an additional child. The teaching is proving very satisfactory, and the necessity for an expansion of the work is apparent. At an early date the Provincial Government should make more adequate provision for the proper training of the blind and others requiring special instruction.

As anticipated, the attendance in our School for the Deaf has materially increased. Three teachers were employed last year, and two additional ones were engaged to begin work this term. While the School Board has been fortunate in securing a large private residence as a temporary school for deaf children in this city, there can be no doubt that every year makes the need of a decided forward movement in this Province in the interests of deaf children more apparent.

In February, 1918, the School Board appointed a psychologist to make a special study of retarded pupils in our schools and to organize special classes for those who were found to be incapable of receiving much benefit from the instruction given in ordinary classes. Only one such class was organized last term; but it is expected that one or more of these special classes will in time be found in each of our larger schools.

This segregation of retarded pupils will greatly increase the cost of education, but, if properly managed, it will do much to increase the efficiency of the schools. It is evident the children in these small special classes will, under capable and sympathetic teachers, receive much better training than they possibly could in large normal classes. It is equally apparent that teachers of ordinary classes will be able to do more for their pupils when they are all of approximately equal mental ability.

LIBRARIES.

For the year now under review the School Board expended far more than the usual amount on Supplementary Readers in the schools. In a number of schools, too, substantial increases have been made in the number of books in the school libraries. In some instances these have been made by Parent-Teachers' Associations; in others by enterprising teachers and pupils; and in others by the School Board.

Late in the year a movement was set on foot by the principals to secure increased and more suitable reading for teachers bearing on their professional work. A committee was appointed to work out the details of the scheme. About $125 has been raised by teachers' subscriptions to purchase suitable books. These have been placed in the Carnegie Library, and the librarian is giving every assistance possible to teachers wishing to do more reading along professional lines. For the guidance of teachers, the library committee has also prepared a list of books with notes indicating where information may be secured on the various topics teachers must deal with in their class-rooms. By this means the general intelligence of the teachers should be greatly increased and the work of the class-room considerably improved.

VICTORIA SCHOOLS.

Victoria, B.C., November 16th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

Sir,—I have the honour to make the following report on the condition and progress of the Victoria City schools for the year 1917-18:—

Attendance.

The school attendance and the number of divisions from October, 1917, to the end of September, 1918, is shown in the following table:—

1917—	Attendance.	Divisions.
October	5,224	150
November	5,272	151	1 extra, Boys' Central.
December	5,061	153	1 " Oaklands. 1 " George Jay.
January	5,366	154	1 " Oaklands.
February	5,376	154
March	5,242	154
April	5,215	154
May	5,085	154
June	4,874	155	1 " Sir James Douglas.
September	5,386	155

The comparison of attendance has been made hitherto in my reports between the months of October in each year. But this year, early in that month, an epidemic of influenza broke out in the city, compelling the Government to close the schools. A statement, therefore, of the October attendance this year would be misleading.

There has been an increase of 200 pupils in the attendance in September, 1918, over that of the same month of 1917. To that should be added eighty pupils from the Saanich District who attended the Quadra and Burnside Schools last year, and who have now been accommodated in a new school established by the Saanich School Board near the northern boundary of the City of Victoria.

A falling-off will be observed in the attendance during the summer months of this year. This decrease is due largely, if not entirely, to the fact that many of our boys left school to assist in agricultural operations as Soldiers of the Soil (S.O.S.), and a large number of school-girls gave their services in fruit-picking. Their work was very valuable to the country at a very critical period of its history, the shortage of labour on the fields rendering such work essential to the production of the food necessary not only for Canada, but also for the countries of Europe allied against German militarism.

The decrease in attendance explained in the preceding paragraph necessarily reduced the numbers enrolled in most of the Senior classes, especially in the High School. It was not, however, considered possible, even if such a step could be reconciled with justice, to reduce the teaching staff as a consequence of that decrease, which was spread over about thirty-three divisions. But it will be observed that the number of divisions in September, 1918, was the same as in June of that year, although the attendance in the former month showed an increase of more than 500 over the latter.

Changes in Schools.

In previous reports I drew attention to attempts made by the Board to relieve congestion in the Sir James Douglas School by diverting some of its pupils to the Margaret Jenkins School, and in my last report I stated that the former had been created a girls' school and the latter a boys' school as far as the Intermediate and Senior grades were concerned. That arrangement proved very satisfactory from an educational point of view, and the pupils affected were on the whole contented; but their parents continued to object to sending them to a more distant school when another school was more conveniently situated. The Board, therefore, anxious to satisfy their reasonable complaints as far as they could without impairing the efficiency of either school, reverted to the old arrangement, and allowed all the pupils of the districts of the schools in question to attend the nearest school. The growth of the population of the Margaret Jenkins District rendered that arrangement more advisable than it was last year, while the extension of the boundaries of that district to the north-east, to include the region lying between Foul Bay Road and Richmond Avenue, accomplished the object of diverting pupils from the central schools —always approaching the limits of their capacity—to the Margaret Jenkins School, which has still room for more scholars. The effects of the new arrangement on the Sir James Douglas School are still to be seen, as all its available rooms are now in use and there is no space for further expansion.

ORGANIZED SPORTS.

The Victoria City Public Schools Athletic Association, which in the past has done excellent work in connection with the organization and promotion of sports in the schools of this city, has lately enlarged its sphere of activity so as to include the nearest schools of the neighbouring municipalities of Esquimalt, Oak Bay, and Saanich. The result has been eminently satisfactory. Healthy rivalry has not only been a stimulus to the interschool athletic contests, but by bringing teachers and pupils of the city and district schools in closer contact has brought about a friendly understanding among them, which cannot fail to be advantageous not only from a school point of view, but also in their future relationship as citizens. The result of organized sports in each school is noticeable not only in the physical but also in the moral development of its pupils. "They cause," in the words of one of our principals, "a very marked improvement in the general school-work, and are especially a help to discipline." Realizing that fact, teachers—men and women—in our schools are doing excellent work in promoting sports, which, although not formally prescribed in the curriculum, are nevertheless a most important factor in a child's education.

CADET CORPS.

I am happy to be able to state that, according to the report of Major Belson, O. & I.C.C., M.D. No. 11, the cadet corps of Victoria schools were never in a more satisfactory condition, and are now in a state of creditable efficiency. This due not only to the indefatigable exertions of our supervisor of cadets, but also to the faithful work of the instructors, who were invariably supported by the influence and encouragement of the principals of the schools having cadet corps.

SCHOOL-GARDENS.

I regret that I cannot state here that the school-garden movement has been extended to other schools than the four named in my last year's report—Oaklands, Burnside, George Jay, and Kingston Street; but there can be no doubt that the work in those schools shows a marked improvement over that of any other year. One can hardly speak in general terms of the production of foodstuffs in those gardens without using what might appear to you an excess of superlatives; but, as a concrete example of the work of one school, I take from a report kindly furnished me by Mr. MacInnes, Principal of the Oaklands School, the statement that the produce raised by the pupils of that school included: "800 lb. onions, 1,000 lb. potatoes, 2,000 lb. carrots, 2,500 lb. beets, 1,500 lb. tomatoes, 300 lb. parsnips, 200 lb. turnips, and 35 lb. bean-seed. The greater part of this garden produce has been sold at a very low rate to the parents of the pupils. Up to the present time $90 worth has been sold."

The other three schools have done excellent work, and too much praise cannot be given to the principals and teachers of the schools having gardens for the enthusiasm and energy which they have displayed in this work. That enthusiasm and energy they have inspired into their pupils, whose lives cannot fail to be benefited by this important training.

The principals of many of the other schools have made application for the allotment of part of the school-grounds for the purpose of school-gardens, and the grounds on which other schools are situated are not suitable for such use. I trust, however, that the time is not far distant when this important work will be placed within the reach of every pupil in the Victoria City schools.

HIGH SCHOOL.

I have been favoured with a report from Mr. A. G. Smith, Principal of the High School, from which I quote the following extracts:—

"With regard to your request for information concerning the High School for the Annual Report, I am pleased to be able to say that the Victoria High School Cadet Corps had a very successful year, especially in view of the difficulties under which cadet corps labour. The High School Corps took third place in the Province at the annual inspection held last May. Let me again take this opportunity of emphasizing the value of cadet-training and the debt that Canada owes to an organization which has had only a stepmotherly consideration alike from municipal, Provincial, and Dominion authorities. It seems to me that this is now the psychological moment for building up a system which will help Canada to take her place and to do her share in the work of a league of nations.

"You already have a report on the patriotic work of the school, which is a matter of credit to the school and a source of gratification to me.

"With regard to the academic work of the school, I beg to say that the action of the Board in restoring the increases due from August, 1914, is very much appreciated by the teachers. I am sure that the action will have the effect of stabilizing the personnel of the staff of the High School and will save Victoria from the effect of a constant change of teachers, which has been too common in the past few years. It will thus be possible to build up a reinvigorated system which will help to meet the conditions which will arise now that hostilities have ceased.

"With regard to manual training in the High School, I can't say that I am entirely in sympathy with it. In any case it could not be included in our present curriculum without eliminating something else. I would like, however, to see some arrangement made for a technical course for boys, also provision for the teaching of singing and home economics for girls, and a somewhat wider course in drawing for both boys and girls. Of course, the present High School building is quite unsuitable for such work, but there is plenty of space on the grounds for the erection of a building expressly designed for such work."

There are activities in the High School other than the academic work and those referred to by Mr. Smith which deserve mention as showing that teachers in that school are fully alive to the necessity of educating their scholars in subjects not absolutely required by the curriculum, but the importance of which is unquestionable. Such are: Two debating societies, one for boys, the Beta Delta, and one for girls, the Portia Club; an orchestra and a choral society; a dramatic society; and organized sports. The education derived by the pupils from those activities is so valuable as to render comment unnecessary; but I take this opportunity of drawing them to your attention for the purpose of showing that the teachers of the Victoria schools do not confine their time and energy to the academic subjects of the curriculum.

Patriotic Work in High School.

The patriotic work of the High School, alluded to in Mr. Smith's report, has been given me in detail in a report by Miss Cann, President of the High School Patriotic Society, which consists of all the teachers and pupils of the school. From that report I make the following extracts:—

"We have taken an active interest in and, to some extent at least, taken part in ten different kinds of work. These are:—

"(1.) Preparing and sending Christmas boxes to High School masters, girls, and boys serving at the Front:

"(2.) Writing letters to old boys on active service:

"(3.) Assisting in the work of the Canadian Field Comforts Commission:

"(4.) Contributing to the Prisoners of War Fund:

"(5.) Contributing to the Halifax Relief Fund:

"(6.) Contributing to the fund for the High School Honour Roll, a memorial to our boys who have given their lives for their country during the present war:

"(7.) Contributing to the Red Cross Society through headquarters, Victoria:

"(8.) Contributing money to and knitting for the Fernwood Branch of the Red Cross Society:

"(9.) Collecting magazines for the Military Hospitals at or near Victoria:

"(10.) Buying Victory bonds for the High School.

"It was necessary to devise ways and means of obtaining funds to carry on our work, and several sources of revenue were found available. Teachers and pupils very generally made a monthly contribution to our Patriotic Fund. Proceeds from a gymnasium display, from an entertainment given by the members of the Senior Matriculation class, contributions made by teachers and pupils during last March, a month set apart for special self-denial, and the proceeds of a rummage sale gave us altogether a sum exceeding $1,000. We were able to carry on the work which has been outlined and to provide for the present year a large part of the wool necessary for socks to be sent away in the 1918 Christmas boxes.

"It has been a great pleasure to take part in this work, in which every member of our school is so closely, indeed personally, interested. If we are in danger of being pleased with ourselves for what we have done, a moment's reflection upon the part which our boys have played and are now playing on the Western and other Fronts, a thought of the losses which we have sustained during the past year, serves to restore our balance and make us more determined than ever to do better during the coming year."

PATRIOTIC WORK IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The Victoria public schools have been quite as active as the High School in their work for the Empire during the trying years of the war now happily concluded. Each school, in proportion to its attendance and grade, has done all that patriotism and sympathy with the men and women engaged in the more dangerous service of their country could expect. From the small two-roomed primary school, as well as from the full-graded schools, contributions of work, comforts, and money have for the past four years been made to the different objects detailed in the report on the High School patriotic work. I have before me reports from all the public-school principals, which are full of interest as showing that their staffs and pupils did not fail to do their part for the comfort of the boys at the Front.

SCHOOL MAGAZINES.

There are two magazines in connection with the Victoria schools—the Camosun, published by the High School, and the Public School Magazine, to which all the public schools of the city contribute. The latter appeared for the first time this year, and has hitherto been a great success. It has a large circulation, and there have been considerable profits from its sale, which are shared pro rata by the schools. The money thus obtained has been used in various ways, such as providing cadet uniforms, materials for sports, contributions for patriotic purposes, etc.

The Camosun is our old-established High School paper and continues to maintain its well-earned popularity.

Both papers contain, in addition to the news of the schools, articles and tales, written by pupils, of considerable literary merit, which reflect much credit on their editorial staffs and on their youthful contributors. Their success is also largely promoted by the public spirit of the business men of the city, who assist them by the insertion of advertisements.

SALARIES.

Since my last report was written the salaries of the employees of the Board have been restored to the figures at which they would have stood had there been no suspension, in 1915, of the operation of the schedule; and a new schedule is being drawn up which will, I feel sure, when adopted, settle this question, which has for some time been a source of irritation to the teachers and anxiety to the Board.

PROVINCIAL NORMAL SCHOOLS.

VANCOUVER PROVINCIAL NORMAL SCHOOL.

Vancouver, B.C., July 30th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

Sir,—I beg to forward the accompanying report of the Provincial Normal School, Vancouver, for the school-year ending May, 1918.

Attendance.

During this year our attendance has been less in consequence of most of the students from the Upper Country being required to attend at Victoria Normal School. Our attendance at the close of the respective sessions has been: December, 1917—Advanced, 46; preliminary, 189. May, 1918—Advanced, 147; preliminary, 38. We have recommended to the Department of Education for teachers' certificates: Advanced students, 178; preliminary, 194.

Instruction.

In consequence of a change in the staff the following arrangement of our work became necessary: William Burns—Geography, history, psychology. D. M. Robinson—Arithmetic, grammar, school returns. Miss C. McNiven—English subjects. H. B. McLean—Writing, nature-study, school-gardening. W. P. Weston—Art subjects. Miss L. A. Burpee—Junior Grade subjects. Miss E. M. Coney—Singing and voice-culture. Quartermaster-Sergeant Instructor Wallace—Physical drill. In addition to teaching the subjects, each instructor was held responsible for the teaching of them by students in the Model School classes.

By permission of the Vancouver School Board, we have had twenty rooms placed at our disposal for practice purposes—twelve in the Model School and eight in the Cecil Rhodes School. Each student has been required to give weekly lessons in these rooms after having prepared the lesson, and a written criticism has been received from one of the Normal School staff or from the teacher in charge in the Model School. This criticism is itself criticized with the student, and any useful improvements for the future suggested. In this manner we have endeavoured to make practical work the chief consideration. The conclusion of the Faculty as to the teaching efficiency of the students has been largely based upon these criticisms when carefully summarized; they have been required to show a gradual improvement in the character and management of lessons taught. As the students appointed to any particular room take up the lessons for the day in the regular routine, and have had a day in which to prepare the lessons along with any assistance and advice requested from the Normal School staff, there is in reality no interference with the routine of the class-work of the rooms. Although occasionally some of the lessons may be not quite as good as those from more experienced teachers, yet, on the other hand, the pupils have the advantage of the best teachers available on the city staff at all other times. The results attained by the pupils of these schools in their promotion examinations are ample proof that no injustice is being done to the pupils of our model schools.

The instruction in physical drill and its teaching has been continued, and the classes have been regularly inspected by Major Belson, who expressed himself as well satisfied with the progress and efficiency of the students, and granted "B" certificates for proficiency to almost all the students examined.

School-gardens.

During the spring we were enabled, by receipt of a grant for the purpose, to prepare and cultivate a small portion of our grounds, thus adding "school-gardening" to our curriculum. A sufficient supply of garden-tools has been procured and a tool-shed made in the east basement. Students have been instructed how to lay out a small piece of ground to the best value, and how to plant and cultivate a vegetable-garden. We hope next year to enlarge still further this practical part of our work, not only by cultivating more ground, but also by utilizing the green-house during the winter months.

DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

We are unfortunately still deficient in any means to teach the branches of domestic economy and manual training, there being no rooms or apparatus for either of these important branches. I would urge upon the Department the necessity for the erection of a building and the supplying of the necessary teachers and furniture for instruction of the students in the teaching of these important practical subjects.

ADDITIONAL WORK.

In addition to our regular school-work and outside of regular school-hours, we have carried on a "Sock Club" in order to supply many comforts and remembrances to former students of our school now overseas. Concerts and sales of work were held to provide funds for materials required, and three parcels have been sent to each soldier during the year. Many letters of appreciation have been received from recipients "somewhere" in France, as well as from some of the officials of hospitals to which scrap-books have been sent. Our best thanks are due to all who have given up so much time and labour to this work. The following is a brief abstract of the work accomplished: 712 pairs of socks; 221 personal-property bags; 76 scrap-books; 191 parcels sent to boys at the Front.

Our motive in this work has not been only for its present actual value, great as this is, but to show our students how they can interest children in work of value to themselves and to others. I may be permitted to add that with this aim in view we have asked no outside aid, either for material or for help, in our concerts and social entertainments—all has been done by the students themselves, thus giving many valuable lessons in organization.

FIRST AID.

Lectures on "First Aid" have been given gratuitously, under the auspices of St. John Ambulance Association, by several of the medical men of the city. Six classes were held in "First Aid," comprising altogether about 140 students. The value of this knowledge is so evident, especially to the teacher in a rural school, away from any immediate medical assistance, that students-in-training might well be required to add this subject to their list of studies.

When we notice how much is now required from an efficient teacher besides mere book-knowledge, it is evident that all this cannot be properly acquired in a short course of four months. We find that it takes this time alone for the student to become "at home" in the school-room before the more psychological aspect of the work can be in any degree grasped. If so many other branches are required to be known by the student-teachers, it will be necessary to discourage as far as possible the making of the preliminary session anything more than a preparation for the advanced, or, in other words, to abolish the granting of any certificate to teach until a full Normal School Course has been gone through successfully. Such a requirement would undoubtedly work a hardship on those who attend here merely to obtain a diploma entitling them to earn money, but the advantage of a thoroughly trained teacher to the children in our schools is the point to be considered. To obtain efficiency at the expense of the children would appear to be poor economy, and this is now frequently the case.

I cannot close without mentioning that we have now sixty-seven names on our "Roll of Honour," and without expressing our deep regrets that, of these, eleven have paid the supreme sacrifice to the cause of our Empire. And especially we have to give our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Spouse and family on their loss of our esteemed friend, Lieutenant John Spouse, who has lost his life in the performance of his duty in France.

VICTORIA PROVINCIAL NORMAL SCHOOL.

VICTORIA, B.C., November 14th, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the following report of the work done in the Provincial Normal School at Victoria during the school-year ending June 30th, 1918:—

When the school opened on August 20th, 1917, 104 students were in attendance. Ten were enrolled for the Advanced Course and ninety-four for the Preliminary Course. This was an increase of 35 per cent. on the attendance of the previous year. It is probable that the lesser attendance of the previous year, 1916-17, was largely due to the fact that under war conditions many students were drawn away from the teaching profession into other pursuits that afforded better salaries without requiring any special training. It may be assumed that a readjustment is now taking place slowly. Of the number enrolled in August, 1917, three withdrew during the session, four failed, and ninety-seven were awarded diplomas. When the next session began on January 14th, 1918, eighty-four were enrolled, only six of whom were taking the Preliminary Course. At the completion of this session eighty were awarded diplomas and four failed to qualify. Ninety per cent. of those who obtained diplomas entered the work of teaching. Of the total number of students attending during the year, slightly less than 45 per cent. came from Victoria and the immediate vicinity.

As the six who were taking the Preliminary Course from January to May had to do work of a grade entirely different from those taking the Advanced Course, it was necessary to form a separate class for these. This class of six required as much of the instructors' teaching-time as an Advanced class of forty, and as much preparation for their lectures on the part of the instructors as the entire seventy-eight in the Advanced Course. As the plan of conducting both Preliminary and Advanced Courses simultaneously each session has always occasioned a similar division of the time and attention of the staff, it is open to question whether such arrangement is truly economic. It would seem that the plan formerly in operation of conducting only a Preliminary Course in the fall session and only an Advanced Course in the spring session affords the greatest good to the greatest number of students.

The personnel of the staff during the year 1917-18 was the same as during the previous year, with one exception. Mr. D. M. Robinson moved to Vancouver and was replaced by Inspector V. L. Denton, B.A. Mr. Denton brought to the work the experience gained both as an assistant and as a principal in ungraded and graded public-school work, and supplemented by several years' activity as an Inspector of Public Schools for the Province. The apportionment of work remained practically unchanged, as follows: The Principal—Psychology, history of education, English literature, English grammar, arithmetic, language, reading, and physical drill. Mr. V. L. Denton—History, geography, class management and school law, and physical drill. Mr. Harry Dunnell—Drawing, writing, manual arts, manual training (woodwork), nature-study, school-gardening, and physical drill. Miss Lexa Denne—Cookery, home-nursing, sewing, hygiene, and first aid to the injured. Miss Ida Morris—Music.

The training in practical teaching given to the students formed a part of the year's work, to which, as usual, great importance was attached. In addition to the Model School department of the Normal School, the following schools of Victoria City assisted gratuitously with this work during the year: Bank Street, George Jay, North Ward, and Spring Ridge. It was with regret that we discontinued the use of the Boys' Central School after having received its faithful assistance for two years and a half. Principal Cunningham felt, however, that under the existing conditions he could not continue the work. To him and his staff I wish to express once more my thanks for the helpful work they have done. The work thus discontinued by the Boys' Central School was taken up by the George Jay and Spring Ridge Schools. I wish, therefore, to express my appreciation of the work done so willingly during the year by the respective principals, Miss A. M. Paterson, Mr. Harry Charlesworth, Mr. J. M. Campbell, and Miss Isla Tuck, and their assistants. By the gratuitous assistance of these various schools our students have been given an opportunity to teach all grades of public-school work. The number of lessons taught by each student averaged over thirty-five.

After having urged continuously since the establishment of this Normal School for the payment of the teachers for the extra work entailed in giving this assistance, it gives me peculiar pleasure to be able to record that this remuneration is now to be given, the cost being borne equally by the Department of Education and the City of Victoria. When this agreement was entered into the number of divisions in the city schools that we were to be permitted to use for the practical teaching of our students was reduced from twenty-seven to fifteen. This I consider to be a retrograde step, as the value of a Normal School Course of training bears a direct relation to the number of lessons taught by each Normal student. This reduction necessitated that we relinquish the use of two of the city schools. The Bank Street and North Ward Schools now remain as the chosen model schools. May I also place on record my regret that the Board of School Trustees for the City of Victoria thought it necessary to reduce the amount that the Department of Education suggested should be paid to each of these teachers, whereas the Board of School Trustees for the City of Vancouver made no such reduction. I hope that in the near future the number of divisions available for practical teaching may be restored to what it was when the work was being done gratuitously, and that the amount paid to each teacher so engaged may at least equal that paid by the City of Vancouver.

I wish in this report to make special mention of the work done in the Model School under the direction of Miss Kate Scanlan with the aid of her assistant, Miss I. M. F. Barron. This school of two divisions has all grades from the Receiving class up to and including an Entrance class. To find sufficient time to give instruction to all these classes in the regular work of the Course of Study is an achievement, yet much more than this was done. Enough time was found to give these pupils special instruction in music, in household science, in manual training, in school-gardening, and in addition to give up two half-days each week to the practical teaching of these classes by Normal students. Notwithstanding all this, these pupils were stimulated to undertake food production and have successfully cultivated over two acres of land. The money made was given to the fund for Belgian children. None of this extra work was allowed to lower the standard of the regular school-work, as may be judged from the record of the Entrance classes. This two-division school has presented over twenty candidates for Entrance Examination to High Schools during the past three years, and all have passed with high standings. The Model School has been a source of inspiration to the teachers-in-training, many of whom have gone into the ungraded or semi-graded rural schools.

To supplement the work carried on through the regular channels, two excellent courses of lectures were delivered to the students during the year. The first was designated "A Course of Library Instruction." It comprised the following twelve weekly lectures:—

(1.) The library as a general tool and its relation to the school:
(2.) How books are classified:
(3.) How to find what you want in a library:
(4.) How to use encyclopædias and other books of reference:
(5.) The history of the book:
(6.) What a Provincial library means to a Province; its resources:
(7.) The selection and buying of books:
(8.) The history of books for children:
(9.) The selection of books for children:
(10.) Fairy tales and the telling of stories to children:
(11.) The selection and care of a school library:
(12.) A general résumé.

In addition to these lectures, the students were given two laboratory periods in the Victoria Public Library to more fully familiarize them with its organization. The first four, the seventh, and the last two of the twelve lectures were given by Miss Helen Stewart, Librarian of the Victoria Public Library. The fifth and sixth were delivered by Mr. E. O. S. Scholefield, Librarian of the Provincial Library; while Miss Margaret Clay, of the Children's Department of the Victoria Public Library, took the eighth, ninth, and tenth. The second course of lectures, three in number, were delivered to the students in the evening at the Provincial Library by Mr. Scholefield. His subjects were:—

(1.) Canada's Pacific Seaboard; a Story of Discovery, Settlement, and International Complications:
(2.) The Colony of Vancouver Island:

(3.) The Gold Rush of 1858 and the Crown Colony of British Columbia.

The three lectures were superbly illustrated by lantern-slides prepared from the archives of the Provincial Library. It would be hard to overestimate the splendid value and the broadening influence of these two courses. We are deeply indebted to Miss Stewart, Miss Clay, and Mr. Scholefield.

Some of the special work undertaken during the year deserves mention. Miss Denne, Instructress of Household Science, in addition to her regular duties, undertook after school-hours to give instruction to the women of the district in war cookery. A series of war cookery demonstration classes extending over a period of eight weeks was held. The attendance at these classes averaged about forty and a very keen interest was displayed by all. At the conclusion of this work Miss Denne compiled a book of "War-time Recipes" of 100 pages containing 250 recipes. The demand for this book has proven its value. Requests for it have been received from all parts of Canada, from England, South Africa, the United States, and Honolulu. Under her supervision knitting for the soldiers in the trenches was also carried on with most gratifying results. Many boxes of candy were prepared for overseas, and a Christmas parcel was forwarded to each ex-student who had enlisted in the service of the Empire. Under the direction of Miss Morris the third annual Red Cross concert was held. Much painstaking training of the school-choir was given weekly after school-hours in preparation for this concert. The splendid support afforded by the music-loving public and the amount raised thereby for the Red Cross amply rewarded Miss Morris for her work.

In concluding this report, I consider it a privilege to state that over twenty of the students who have attended since the institution was established in 1915 have enlisted in the service of the Empire. Six of this number, Ronald Graham, Victor Noble, James Pottinger, Scott Rowan, Donald Simpson, and Henry Sivertz, have given their lives. One of these, Henry Sivertz, had won the Military Medal with two additional bars for conspicuous bravery.

ELEMENTARY AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR.

VICTORIA, B.C., December 31st, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the following report dealing with elementary agricultural education in the Province of British Columbia for the year ending December 31st, 1918:—

THE CAMPAIGN FOR THE PRODUCTION AND CONSERVATION OF FOOD.

During the year a large part of my time was occupied in organization-work for the Canada Food Board, as per arrangements made with the Honourable the Minister of Education and yourself. Although this additional new work made it impossible for me to visit all of the schools where school-gardens were in operation, I was able, nevertheless, to meet a great many teachers and pupils, especially in the towns and cities visited. It was most gratifying to find almost without exception the pupils as well as the teachers of the Province entering heart and soul into some phase of war-work.

As the food question was of such great importance, it soon became a live topic in a great many schools; and many interesting reports of good work done by the boys and girls, both at home and at school, in the raising of foodstuffs were brought to my attention. It is, of course, impossible to give an accurate estimate of the value of the food raised by the boys and girls of the schools during the past year, but from my own observations, supplemented by the reports which I have had from teachers in different parts of the Province, I would say that $20,000 is not too high an estimate to place upon the value of the foodstuffs produced in the children's school and home gardens throughout the Province.

As an example of what can be accomplished in a school-garden when the teachers and pupils are really interested and anxious to do something along that line, I would like to quote from the report of Mr. R. H. MacInnes, Principal of the Oaklands School, Victoria:—

"The school-garden, which was 210 x 70 feet, was occupied by five divisions. The plots used were each 8 x 28 feet. The amount of produce grown in the garden this year was as follows:—

1,000	lb. of	potatoes.
1,500	,,	tomatoes.
2,500	,,	carrots.
3,200	,,	beets.
800	,,	onions.
400	,,	parsnips.
200	,,	turnips.
35	,,	dry seed-beans.

"In conclusion, I may state that this year has been the most successful in garden-work at this school."

The value of the above crop, which was grown on one-third of an acre, is not less than $250, which is more than many experienced gardeners are able to report. Mr. MacInnes and his assistants have made a success of school-gardening from every standpoint, for the educational value of the work has received due attention also.

Another example of good all-round work in school-gardening is seen in the following interesting account from the Whonnock Public School. The principal, Mrs. Jean Drummond, reports as follows:—

"This year a fence has been placed around the garden by the boys in the Third Reader class. The pupils applied for and received samples of potatoes from the Experimental Farm at Agassiz, and these they planted in their home-gardens. Each pupil has also planted some vegetable from which to raise seed. There are community plots of potatoes on some new sod ground, the original tubers having been grown two years ago on our first garden.

Harvesting a $200 potato-crop on the Victoria Normal-Model School grounds—education, industry, and patriotism combined.

Teachers in training in the school-garden of the Vancouver Normal School—learning to do by doing.

"The following seeds were shown at the exhibition which was held in conjunction with the Whonnock Horticultural Show: Onion, leek, carrot, turnip, kale, salsify, beans, beet, annual lupine, pop-corn, and hull-less barley.

"There was a general display of such vegetables as cabbage, kale, soy-beans, tomatoes, cucumbers, squash, beets, and carrots. The boys and girls each had a plot of potatoes in some new sod ground. Twenty-one potatoes were planted in each. The yield was: Boys' plot, 85 lb.; girls' plot, 100 lb. From the 3-lb. samples obtained from the Experimental Farm the best yield was 85 lb. American Wonder variety.

"This fall the pupils have dug over their plots, added barnyard manure, and planned the work for next spring. While the school was closed on account of influenza several pupils did garden-work, and the following trees were planted in front of the school: Two pines, three cedars, and one fir. The deciduous trees are to be planted between the evergreens. Seeds have been collected for next year's planting."

The boys and girls of the senior divisions of the Victoria Model School, under the energetic lead of Miss Kate Scanlan, the principal, and with the assistance of the school janitor, undertook a gardening project of more than ordinary interest and one that has proved successful. Miss Scanlan reports as follows:—

"The total area under cultivation was 2¼ acres, which was broken out of sod. About half of the block was planted in early potatoes, which were harvested the first week in July and the space planted in beans, which did not mature, although a large quantity of green beans was produced. The remainder was planted to a late variety of potatoes, which yielded well. The early potatoes were put in by hand, the Normal students, caretaker, and Model School children all helping. The other plot was put in with the plough, the children, aided by the caretaker, dropping the seed.

"The sum of $48.59 was realized for the early potatoes and $168.90 for the main crop, making a total of $217.49 for the entire crop; with ten sacks reserved for seed for 1919. The departmental grant paid for the seed as well as the cultivating and fertilizing of the land. The other expenses for sacks, digging, and sorting amounted to $34.40, leaving a balance of $183.09 and ten sacks of seed-potatoes.

"A donation of $150 was made to the Belgian Orphans' Fund, the sum of $10.20 was paid for the nursing of a returned soldier, leaving a balance on hand of $22.29 and ten sacks of seed-potatoes."

Of course, these are but small items when compared with the results of the work of many thousands of boys and girls who have carried on, or helped to carry on, the regular family and vacant-lot gardens of the Province. It merely represents the economic value of part of the work done by about 8,000 boys and girls who are officially enrolled in connection with school and home gardens, and comprising about one-eighth of the pupils of the Province.

This campaign for increased food production had a double value. The extra food was very greatly needed. The increased local production in gardens and vacant lots made it possible to send a larger quantity of the essential war foods overseas, and incidentally tended to lessen the quantity of foodstuffs that had to be carried by the transportation companies for home consumption. But, in the second place, with the nation at war, food production was a matter of national importance. The boys and girls realized that in the production of food they were in very truth helping to win the war, or, as one little girl was heard to remark, "helping the King to crush the Kaiser."

In June last a special report was issued setting forth the results in detail of the 1917 campaign on "Patriotism and Production." Returns were received from 170 schools in response to the appeal sent out, and it is to the everlasting credit of these schools that they were able, through the raising of vegetables, poultry, and other food commodities, as well as by the saving of waste paper to contribute to the Red Cross and Patriotic Funds, the handsome total of $9,359.22. On the recommendation of yourself and of the Honourable the Minister of Education a contribution of $2,000 was sent to Halifax when the news of the terrible disaster which befell that city was received, with the request that it be used in helping to alleviate the distress of injured and bereaved school-children. Inspired by this prompt and timely action, other schools in this Province and in other Provinces followed with donations in aid of the Halifax sufferers.

SCHOOL-GARDENING.

The past season proved a most trying one on gardens generally throughout the Province, and, of course, the school-gardens suffered no less than other gardens. Where adequate provision was made by School Boards for taking care of the gardens during the summer holidays, the results were quite satisfactory, as the exhibits from such gardens at the fall fairs amply proved. The great scarcity of labour and the attractive wages offered to the larger boys of the schools made it more than ordinarily difficult to secure competent assistance in connection with gardening-work.

There are yet many ratepayers and also many school trustees that point the finger of criticism at school-gardens, because they do not "pay." The same attitude used to be quite common when schools were being supplied with blackboards and wall-maps. The school-garden as a means of instruction, as an out-of-doors blackboard, where real problems are presented for solution, demanding skill, thought, and constant application on the part of the student, is not yet appreciated. Few men outside of the teaching profession would have the temerity to enter a well-equipped science laboratory and criticize its use as an educational means; but there are many who indulge in the most irrelevant criticism of the school-garden, failing to recognize in it a means whereby boys and girls are taught not only the rudiments of horticulture, but, what is vastly more important, the fundamentals of good citizenship.

In his admirable lecture on "The School of the Future," Professor L. H. Bailey sums up in the following passage the great value of the school-garden as an aid to school-work and training:—

"It supplants or, at least, supplements mere book training; presents real problems, with many interacting influences, affording a base for the study of all nature, thereby developing the creative faculties and encouraging natural enthusiasm; puts the child into touch and sympathy with its own realm; develops manual dexterity; begets regard for labour; conduces to health; expands the moral instinct by making a truthful and intimate presentation of natural phenomena and affairs; trains in accuracy and directness of observation; stimulates the love of nature; appeals to the art-sense; kindles interest in ownership; teaches garden-craft; evolves civic pride; sometimes affords a means of earning money; brings teacher and pupil into closer personal touch; works against vandalism; aids discipline by allowing natural exuberance to work off; arouses spontaneous interest in the school on the part of both pupils and parents; sets ideals for the home, thereby establishing one more bond of connection between the school and the community."

Too many people regard school-gardening as a local and modern innovation. They are not aware that instruction in gardening was provided for children before the dawn of the Christian era in some Eastern countries, and is now used in practically all the leading countries of the world. They are probably not aware that in all European countries school-gardens are established as a part of the school equipment, and that in some of the countries School Boards are denied the regular Government grants if gardens are not provided for the children. British Columbia is the last of the Provinces of Canada to adopt a policy of Government financial support for agricultural instruction in the schools. Fair progress has been made—more, probably, than in any other Province for the same length of time—but we should do better. An ever-increasing number of our teachers are interesting themselves in this branch of education and are doing good work in it; but there remains a large number who are disinterested and inactive. Lack of specific training in nature-study and elementary agriculture is by far the greatest cause of the failure on the part of so many teachers to undertake this work. This difficulty can be overcome only by the continuance of special summer school courses and by providing adequate training in science and agriculture in our high schools and Normal Schools.

Following is a statement showing the number of teachers and pupils taking up school-gardening in 1918:—

	Cities.	Rural Municipalities.	Rural and Assisted.	Total.
Number of teachers taking up school-gardening (officially enrolled)	82	164	66	312
Number of pupils in gardening (all grades, officially enrolled)	2,797	3,510	1,323	7,630

HOME-GARDENING FOR SCHOOL-CHILDREN.

It is quite impossible to report with any degree of accuracy the number of pupils who owned or operated home-gardens during the year. An attempt will be made during the coming year to obtain more complete information along this line.

Home-gardening is carried on under three different plans: (a) In schools where school-gardens are not operated; (b) in graded schools where school-gardens are operated by certain divisions only, and where some of the remaining divisions carry on a system of home-gardening; and (c) in schools where pupils operate home-gardens in addition to their gardens at school. Of the last mentioned we have no authentic record, but, judging from the references to the correlated home-gardening made by teachers conducting school-gardening, it would appear that a great many of the boys and girls who receive instruction in school-gardens also carry on gardening at home.

This is as it should be; indeed, there is something wrong with the method of conducting school-gardening if the young gardeners do not show a greater interest in this department of work at their respective homes. It may be stated here, however, that the pupils who are officially enrolled as taking up school-gardening are not also enrolled as taking up home-gardening, although many of them are deeply interested in home-gardening and have accomplished very good work along that line.

Following is a statement giving the number of teachers and pupils officially enrolled as taking home-gardening in 1918 and who did not take school-gardening:—

	Cities.	Rural Municipalities.	Rural and Assisted.	Total.
Number of teachers taking up home-gardening (officially enrolled)	8	11	8	27
Number of pupils of all grades under instruction in home-gardening	149	213	117	479

SCHOOL FAIRS.

Altogether some sixty-eight schools are reported as having taken part in twenty-two school fairs. In twelve cases the exhibits were staged in the school building, where the parents and friends of the pupils were invited to attend; and in the remaining ten cases the school fair was made a department of the regular agricultural fair. A great deal of interest has been manifested by the people in connection with these school fairs. The exhibits usually included samples of garden vegetables, grains, flowers, and seeds from the school and home gardens, poultry, pigs, and other live stock by members of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs, manual-training exhibits by the boys, and domestic-science exhibits by the girls; as well as a more general exhibit of class-room work, such as writing, map-drawing, painting and crayon-work, and nature collections—wild flowers, insects, weeds, native woods, etc. The rivalry is keen amongst schools as well as amongst individuals in the same school, and altogether the results are noticeable in the added interest and the stimulus which these friendly contests have helped to bring about. Best of all, perhaps, the parents and the public generally are getting considerable first-hand knowledge as to the character and scope of the work being done in the schools, and are thus brought more closely into touch with the work of the schools generally.

The following extracts, taken from a few of the teachers' reports, serve to indicate more exactly the method of conducting a school fair:—

Miss Jessie Porter, of the Eburne School, in the Municipality of Point Grey, writes: "We held our fair on September 27th. Mr. R. Robinson, a gentleman who is very much interested in our work, loaned his public hall for the fair; Mr. John Davidson, of the University of British Columbia, judged the best gardens; and Mr. Hornby, who has charge of the Botanical Gardens, judged the exhibits and gave talks to the pupils assembled as to what constituted desirable and undesirable specimens, how quality could be improved in vegetables, and also how best to handle the soil. Pupils from the other grades who were members of the Home Garden Club also exhibited, so that the hall presented quite an attractive appearance. Mr. Hornby had judged at the Vancouver Fair, and said that some of the specimens shown here were superior to any shown in Vancouver, which greatly pleased the parents present, as well as the children. Mr.

Davidson said that the Marpole people showed a better attitude towards the movement than did some city parents, for here the children were given the choice places in the gardens instead of 'any old corner,' as too frequently happened in the city. To encourage the æsthetic side we gave prizes for the best-arranged bouquets, taking into consideration the selection of the flowers that blended and the arrangement of the same. The flowers were piled on two long tables. Each division was taken separately, the boys going to one table and the girls to another. This contest created much interest and gave an opportunity to call attention to the most desirable points in a bouquet."

Mr. W. T. Fennel, Principal of the Herbert Spencer School, New Westminster, who is one of the pioneers in school-gardening in the Province and who has been ably supported by his assistant teachers, so planned his school-garden this year as to obtain the highest possible yield. He describes the school fair, which was held on October 4th, as follows: "In accordance with the plans submitted in March last, the garden was laid out in large plots and longer-maturing crops were planted. The main crops were beans, beets, carrots, and parsnips, but some potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes, and cucumbers were grown as well. A large bed was reserved for observation purposes, and in this some fifteen different products were grown. These included radish, lettuce, kohl-rabi, different varieties of carrot and parsnip, cucumbers, and field turnips. These crops attained good size, were clean and of splendid quality. In addition we had three varieties of potatoes—Early Rose, Bermuda, and Eureka—which we grew for seed. From three potatoes of each kind we grew some 70 lb. altogether, and we are keeping most of these for seed for next year. Last year this school sent to the School Board Office specimens of our crops, and this year the trustees asked for specimens from all the schools. These were displayed in the Board Room and were open to the public. In addition to this exhibit, Spencer School decided to hold a public exhibition of its own, the Library Room being used for the purpose. Some 200 of the parents and their friends attended, as well as all the members of the Trustee Board. The room was decorated with festoons of ivy and maple leaves, bunches of nasturtiums, etc. We had plenty of flowers with which to decorate the tables and were able to make a very good show. Though the time was short, we were able to get together a fairly good exhibit of nature drawings and composition. Next year New Westminster will probably open the usual agricultural exhibition which has been in abeyance during the period of the war. If this is so, there will in all probability be a school section, and invitations will be issued to the various teachers to send exhibits. On the whole, this has been the most successful gardening year we have had."

Miss Margaret Johnston, Principal of the South Wellington School, reports as follows: "Our school fair was held on October 11th. The exhibits consisted of the following varieties of vegetables: Potatoes, tomatoes, lettuce, beets, carrots, beans, and peas. Our warmest thanks are due to Mr. Hopkins, District Instructor in Agriculture at Duncan, who so kindly judged the exhibits and also gave the children a most helpful and encouraging address. Each and every pupil had a specimen of writing shown, together with a collection of drawings and hand-work from each division. The attendance was large, and a number of the fathers of the pupils promised to assist in the preparing of the new school-grounds before the fall rains commenced. These plans unfortunately had to be postponed owing to the severity of the Spanish influenza epidemic."

A newspaper report of this same school fair states that "The Light Infantry Chapter, I.O.D.E., donated $10 in prizes, the trustees made a donation, and the teachers in charge gave prizes for the best home-gardens. Tickets of admission were sold, which, added to the regular monthly contribution to the Prisoners of War Fund, netted a total of $21."

With such a magnificent spirit of co-operation as this prevailing, and under such efficient leadership as Miss Johnston and her assistant teachers are supplying, there can be no doubt as to the advancement of education in this little Vancouver Island mining town.

One of the most popular and without doubt the largest school fair held in the Province was that held in connection with the agricultural fair at Chilliwack, when all of the fifteen schools of the city and municipality were represented. In addition to the regular school-garden and class-room exhibits, which occupied the greater part of the space in the main building, a very fine showing of pigs and poultry was made by the boys and girls belonging to the pig and poultry clubs which were organized in co-operation with the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Altogether seventy boys and girls entered in the pig-raising contest and fifty-four in chicken-raising. Some seventeen of the pig-club competitors also entered at the Vancouver Exhibition, and succeeded in carrying off over $200 in prizes.

Greater production at Chilliwack. One shipment of 90 crates of school-garden tomatoes.

A mangel-growing contest was also carried on with the assistance of the University of British Columbia, and had fifty-two entries. Exclusive of the prizes given by the Department of Agriculture in connection with the pig and poultry clubs, the prize-list at the Chilliwack School Fair amounted to $425, which fact alone goes to show that the School Boards, the Agricultural Associations, and the people generally entered heartily into the schools' department of the exhibition, under the able management of Mr. J. C. Readey, District Supervisor of Agricultural Instruction.

One of the most pleasing features in connection with this school fair was the school-children's parade. About 600 children, under the command of their respective teachers, marched through the main streets of the city and down to the exhibition grounds, where a pleasing and spectacular exhibition of drill and calisthenics was conducted in front of the grandstand.

Twelve public schools in Saanich Municipality carried on a keen contest for first place in school-gardening, and made an excellent showing at the Saanich Agricultural Fair. Here, and also at Chilliwack, the gardens were judged and scored twice during the season, 100 points being allowed as perfect at each scoring. The school fair awards were then considered in connection with the field scores, in awarding the prizes to the winning schools. The success of the Saanich school-gardens during the past year is in large measure due to the untiring energy of Mr. H. E. Hallwright, District Supervisor of Agricultural Instruction, who devoted his entire summer to personal supervision of the gardens. Mr. Hallwright's great devotion to rural-school interests has done much towards winning the support and co-operation of both teachers and parents throughout the district.

In Surrey and Langley Municipalities Mr. E. L. Small, District Supervisor of Agricultural Instruction, has also made very satisfactory progress along this line. He reports as follows: "Local agricultural societies very willingly set aside a generous space for children's school-garden exhibits, each exhibit including nature note-books as well as garden products. While the major part of each exhibit consisted of vegetables, flowers were given a place; and a special feature was the display of six named varieties of the Spencer strain of sweet peas grown by Senior Grade girls. Several schools included canned vegetables in their exhibits, while others specialized in vegetable and seed production. Two school fairs were held, one at Milner, at which nine schools were represented, and the other at Surrey Centre, where twelve schools exhibited. A shield was awarded to the winner at each of these fairs. At the Surrey Fair a children's vegetable-canning contest was held for the purpose of encouraging the children in the preservation of vegetables for winter use. Both boys and girls competed. A home project was also represented in the children's mangel-seed-growing contest. Through the co-operation of the University of British Columbia selected field roots and root seeds were distributed among forty children. The seed grown and five selected roots were shown by each pupil, and the 'Boving silver cup' was awarded to the winner."

Agriculture in High Schools.

No new high schools have been added to those taking up agriculture since my last report. The work already started in nine high schools is making satisfactory progress in spite of the fact that the high schools have suffered a good deal through irregularity of attendance. The following table gives the enrolment in the agricultural classes at each of the nine high schools:—

School.	Instructor.	No. in First-year Agricultural Classes.	No. in Second-year Agricultural Classes.	Total.
Armstrong	J. E. Britton	18	6	24
Chilliwack	J. C. Readey	25	13	38

In view of the fact that we are now entering upon a period of reconstruction following the war, a period of evident social as well as industrial reconstruction, when the only solution of our financial difficulties seems to lie in the developing of our natural resources and in increased production, it is daily becoming more evident that the development of our agricultural lands will have much to do with our future success or failure.

The boys and girls who include agriculture in their public and high school courses of instruction will have not only a greater and a more scientific interest in agriculture, but will also possess a good deal of practical knowledge of the various branches of farming. Some of the boys now in our high-school classes will go directly into farming, and many of the girls will become teachers in our rural schools, where their knowledge of agriculture will be turned to good account in conducting elementary studies in agriculture with their classes. In view of these facts, why should we not have agricultural instruction in nearly all, if not all, of the high schools of the Province? Even in many of the so-called mining districts agriculture is becoming more and more important. If, as now appears to be the case, the men engaged in mining, lumbering, and the various manufacturing and building industries are to adopt the eight-hour working-day, they will certainly have more time and much greater inclination to take up gardening, fruit-growing, and the raising of poultry and other live stock.

We speak, and quite properly so, of the need of vocational education; but would we not do well to give some consideration to what might be termed "avocational" training? A man's avocation is what he engages in after his regular hours of work; what he does when he is his own boss; what he likes to do and what he not infrequently finds to be profitable as well as pleasurable and recreative—it is his hobby. People who regularly engage in indoor or underground occupations should, and usually do, adopt an out-of-door hobby or avocation; and what could be more desirable from every standpoint than the beautifying of a home and its surroundings, the cultivating of garden crops, or the raising of poultry and animals? Any moderately good gardener can realize one cent per minute from his work in gardening during his leisure-time for six months of the year; and a trained and skilful gardener can readily exceed that amount. There can be no doubt but that our courses in agriculture and horticulture for young people in our high schools will prove to be of inestimable value to them in after-life, whatever be the occupation engaged in. Our immediate concern is how to reach a much larger number of these young people. This, of course, means increasing our staff of district instructors, which, in turn, means a larger appropriation for this work.

The following extracts from the reports of the various district supervisors of agricultural instruction will serve to give a fair idea of the advancement that is being made at those centres already established:—

Chilliwack City and Municipality.

(Mr. J. C. Readey, B.S.A., District Supervisor.)

"The year just closing has been the most successful in the history of the work here. Every department of the work has been strengthened. The number of students taking agriculture has steadily increased from year to year, the attendance this year being 38 per cent. over the attendance of last year. Not only has there been an increase in attendance, but there has also been a gratifying increase in the interest on the part of the classes, and a greater esprit de corps is noticeable as the students begin to appreciate the subject. We have had no failures in either the Departmental or Matriculation Examinations since the beginning of the work.

"As time goes on the high-school garden offers better facilities for instruction. Representatives of the tree and bush fruits were planted in 1917 and have grown well. A collection of the better-known ornamental shrubs, roses, and perennial flowers is being added each year. Last spring a small but suitable house was built for the storage of roots and tubers. For next spring storage facilities for the larger implements, stakes, and crates is under contemplation.

"The growth of the crops in the garden was satisfactory and produced an abundance of material for use in the class-room. Seed-selection in corn, mangels, and onions is being carried on. So far the seeds of our own growing have given outstanding results when distributed in the district and have won compliments for our work.

"Extension-work.—The work this year consists of classes in Farm Management and Farm Cost Accounting, held under the auspices of the School Board as a part of the night-school programme. Ten students have enrolled and the work promises well. The course consists of the dissection and posting of day-book entries from actual farm data, and the determination of resources and costs of production per unit as well as cost accounting methods.

"The Public Schools.—The work of the past year in the public schools consisted of class-room instruction, garden supervision and instruction, harvesting, collecting and marketing of the products, organization of pig and chicken clubs, exhibit of pig-club pigs at the Vancouver Exhibition, and the organization of the school fair. (See reference to Chilliwack School Fair, page 56.)

"This year's gardens have been the best in the history of our work. Gardens were better planned and the plans better executed than hitherto. The chief fault lay in imperfect and irregular thinning. Cucumbers were grown as the market crop, and the sales amounted to $85.86 up to school opening. From a small plot consisting of about 100 plants in the Chilliwack City School Garden $52.80 worth of green tomatoes were shipped to the Prairies. The work of gardening has therefore been very satisfactory. We have not yet reached the place, however, where the best use is made of garden material for educational purposes."

Municipalities of Surrey and Langley.

(E. L. Small, B.S.A., District Supervisor.)

"Both high-school gardens (Cloverdale and Murrayville) were entirely experimental. A study of corn was based upon an experimental plot in which were grown four varieties—viz., Quebec No. 28, North-western Dent, North Dakota, and Golden Glow. The stooling habits, character of stover, and ability to mature were compared. Both Quebec No. 28 and North-western Dent produced well-matured corn and a fair amount of excellent stover. Quebec No. 28 reached the firm dough stage at least two weeks before the North-western Dent. The other varieties tested produced a large quantity of rather coarse stover, and the grain lacked maturity.

"Of eight grasses tested, 'tall oat grass' showed the most vigorous growth in the early spring, and produced a heavy aftermath. It would appear that this might well be incorporated where an early pasture mixture is desired.

"Aid to Public Schools.—To aid in the teaching of the prescribed nature-study course in public schools, a topical outline for each class was submitted for trial. Each month prepared circulars or helpful bulletins were distributed and a couple of the best nature-books were added to the reference library."

Armstrong, Enderby, and Spallumcheen.

(J. E. Britton, B.S.A., District Supervisor.)

"During the year 1918 the Armstrong and Enderby High School classes in Agriculture have had their first opportunity with agricultural demonstration plots. At Armstrong First- and Second-year classes took part in this work. Individual plots of one two-hundredth of an acre were staked out and a definite project planned for each plot.

"The district being famous for potatoes, this crop was grown almost exclusively in the plots. Some of the projects were: Testing varieties; testing commercial fertilizers; testing the efficiency of formalin in the control of potato-scab; testing selected seed; testing size of cuttings.

"Class-work included the work with hotbed and cold-frame, the planting of a perennial border, and the growing of a large plot of potatoes. More land has been cleared this fall to make space for larger plots, nursery stock, and a greater variety of crops.

"Enderby High School started agriculture in September, 1917, with about one acre of land ploughed. In 1918 about half of this land was placed under crop, and being in a very rough and hard condition it was no light task. Only the splendid spirit of the class and the industry with which every pupil worked both in the class-room and the field made the demonstration plots possible.

"Individual plots measure one one-hundredth of an acre and included in all the following crops: Potatoes, four varieties; wheat, three varieties; rye and oats, four varieties; mangels, two varieties; barley, five varieties; flax, two varieties; peas, two varieties; corn and beans, three varieties; buckwheat, two varieties.

"For class-work a large plot of potatoes was grown as a hoe crop to help clean the land and prepare it for the next year. When harvested this crop sold for $50.

"During the fall the Second-year class purchased and crate-fattened a number of chickens—one for each member of the class. The feed used was from the school-garden plots, ground by the class in a hand grist-mill. Weights and gains were carefully recorded and tabulated. At the end of the feeding period the chickens were killed by bleeding and braining and dressed and trussed for market, but were taken home to be enjoyed by the pupils.

"A basement-room in the school provides excellent facilities for conducting such work, including plant-propagation and bulb-forcing.

"This year one class potted over 100 bulbs of tulips, hyacinths, and daffodils. These should bloom in March and will brighten the school-rooms and some of the homes.

"The testing of milk and its products receives considerable attention, as there is quite a demand for testing the cows of the district. Samples of milk and cream are often sent to the school to be tested.

"As the work goes on new phases present themselves and new possibilities, so that the course is continually changing, bringing in new features and different methods. There seems to be no limit to the scope of agricultural work.

"Experiments.—Experimental work is conducted as demonstrations or tests. The result of some of these tests prove quite interesting, although with growing crops the average of a number of tests, under different seasonal conditions, are generally more reliable.

"The cereal crops, when harvested, were threshed by hand and the grain cleaned in a small fanning-mill. Unfortunately accurate crop yields could not be obtained, but better facilities another year will make this possible and a feature of the work. Probably the yield of a crop on a small plot is not so valuable as the study of the growing crops and the opportunity to compare varieties, and the later study of them in the class-room. Some of the crops grown had never before been seen by the members of the class. Small sheaves were made at harvest-time and each pupil gathered a small quantity of each kind of seed. Seed will be selected for future work in the school-garden and any surplus taken by the pupils for planting at home.

"The way this work is gradually reaching out from the school into the surrounding district is quite obvious; and as it goes it gains momentum.

"The records of a few experiments are here given:—

"Crate-fattening of Chickens.—Eight cockerels were purchased from a dealer as they were about to be killed and shipped to market. They were taken to the school—fairly well-grown birds of chiefly Plymouth Rock breed.

"The chickens were weighed and dusted with insect-powder before being placed in the fattening-crates. At the end of one week they were weighed and dusted again. At the end of the second week they were weighed and killed. The following table shows the gains made by each chicken:—

No.	Weight.	End of First Week.	End of Second Week.	Gain.
	Lb. oz.	Lb. oz.	Lb. oz.	Lb. oz.
1	3 9	4 13	5 12	2 3
2	4 12	6 0	7 0	2 4
3	4 7	6 5	6 2	1 11
4	5 0	5 7	7 2	2 2
5	7 6	7 8	8 12	1 6
6	5 8	6 1	7 6	1 14
7	4 14	4 14	6 0	1 2
8	4 9	5 9	6 4	1 11

"Total gain in weight for the eight birds was 14 lb. 5 oz., or an average of 1 lb. 12.5 oz.

"The feed used was 36 lb. of meal, consisting of 20 lb. oat-chop (sifted), 10 lb. barley-chop, and 10 lb. corn-meal. They were fed twice a day, before school and after; each feed weighed and mixed with sour buttermilk.

Cost of feed $1 85

Value of gain at 32 cents per lb. 4 58

"The quality of the meat was much improved, and chickens properly finished in this way usually command a higher price.

"Testing Seed-potatoes with Formalin to prevent Scab.—Scabby potatoes are increasing in this district at an alarming rate. Two plots of new land were devoted to this experiment. Seed-potatoes used showed a very small amount of scab. For one plot the seed was treated before cutting by immersing for two hours in a solution of 1 oz. of formalin to every 2 gallons of water. The seed untreated was planted in the check-plot. At harvest the treated plot was absolutely free from scab, while the untreated plot showed 62 per cent. scabby potatoes. An object-lesson in prevention of plant-diseases.

"Variety Test, Potatoes.—Ten varieties were planted, using the same amount of seed for each. Yield and quality were the two considerations. The following table shows results when calculated on the acre basis:—

Variety.	Yield per Acre.	Quality.
	Tons.
Million Dollar	18.5	Fair.
Money Maker	23.5	Coarse, rough.
Empire State	14.3	Very good.
Drought Proof	17.4	Good.
Early Surprise	21.7	Good.
Dalmeny Beauty	22.6	Good.
Table Talk	16.6	Very good.
Royal Russet	17.4	Very good.
Early Northern	23.0	Fair.
Early Triumph	5.4	Small, red, deep-eyed.

"Seed has been selected from the best of these to be tested another year on larger plots, and from there the best seed will be selected for distribution among the pupils.

"The following is the cash returns for surplus produce sold from the school-gardens of Enderby and Armstrong:—

Enderby High School	$49 25

"The past year has placed the work on a good footing for a start, and I believe we have met with considerable success; but we can only say that we are beginning, because a very wide field is as yet unbroken. The district needs agriculture; the school-children are ready to grasp the idea and get new views of school and life; there are no local hindrances. It only remains for us to present the work and the subject in the very best way possible."

Vernon and Kelowna.

(W. J. Austin, B.S.A., District Supervisor.)

"One of the most interesting parts of our experimental work for the year was a variety test of potatoes which was carried on by the Vernon Agricultural class. Ten varieties of seed-potatoes were supplied by the Summerland Experimental Station. Three pounds of each variety were planted. The rows were 30 inches apart and 33 feet long. Each variety cut to about twenty-six pieces. All varieties treated as uniformly as possible.

Duncan and North Cowichan.

(S. H. Hopkins, B.S.A., District Supervisor.)

In addition to his regular class-room work in connection with the high and public schools, Mr. Hopkins has been able to give a good deal of attention to outside extension-work in the district. During the year he gave addresses at about a dozen farmers' meetings on various topics of interest to them. Last winter Mr. Hopkins conducted an evening course, running through December and January, at Duncan and also at Somenos Station. Following is the programme as carried out at each of these places:—

Duncan.	Subject.	Somenos Station.
Monday, Dec. 10th...	Soils and their Improvement... / Liming and Fertilizing...	Thursday, Dec. 13th.
Saturday, Dec. 15th..	Dairy Fodders and Feeds... / Live Stock and Fertility...
Monday, Dec. 17th...	Field Crops, Rotation, Corn, Roots, etc...	Tuesday, Dec. 18th.
Saturday, Dec. 22nd..	Poultry, Selection, Feeds for Poultry...
Monday, Dec. 31st...	Weeds and Weed-seeds: How to know and control them...	Tuesday, Jan. 1st.
Saturday, Jan. 5th...	Other Field Crops, Potatoes, etc...	Tuesday, Jan. 8th.
Monday, Jan. 7th....	Garden Crops...	Tuesday, Jan. 22nd.
Saturday, Jan. 12th..	Insect Pests of Field and Garden...
Monday, Jan. 14th...	Small Fruits...	Tuesday, Jan. 22nd.
Saturday, Jan. 19th..	Diseases of Crops...
Monday, Jan. 21st...	Swine and Sheep-raising...	Tuesday, Jan. 29th.
Saturday, Jan. 26th..	Some Common Diseases of Cattle and Hogs...

During the present winter, if the influenza epidemic does not prevent, Mr. Hopkins purposes giving a similar course with more practical work in the way of stock-judging, drainage-work, pruning, etc.

Arrangements have just been made with the Department of Agriculture whereby Mr. Hopkins will devote a part of his time to district representative work amongst the farmers of North Cowichan. In this connection the Department of Agriculture will equip and maintain a district agricultural office at Duncan for Mr. Hopkins's use, and as a convenient meeting-place for the farmers of the municipality who may wish to consult with Mr. Hopkins with reference to agricultural matters. A tentative arrangement has been entered into whereby Mr. Hopkins's travelling expenses will be met conjointly by the School Board and the Municipal Council of North Cowichan.

Victoria City and South Saanich.

(H. E. Hallwright, B.S.A., District Supervisor.)

"A special feature of the work in all school-gardens was the emphasis laid on seed production. Some schools—Keating in particular—did excellent work in this branch of intensive agriculture. The results obtained with Golden Bantam corn and cantaloupe were striking and very satisfactory. For the coming season we are planning to concentrate on one or two lines of experimental work with each of the high-school classes. The determination of the best dates for sowing and planting for the Victoria District will occupy part of our time. This in connection with seed-production tests will involve a progression of sowing and planting at regular intervals, and will show: (a) Time of blooming, dissemination of pollen, and maturing of stigmas in relation to date of sowing; (b) safe and rational dates of sowing and planting for both summer and winter gardens in relation to occurrence of frost and other climatic changes.

"During the coming season we also plan to demonstrate the use of explosives for purposes of subsoiling."

The most difficult and probably the least satisfactory part of the work of the district supervisors is the supervision of public-school work in elementary agriculture. Although these public schools are in the best districts in the Province, very few of the teachers have had any definite preparation for the giving of instruction along agricultural lines; and no effort seems to have been made by the School Boards to secure teachers having such qualifications. Added to this there is the great disadvantage which arises out of the frequent change of teachers in these schools. Untrained and inexperienced teachers come into these schools; at the end of the year, through the help of the district supervisors, many of them have made a very good start in rural-science teaching, but presently they leave for more lucrative positions in the cities or elsewhere and the vacancies are once more filled with beginners. After three years, for instance, out of the twenty-six teachers employed in the Municipality of Chilliwack only three of the old staff remain; out of nine in North Cowichan one remains; out of twenty-one in Langley one remains; out of twenty-four in Surrey two remain; out of eight in Spallumcheen, all have changed; and out of forty-six in Saanich four remain. That is to say, in six of our finest rural municipalities, employing altogether 134 teachers, only eleven of those employed three years ago are now teaching in these municipalities; in other words, 93 per cent. of the teachers changed inside of three years.

It is impossible to secure the best results in the teaching of agriculture, or any other subject, as long as such a condition of continuous change of teachers obtains. There are, of course, numerous causes for these very frequent changes amongst the teachers in our rural districts. The teachers themselves may sometimes be to blame, and no doubt School Boards could and should make a greater effort to retain their teachers for a longer period; but is it not time to consider whether our present organization of rural schools is adequate to meet the needs of the rural districts of to-day—needs which change with the passing of time? The social and industrial phases of rural life must be considered as well as the educational; or what is perhaps a better way of stating it, modern rural education must take thought for the social and industrial welfare of the people, as well as for their moral and intellectual improvement. Can it do this effectively as rural schools are now organized? Other Provinces and other countries are asking the same question.

CONSOLIDATION OF RURAL SCHOOLS.

The formation of rural municipalities in British Columbia, each with its School Board of five members, was undoubtedly a step in advance from the standpoint of business organization and economy of administration, and really did much to prepare the way for the unifying of educational efforts within the municipalities. But the consummation of the scheme and the greatest single factor making for efficient rural education has as yet remained unaccomplished. I refer to the consolidation of rural schools. The most we can say is that the tendency is in that direction. Within the last year or two a few Municipal School Boards have declared themselves in favour of the consolidation of rural schools, and public opinion seems to point more and more strongly in that direction. The ungraded rural school has fully demonstrated its usefulness under pioneer conditions, but it has had its best day in many parts of this Province and must of necessity give place to something better. As a prominent American writer on rural education puts it, "The farmers of to-day are entitled to a better education; justice to their children dictates it, and the welfare of the nation demands it."

It must be borne in mind that the consolidated rural school is not at its best unless its environment and, most of all, its purpose and its atmosphere are distinctly rural. A city school filled up with boys and girls from the surrounding country who may have been brought there daily in school-vans is not a rural consolidated school. Mr. Julius Arp, Superintendent of Schools for Jackson County, Minnesota, in his admirable book, "Rural Education and the Consolidated School," touches on a vital point in the following sentences:—

"Rural life centres about the country home and in the one great rural industry, agriculture. Therefore the farmer's big vital problem is how to make his country home the happiest and best place possible to dwell in while engaged in his life-work, and how to make agriculture profitable, enjoyable, and capable of supporting the right kind of a home. That for this reason agriculture is the logical subject around which to build the rural school curriculum is self-evident. To begin with, a strong course of nature-study should run through the grades and blend into the formal, intensive, and scientific study of agriculture in the eighth grade and the rural high school."

It is scarcely possible to carry out such an excellent scheme of rural education as this in the ungraded rural school, but it is easily possible in the consolidated rural school—such a school as Mr. Arp so well describes in the following sentences:—

"A rural consolidated school means a school whose teachers are rurally minded and in full sympathy and harmony with farm life and farm problems, but no less refined and cultured than city teachers; it means that the work of the school must be comprehensive and thorough and capable of awakening in the pupils a feeling of respect and love for school, home, and community; it means a bigger school in the sense of a larger enrolment and serving a larger territory than the old one-room school served; it means the employment of enough teachers to secure proper division of labour, giving ample time for instruction and recitation in every class and affording suitable grading and classification for all pupils; and, finally, it means provision for industrial and agricultural training, and high school as well as elementary school privileges for all country boys and girls."

Just as soon as the importance of rural education for rural people is appreciated we will have a reorganization of our rural schools. The present type of ungraded rural school will disappear, and in its place will arise a better type of school—one in which the health and comfort of the children is well provided for, where a larger number of children can be properly graded and taught by highly trained and well-paid teachers who may perchance become even as Goldsmith's village preacher, "who ne'er had changed nor wished to change his place." Nothing can be surer than that with the reconstructed rural school, with its natural, ideal, rural environment, will come permanency and efficiency amongst rural teachers. Men of ability and culture, as well as women, will gladly prepare themselves for the new service of the country school. To a broad academic and professional training will be added that special scientific and agricultural training that will fit these men and women to better understand the fundamental principles underlying the so-called rural problem, and will make them competent instructors of rural children in the class-room, as well as enthusiastic and devoted leaders in the community.

In Canada the Province of Manitoba has made most progress in the reorganization and consolidation of its rural schools. They have had about fourteen years of experience and are enthusiastically going forward. The following statement from the 1917 report of the Province of Manitoba on Consolidation of Schools shows how firmly the principle of consolidation has become established in that Province: "Consolidation is now past the experimental stage, and we are able to estimate results from experience obtained under our own conditions. Wherever consolidation has been adopted it has come to stay. The resultant benefits are shown by an increase in the enrolment, an increase in average attendance, an increase in the number of days' schooling that each child obtained, an increase in the length of time that each child stays in school, and the attainment of a higher grade. These results have been obtained in every case."

The question should not be approached from the standpoint of money-saving. The Manitoba report states that on the average the new system costs considerably more than did the old. On the other hand, if the old system is not measuring up to the present-day needs of rural life and education, it should be abandoned as being "dear at any price." We cannot longer afford to sacrifice the very pride and strength of our Canadian democracy—our rural manhood—for the supposed saving of a few paltry dollars, and it is high time we recognized the fact. Our Canadian citizens are now in the making, and on the provision which we now make in our schools for their educational and industrial welfare depends in large measure the future prosperity of our Province and the integrity of its inhabitants.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

REPORT OF THE ORGANIZER.

VICTORIA, B.C., October, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—I beg to submit the following report on manual training, domestic science, night-schools, and technical education generally for the year 1917-18:—

MANUAL TRAINING AND DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

The educational value of manual training and domestic science is gradually becoming better understood by the public, and there is now little necessity to justify the addition of these subjects to the school curriculum. In almost every city where a centre is not already established the school trustees have such a step under consideration. School consolidation, however, seems to be the only solution of the problem for giving the advantages of such courses (conducted by specially trained teachers) to the children residing in many district and rural municipalities. Where this is impracticable the school trustees will be compelled to rely on the services of grade teachers with the necessary training.

It is to be regretted that a Federal grant is not at the disposal of the Education Department, so that it would be possible to pay a bonus to rural-school teachers who have equipped themselves for teaching manual training and domestic science in addition to the ordinary class subjects. That such a grant will ultimately be given cannot be doubted; therefore rural-school teachers who have vision to grasp the future needs of their pupils will do well to take any opportunity offered at summer schools to become qualified to teach the subjects referred to. In view of the above the introduction of a Domestic Science Course into the Vancouver Normal School is respectfully suggested.

Classes in Manual Training and Domestic Science were conducted in the following twelve cities: Armstrong, Chilliwack, Cranbrook, Kelowna, Nanaimo, New Westminster, Nelson, Prince Rupert, Vancouver, North Vancouver, Vernon, and Victoria. Similar classes were held in the Municipalities of Burnaby, Chilliwack, Delta, Esquimalt, Maple Ridge, Mission, Oak Bay, Penticton, Point Grey, Richmond, Saanich, and South Vancouver.

The statistics for 1917-18 may be of interest and are here inserted:—

64 manual-training centres.
46 instructors of manual training.
6,255 pupils from elementary schools receiving instruction.
964 pupils from high schools.
45 domestic-science centres.
38 instructors of domestic science.
4,986 pupils from elementary schools receiving instruction.
1,263 pupils from high schools.

MANUAL TRAINING.

The members of the Manual Training Teachers' Association of British Columbia have agreed upon a syllabus of fundamental operations which must be mastered by their pupils, and at the same time they wisely recommend freedom of action for each instructor in order that a course of exercises may be arranged to suit the needs of particular districts. While there is now no reason for uniformity in the schemes of work, yet the new conditions demand increased initiative in planning suitable exercises with a plentiful supply of alternative problems. It would appear at present that the schemes of work are frequently lacking in that repetition which is so desirable for success. Dawdling at the work-bench is too noticeable in some centres, and everything possible should be done to prevent the pupils from toying with the file, sandpaper, and scraper. Sharp tools, clean-cut work, and businesslike methods are ideals that should be set before all classes.

The drawings for the Three-year Course should be kept by each pupil in a folder, and all mistake-sheets should be carefully filled in, for it must be distinctly understood that writing as well as lettering are forms of manual training.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

During the year Domestic Science Courses have been successfully taught in most of the centres in the Province. Not only has increased attention been paid to knitting and sewing, but at the same time instruction in cooking from war recipes has been receiving well-deserved attention.

Many of the instructors took an active part in the Dominion campaign for the conservation of food and did admirable public service in that direction. In consequence of this display of public spirit the position of the domestic-science teacher in the community has now taken on a new importance. And, indeed, the lessons given by these instructors in the elementary schools cannot well be overestimated. The subject has been described in such fitting and appropriate language by Sir Henry Thompson in his well-known book on "Food and Feeding" that I cannot refrain from quoting his words:—

"I think I shall not be far wrong if I say that there are few subjects which deserve more careful study by man than the selection and preparation of his food. Our forefathers in their wisdom have provided by ample and generously endowed organizations for the dissemination of moral precepts in relation to human conduct, and for the constant supply of sustenance to meet the cravings of religious emotions common to all sorts and conditions of men. In these provisions no student of human nature can fail to recognize the spirit of wisdom and lofty purpose. But it is not a sign of ancestral wisdom that so little thought has been bestowed on the teaching of what we should eat and drink; or on the relations necessarily existing not only between food and a healthy population, but between food and a virtuous life."

In conducting Domestic Science classes all instructors should have a well-considered course mapped out covering the three years' work which they intend to overtake. While it is not to be expected that such a plan would be followed in its entirety, yet the fact of its being in the mind of the teacher will be a strong factor in enabling her to marshal a course of lessons pedagogically sound. It would also add much to the general effectiveness of the teaching if pupils' note-books were regularly and carefully examined in order that mistakes in spelling and grammar may be corrected.

NIGHT-SCHOOLS.

The night-schools throughout the Province were kept active during the winter of 1917-18 by the enthusiasm of a few school trustees and teachers. It is not yet generally realized, however, that the success of an enterprise of this kind depends upon careful organization and vigorous advertising. Much assistance could be given to school trustees if the Education Department would issue a bulletin wherein full and explicit directions for the necessary propaganda could be found.

During 1917-18 night-schools were held in the following places:—

Burnaby	51	students, with	1	course of study.
Coal Creek	15	„	1	„
Cumberland	14	„	1	„
Deadwood	10	„	1	„
Fernie	33	„	1	„
Kelowna	31	„	3	„
Ladysmith	96	„	6	„
Nanaimo	172	„	5	„
Nelson	84	„	4	„
New Westminster	202	„	11	„
Saanich	24	„	2	„
Trail	30	„	2	„
Union Bay	15	„	1	„
Vancouver	1,231	„	27	„
South Vancouver	300	„	5	„
Victoria	556	„	24	„

Among the subjects on the night-school syllabus those of the continuation school appealed to a great many young men and women. It is very gratifying each year to find an increasing number of boys and girls fresh from the day-schools attending these night-classes. The attendance, however, could be still further augmented if the attention of the youth of both sexes were drawn to the value of such study by the combined effort of the principals of day-schools and the directors of night-schools.

Commercial subjects, such as business English, book-keeping, typewriting, shorthand, French, Spanish, and Russian, attracted a great number of students, and, indeed, it is hard to conceive a more desirable course of study for a people living in a maritime Province which is fast developing warehouse and shipping facilities.

Engineering courses—steam, gasolene, and electrical—received due attention and support in the Cities of Victoria, Vancouver, and New Westminster.

The Victoria School Board is to be commended for providing effective equipment for giving instruction on the gasolene-engine and electric ignition. Naval architecture and laying-off is a subject which has drawn a large class of men together in Vancouver. It is to be hoped that many similar classes will be established next year, as it is only at such centres that men can hope to learn the intricacies and difficulties of ship designing and draughting.

Classes in the coal-mining districts of Nanaimo, Ladysmith, Cumberland, and Fernie were organized to assist miners to obtain their British Columbia papers as shotlighters, overmen, and mine managers. As in former years, the attendance was much interrupted by the three-shift system under which the miners work. The instructors also seldom remain very long in one locality, the reason being that they are selected for their sound knowledge and experience; their promotion therefore is usually rapid. In consequence of these adverse conditions I was led to confer with both Mine Inspectors and workmen in order to discover ways and means of overcoming the difficulties just mentioned. As a result, it would seem advisable to give instruction to the working miner through the aid of Correspondence Courses, and study could then be carried on at a time most convenient to the student. Such Correspondence classes are proving very effective in the Province of Alberta, and there is no reason to believe that success would not attend similar efforts in British Columbia.

In Vancouver preparatory classes in vocal and instrumental music were fairly successful. These led to a choral society and an orchestra respectively, both of which presented ambitious programmes to the public during the year.

Classes in Drawing, Painting, and Design also met both in Victoria and Vancouver. These subjects, inculcating as they do the appreciation of beauty both of form and colour, lie at the foundation of successful industrial production. That beauty has a real economic value is recognized by manufacturers, for the designer is usually one of the highest-paid men in the factory. One of the most effective ways of teaching form and proportion is recognized to be by the means of modelling, and it is to be regretted that the class which was so enthusiastically working in Vancouver at this subject has been unfortunately frozen out of existence in an effort to be economical and saving.

The domestic subjects of cookery, dressmaking, and millinery appeal to two distinct classes of night-school students—those who seek the knowledge for home use only and those who desire to engage in the work as a trade. There are classes suitable for both types of students in charge of instructors well qualified for the tasks allotted to them.

As I have previously stated, school trustees might with great advantage take active steps to popularize night-schools. A yearly propaganda might well be undertaken in order to direct the attention of citizens to the opportunities provided for their benefit. After all is said and done, the procedure for persuading people to attend a voluntary school course is exactly the same as that employed by the merchant who, after stocking his store with merchandise, proceeds to advertise in order that the public may know what excellent goods can be purchased at his particular place of business.

High School Technical Course.

The High School Course of Study arranged specifically for boys and girls intending to enter industrial life was begun in a humble and unpretentious way in King Edward High School, Vancouver, during 1916-17. That this desirable course met with public favour and approval may be surmised from the fact that the number of students more than doubled during the following year. Owing, however, to the lack of adequate workshop facilities at the High School, the manipulative side of the course for boys had insufficient scope, while in the Household Science Course for girls the want of a laboratory compelled the instructor to substitute class demonstrations for the more effective individual experimental work.

That there is prospect of great development from this technical course cannot be denied, since the fundamentals of English, practical mathematics, science, and draughting forms the basis of an education which, when considered either from an academic or a vocational standpoint, is well fitted to prepare a boy or girl for life both as a citizen and as a worker.

If additional subjects should be undertaken with a view to secure matriculation standing, then the lengthening of the course from three to four years should be seriously considered. Reference might also here be made to the educational value of the Household Science Course provided at the King Edward High School. Students will find it an excellent preparation for entrance to the Provincial Normal School, as the subjects upon which attention is focused are those so essential to the school-teacher—namely, English, arithmetic, science, cookery, sewing, drawing, and music.

TECHNICAL SCHOOL.

Although the work undertaken by the pupils who attend the High School Technical Courses forms the basis for vocational work, it is to be regretted that there is not yet a technical school into which the students can graduate. Such an institution would not only seem to be necessary for day-school students, but would also be of vast importance to those who attend advanced night-school classes. The technical equipment could thus be in operation both by day and night.

In a well-appointed technical school the course deals with three distinct phases of training: (a) The manipulative side, which consists mainly of a training in handling materials and tools; (b) the scientific side, which consists in the study of principles underlying the practical operations carried out; and (c) the academic and economic side, which is concerned with the manufacturing, transportation, and marketing of goods, the study of the regulation of industry in the interests of the general well-being, and the appreciation of the vast inheritance of literature, art, and science which has been handed down through the ages. Who can doubt that such schools would be a great boon to British Columbia?

JUNIOR TECHNICAL CLASSES.

Attention was called in last year's report to a leakage of pupils from the grades leading to the High School Entrance classes in the elementary schools. Investigation shows that a considerable number of boys and girls are leaving school when they reach the age of fourteen, notwithstanding the fact that they have not even succeeded in reaching the Senior Fourth Reader class. Experience has proved that a great proportion of such pupils would continue at school if a change of study were provided. Therefore the establishment of a junior technical or prevocational school, or even of junior technical courses in the elementary schools, would meet an apparent need in the community.

This type of school is worthy of the consideration of school trustees, as the appealing nature of the training provided has a strong influence in impressing boys and girls with the importance of making a thorough preparation for that vocation which will engage their mature years.

FREE TEXT-BOOK BRANCH.

ANNUAL REPORT.

Education Department, Free Text-book Branch,
Victoria, B.C., November, 1918.

Alexander Robinson, Esq.,
Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B.C.

Sir,—I beg to submit the following report on the work of the Free Text-book Branch of the Education Department for the school-year ending June 30th, 1918:—

Returns for 1917-18.

All the annual reports of free text-books for 1917-18, with very few exceptions, are now on file. Included in the latter are those of two schools which were not reopened in August, 1917 (although supplied with books), and that of one which was closed during the year. It is probable that the remainder of these returns will be secured during the present term. The reports on file (881 in number) were prepared in most instances with considerable care, and are quite equal to the standard of those submitted for 1916-17. Free text-book records frequently suffer when a change of teacher occurs in any school. Complaints are to be met with in the returns now under review that teachers leave these records (Stock Account and Pupils' Account) in such an unfinished condition that their successors have difficulty in determining how many books have been received, to whom they have been issued, and when.

Under this head, the attention of teachers and particularly of principals is again directed to the matter of library books issued to their schools, such as: Syllabus of Physical Exercises; Canadian Civics; Teaching Writing, Books 1-4; World Relations and the Continents; Children's Story of the War; Supplementary Readers (free text-books); Essentials of Health (retained for the library in common and graded schools); The Rhodes Scholarships; Flora of Southern British Columbia; and Teacher's Handbook to Beginner's Reader. A complete return of all such books issued to any school is required to be made in annual report. In some instances this was not done, no account having been taken of the library books in the hands of assistant teachers. At the close of the school-year all books of this kind issued at any time by the principal to his assistants should be brought back by them to the library, so that a complete return of library books may be made in annual report.

In addition to the number of books given to pupils during the year and duly recorded in Pupils' Account of Teacher's Record as per "giving" plan in operation since 1912, the annual returns state the number sold to the pupils at night-schools or to those pupils who are required to replace lost or destroyed texts, the number missing from the general stock or destroyed for any valid reason, as well as how many of the books in reserve stock are in good condition and fit to be issued this year. The following summaries of (1) "Books Given," (2) "Books Sold to Pupils," (3) "Books Missing or Destroyed," and (4) "Reserve Stock in Good Condition" have been compiled from the 881 annual reports for 1917-18 now on file:—

(1.) Books Given.—17,683 Primer (B.C. Beginner's Reader as First Primer and B.C. Phonic Primer as Second Primer); 36,600 Reader (B.C. First Reader, B.C. Second Reader, B.C. Third Reader, B.C. Fourth Reader, N.C. Third Reader, N.C. Fourth Reader, N.C. Fifth Reader); 19,822 Arithmetic (First, Second, Third); 9,912 Spelling Book; 34 Essentials of Health; 6,061 How to be Healthy; 6,049 Elementary Agriculture and Nature Study; 1,939 Latin Lessons; 8,342 First Steps in English; 6,134 History of Canada; 6,046 Public School Grammar; 102 Canadian Civics; 333 World Relations and the Continents; 102 Heart of Oak Books, Book One; 102 Art-Literature, a Primer; 107 Art-Literature, Book One; 102 Art-Literature, Book Two; 102 Progressive Road to Reading, Book 3A; 324 Teacher's Handbook to Beginner's Reader; 101 Teaching Writing, Books 1-4; 100 Syllabus of Physical Exercises.

Note.—Canadian Civics, World Relations, Supplementary Readers (Heart of Oak Books, etc.), Handbook to Beginner's Reader, Teaching Writing, and Syllabus of Physical Exercises were given to Normal School students.

(2.) Books Sold to Pupils.—33 B.C. Beginner's Reader; 26 B.C. Phonic Primer; 6 B.C. First Reader; 31 B.C. Second Reader; 80 B.C. Third Reader; 8 B.C. Fourth Reader; 5 N.C.

Fourth Reader; 18 N.C. Fifth Reader; 4 First Arithmetic; 8 Second Arithmetic; 114 Third Arithmetic; 41 Universal Spelling Book; 1 Essentials of Health; 1 How to be Healthy; 1 Elementary Agriculture and Nature Study; 3 Latin Lessons; 2 Public School Grammar; 2 First Steps in English; 4 Canadian History; 65 Drawing Book; 7 Writing Book; 12 Black Diamond Reader; 3 Heart of Oak Book; 3 Children's Story of the War.

NOTE.—The sums received on account of sale of these books are partly included in first amount mentioned later on in this report under the head of "Supplies Issued"—viz., $1,945.58. All sums from this source on account of 1917-18 received after July 1st, 1918, will appear in report for current school-year.

(3.) Books Destroyed.—27 B.C. Beginner's Reader; 102 B.C. Phonic Primer; 19 B.C. First Reader; 41 B.C. Second Reader; 33 B.C. Third Reader; 21 B.C. Fourth Reader; 7 N.C. Third Reader; 37 N.C. Fourth Reader; 40 N.C. Fifth Reader; 38 First Arithmetic; 24 Second Arithmetic; 28 Third Arithmetic; 22 Universal Spelling Book; 46 Essentials of Health; 12 How to be Healthy; 5 Elementary Agriculture and Nature Study; 31 Latin Lessons; 2 First Steps in English; 15 Canadian History; 4 Public School Grammar; 10 Canadian Civics; 16 World Relations and the Continents; 6 Physical Exercises; 1 Flora of Southern British Columbia; 9 Teaching Writing, Books 1-4; 62 Heart of Oak Book, Book One; 106 Art-Literature, a Primer; 83 Art-Literature, Book One; 72 Art-Literature, Book Two; 79 Progressive Road to Reading, Book 3A; 1 Black Diamond Reader; 4 Teacher's Handbook to Beginner's Reader.

(4.) Reserve Stock in Good Condition.—5,228 Primer (B.C. Beginner's Reader and B.C. Phonic Primer); 6,811 Reader (B.C. First Reader, B.C. Second Reader, B.C. Third Reader, B.C. Fourth Reader, N.C. Third Reader, N.C. Fourth Reader, and N.C. Fifth Reader); 6,241 Arithmetic (First, Second, Third); 2,155 Universal Spelling Book; 1,582 How to be Healthy; 1,632 Elementary Agriculture and Nature Study; 532 Latin Lessons; 1,834 First Steps in English; 1,422 Canadian History; 1,701 Public School Grammar.

The reserve stock of bound books for the use of pupils at the various public schools of the Province on June 30th, 1918, summarized under (4) has already been utilized in supplying these schools for the present term (1918-19). The printed form of requisition for free text-books which is required to be used on all occasions (for reasons set forth in Circular of Instructions for preparing free text-book orders) contains a column for the respective numbers of all books in reserve as well as for the respective numbers ordered. There is a third column in requisition form for the respective numbers of promotions to the various classes—an important return which is only too liable to be overlooked for some unaccountable reason by the makers of requisitions, whose attention is specially directed to the following instructions in latest circular:—

"All entries in order column must, therefore, be supported by corresponding promotions or by an explanation; otherwise the items thus unsupported will be disregarded.

"The number of promotions to be made, or the number of pupils to be provided for, together with the complete list of books in reserve, should in every instance be stated in all requisitions presented at the Free Text-book Branch."

All the information called for by the printed form of requisition is required to be given. Notwithstanding the full instructions supplied, it was necessary to return for completion or explanation some 235 of the 2,007 public-school requisitions presented during 1917-18. This number represents a little over 11 per cent. of the total number of public-school requisitions dealt with during 1917-18, and it is not as good a record as that made in 1916-17. Much annoyance as well as unnecessary delay can always be avoided by a little care on the part of the framers of requisitions for free text-books.

SUPPLIES ISSUED.

The number of public schools (common, graded, superior, high, etc.) furnished with supplies of some kind during 1917-18 was 890, or 26 more than in 1916-17. The list is as follows: 2 Provincial Normal Schools (Vancouver and Victoria), Model School (attached to Provincial Normal School, Victoria), Boys' Provincial Industrial School (Vancouver), Girls' Provincial Industrial School (Vancouver), Prisoners of War (Morrissey), 524 rural schools, 198 district municipality schools, 96 city schools, 42 high schools, 17 superior schools, and 7 night-schools. Requisitions to the number of 2,007 were required to be filled in order to meet the needs of these schools. This called for the shipment to all parts of the Province of 1,053 cases and 1,517 parcels, the total weight of which was 172,449 lb. During the year's transactions only one package of books was lost in transit, but it is satisfactory to be able to report that its value ($11.40) was promptly refunded by the transportation company concerned. Duly signed receipts for all these shipments (2,007) are with one exception now on file at the Free Text-book Branch. Before this number came to hand duly signed, 324 requests for the return of receipts had been addressed to the Secretaries of School Boards, 145 copies of receipts supplied, and 21 receipts returned to Secretaries for signature. Frequent reference has been made to like experiences in previous years. The period under review has shown but little change in the matter of business promptitude on the part of school officials. With the hope of securing some improvement in this regard, the Free Text-book Branch has adopted the plan of supplying an addressed envelope with each advice of shipment. It may not be out of place at this point to remind all concerned of the regulation that all required receipts and reports for the term or the school-year must be on file at the Free Text-book Branch before additional supplies will be issued to any school. In order to obviate unnecessary delay in filling orders later on, as well as to be assured of the safe arrival of supplies, the Free Text-book Branch has found it necessary at some inconvenience and expense to continue to remind Secretaries of their duty in regard to the acknowledgment of shipments of free text-books. These reminders are mailed from time to time as the necessity of the case requires.

In addition to the 2,007 requisitions which were filled in order to meet the needs of the public schools in 1917-18, the Free Text-book Branch honoured 343 requisitions for departmental purposes and for those who required to purchase school supplies. These orders added 22 cases and 356 parcels (weighing in all some 4,038 lb.) to the list of shipments for the year. The sum of $1,945.58 was received under this head and paid into the Provincial Treasury. It may be explained that the amount just named includes in part sums received for "Books Sold to Pupils" during 1917-18. Refunds on account of overcharges for transportation (70 cents) and of loss of package already referred to ($11.40) are also included in this amount ($1,945.58).

The total number of free text-books, etc., issued during 1917-18 to the public schools of the Province was as follows: 9,437 B.C. Beginner's Reader; 351 Teacher's Handbook to Beginner's Reader; 7,464 B.C. Phonic Primer; 8,153 B.C. First Reader; 9,013 B.C. Second Reader; 10,541 B.C. Third Reader; 170 N.C. Third Reader; 6,468 B.C. Fourth Reader; 19 N.C. Fourth Reader; 2,449 N.C. Fifth Reader; 47 Black Diamond Readers; 8,411 First Arithmetic; 7,373 Second Arithmetic; 4,404 Third Arithmetic; 14,865 New Method Writing Pad No. 1; 8,852 New Method Writing Pad No. 2; 70,786 Writing Book; 51,490 Drawing Book; 1,624 Supplementary Reader (Heart of Oak Books, Book One; Art-Literature Reader, a Primer; Art-Literature Reader, Book One; Art-Literature Reader, Book Two; Progressive Road to Reading, Book 3A); 10,392 Universal Spelling Book; 142 Essentials of Health; 5,964 How to be Healthy; 5,907 Elementary Agriculture and Nature Study; 1,974 Latin Lessons; 8,388 First Steps in English; 169 Canadian Civics; 235 Syllabus of Physical Exercises; 437 World Relations and the Continents; 6,035 History of Canada; 177 Teaching Writing, Books 1-4; 6,052 Public School Grammar; 2 Girls' Home Manual; 4 Rhodes Scholarships; 40 Flora of Southern British Columbia; 352,690 Drawing Paper; 104 Union Jack; 24 Children's Story of the War, Nos. 1-6; 24 Children's Story of the War, Nos. 7-9; 24 Children's Story of the War, Nos. 10-12; 25 Children's Story of the War, Nos. 13-15; 25 Children's Story of the War, Nos. 16-18; 211 Children's Story of the War, Nos. 19-21; 218 Children's Story of the War, Nos. 22-24; 1,445 Children's Story of the War, Nos. 25-27; 1,181 Children's Story of the War, Nos. 28-30; 29 "Scrap of Paper"; 1,739 "Fathers of Confederation"; 31 Globe; 33 Map of British Isles; 33 Map of Dominion of Canada; 30 Map of World; 36 Map of North America; 32 Map of British Columbia.

At the prevailing retail prices the books and other supplies issued by the Free Text-book Branch to the 890 common and other schools already mentioned would have cost the large sum of $80,575.68.

EXPENDITURE.

The total expenditure of the Free Text-book Branch for 1917-18 was made up as follows:—

Text-books, etc.	$49,600 86
Freight and drayage	3,060 73
Distribution (freight, boxes, cartage, etc.)	2,338 41
Salaries of staff	4,798 55
Temporary assistance	686 59
	$60,485 14

As already stated, the Free Text-book Branch distributed during the past school-year text-books and other supplies which would have cost parents and School Boards $80,575.68. To purchase and distribute these among the various schools of the Province through the Free Text-book Branch required an expenditure of $59,582.02, made up as follows:—

Text-books, etc. (laid-down cost)	$51,758 47
Distribution (freight, boxes, etc.)	2,338 41
Salaries of staff	4,798 55
Temporary assistance	686 59
	$59,582 02

The profit on the year's transactions is, therefore, $20,973.66. It may be explained, however, that the outlay for postage on parcels of free text-books to various points is not included in "Distribution," for were this the case the profit for the year would be slightly reduced.

FREE TEXT-BOOKS IN USE.

The practice of addressing a printed inquiry to teachers about the free text-book system as applied in their schools was continued in 1917-18. The list of questions was the same as that adopted for 1916-17.

In due time, practically all the replies (some 863) came to hand and proved in the majority of instances to be quite satisfactory. It was necessary, however, in the case of 165 replies (or over 19 per cent. of the total number), again to communicate with the makers. As in former years, important questions had been left unanswered; records were not available, or were incorrect, or had been neglected by former teachers; incorrect views were held as to the operation of the "giving" plan, which provides free of charge for each pupil but one copy of the same kind of bound book; and free texts prescribed for Senior Grade only had been issued to Intermediate Grade pupils. Of the last-named error, 22 cases were noted in 1915-16; in 1916-17 the number fell to 11; but for the year under review (1917-18) 15 replies under this head showed that the teachers concerned had not been governed by instructions contained in the Course of Study as to the use of text-books by the Intermediate Grade. All important errors revealed by the various replies were promptly reported to the several School Inspectors concerned.

ACCOMMODATION FOR FREE TEXT-BOOKS.

In each annual report of free text-books a description is required to be given of the book-case or book-cases provided by the School Board (as per agreement with the Education Department) for the accommodation of all free text-books and school supplies furnished by that Department. The circular forwarded with annual report blanks states that by a book-case is meant a suitable receptacle for books which can be locked, and that simple or open shelves for books should not be described as a book-case. Many of the annual reports for 1916-17 showed that School Boards had not, according to the definition of book-case given above, fulfilled agreement entered into when they accepted the free text-book system. The Education Department, therefore, directed the Free Text-book Branch in October, 1917, to request the Inspectors of Schools to make during their tours of inspection a careful examination of the free text-book accommodation, and in case it was not satisfactory in any instance to notify the offending School Board accordingly, and to state that, unless agreement already entered into was carried out, further supplies of free text-books would be withheld until such time as suitable book-case was provided.

An analysis of the annual reports for 1917-18 gives the following results:—

(a.) 569 schools with suitable book-cases:
(b.) 160 with book-cases which cannot be locked:
(c.) 16 with book-cases the locks of which are out of order or the keys lost:
(d.) 49 supplied with simple or open shelves:
(e.) 40 without any accommodation for free text-books:
(f.) 29 reports without the required information as to number and kind of book-case supplied.

NIGHT-SCHOOLS.

Of the night-schools in operation during the past school-year, 7 were supplied with books of some kind by the Free Text-book Branch.

Although the "giving" plan of dealing with free text-books has been adopted in the day-schools, yet the Education Department found it advisable to continue the "lending" plan in the case of night-schools. The books issued to pupils may, however, be purchased by them at the prices stated in official price-list; otherwise they are not allowed to be taken away from the class-room. Teachers, in order to guard against loss of free text-books loaned to night-school pupils, have required a deposit at the opening of the term equal to the value of books supplied. At the close of the term this deposit is returned to the pupil on receipt of all the books issued to him.

It has been found necessary again to direct the attention of night-school principals and teachers to the preceding paragraph, which appeared in the reports of 1914-15, 1915-16, and 1916-17.

NEW PRICE-LIST.

The attention of all concerned is directed to the new price-list (revised August, 1918). At the prices given therein teachers are authorized as before to supply from the reserve stock (if any) second copies of free text-books to pupils who may require to replace lost or destroyed texts. It must be noted that in some cases the prices are a little higher than in the 1917 list, and that as before they do not include postage or express charges in case purchases are made directly from the Free Text-book Branch. Copies of revised price-list were on the 22nd November, 1918, mailed to all teachers and principals throughout the Province.

EXTRACTS FROM THE LATEST CIRCULAR OF INSTRUCTIONS AS TO THE PREPARATION OF REQUISITIONS FOR FREE TEXT-BOOKS, ETC.

The following extracts from the latest Circular of Instructions are inserted in this report for general information:—

"Only the latest form of printed requisition will be accepted at any time; all others should be destroyed. The latest acceptable form of printed requisition may be readily distinguished by the spaces for ordering monthly report blanks, the box foot-notes, the B.C. Readers (First, Second, Third, and Fourth), and the three columns respectively headed 'Respective No. of Promotions to Various Classes,' 'No. of each Kind of Book in Reserve,' and 'No. of each Kind of Book Ordered.'

"All entries in order column must, therefore, be supported by corresponding promotions or by an explanation; otherwise the items thus unsupported will be disregarded.

"The free text-books in History, Nature Study, Hygiene, and Grammar should not be ordered for the use of Third Reader pupils, nor placed in their hands; the temporary use by these pupils of any of the books just named which may be in reserve is not permitted. The Course of Study also requires that the text-book in Arithmetic shall not be issued to pupils of the Junior Grade (First Primer, Second Primer, First Reader, and Second Reader), except in the case of pupils in rural schools (ungraded), and then only in the case of pupils doing the third-year work in Arithmetic outlined for the Junior Grade.

"In case of the arrival of new pupils who have left suitable free text-books at other schools in the Province, they should be required to secure the return of these books (if needed), and failing in this must supply themselves with other similar books at their own expense. Teachers should, therefore, insist upon pupils retaining their free text-books for use in case of attendance at other schools in the Province.

"Second copies of bound free text-books must not be issued to pupils free of charge without the authority of the Free Text-book Branch.

"Each pupil of appropriate advancement is entitled to receive one drawing-book per year. In the case of rural schools (which do not include district municipality schools) this book will be supplemented by an allowance of twenty sheets of practice drawing-paper issued half-yearly; that is, twenty sheets per pupil per term.

"Teachers are requested to order a term's supply of monthly report blanks (if required) when they prepare the half-yearly requisitions for free text-books. The necessary spaces have been provided in printed form. Monthly reports to parents should be ordered according to the enrolment of the school; that is, so many cards and not so many pads. Reports of this kind are referred to as summer or winter term reports, as the case may be, and must be thus distinguished in requisition. The summer term extends from August to December and the winter term from January to June.

"All communications dealing with free text-books should be addressed to 'Free Text-book Branch, Education Department, Victoria, B.C.'"

DRAWING CIRCULAR, 1917-18.

During 1917-18 a drawing circular was issued to teachers notifying them of the intention of the Education Department in future to issue one drawing-book per year to each pupil of appropriate advancement, and in the case of rural schools (which do not include district municipality schools) to supplement it with twenty sheets of practice drawing-paper (6 inches by 9 inches) per pupil per term. The request was made that both sides of the practice paper should be used and that the completed drawings should be collected and preserved for inspection. Advice was given about the procedure in dealing with the exercises in the various drawing-books, and a suggested allotment of time for drawing in rural schools was also outlined. Four pages of suggestions are appended, with examples, for teaching the lessons in design to be found in Blair's drawing-books. The closing paragraph is a request that when the teacher leaves his school he will be careful to place the circular in book-case or teacher's desk for the use of his successor.

THE CHILDREN'S STORY OF THE WAR.

Thus far all the schools of the Province have been supplied with Nos. 1-42 of "The Children's Story of the War," told for young readers by Sir Edward Parrott, M.A., LL.D. Nos. 43-45 have been received and will be issued at the end of the present term.

Now that the greatest war of all time has come to an end, it is again urged that early steps be taken by School Boards to have the accumulated numbers of "The Story" suitably bound, as they will thus form not only a valuable but a permanent addition to the school library. In a short time the opportunity to do so will pass, as the paper-covered numbers are rapidly becoming ragged and worn and will soon disappear. By way of helpful suggestion, it may be stated that Nos. 1-10, which make up Vols. 1 and 2, form a handy bound book; Nos. 11-22 (page 400 of latter), which are Vols. 3 and 4, make a second book of the same size; a third book to contain Vols. 5 and 6 consists of Nos. 22-34 (page 1 of former to page 384 of latter); and Nos. 34-46 (page 1 of former to page 384 of latter) comprise Vols. 7 and 8, or the fourth book, which brings the record of 1917 to a close. The cost of binding the four books just described should not exceed the sum of $2 per book, and the school library would be wonderfully enriched as a result of the expenditure. On application, the Free Textbook Branch will be glad to supply School Boards and teachers with the names of bookbinders as well as with the prices at which they are prepared to do this work.

"THE FATHERS OF CONFEDERATION."

In April, 1917, the Education Department, by circular, took occasion to remind all public-school teachers that July 1st, 1917, or the following Dominion Day, would be the fiftieth anniversary of the formation of the Provinces of Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick into one Dominion under the name of Canada. It was further stated in this circular that in order to impress more fully the significance of the approaching anniversary upon the future citizens of British Columbia (which was admitted into the Union in 1871) the Honourable the Minister of Education directed that during the following months of May and June special attention be given in the various public schools to those periods of Canadian history which deal with Confederation and its subsequent expansion. The suggestion was also made that the lessons be coloured and vivified by the constant introduction of biographical sketches of the chief persons connected with this crowning event in our history—namely, of those Canadian statesmen already known to us as "The Fathers of Confederation."

A further step was soon after considered desirable and necessary in order to foster a lasting interest in this important period of Canadian history. Consequently, by the end of March, 1918, the Education Department had placed in all the schools of the Province reproductions of the historic painting of "The Fathers of Confederation" by Robert Harris, C.M.G., one of the foremost artists of Canada. The following comment on this reproduction by the artist himself may be of interest:—

"I think it the most satisfactory of the small reproductions I have seen, especially as regards the likenesses, which on the scale are well preserved."

The covering circular contained the special request of the Honourable the Minister of Education that the picture be suitably framed and hung at a convenient height (eye-line) in the school-room, so that it might be always accessible for inspection and study. The concluding paragraph of the circular in question is here given:—

"A few weeks after the Charlottetown Conference (September 1st, 1864), delegates from all the British North American Provinces came together in the ancient city of Quebec to consider terms of Confederation. The meetings of the conference were held in an east room of the Parliament House, built over the ruins of the old Chateau St. Louis. It is here overlooking the lordly St. Lawrence that the artist groups his subjects ('The Fathers of Confederation') engaged in those deliberations which resulted in the adoption of seventy-two Resolutions. These famous Resolutions, with some changes, form the basis of the 'British North America Act,' now the Constitution of the Dominion of Canada. The Quebec Conference (October 10th, 1864) must be counted one of the chief events in our history. The date, the far-reaching results, the names of those who took part in it should be written by Canadians in letters of gold."

The following is a brief list of books dealing with the Confederation period:—

(a.) The Federation of Canada (1867-1917), consisting of four lectures delivered in the University of Toronto in March, 1917, to commemorate the Fiftieth Anniversary of Canada. (Published for the University of Toronto by the Oxford University Press, Toronto, 1917; price, about 65 cents; can be obtained from any bookseller.)

(b.) The Story of Confederation, by R. E. Gosnell. (Price, $1; can be obtained from any bookseller.)

(c.) Confederation and its Leaders, by M. O. Hammond. (Published by McClelland, Goodchild & Stewart, Ltd., Toronto; price, $2.50.)

In the latest edition of Canadian Civics (B.C. edition), by R. S. Jenkins, will be found brief biographies of "The Fathers of Confederation." This book, which is published by The Copp, Clark Co., Ltd., Toronto, is now prescribed for First-year, High School Course.

I have, etc.,
David Wilson,
Officer in Charge.

THE STRATHCONA TRUST.

Physical Training, 1918-19.

The terms of the competition for physical-training prizes, 1918-19, have already been announced by circular to all the public-school teachers of the Province. They are similar to the terms for 1917-18. For competition among the high and superior schools the sum of $54 has been provided, while the sum of $396 (or $36 for each inspectorial district) has been made available for prizes in the common and graded schools. As before, the teacher to whom an award is made shall be entitled to two-thirds of the prize, the other third to be expended for a picture or some piece of apparatus (suitably inscribed) for the room in which it was won. Only those teachers who are the holders of physical-training certificates granted under the Strathcona Trust are eligible to compete.

Military Drill, 1917-18.

At the close of the year 1917-18, forty-three of the fifty-nine public-school cadet corps in M.D. No. 11 paraded for inspection. The total number of cadets present at the annual inspection, 1917-18, was 2,692 (or 213 more than in 1916-17 and 442 more than in 1915-16). The comparative rank then awarded by the Inspecting Officer is as follows:—

No. 372. Nanaimo	50

Twenty-five prizes for military drill were provided in accordance with schedule adopted at last meeting of the Local Committee held on October 11th, 1918, one-half of each prize to be paid to the corps and one-half to the instructor, provided he is a public-school teacher qualified as a cadet instructor. When an instructor is not a public-school teacher, one-half of prize reverts to the general fund of the Local Committee. The expenditure under this head amounted to $278, and was made according to the following schedule:—

1st prize	$25	14th prize	$10
2nd „	20	15th „	10
3rd „	18	16th „	10

RIFLE SHOOTING, 1917-18.

From the grant for rifle shooting, 1917-18, prizes were provided for thirty-four qualified cadet corps whose instructors furnished returns—viz., $3.75 to each; this amount to form cash prizes for the three best shots in each corps: 1st prize, $1.50; 2nd, $1.25; 3rd, $1. The following qualified cadet corps accordingly received grants of $3.75 each for rifle shooting, 1917-18: Esquimalt, No. 349; Kaslo, No. 360; Nelson, No. 695; Prince Rupert, No. 432; North Vancouver, No. 125; Vancouver, 101st Cadet Regiment (Britannia High School, King Edward High School, King George High School, Alexandra, Charles Dickens, Cecil Rhodes, Dawson (B), Dawson (C), Franklin, Fairview, General Gordon, Grandview, Henry Hudson, Hastings, Kitsilano, Laura Secord, Macdonald, Model, Nelson, Roberts, Simon Fraser, Strathcona, Lord Tennyson); Victoria High School, No. 112; Victoria Cadet Battalion, No. 388 (Boys' Central, George Jay, Quadra, South Park, Victoria West). The amount expended under this head was $127.50.

In M.D. No. 11 there are 1,799 Ross rifles (D.P.) and 376 Ross Miniature on "charge" to the different cadet corps.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1917-18.

The funds at the disposal of the Local Committee for 1917-18 amounted to $1,284.31, and the expenditure for the year to $789.50, leaving an unexpended balance of $494.81. Of this balance, $450 has already been voted for physical-training prizes, 1918-19.

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA CADET CORPS IN THE GREAT WAR.

In the annual report of the Local Committee for 1915-16 there appear the names of 637 cadets, ex-cadets, and cadet instructors (public-school teachers) who had volunteered and actually joined the Canadian Expeditionary Forces in some capacity. According to this list, Cowichan Valley, No. 429, supplied 38 cadets or ex-cadets; Esquimalt, No. 349, 27 (two of whom were instructors); Grand Forks, No. 381, 13; Kaslo, No. 360, 2; Nanaimo, No. 372, 30; Oak Bay, No. 489, 4 (including an instructor); Prince Rupert, No. 432, 4 (including an instructor); Revelstoke, No. 580, 2 (including an instructor); Vancouver, 101st Cadet Regiment, 129 (including 12 instructors); North Vancouver, No. 125, 31; South Vancouver (Nos. 438, 513, 514, and 531), 12; Victoria (Nos. 112, 388, 587, 609, 632, and 643), 345 (including 7 instructors).

The following appeared in the Victoria Daily Colonist of February 10th, 1918, and as a fine record of service is included in this report for the information of the military authorities:—

"Two hundred and twenty-five ex-cadets (Victoria High School) are serving the Empire in different parts of the world in military or naval or aviation work in the Great War. Many have given their lives fighting for their country. There have been won by 'old boys' fourteen decorations, including one D.S.O., nine Military Crosses, and four Military Medals. Several other ex-cadets have been mentioned in dispatches and a large number have secured commissions on the field. These facts give special interest to any measures taken to encourage the work of this very popular cadet organization, which each year gains in influence and good reputation. The present strength of the corps is about 300. Lack of uniforms and proper equipment is felt as something of a drawback to the efficiency of the corps, and a plan is under consideration to adjust this matter. At present only about eighty of the boys have uniforms. The corps has an excellent miniature rifle range and is doing good work in shooting. A drum and bugle band has been formed and is making good progress. This corps has been and is still one of the foremost interests of the Camosun Chapter, I.O.D.E."

DAVID WILSON,
Secretary, Local Committee, Strathcona Trust, for British Columbia.

HIGH SCHOOL ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS.

Pupils of Entrance classes in the public schools of cities of the first and the second class will be promoted hereafter on the recommendation of their respective principals and teachers. In order to decide the winners of the medals donated annually by His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada, the leading pupils in the public schools of these cities will be required to write the examination set for entrance to high schools. Pupils of these schools who fail to receive promotion on recommendation and who feel that they are capable of taking up high-school work will be permitted to write on the High School Entrance papers set by the Education Department. Pupils attending schools in cities of the third class, rural municipalities, rural and assisted districts, as well as those attending private schools throughout the Province, will be required, before being admitted to high schools, to pass the examination set by the Department of Education for entrance to high schools.

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS.

The examinations which were held annually by the Department of Education to determine promotion in the high schools have been abolished. Hereafter examinations will be held only for students who wish to gain admission to the Normal School or the University.

CHANGES IN HIGH SCHOOL COURSES OF STUDY.

Canadian history and Canadian civics have been added to the list of subjects prescribed for first-year high-school pupils and also for second-year commercial pupils.

The formal study of English grammar has been discontinued.

Algebra is no longer a subject of study for Commercial classes.

First-year students may substitute elementary science for one of the foreign languages.

Hall and Stevens' Geometry has been substituted for Hall and Stevens' Euclid.

MODIFIED HIGH SCHOOL ENTRANCE COURSE, 1919.

Reading.

Fourth Reader.

Literature.

Scott's Lady of the Lake and the following selections from the Fourth Reader: Recessional, Jacques Cartier, The Vision of Mirza, Sir Galahad, A Dirge, Westminster Abbey, The Patriotic Dead, To a Water-Fowl, The Daffodils, The Lady of Shalott, The Chambered Nautilus, The Red River Voyageur, The Loss of the Brig.

MEMORIZATION—Lady of the Lake: Canto 1, sections 9, 11, 12, 14, 15, and 18; Canto 2, section 19; Canto 3, sections 2, 14, and 16; Canto 5, the last eight lines of section 30; Canto 6, the last three stanzas of the Canto, beginning, "Harp of the North, farewell!"

Fourth Reader: Recessional, the last eight lines of "The Sermon on the Mount," any three consecutive stanzas of "The Elegy in a Country Churchyard," Lead Kindly Light; nine lines beginning, "But I hope . . . without boasting" from "The Duty of Canadians," page 108; The Chambered Nautilus, The Sea Shell, The Evening Cloud, Portia's Appeal to Shylock, The Twenty-Third Psalm; three lines begininng, "Blessed is he . . . follow it!" from "Labour," page 282.

Arithmetic.

Milne, Book III., with the following omissions: Pages 116 to 134, inclusive; pages 152 to 157, inclusive; from beginning of section 273 on page 160 to the end of page 174; pages 177, 178, and page 179 to the end of section 315; pages 182 and 183; pages 202 and 203; the problems on page 206; pages 231 to 234, inclusive; pages 237 to 241, inclusive; from beginning of section 407 on page 245 to end of page 247; the last eleven problems on page 249; pages 255 to 257, inclusive; pages 265 to 296, inclusive; pages 302 to 312, inclusive; from the beginning of section 564 on page 314 to end of section 573 on page 316; from beginning of page 319 to the end of the book.

(To secure clearness of reasoning and accuracy of statement much oral teaching is necessary. At least twenty minutes of the time devoted daily to this subject should be taken up with oral class instruction.)

Grammar and Composition.

British Columbia Public School Grammar (Lang). Omit pages 144 to 165, inclusive. (No formal parsing nor analysis of greatly involved sentences required.)

Sykes' Elementary Composition, pages 1 to 109, inclusive; omit the memorization exercises, the Stories (Themes); loose, periodic, and compromise sentences; balanced sentence, continuity, explicit reference, parallel construction, transition, proportion, rhythm, and climax.

Compositions on topics selected from prescribed work and from other sources. (The work should be carefully discussed and planned in class before the pupils are asked to write. Unless this is done and unless the subjects are well chosen, it is useless to expect good results.)

Geography.

A general knowledge of the Geography of the Continents and Oceans; Geography of British Columbia and Canada more particularly. Sketch-maps of British Columbia, Canada, and North America.

(Although the pupils should read carefully the subject-matter of the text-book, they should not be expected to retain in their memories anything but essential facts. To teach non-essentials will result only in crowding out more important matters. More time might with profit be spent on a study of "geographical relations" and in developing "geographical reasoning." Unless every opportunity to bring reason to the aid of memory is taken advantage of, the lessons become little more than memorization exercises. A study of latitude, nearness of large bodies of water, and of the prevailing winds of a country will enable pupils to draw reasonably exact inferences with regard to its moisture, climate, vegetation, and products. They should also be able to infer the probable occupations of the people as well as the commerce of the country. Then, again, the "regional method" of teaching geography might be emphasized more. There are over 60 "natural regions" or divisions. These, however, may be reduced to 13 or 14 types. The study of any one type of region enables the pupils to come to fairly accurate conclusions in regard to the geography of other parts of the world in which similar climatic conditions are found. An attempt should be made to think out the reasons for differences that may appear. Great accuracy in drawing sketch-maps is not expected. The ability, however, to draw quickly even fair maps calls for careful training and practice. The drawing of elaborately finished maps at home is of little value and can in no way take the place of the training which the teacher should provide through blackboard illustration and class-room instruction. These maps should show such matters as the chief coast features, drainage basins and divides, the locations of large seaports, and of other important centres of population. Geographical statistics might also be given. For example, the map of North America might indicate the large wheat-growing area, the corn belt, the cotton belt, and one or two other important areas with the products for which each is noted.)

British History.

Tudor, Stuart, and Hanoverian periods.

Canadian History.

The Period of British Rule.

Nature Lessons.

How to be Healthy, omitting chapters 7, 9, 11, 27, 28, and 32.

Brittain's Elementary Agriculture and Nature Study, pages 1-184, omitting chapters 4, 5, 9, 10, 18, 19, 20, 21, and 28 in the first year's work, and chapters 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, and 11 in the second year's work.

Dictation and Spelling.

Dictation from the Fourth Reader. Spelling from the work herein indicated (words rarely used to be omitted).

Writing.

Free movement, good form, and legibility to be aimed at in all written work.

Drawing.

Blair's Canadian Drawing Series:—

Book IV. (Third Edition)—Freehand Drawing from Objects: Examples 5, 16, 17, 18, and 19.

Freehand Drawing from Nature and Design: Examples 6, 7, 10, 11, 14, and 15.

NEW TEXT-BOOKS.

The Council of Public Instruction has been pleased to prescribe the following books for use in the schools of the Province:—

For Commercial classes in the high schools: "Dictation Course in Business Literature," by Raigner, and published by the H. M. Rowe Co., Baltimore, Md.

For the use of commercial teachers: "Effective Business Letters," by Edward Hall Gardner, and published by the Ronald Press Co., New York; "Business English," by Hotchkiss and Drew, and published by the American Book Co., New York; "A New Practical Course in Touch Typewriting," by G. M. James, B.A., LL.B., and published by the Ontario Publishing Co., Belleville, Ont.

For use in the Junior Grade of the public schools: Field and Young's Literary Readers, Books 1, 2, and 3, as well as the Teachers' Manual, published by Ginn and Company.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

Article 1 of the Rules and Regulations has been revised, and now reads as follows:—

"Clause 1.—The hours of teaching shall be from 9 a.m. to 12 m. and from 1 p.m. to 3.30 p.m. from March to October, inclusive; and from 9.30 a.m. to 12 m. and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. from November to February, inclusive. There shall be a recess of fifteen minutes, extending from 10.45 to 11 o'clock, in each morning's work during the whole year, and a recess of ten minutes, extending from 2.30 to 2.40 o'clock, in each afternoon's work from March to October, inclusive.

"Clause 2.—The Board of School Trustees of any municipal school district who may deem it desirable to have a uniform time for opening and closing the schools of the district throughout the whole school-year shall have the power of fixing, by resolution, the time of assembling and dismissing the schools as well as of determining the duration of the noon intermission. In every such municipal district the schools shall be in session five hours each day (including a recess of fifteen minutes in the forenoon), and shall not be assembled before 9 a.m. nor remain in session later than 4 p.m. There shall be an intermission, beginning at 12 m., of at least one hour between the morning and the afternoon sessions.

"Clause 3.—First and Second Primer classes may, at the discretion of the Boards of School Trustees, be dismissed at 2.30 p.m.

"Clause 4.—(a.) Each pupil shall be allowed the full time allotted for recess.

"(b.) In no case shall a pupil be detained after school-hours for a longer period than half an hour.

"(c.) 'Home' lessons should be assigned with great care and discretion. Such work should be confined to the language subjects (memorization of stanzas of poetry, preparation of spellings, etc.), review-work in history and geography, collecting nature-study material, and getting information or illustrations about topics to be taken up for study in the class-room. Problems in arithmetic and exercises in analysis and parsing, as well as map-drawing, can be conducted profitably only under the direction and guidance of the teacher, and should not therefore form a part of the work assigned for home preparation. Few, if any, written exercises should be given to do out of school-hours. Home study should not be demanded of Junior Grade pupils. How far such work is practicable in the higher classes must depend on the circumstances of the individual pupil. Household and other tasks call for a share of the time and attention of many children. It is suggested that Intermediate Grade pupils be not required to devote more than one hour and Senior Grade pupils not more than one hour and a half to the preparation of home tasks each day."

Article 3 (a) has been revised, and now reads as follows:—

"In all schools throughout the Province the summer vacation shall extend from the last Friday in June to the Tuesday immediately following the first Monday in September."

AMENDMENTS TO THE "PUBLIC SCHOOLS ACT."

Since the publication of the School Report for 1916-17 the following amendments were made to the "Public Schools Act":—

Section 6 is amended by adding thereto the following clause:—

"(r.) On the application of the respective Boards of School Trustees of two or more adjoining school districts, to unite such districts into one school district for the purpose of establishing one or more central graded schools with at least two teachers each and of consolidating the schools of such districts: Provided, however, that no rural school district shall be so united unless a majority of the ratepayers of such rural school district, present at a meeting regularly called to consider the advisability of so uniting their district, agree to the proposed union of such districts."

Section 9 is amended by striking out clause (e) of said section, and substituting therefor the following:—

"(e.) To report to the Superintendent of Education the schools which in his opinion are entitled during the ensuing year to pass from the status of assisted schools to that of regularly organized school districts, and also to report what assisted schools without defined boundaries should in his opinion be changed to assisted schools with defined boundaries."

Clauses (a), (b), and (c) of section 13 are amended to read as follows:—

"Municipal school districts shall be further divided into the following sub-classes:—

"(a.) City school districts of the first class, including all incorporated cities or towns wherein the average actual daily attendance of pupils attending public schools equals or exceeds one thousand for the school year:

"(b.) City school districts of the second class, including all incorporated cities or towns wherein the average actual daily attendance of pupils attending public schools equals two hundred and fifty, but does not exceed nine hundred and ninety-nine, for the school year:

"(c.) City school districts of the third class, including all incorporated cities or towns wherein the average actual daily attendance of pupils attending public schools falls below two hundred and fifty for the school year."

Section 14 is amended to read as follows:—

"Where any territory has been included within a municipal school district in accordance with subsection (b) of section 6, or where the territory of any rural school district has been united with a municipal school district in accordance with clause (r) of said section, the provisions of this Act respecting public schools in cities and district municipalities shall apply thereto, and such territory for all school purposes shall be deemed to be united to such municipal school district, and all property situate in such territory shall be liable to assessment for school purposes, in the same manner and to the same extent as if the same were included in the limits of the incorporated city, town, or district municipality:

"Provided that the value for purposes of assessment placed on any property in such territory by the Municipal Assessor shall not in any case exceed the assessed value of that property as shown on the last revised Provincial assessment roll."

Section 15 is amended by adding thereto the following subsection:—

"(3.) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, the respective Boards of School Trustees of two adjoining municipal school districts may enter into such agreements as they think proper for the interchange of pupils and for the accommodation in either district of pupils resident in the other, and may determine the schools at which such pupils may respectively attend."

Section 18 is amended by striking out subsection (2) of said section, and substituting therefor the following:—

"(2.) All other items of fixed and current expenditure shall be provided for by district or local assessment, and the purchase of school-houses and lands and the erection of school buildings may be provided for by loan extending over a period not exceeding forty years in the case of schools in municipal school districts, and not exceeding twelve years in the case of all other schools: Provided, however, that the said periods of forty and twelve years respectively may in any case be extended by special order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council."

Section 19 is amended to read as follows:—

"A per capita grant of three hundred and sixty dollars for cities of the first class, four hundred and twenty dollars for cities of the second class, four hundred and sixty-five dollars for cities and towns of the third class, and four hundred and eighty dollars for district municipalities, per annum, based on the actual number of teachers and manual training and domestic science instructors employed in the public schools, including high schools, of such cities, towns, or district municipalities, shall be paid by the Minister of Finance out of the Public School Fund quarterly to each of the municipal corporations of the city school districts of the first, second, and third class, and in ten equal instalments, one at the end of each month except the months of July and August, to the municipal corporations of district municipalities, respectively: Provided that the schools have been conducted in accordance with the rules and regulations prescribed by the Council of Public Instruction, and that each public school and high school building and its equipment be satisfactory to the said Council."

Section 20 is amended to read as follows:—

"A per capita grant of four hundred and eighty dollars for rural school districts per annum, based on the actual number of teachers and manual training and domestic science instructors employed in the public schools of such rural school districts, shall be paid in ten equal instalments, one at the end of each month except the months of July and August, by the Minister of Finance out of the Public School Fund to each of the teachers and manual training and domestic science instructors employed in such public schools: Provided that the schools have been conducted in accordance with the rules and regulations prescribed by the Council of Public Instruction, and that each public school building and its equipment be satisfactory to the said Council."

Section 21 is amended to read as follows:—

"In the event of the salary of any teacher or manual training or domestic science instructor employed in the public or high schools of the municipal school district being increased by the Board of School Trustees, a supplementary per capita grant of half the amount of such increase shall also be paid by the Minister of Finance out of the Public School Fund quarterly, on the last days of March, June, September, and December, in city school districts, and in ten equal instalments, one at the end of each month except the months of July and August, in district municipality school districts, to each of the municipal corporations; but in no case shall such supplementary grant so to be paid aforesaid by the Minister of Finance exceed the sum of one hundred dollars per annum."

Section 22 is amended to read as follows:—

"A further per capita grant of one dollar for every dollar by which the salary of any teacher or manual training or domestic science instructor employed in the public schools in rural school districts shall be increased by district assessment shall also be paid by the Minister of Finance out of the Public School Fund in ten equal instalments, one at the end of each month except the months of July and August, to each of such teachers or manual training or domestic science instructors; but in no case shall such supplementary grant so to be paid as aforesaid by the Minister of Finance exceed the sum of one hundred dollars per annum."

Section 25 is repealed, and the following is substituted therefor:—

"(1.) In the case of all assisted schools the building in which the school is held, as well as the furnishings, shall be supplied by the voluntary contributions of parents and others interested, and where such school is one having defined boundaries the incidental expenses in connection with its maintenance shall be met by local assessment.

"(2.) The salaries of teachers employed in assisted schools shall be an annual salary fixed by the Legislature, and payable from the Provincial Treasury in ten equal instalments, one instalment at the end of each month except the months of July and August."

Section 28 is repealed.

Section 29 is repealed, and the following is substituted therefor:—

"All the provisions of this Act in respect of the qualification of voters, the holding of meetings for the voting of money to be raised in the school district, the assessment of property, and the levy and collection of taxes, in the case of rural school districts shall mutatis mutandis apply in the case of assisted schools having defined boundaries."

Section 31 is amended to read as follows:—

"The Board of School Trustees for each municipal school district shall be elected, in the manner hereinafter provided, by the votes of the electors possessing the qualifications prescribed in the 'Municipal Elections Act' for electors entitled to vote for Mayor or Reeve, and when preparing the annual voters' list in the cities where the said Act does not apply to the election of Mayor, or in municipalities wherein outside territory has been included for school purposes under subsection (b) of section 6 of this Act, or in municipalities with which any rural school district has been united under clause (r) of said section, a list of the names of those entitled to vote for school trustees, but not included in the municipal annual voters' list as entitled to vote for Mayor or Reeve, shall be added thereto."

Section 36 is amended to read as follows:—

"Subject to the provisions of section 95 hereof, for each of the city school districts of the first class there shall be seven trustees; for each of the city school districts of the second class there shall be five trustees; for each of the city school districts of the third class there shall be three trustees; and for each of the district municipality school districts there shall be five trustees. These shall constitute a Board of School Trustees for each city or district municipality school district respectively, and each of such Boards shall be a body corporate in relation to all the powers and duties conferred upon it by virtue of this Act, and shall be styled "The Board of School Trustees of Victoria" (or as the case may be); the organization, rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of each of which said Boards shall be as herein defined."

Section 44 is amended to read as follows:—

"(1.) The salaries of teachers employed in the public schools in all incorporated cities, towns, and district municipalities shall be fixed at the discretion of the respective school trustees of such incorporated cities, towns, and district municipalities; and such salaries, and all other expenses for the purchase and lease of school-sites, erection, enlargement, or rent of school buildings, for furniture and repairs, and all other incidental expenses whatsoever incurred by the Boards of School Trustees in the respective cities, towns, and district municipalities, shall be borne and paid by the municipal corporations of the said cities, towns, and district municipalities respectively.

"(2.) The salaries of teachers to be fixed under this section shall be by way of an annual salary, and shall be payable in ten equal instalments, one at the end of each month except the months of July and August."

Section 47 is repealed, and the following is substituted therefor:—

"Where the Board of School Trustees of any rural school district or of any municipal school district provides suitable accommodation, in connection with any school under its jurisdiction, for a course of instruction in manual training, or in domestic science, or in commercial courses, there shall be granted by the Council of Public Instruction to the Board of School Trustees of the rural school district or to the Municipal Council of the municipal school district, as the case may be, a sum not exceeding one-half of the total initial amount expended for the necessary equipment, and in no case to exceed the sum of five hundred dollars in respect of any one such course of instruction."

Subsection (1) of section 50 is amended to read as follows:—

"(1.) The Board of School Trustees shall, on or before the fifteenth day of February in each year, cause to be prepared and laid before the Municipal Council a detailed estimate of the sums required by the said Board for the current year's ordinary expenses of maintaining the schools, which sums shall be paid over from time to time as required, upon the order of the said Board, by the municipal treasurer, to the several persons to whom such moneys are payable; and likewise detailed estimates of the sums required to meet the special or extraordinary expenses of the Board, which sums, if approved by the Municipal Council, shall be paid over in like manner, either from the ordinary municipal revenue or from the proceeds of the sale of debentures, as the Municipal Council shall determine."

Section 52 is amended to read as follows:—

"The Board of School Trustees shall, on or before the fifteenth day of February in each year, cause to be prepared and laid before the Superintendent of Education a detailed statement of the number of teachers and manual training and domestic science instructors to be employed in the schools for the ensuing year, and the salaries to be paid to each of such teachers, and manual training and domestic science instructors, and shall thereafter, on or before the last days of March, June, September, and December in each year, submit to the Superintendent of Education a statement of all appointments of teachers and manual training and domestic science instructors made during the preceding quarter, setting forth clearly therein the date of each appointment and the amount of salary to be paid to each of such teachers and manual training and domestic science instructors."

Section 65 is repealed, and the following is substituted therefor:—

"It shall be the duty of the Board of School Trustees of each rural school district, forthwith after the holding of any meeting of such district having power to vote money and at which money is voted, to furnish to the Provincial Assessor a statement of the amount determined upon at such meeting to be the amount to be raised in the school district, which statement shall be in the Form No. 2 in the Schedule hereto, and certified to by the secretary of the said Board, and also to furnish at the same time a list of the names of persons in such school district who are exempt from assessment under section 68 of this Act."

Section 66 is repealed, and the following is substituted therefor:—

"It shall be the duty of each Provincial Assessor to prepare a school assessment roll for each school district within his assessment district, according to the Form No. 1 in the Schedule hereto, and to fill into such draft from his district assessment roll and such other information as may be available to him the names and addresses of all persons liable to be rated and assessed in such rural school district for real or personal property."

Section 68 is amended to read as follows:—

"Persons unable to pay, or persons resident on islands too sparsely populated to maintain a school and too distant from the mainland to permit children to attend school thereon, may be by the annual meeting exempted either in whole or in part from the district rate, and the trustees shall return to the assessor a list of such exemptions. To secure exemption under this section application shall be made therefor to the Board of School Trustees not less than two weeks before the date of the annual meeting."

Section 72 is repealed, and the following is substituted therefor:—

"(1.) It shall be the duty of each Provincial Assessor, upon being furnished by the Board of School Trustees of any rural school district within or partly within his assessment district with the certified statement and list of exemptions provided for by section 65 of this Act, and he is hereby empowered:—

"(a.) To complete the assessment roll by excluding therefrom the names of all persons who are exempt from assessment as set forth in the list of exemptions (if any), and by setting opposite the name of each person in such assessment roll the amount on which he is liable to be taxed under this Act, whether for real or personal property:

"(b.) To apportion the amount to be raised in the following manner: The sum to be raised shall be levied on real and personal property by a fair apportionment according to the valuation contained in the above-mentioned assessment roll, no one class or property assessed being charged a higher rate than another.

"(2.) Persons assessed as the owners of real estate in the assessment district shall until the filing of the next assessment list be deemed to be the owners thereof for the purposes of rural school district assessment."

Section 76 is amended to read as follows:—

"Where school taxes become delinquent in respect of any lands added to a municipal school district from the adjoining territory outside the boundaries of any municipality, in virtue of subsection (b) of section 6 of this Act, or in respect of any lands within the area of a former rural school district which has been united with any municipal school district in virtue of clause (r) of said section, the municipal Board of School Trustees shall request the Collector under the 'Taxation Act' in whose assessment district said lands may be situate to add to his list of lands for sale for unpaid taxes under the 'Taxation Act' the said lands and the amount of school taxes delinquent thereon, and shall cause to be sent to such Collector a certificate by the municipal clerk or treasurer of the amount of the school taxes delinquent, and a description of the lands and the name of the assessed person against whom the said school taxes are delinquent; and the Collector shall thereupon add such lands and taxes to his first annual tax-sale list, and the said lands shall thereupon become subject to the proceedings under the 'Taxation Act' the same as if the said delinquent school taxes had been originally delinquent taxes under the 'Taxation Act.' The Deputy Minister of Finance, on receipt of a certificate from the Provincial Assessor of the amount of the school taxes delinquent upon the said lands to be recovered by him under the 'Taxation Act,' is hereby authorized to pay over said amount to the said Board."

Section 80 is repealed, and the following is substituted therefor:—

"(1.) Upon the order of the Superintendent of Education, the Minister of Finance shall pay over to the Board of School Trustees of each rural school district and of each assisted school having defined boundaries the full amount voted at any meeting having power to vote money, and assessed pursuant to this Act, to be raised in the school district or in the area in which the assisted school having defined boundaries is situate respectively. Such payments shall be made in equal quarterly instalments on the last days of September, December, March, and June in each school year.

"(2.) All payments authorized by this section shall be made out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund, and all taxes and moneys assessed and collected under this Act in respect of each rural school district and in respect of the area of each assisted school having defined boundaries shall be paid into the Consolidated Revenue Fund."

Section 80A is repealed.

Section 84 is repealed, and the following is substituted therefor:—

"An annual meeting for the election of school trustees shall be held in all rural school districts and assisted schools on the second Saturday in July in every year, commencing at seven o'clock in the afternoon, the nomination closing at eight o'clock, and the poll (if any) at half-past nine o'clock of the same day."

Section 86 is amended by inserting after the word "wives," in the fourth line of said section (third line in section 86 of Manual of School Law), the words "and the husbands."

Section 87 is amended by inserting after the word "wife," in the fourth line of said section (third line in section 87 of Manual of School Law), the words "or the husband."

Section 88 is amended by striking out the words "assisted school meeting," and substituting therefor the words "school meeting of an assisted school without defined boundaries"; and by inserting after the word "wife" the words "or the husband"; and by striking out the words "in the locality" in the fifth line of said section (fourth line in section 88 of Manual of School Law), and substituting therefor the words "within seven miles in a direct line from the school-house of such assisted school"; and by adding to said section the following subsection:—

"(2.) Any person who resides within seven miles of more than one such school building shall be entitled to vote only at the school meetings of that school the school-house of which is nearest his place of residence by the shortest passable road."

Section 89 is amended to read as follows:—

"At all meetings a majority of the ratepayers of the district present shall elect from their number a chairman to preside over the meeting, who shall decide all questions of order, and shall take the votes of the qualified voters only, deciding according to the majority of votes, and shall himself have but one vote, and that only in case of a tie. The secretary of the Board of School Trustees shall act as secretary of the meeting, and when there is no secretary of the said Board, or he is not present, the meeting shall elect a secretary of the meeting. The minutes of the meeting shall be read to the meeting before its close, and shall be signed by the chairman and the secretary and transmitted to the trustees immediately after the meeting; such minutes shall be preserved by the trustees and be open at all reasonable times to the inspection of the ratepayers."

Section 91 is amended to read as follows:—

"If any person offering to vote at an annual or other school meeting shall be challenged as unqualified by any legal voter, the chairman presiding at such meeting shall require the person so offering to make the following declaration:—

> I do declare and affirm that I am a ratepayer of this district, and that I have paid all district school rates imposed upon me within the last twelve months, and that I am legally qualified to vote at this meeting.
> Or
> I do declare and affirm that I am the wife or the husband (as the case may be) of a ratepayer of this district, and that my husband or my wife (as the case may be) has paid all district school rates imposed upon him or her (as the case may be) within the last twelve months, and that I am legally qualified to vote at this meeting.

"Whereupon the person making such declaration shall be permitted to vote upon all questions proposed at such meeting; but if any person refuse to make such declaration, his or her vote shall be rejected; and if any person wilfully makes a false declaration of his or her right to vote, he or she shall, on a summary conviction thereof, be liable to a fine not greater than one hundred dollars."

Section 92 is amended by adding thereto the following subsection:—

"(2.) The salaries of teachers employed in rural school districts shall be by way of an annual salary, and shall be payable in ten equal instalments, one at the end of each month except the months of July and August."

Section 95 is repealed, and the following is substituted therefor:—

"(1.) A city school district and a district municipality school district or a city school district and a rural school district united under clause (r) of section 6 hereof to form one school district shall, for all purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a city school district. A district municipality school district and a rural school district united under said clause to form one school district shall, for all purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a district municipality school district.

"(2.) Where a rural school district has been united with a municipal school district to form one school district under clause (r) of section 6 hereof, any male or female, being a British subject and of the full age of twenty-one years, who is the assessed owner of land or real property in the area of such rural school district, according to the last revised assessment roll thereof, up to five clear days before the day of voting on the by-law hereinafter mentioned, shall have the right to vote on any school by-law passed by the municipality in which such municipal school district is situate and submitted to the electors of the municipality for their assent.

"(3.) The first election of trustees to constitute the Board of School Trustees of a school district which has been formed by uniting two or more adjoining school districts under clause (r) of section 6 hereof shall be held as directed by a special order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, and upon such trustees being elected the terms of office of all trustees of the respective school districts so united shall cease and determine.

"(4.) For each school district so formed by the union of two municipal school districts there shall be six trustees, three of whom shall, after the first election, be elected from each municipality in like manner as if each municipality comprised a separate school district. For each school district so formed by the union of a municipal school district and a rural school district there shall be five trustees elected at large from the school district so formed, and by the votes of the electors whose names appear on the voters' list prepared pursuant to section 31 hereof.

"(5.) The detailed estimates required under subsection (1) of section 50 hereof shall, in the case of every Board of School Trustees of a municipal school district which is created by the union of two or more municipal school districts under clause (r) of section 6 hereof, be submitted to the Municipal Councils of the respective municipalities; and all sums to be raised for school purposes each year shall be levied and raised by the respective municipalities either in the ratio of their respective assessments or in the ratio of their respective enrolments, as agreed on at the time of the application for the union of the districts by the Boards of School Trustees of such municipal school districts, or according to any other method agreed on by such Boards at the time of such application.

"(6.) Wherever two or more adjoining school districts have been united under clause (r) of section 6 hereof into one school district, the Board of School Trustees of such united school district shall provide for the conveyance to and from school of the children living at a considerable distance therefrom. To every such Board of School Trustees there shall be granted from the Provincial Treasury a sum not exceeding one-half of the total expense incurred on account of such conveyance."

Section 96 is amended to read as follows:—

"There shall be three trustees for each rural school district, who shall be British subjects and qualified voters and residents of the school district, or the wives or the husbands of qualified voters and residents of the school district (except that the husband or wife of an acting trustee shall not be eligible for election), and the trustees of each district shall be a body corporate, under the name of 'The Trustees of Esquimalt (or as the case may be) School District'; and no such corporation shall cease by reason of the want of trustees."

Sections 124, 125, and 126 are repealed.

Section 127 is repealed, and the following is substituted therefor:—

"Where it appears that in any school district there are twenty or more persons of the age of fourteen years and upwards desirous of obtaining instruction in technical education, manual training, domestic science, commercial training, or in the ordinary branches of an English education, the Board of School Trustees may establish, under regulations issued by the Council of Public Instruction, night-schools for their benefit."

Section 134 and the words "Board of Examiners" immediately preceding said section are repealed, and the following words and section are substituted therefor:—

"Teachers' Certificates.

"The Board of Examiners shall have authority to grant certificates, the designation and validity of which shall be as follows:—

"(a.) Academic, valid for life:

"(b.) First class, valid for life:

"(c.) Second class, valid for life:

"(d.) Third class: If applicant holds a preliminary certificate from the Provincial Normal School, or from any other normal school approved by the Council of Public Instruction, valid for three years; or if applicant holds both the preliminary and advanced certificates from the Provincial Normal School, or from any other normal school approved by the Council of Public Instruction, valid for life."

Section 137 is repealed, and the following is substituted therefor:—

"Graduates in arts, in science, or in literature of recognized Canadian, British, or colonial universities who have proceeded regularly to their degrees may on application be granted academic certificates, provided they hold certificates of Canadian normal schools, or of other normal schools approved by the Council of Public Instruction; or provided they satisfy, by a written examination, the Board of Examiners as to their knowledge of the art of teaching, school discipline and management, and the school law of the Province."

Section 138 is repealed.

The Schedule is amended by striking out the figures "66" in the fourth line of Form No. 2 in said Schedule, and substituting therefor the figures "65."

APPENDIX B.

HIGH SCHOOL ENTRANCE EXAMINATION, 1918.

British History. (Time, 1½ hours.)

Value.

12 1. State in a sentence or two with what particular work each of the following churchmen was associated:—

Dunstan, Wycliffe, Becket, Cranmer, Langton, Wesley.

15 2. Name the chief provisions of the Magna Charta. Explain briefly the events that led the people to demand this charter.

15 3. Write short notes on any three of the following:—

Marlborough, The Conquest of Wales, Warwick the Kingmaker, Poynings' Acts, The Armada, Deposition of James II.

18 4. Mention five of the great reforms that were effected in Britain during the Nineteenth Century, stating the particular liberty or change that each reform sought to bring about.

18 5. State how Raleigh, Clive, and Pitt (the younger) were each associated with the growth of the British Empire.

22 6. Your history says of the Battle of Trafalgar that it "put Britain in such a position that, since then, she has been supreme on the seas."

(a.) Why was this supremacy necessary to Britain's success at that time?

(b.) Explain fully and clearly what supremacy on the seas has meant to the Allies during the course of the present war.

(c.) How has unrestricted submarine warfare affected this supremacy?

Nature Lessons. (Time, 1¼ hours.)

[Note.—Answer the first four questions and any three of the remaining six questions.

Candidates must not attempt more than seven questions.]

Value.

10 1. Under each of the following heads give two rules for preserving health:—

(a) Sleep, (b) eating, (c) exercise, (d) ventilation, (e) bathing.

14 2. Tell briefly (a) why one should breathe through the nose rather than through the mouth, (b) how the blood is purified in the lungs.

10 3. Give directions for taking care of the eyes.

18 4. (a.) Mention some of the symptoms of tuberculosis.

(b.) How can this disease be guarded against?

16 5. (a.) What is sterilized water and how can it be obtained?

(b.) Explain briefly the process of pasteurizing milk.

16 6. (a.) What facts should one be in possession of before deciding either to spare or destroy a wild bird?

(b.) What measures would you recommend for the protection of bird-life in your district?

Value.

16 7. (a.) Name two common insects known to be carriers of disease. Give measures of prevention.

(b.) Name a destructive insect common in your district, and give the following information regarding it: (1) Time of year damage to plants is done, (2) kind of plants and nature of damage, (3) in what stage of its life-history the insect is when doing the harm, (4) means to be adopted in destroying such insect.

16 8. (a.) How would you justify the practice of pressing the soil down firmly over garden seeds when planting them?

(b.) Enumerate the most important benefits to be gained by frequently cultivating a garden.

16 9. (a.) What is a hybrid plant, and how is such a plant produced?

(b.) Under what conditions would you top-graft an apple-tree? Explain the process. Illustrate your answer with drawings.

16 10. (a.) What is meant by rotation of crops in farming? Why should rotation be practised?

(b.) Give as an example a suitable four-year rotation.

ENGLISH LITERATURE. (Time, 2 hours.)

Fourth Reader.

Value.

12 1. Quote any one of the following:—

(a.) Two consecutive stanzas of "The Lady of Shalott."
(b.) The Twenty-third Psalm.
(c.) Two consecutive stanzas of "The Chambered Nautilus."
(d.) Robert Herrick's "To Daffodils."
(e.) Reginald Heber's "Epiphany Hymn."

12 2. (a.) Who is the author of each of the following passages?

(b.) Who is speaking in each?

(c.) To whom do the italicized words refer?

(1.) "But I did find on one haunch a great broad scar, that tradition says was the fang-mark of Juno, the leader of Tannerey's wolf-hounds — . . ."

(2.) "'Regions Caesar never knew
Thy posterity shall sway;'"

(3.) "'Oft have we seen him, at the peep of dawn,
Brushing with hasty steps the dews away
To meet the sun upon the upland lawn.'"

12 3. Washington Irving says, "I passed several hours rambling about Westminster Abbey."

Trace his walk, naming the various parts of the Abbey through which he passed, and mention the chief things that attracted his attention in each part.

5 4. (a.) Select what you consider to be the most descriptive word in each of the following:—

(1.) "Thither they bent their way fired with fierce hope."
(2.) "Till the dappled dawn doth rise."
(3.) "It flooded the crimson twilight
Like the close of an Angel's Psalm."
(4.) "Far-called our navies melt away,"
(5.) "In the great minster transept
Where lights like glories fall."

Value.

5 (b.) Select what you consider to be the most musical word in each of the following:—

(1.) " . . . the bellman's drowsy charm
To bless the doors from nightly harm."

(2.) " . . . unwearied, rippling through the clear heaven in its gladness, . . . "

(3.) "The bridle bells rang merrily
As he rode down to Camelot."

(4.) "She knows not what the curse may be
And so she weaveth steadily,"

(5.) "O lonely grave in Moab's land!
O dark Beth-peor's hill!"

The Lady of the Lake.

9 1. (a.) Where is the scene of action of "The Lady of the Lake" laid?

(b.) Of what time in history does the story treat?

(c.) Write one short paragraph on the leading characteristics of the Highlanders of that time.

10 2. (a.) State in Scott's words how many huntsmen took part in the chase on the morning of the first day of the story.

(b.) Where did the chase start?

(c.) Show by reference to outstanding points on the route how the stag chose his course so as to wear out his pursuers.

8 3. (a.) Where did Roderick Dhu go after having sent out the Fiery Cross on the morning of the third day? Why did he go there?

(b.) What "stranger" visited the same district on the next day? Why did he visit that district?

15 4. Tell briefly, but clearly, what persons, places, or events are referred to in each of the following passages:—

(a.) "Each boatman, bending to his oar,
With measured sweep the burden bore,
In such wild cadence as the breeze
Makes through December's leafless trees."

(b.) "Alas, thou lovely lake! that e'er
Thy banks should echo sounds of fear!
The rocks, the bosky thickets, sleep
So stilly on thy bosom deep,
The lark's blithe carol from the cloud
Seems for the scene too gayly loud."

(c.) "'And I conjure thee, demon elf,
By Him whom demons fear,
To show us whence thou art thyself,
And what thine errand here?'"

(d.) "Thus giddy rumour shook the town,
Till closed the Night her pennons brown."

(e.) "Forth from the pass in tumult driven,
Like chaff before the wind of heaven,
The archery appear: . . . "

12 5. Quote any one of the following:—

(a.) About twelve lines descriptive of the Trosachs.

(b.) About twelve lines descriptive of Loch Katrine as it appeared on the morning of the third day of the story.

(c.) Any one stanza of Scott's farewell to the Harp of the North.

ARITHMETIC. (Time, 2 hours.)

Value.

16 1. Find the cost in each case:

(a.) 17 gallons of milk at 6 cents a pint.

(b.) 31 quarts of molasses at 30 cents a gallon.

(c.) 6 lb. 13 oz. of cheese at 20 cents a pound.

(d.) 55 oranges at 40 cents a dozen.

(e.) 14½ yards of cotton goods at 14½ cents a yard.

(f.) 860 lb. of sugar at $6.75 a hundredweight.

(g.) 3 tons of potatoes at $1.75 a sack (100 lb.).

(h.) 34.7 tons of coal at $8.25 a ton.

10 2. A street is 41.7 kilometres long; express this length (a) in metres, (b) in dekametres, (c) in centimetres, (d) in decimetres, (e) in hectometres.

12 3. A Fraser Valley poultry dealer shipped to a commission agent in Vancouver 1,968 lb. of dressed poultry which was sold at 38½ cents a pound. How much should the agent remit the dealer after deducting 5 per cent. for commission, $12.30 for freight, and $3.65 for storage?

14 4. (a.) I buy exercise books at 66 cents a dozen, and sell them at 10 cents apiece. Find the gain per cent.

(b.) A Victoria merchant bought goods invoiced in New York at $2.60 a yard upon which he pays an ad valorem duty of 15 per cent. and a specific duty of 7 cents a yard. At what price per yard must he sell the goods that he may make a profit of 35 per cent.?

12 5. Mr. Marshall paid $3.20 per bushel for his seed wheat and sowed 1¾ bushels per acre in a rectangular field 64 rods by 40 rods. His crop averaged 34½ bushels to the acre and sold at $2.05 a bushel. Find his net gain if his expenses for tillage and harvesting amounted to $24.50 per acre.

10 6. Find to the nearest cent the total cost of 56 planks, each 15 feet long, 9 inches wide, and 3 inches thick, and 42 scantlings, each 12 feet long, 4 inches wide, and 2 inches thick, at $24 per thousand board feet.

14 7. Robert Brown rented his house for a year at $45 a month. Repairs during the year cost him $42.60; he paid taxes at the rate of 22.7 mills on an assessment of $4,200, and a premium on an insurance policy of $3.500 at $^4/_5$ per cent. per annum. Find (a) the amount of his taxes, (b) the premium for insurance, (c) the net income for the year.

12 8. VANCOUVER, B.C., April 26th, 1918.

Six months after date I promise to pay Harry Johnston, or order, four hundred and fifty dollars, with interest at 7 per cent. per annum, value received.

J. K. HENDERSON.

How much will Henderson have to pay when the note becomes legally due?

DICTATION AND SPELLING. (Time, 1 hour.)

[NOTE.—The Presiding Examiner will please notify candidates before he begins to dictate this paper that the quality of writing in the Dictation and Spelling paper decides 50 per cent. of the marks awarded in the subject of Writing.

The passages (questions A and B) are to be read slowly and distinctly to candidates three times—the first time to enable them to gather the meaning; the second time to enable them to write the words; the third time for review. Punctuation marks should not be dictated. Candidates are not permitted to rewrite the passages.]

Value.

25 A. I gazed with inexpressible pleasure on these happy islands. At length, said I, "Show me now, I beseech thee, the secrets that lie hid under those dark clouds that cover the ocean on the other side of the rock of adamant." The Genius making me no answer, I turned about to address myself to him a second time, but I found that he had left me. I then turned again to the vision which I had been so long contemplating, but, instead of the rolling tide, the arched bridge, and the happy islands, I saw nothing but the long hollow valley of Bagdad, with oxen, sheep, and camels grazing upon the sides of it.

25 B. "Hear, gentle friends, ere yet for me
Ye break the bands of fealty.
My life, my honor, and my cause,
I tender free to Scotland's laws.
Are these so weak as must require
The aid of your misguided ire?
Or if I suffer causeless wrong,
Is then my selfish rage so strong,
My sense of public weal so low,
That, for mean vengeance on a foe,
Those cords of love I should unbind
Which knit my country and my kind?"

20 C. 1. They piled fresh fuel on the hearth.
2. Farewell to thee, pattern of old fidelity.
3. Bloody hands with palms uplifted were a hostile sign and symbol.
4. "Hear'st thou," he said, "the loud acclaim with which they greet the Douglas name?"
5. The strength of the expedition was to be comparatively overwhelming.
6. He thus addressed him, "Incomparable archer, I will keep my promise."

21 6. (a.) Who is the present premier of the Dominion? Who is the leader of the opposition?

(b.) Name the premier of British Columbia and two members of his Cabinet.

(c.) Explain the meaning of each of the following:—
Woman Suffrage, Victory Loan, Prohibition, Union Government.

DRAWING. (Time, 2 hours.)

Value.

25 (a.) Select four examples of work from your drawings, as follows:—

1. The best example of a geometrical pattern or design worked out in colours.
2. The best freehand design based upon some plant or insect.
3. The best example of a scale drawing; also the rough sketch which carries the measurements.
4. The best drawing of an object, if possible not from a plain type-model.

35 (b.) Freehand drawing.

Copy this drawing making the breadth 8 inches. (This distance should be measured with the ruler.)

[NOTE.—This illustration of a wrought-iron panel must not be reproduced. It is given merely to show the application of above drawing.]

Value.

20 (c.) Freehand object drawing from memory.

Sketch lightly a cube showing two sides and the top, the total width to be not less than six inches. Convert this type-model into an object and leave the drawing in its sketch state.

20 (d.) Geometrical drawing.

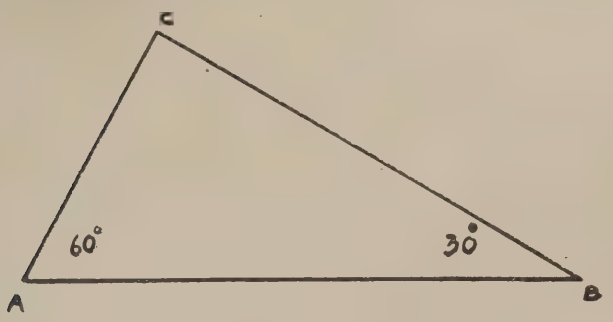
1. Construct a scale to measure feet and inches when 1¾ inches represents 1 foot.
2. Draw a line 2 feet long from above scale and let it represent the longest side of the triangle ABC. Complete the triangle.



APPENDIX C.

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMINATION, 1918.

Third-class Certificate (Non-professional), Full Course.

ARITHMETIC. (Time, 2 hours.)

[N.B.—All work must be shown.]

1. The length of the standard meter in Canada is 1.093944 yards.
   (a.) Express 1 kilometer as a decimal of a mile.
   (b.) Express 1 centimeter as a decimal of an inch.
2. During the ascent of a mountain the temperature fell from 25° C. to 5° C.
   (a.) How many degrees Fahrenheit did it fall?
   (b.) What would have been the reading of a Fahrenheit thermometer under the same circumstances?
3. A house that cost $15,500 rents for $155 a month. It is insured for $10,850 at ⅘% yearly; the taxes are 15 mills on an assessment of $12,450, and $346.45 is spent each year on repairs. What rate of interest on the original cost of the house does the investment pay?
4. A quarterly dividend of $6,412.50 was divided among the 8 shareholders of a corporation. Their respective holdings were 30, 15, 24, 18, 48, 36, 42, and 72 shares. What sum did each shareholder receive?
5. A football field is 110 yards long and 160 feet wide. Find the length of the sides of a square field having the same area.
6. (a.) Find the total area of the convex surface and the surface of the two bases of a cylinder whose diameter is 2 feet and whose height is 5 feet.
   (b.) Find the volume of the cylinder.
   (c.) Make a drawing, scale about 1 inch to the foot, of an oblong representing the convex surface of the cylinder. Mark the dimensions of the surface on your drawing.
7. A man bought two horses. For one he paid $100; for the other 10% more. He sold the first at a gain of 20% and the second at a loss of 10%. Find his gain or loss and his gain or loss per cent.

DRAWING. (Time, 2 hours.)

(a.) Colour.

Select the following from your drawing-books, and write your distinguishing number at the top right-hand corner of each. Before beginning your drawing give these to the Examiner.

1. An example of shading in pencil or colour.
2. An example of geometrical work with or without colour.
3. An example of colour-work.

(b.) Freehand.

Draw from memory any design you have made during the year.

(c.) Model and Object.

Draw from memory any group of models or objects you have studied during the year, introducing a supporting surface, a triangular prism, and a square pyramid, with shading.

(d.) Geometrical.

1. Draw any irregular five-sided figure, and on a line 3 inches long construct a similar figure.
2. In a square having a perimeter of 18 inches, inscribe 4 circles; each circle to touch two other circles and two sides of the square.
3. Construct a simple geometrical pattern to fill a space 5 inches by 7 inches.

Advanced Course, Junior Grade; and Third-class Certificate (Non-professional).

ENGLISH GRAMMAR. (Time 1½ hours.)

A. His hand trembled for a moment as he touched a packet of papers, his orders during the battle, and told me how each message there had been carried through this frightful fire by his runners, so that many of them had been killed, and of his other losses in officers; but then this square-built man with grizzled eyebrows and moustache and blue-grey eyes that had a steady light in them said again: "We held our line."

B. It is good that all our people should know the facts I have written, and get this glimpse of the spirit of France which is now mingling with the spirit of our own men on the same battlefields, as their bodies touch when they pass each other on the same roads.

1. Write out in full each dependent clause in A and B, giving its kind and relation.
2. Give the part of speech and the relation of each of the italicized words in A and B.
3. Classify the verb-phrases in B so as to indicate the particular use of each.
4. Define active voice and passive voice. Choose from A or B two short clauses, one illustrating the active, the other the passive. Write each clause in full, underlining the predicate.
5. Write sentences with carefully underlined examples of the following:—
   - (a.) A predicate adjective modifying the subject.
   - (b.) A predicate adjective modifying the object.
   - (c.) A predicate noun standing for the same thing as the subject.
   - (d.) A predicate noun standing for the same thing as the object.
   - (e.) An absolute phrase.

COMPOSITION. (Time, 2 hours.)

[NOTE.—Seventy-five per cent. of the value attached to this paper will be apportioned to the essay.]

1. "The olive-backed thrush you will enjoy after your day's work is quite finished. You will see him through the gathering haze, perched on a limb against the evening sky. He utters a loud joyful chirp, pauses for the attention he thus solicits, and then deliberately runs up five mellow double notes, ending with a metallic "ting chee chee chee" that sounds as though it had been struck on a triangle. Then a silence of exactly nine seconds, and the song is repeated. As regularly as clock-work this performance goes on. Time him as often as you will, you can never convict him of a second's variation. And he is so optimistic and willing, and his notes are so golden with the yellow of sunshine!"

   (a.) State the theme of the above paragraph.

(b.) Discuss the above paragraph with regard to the laws of Unity and Continuity.

(c.) Define Loose and Periodic Sentences, and give an example of each from the above paragraph.

2. Write an essay on one of the following subjects:—

(a.) The Outlaw's Life-story. (An imaginative sketch.)

(b.) A Spring Day in the Country with Wordsworth.

(c.) Our Duty to the Returned Soldier.

ENGLISH LITERATURE. (Time, 2 hours.)

1. Contrast Auburn and the scene of exile in America. Comment on the truthfulness of the two pictures. (Do not describe Auburn at greater length than the contrast requires.)

2. What, briefly, is the poet's chief thought in:—
(a) "The Green Linnet," (b) "The Ode to Autumn," (c) "Ozymandias of Egypt"?

3. (a.) "They were thy chosen music, Liberty!"
To what does the word they refer?
State in your own words what the poet means.

(b.) What contrast does Shelley make in "The Skylark" between the bird and the man who listens to the song?

(c.)
"Or, like stout Cortez, when with eagle eyes
He stared at the Pacific,—and all his men
Looked at each other with a wild surmise—
Silent upon a peak in Darien."

What does the word surmise mean?
What was the men's surmise?
Show that these lines illustrate a certain idea in the first part of the Sonnet.

4. Explain in some detail, giving suitable comment and description, what interested Byron in Florence.

5.
"Sylla was first of victors; but our own,
The sagest of usurpers, Cromwell!—he Too swept off senates while he hewed the throne
Down to a block—immortal rebel! See
What crimes it costs to be a moment free,
And famous through all ages! but beneath
His fate the moral lurks of destiny;
His day of double victory and death
Behold him win two realms, and, happier, yield his breath."

(a.) Over whom was Sylla victorious?

(b.) Scan the fourth line.

(c.) Write an historical note on the last two lines.

(d.) What is the most poetically striking passage in the stanza? Quote from the poem four other passages that are equally striking and about as brief. (Repetition of passages quoted in other parts of your paper is not permissible.)

6. Quote two stanzas from "Childe Harold," Canto IV. These must be from different parts of the poem and must not be selected from the section on Florence. State briefly why each stanza is characteristic of Byron.

ALGEBRA. (Time, 2 hours.)

[N.B.—All work must be shown. It must be neat and accurate.]

1. (a.) If $a=1$, $b=2$, $c=-3$, and $d=0$, find the numerical value of $125b^4c-9d^5+3abc^2d$.
   (b.) Divide $2a^3+10-16a-39a^2+15a^4$ by $2-4a-5a^2$.

2. (a.) Solve $127x+59y=1928$, $59x+127y=1792$.
   (b.) If I lend a sum of money at 6 per cent. per annum, simple interest, the interest for a certain time exceeds the loan by $100; but if I lend it at 3 per cent. per annum, simple interest, for one-fourth of the time the loan exceeds the interest by $425. How much do I lend?

3. Resolve into factors:—
   (a.) $12a^2x-4abx-3ax^3+bx^3$.
   (b.) $2+x(1-x)$.
   (c.) $x^4+x^2y^2+y^4$.
   (d.) $a^3b^3c^3-c^6$.
   (e.) $a^3x^2+8b^3x^2-4a^2y^2-32b^3y^2$.
   (f.) $a^2+b^2-c^2-d^2-2ab-2cd$.

4. Find the highest common factor and the lowest common multiple of $4a^3-3a^2-24a-9$ and $8a^3-2a^2-53a-39$.

5. (a) Simplify $\left(y+\frac{xy}{y-x}\right)\left(y-\frac{xy}{x+y}\right)\left(\frac{y^2-x^2}{y^2+x^2}\right)$.
   (b.) From $\frac{2}{x^3+x^2+x+1}$ subtract $\frac{2}{x^3-x^2+x-1}$.

6. Express the following as algebraical equations:—
   (a.) x is a number of 3 digits. The digit in the units' place is a; the digit in the tens' place is b; and the digit in the hundreds' place is c.
   (b.) A number composed of x factors each equal to y is ten times as large as the cube-root of z.
   (c.) A walked for x hours at the rate of y miles an hour while B travelling ten times as fast by train went the same distance in z minutes.

GEOMETRY. (Time, 2 hours.)

[NOTE.—Draw neat diagrams, use printed capitals, and give authorities.]

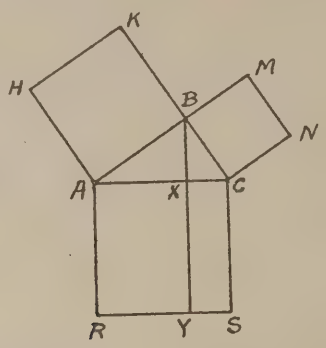
1. If a straight line, falling on two other straight lines, make the alternate angles equal to one another; then these two straight lines shall be parallel.

2. The three interior angles of a triangle are together equal to two right angles.

3. One angle of a 5-sided rectilinear figure is a right angle and the other angles are equal to each other. Find in degrees the size of each of the equal angles.

4. If one side of a triangle be greater than another, then the angle opposite to the greater side shall be greater than the angle opposite to the less.

5. In the diagram of Euclid, Book I., proposition 47, as here given, prove that the square BMNC is equal to the rectangle XCSY.



6. On the base of a given triangle construct a second triangle equal in area to the first and having its vertex in a given straight line. When is this impossible?

7. Show that the perpendiculars drawn from the extremities of the base of an isosceles triangle to the opposite sides are equal.

PHYSICS AND CHEMISTRY. (Time, 1½ hours.)

[NOTE.—Use diagrams of apparatus when possible.]

1. (a.) Describe an experiment to illustrate the principle of the balance.
   (b.) If a boy of mass 100 pounds sits on one side of a balanced see-saw 4 feet from the log upon which is rests and is balanced by another boy who sits 5 feet from the log, how much does the second boy weigh?

2. Describe a chemical hygrometer and explain how it works. Of what value is the information we get from this instrument?

3. What are convection currents? Explain clearly how they are used in the heating and the ventilation of buildings.

4. How can it be proved that the mass of the substances formed when a candle burns is greater than that of the candle burnt? Where does the extra weight come from?

5. Explain how the chemical composition of water may be determined by experiment.

6. Write as fully as possible on the process of lime-burning.

PHYSIOLOGY. (Time, 1½ hours.)

[NOTE.—Any five questions constitute a full paper.]

1. Discuss the nutritive value of each of the following foods: Eggs; meats; wheat; peas and beans; potatoes.
   Why is broiling the best method, and frying the least desirable of all the methods of cooking meats?

2. What secretions are necessary to the digestion of food? Where are they respectively produced, and what is the function of each?

3. What are Adenoids? Why is their prompt removal necessary?

4. Discuss Reflex Action as fully as you can.

5. Make sketches showing the path of the light rays entering (a) a normal eye, (b) a far-sighted eye, and (c) a short-sighted eye. What sort of glasses is used to remedy the defects of (b) and (c) respectively.

6. What is Pulmonary Tuberculosis? By what is it caused? How does one contract the disease? How can it be guarded against? Can it be cured? If it can, how?

BOTANY. (Time, 1½ hours.)

[NOTE.—Where possible make diagrams.]

1. Describe experiments to show:—
   (a.) Transpiration of water from leaves.
   (b.) The presence of starch in leaves. Under what conditions is starch found in leaves?
   (c.) That oxygen is essential to plant-life.

2. Write short accounts, giving examples:—
   (a.) Of pollination under the heads: wind-pollination, insect-pollination, and self-pollination.
   (b.) Of the dispersal of seeds under the heads: agents of dispersal, and the relation of seed and fruit structures to methods of seed dispersal.

3. (a.) Describe a plant (root, stem, leaf, and flower) belonging to each of two of the following families:—
   (1.) Liliaceæ.
   (2.) Ranunculaceæ.
   (3.) Labiatæ.
   (4.) Compositæ.
   (b.) What characters of the plants described are characteristic of the families to which each belongs?

LATIN. (Time, 2 hours.)

1. Decline:—
   (a.) In the singular: pecus, explorator, res, pes, portus.
   (b.) In the plural: sui, duo (all genders), castra, idem (neuter only).

2. Compare, giving the meaning of the positive: altus, bene, prudens, multus, audax.

3. Give the Latin for: 17, 8th, 7th, 96, 44.

4. Give the principal parts and meaning of each of the following verbs: tollo, infero, absum, video, augeo, traduco, ejicio, arbitror, efficio, quaero.

5. Write in tabular form the first person singular of all the tenses of the indicative mood of eo, fio, malo, and the first person plural of all the tenses of the subjunctive mood of volo, possum.

6. Express in Latin: I have waged war. In a loud voice. Experience in war. At midnight. For many reasons. A war galley. I shall put to flight. The heights. I build a bridge over the river. In what place?

7. Translate into English:—
   (a.) Nostri se suaque defendunt
   (b.) Cur non fiendi finem faciunt?

(c.) Tertia hora una cum nuntio exit.

(d.) Arma ceperunt ne hoc accideret.

(e.) Legatos miserunt qui pacem peterent.

(g.) Scisne quacum legione sim?

(h.) Si obsides mittant pacem faciamus.

(i.) Polliciti sunt se venturos esse.

(j.) Eo cum pervenissent paucos dies ibi morati sunt.

Explain the reason for the tense and mood of the words in italics.

8. Translate into Latin:—

(a.) Terrified by the arrival of the Romans, he led back his troops.

(b.) When he had delivered this speech, he marched as soon as possible.

(c.) You must not lose the military standards.

(d.) He warned the centurions not to attack the enemy.

(e.) They pointed out that the depth of the river was great.

9. Translate into idiomatic English:—

(a.) Dum paucos dies ibi rei frumentariae causa moratur, milites falsis rumoribus magnopere perturbati sunt. Nam Galli ac mercatores Germanos ingenti magnitudine esse corporum, incredibilique virtute praedicabant. Caesar cum animadvertisset milites propter timorem castra movere ac signa contra hostes ferre nolle, convocato concilio, demonstrat Germanos saepe ab Helvetiis superatos esse, qui tamen pares esse exercitui Romano non potuissent. Tum affirmavit se proxima nocte quarta vigilia castra moturum, atque si praeterea nemo sequeretur, tamen se cum sola decima legione iturum, de qua non dubitaret.

(b.) Decimo anno belli, controversia magna inter Agamemnona et Achillem orta est, atque Achilles, ira incensus, pugna abstinere constituit. Trojani, cum haec cognovissent, Graecos audacius adorti sunt, atque naves eorum incendissent, nisi Patroclus, qui Achilli amicissimus erat, eum rogavisset ut auxilio Graecis veniret. Neque Achilli persuadere potuit ut ipse in proelium rediret; sed Achilles arma et equos suos Patroclo dedit et milites suos subsidio Graecis laborantibus misit.

GREEK. (Time, 2 hours.)

1. Translate into Greek with accents:—

(a.) I will do whatever he wishes.

(b.) If any one steals, he is punished.

(c.) This was done when Clearchus was leader.

(d.) They fear the barbarians will not follow them.

(e.) He says you did this.

(f.) Let us honour the man.

(g.) When they had conquered the barbarians they proceeded home.

(h.) These are greater cowards than the others.

2. Decline in full, giving all genders: πᾶς, μέλας, ἀργυροῦς, ἀληθής, οὗτος.

3. Write in Greek the cardinal numerals from one to ten, inclusive.

4. Give the meanings of and cases governed by the following prepositions: ἀντί, εἰς, ἐν, κατά, ἐξ.

5. Explain fully, giving examples in English and Greek:—
   (a.) The genitive absolute.
   (b.) Purpose clauses, affirmative and negative.
6. Write a synopsis or paradigm of:—
   (a.) The present system of λύω, active and passive.
   (b.) First aorist system of δηλόω, active.
   (c.) Perfect system of τιμάω, active.
7. Give in tabulated form the genitive singular, gender, and meaning of: γέρων, ὄρνις, νοῦς, πρᾶγμα, σχολή, μήν, σφενδονήτης, κρέας, παῖς, κράτος, χείρ, ὥρα, πόλις, ἰχθῦς, δύναμις, δόρυ, γένος, δρόμος, φοῖνιξ, νύξ.
8. Translate into English:—

"Μετὰ ταῦτα," ἔφη, "ὦ Ὀρόντα, τί σε ἠδίκησα;" ἀποκρῖνεται ὅτι οὐδὲν ἠδίκησε. πάλιν δὲ ὁ Κῦρος ἠρώτα, "Οὐκοῦν ὕστερον, ὡς αὐτὸς σὺ ὁμολογεῖς, οὐδὲν ὑπ' ἐμοῦ ἀδικούμενος κακῶς ἐποίεις τὴν ἐμὴν χώραν;" ἔφη ὁ Ὀρόντας. "Οὐκοῦν," ἔφη ὁ Κῦρος, "ὁπότ' αὖ ἐγίγνωσκες τὴν σαυτοῦ δύναμιν, ἐλθὼν ἐπὶ τὸν τῆς Ἀρτέμιδος βωμὸν καὶ πείσας ἐμὲ πιστὰ πάλιν ἔδωκάς μοι καὶ ἔλαβες παρ' ἐμοῦ;" καὶ ταῦθ' ὁμολόγει ὁ Ὀρόντας.

French. (Time, 2 hours.)

French (Fraser and Squair, etc.). (Time, 2 hours.)

1. Turn the following into the past indefinite:—
   (1.) Pourquoi vous dépêchez-vous? (2.) Les gants qu'elle s'achète sont noirs. (3.) Elles s'en vont avant lui. (4.) Ces livres se publient à Paris. (5.) Ma mère s'en souvient.
2. Replace infinitives by mood and tense required by context:—
   (1.) Ils iront patiner aussitôt qu'ils avoir fini. (2.) Si nous pouvoir, nous aller jusqu' au petit lac. (3.) Un soir un boulanger du village se disposer à se coucher lorsqu'il entendre un coup violent. (4.) Il faut que nous aller chez la couturière et que nous être chez elle vers dix heures. (5.) Ma mère désire que tu venir avec moi afin que nous pouvoir choisir une robe. (6.) La seule chose que je pouvoir faire c'est d'en choisir une qui m'aller bien. (7.) Il importe aussi qu'elle être bien coupée et que la couturière savoir son métier. (8.) Je doute qu'il y en avoir de plus habiles, quelque bonnes qu'elles être.
3. Insert in blank spaces the correct form of the comparative and of the superlative:—
   (1.) Voici de bonnes plumes; celles de Charles sont . . . ; mais c'est moi qui ai . . . (2.) Cette lettre est bien écrite; celle-ci l'est . . . ; mais c'est celle de Jean qui l'est . . . (3.) Ce tableau n'a pas beaucoup de mérite; celui-là en a encore . . . ; mais c'est le vôtre qui en a . . .
4. Put into French (with numerals in full):—
   (1.) A hundred kilometres an hour. (2.) I paid dear for them. (3.) The steamer starts every Monday. (4.) Louis the Fourteenth. (5.) They arrived on the 6th. (6.) It is half-past two. (7.) At ten years of age.
5. (a.) Insert suitable demonstrative pronouns in blank spaces:—
   (1.) J'ai perdu ma canne et . . . de mon frère. (2.) Voici deux chapeaux; gardez . . . et donnez-moi . . . (3.) Quelle cravate voulez-vous? Je veux . . . que vous avez à la main. (4.) Qui parle?— . . . sont eux. (5.) Avez-vous vu ces messieurs?—Oui, . . . sont des amis de Jean.

   (b.) Substitute personal pronouns for expressions in italics:—
   (1.) J'ai apporté la lettre à mon père. (2.) Pourquoi n'a-t-il pas donné de l'argent aux pauvres. (3.) Il vous enverra chez sa sœur. (4.) Donnez-moi de l'argent. (5.) Voici du bon thé. (6.) Va à la poste.

6. Translate (with special attention to words in italics):—

(a.) (1.) What amuses you? (2.) This is what amuses me. (3.) It is something very interesting. (4.) We arrived two days ago. (5.) My question has been answered. (6.) The French people love the theatre. (7.) I hope I shall succeed. (8.) My father rose late.

(b.) (1.) We should have lent him some money if we had had any. (2.) After working with much success, he sees old age coming. (3.) Yesterday I could not read the letter, but to-day I could do it. (4.) You ought to begin your preparations at once if you are to travel. (5.) He will send for a book and will make him read it. (6.) The doctor does not wish to sleep, but he wishes the patient to sleep.

7. Translate:—

(a.) Il prit un panier couvert qu'il avait caché au bas d'une armoire. Puis il revint auprès de Moumouth, qu'il saisit brusquement par le cou; l'infortuné, s'éveillant en sursaut, se trouva suspendu dans le vide, face à face avec le père Lustucru, son ennemi. Dans cette horrible situation, il voulut crier, se débattre, appeler au secours, mais il n'en eut pas le temps. L'odieux maître d'hôtel plongea le pauvre chat dans le panier, assujettit solidement le couvercle, et gagna rapidement l'escalier, les yeux hagards, les cheveux hérissés comme un homme qui commet un crime.

(b.) Une pluie battante, mêlée de grêlons, fouettait les vitres de la chambre, et le vent s'engouffrait avec des mugissements lugubres dans les longs corridors de l'hôtel. Alors le pauvre Faribole songea au froid qui allait le saisir, aux privations qui l'attendaient, à l'exiguïté de ses ressources, à l'immensité de son appétit, au désagrément de coucher sur les grèves humides de la Seine; le génie du mal s'empara de lui, et lui souffla à l'oreille ces mots du père Lustucru: "Qu'est-ce qu'un chat?"

"Monsieur Lustucru," dit-il en pleurant, "ne me renvoyez pas, je ferai tout ce que vous voudrez."

(c.) Toutefois les iniquités du maître d'hôtel ne devaient pas rester longtemps impunies. Le jour même, la mère Michel, en rangeant l'armoire de l'antichambre, fut fort étonnée d'y trouver trois cadavres de rats et de souris; elle se demandait comment ils avaient succombé, lorsqu'elle reconnut la fameuse pâtée que le chat avait refusé de manger et qu'on avait laissée là par mégarde. Cette découverte déchira le voile qui couvrait le passé de Lustucru. La mère Michel, devinant que les accusations de Faribole étaient fondées, s'empressa d'avertir madame de la Grenouillère, qui lui recommanda le silence, et fit venir le maître d'hôtel.

FRENCH (Siepmann, etc.). (Time, 2 hours.)

1. Put the following sentences in the plural and the verb in the past indefinite:—

(1.) Je la regarde tous les jours. (2.) Quelle belle fleur vous m'apportez! (3.) La cherches-tu encore? (4.) Ne la trouverons-nous pas? (5.) Quels livres cherches-tu?

2. Rewrite the following sentences, beginning with the words printed in parenthesis, and making the necessary changes, thus forming sixteen sentences:—

(1.) Tu es content. (2.) Il finit son travail. (3.) Nous recevons nos amis. (4.) Ils vendent leurs chevaux. (Hier—lorsqu'il arriva—Si le temps était beau—Dès que je serai de retour.)

3. Construct six sentences, inserting the adjective nombreux in (a), beau in (b), to express (1) equality, (2) superiority, (3) inferiority.

(a.) Cette année ses cadeaux sont—que l'année dernière. (b.) Le temps était—ce matin que cette après-midi.

4. In each of the following phrases substitute the word given in parenthesis for the preceding noun:—

(1.) L'oeuf frais (herbe). (2.) Des cheveux roux (feuilles). (3.) L'amour maternel (affection). (4.) Un médecin cruel (maladie). (5.) Mon vieux cheval (voiture). (6.) Cet enfant joyeux (petite fille).

5. (a.) Answer the following questions, using a possessive pronoun in your answers:—

(1.) Dans quelle maison demeurez-vous? (2.) Où est votre jardin? (3.) A qui est ce livre? (4.) Est-ce ton frère? (5.) Quel cheval choisirez-vous? (6.) Est-ce sa voiture?

(b.) For the words in italics substitute the corresponding personal pronouns:—

(1.) Attendez-vous les lettres? (2.) La mer reflétait le soleil. (3.) Le capitaine parlait aux matelots. (4.) Il songe à ses parents. (5.) Parlez de vos aventures. (6.) Il m'accrochai à ses jambes.

6. Translate:—

(a.) (1.) The cook has gone to market. (2.) He has always quite fresh eggs. (3.) She has as much work as the others. (4.) It is a quarter to seven. (5.) Look at those flowers. (6.) How beautiful they are! (7.) In spring it is delightful in the country. (8.) What animals are there in the grazing-fields?

(b.) Paul and I were one day walking about in the woods, when he suddenly stopped under a tree and exclaimed: Make haste, I want to show you something. What do you think it was? It was a nest. When I came near he had already climbed up the tree. I asked him not to disturb the poor little birds, but he did not listen. In the end he got to the branch on which the nest was and shouted: There are young ones in it! I begged him in vain not to touch them. However, just as he was stretching out his right hand to take the nest the branch broke, and the naughty little boy fell down to the ground uttering pitiful cries.

7. Translate:—

(a.) Il prit un panier couvert qu'il avait caché au bas d'une armoire. Puis il revint auprès de Moumouth, qu'il saisit brusquement par le cou; l'infortuné, s'éveillant en sursaut, se trouva suspendu dans le vidi, face à face avec le père Lustucru, son ennemi. Dans cette horrible situation, il voulut crier, se débattre, appeler au secours, mais il n'en eut pas le temps. L'odieux maître d'hôtel plongea le pauvre chat dans le panier, assujettit solidement le couvercle, et gagna rapidement l'escalier, les yeux hagards, les cheveux hérissés comme un homme qui commet un crime.

(b.) Une pluie battante, mêlée de grêlons, fouettait les vitres de la chambre, et le vent s'engouffrait avec des mugissements lugubres dans les longs corridors de l'hôtel. Alors le pauvre Faribole songea au froid qui allait le saisir, aux privations qui l'attendaient, à l'exiguïté de ses ressources, à l'immensité de son appétit, au désagrément de coucher sur les grèves humides de la Seine; le génie du mal s'empara de lui, et lui souffla à l'oreille ces mots du père Lustucru: "Qu'est-ce qu'un chat?"

"Monsieur Lustucru," dit-il en pleurant, "ne me renvoyez pas, je ferai tout ce que vous voudrez."

(c.) Toutefois les iniquités du maître d'hôtel ne devaient pas rester longtemps impunies. Le jour même, la mère Michel, en rangeant l'armoire de l'antichambre, fut fort étonnée d'y trouver trois cadavres de rats et de souris; elle se demandait comment ils avaient succombé, lorsqu'elle reconnut la fameuse pâtée que le chat avait refusé de manger et qu'on avait laissée là par mégarde. Cette découverte déchira le voile qui couvrait le passé de Lustucru. La mère Michel, devinant que les accusations de Faribole étaient fondées, s'empressa d'avertir madame de la Grenouillère, qui lui recommanda le silence, et fit venir le maître d'hôtel.

(a.) Auf der Landſtraße ging es noch ſchneller. Der Kutſcher blickte mitunter verſtohlen hinter ſich: ich glaube, er fürchtete, ſie in ihrem gelben Atlasrocke auf dem Sarge ſitzen zu ſehen. Deshalb peitſchte er die Pferde unvernünftig, und hielt dabei die Zügel ſo ſtraff angezogen, daß die Pferde ſchäumten. Sie waren jung und mutig, ein Haſe ſprang über den Weg; ſie gingen durch. Die alte ſtille Jungfer, die Jahr aus Jahr ein ſich zu Hauſe nur in langſamen Kreisgange bewegt hatte, fuhr nun, eine Tote, über Stock und Stein auf der offenen Landſtraße. Der Sarg, in Strohdecken gehüllt, flog herab und blieb auf dem Wege liegen, während Pferde, Kutſcher und Wagen in wildem Fluge von dannen jagten. Die Lerche ſtieg ſingend vom Felde auf, zwitſcherte ihren Morgengeſang über dem Sarg, ſetzte ſich darauf und pickte mit dem Schnabel in die Strohdecke, als wollte ſie ſie zerreißen. Die Lerche erhob ſich wieder ſingend, und ich zog mich zurück hinter die roten Morgenwolken."

Er hatte Langeweile gehabt unten im Hofe und hatte nun den Weg zur Treppe hinauf gefunden; ich habe alles gesehen," sagte der Mond. „Die Kinder erschraken sehr über das große zottige Tier; jedes kroch in seinen Winkel, er entdeckte sie aber alle drei und beschnüffelte sie, that ihnen aber nichts zu leide. „„Das ist gewiß ein großer Hund," " dachten sie, und dann streichelten sie ihn; er legte sich auf den Fußboden, der kleinste Junge kletterte auf ihn hinauf und spielte mit seinem goldlockigen Köpfchen Verstecken in dem dichten schwarzen Pelz. Jetzt nahm der älteste Knabe seine Trommel und schlug darauf, daß es dröhnte; der Bär erhob sich auf den Hinterfüßen und fing an zu tanzen; es war allerliebst anzusehen.

SHORTHAND DICTATION.

[NOTE TO PRESIDING EXAMINER.—Please provide candidates with plain white letter paper and No. 7 envelopes.]

[NOTE.—The Examiner will read each section twice; first, rapidly, and secondly, at the rate of one hundred and thirty words per minute. Candidates will write at the second reading only. When all the dictation has been given, the candidates will make a typewritten transcription of their notes and enclose each letter in a separate envelope, on which must be placed the proper address as if for mailing. The time required by each candidate for making the transcription will be noted by the Presiding Examiner. Both shorthand and typewritten transcription are to be handed in.]

1. Vancouver, B.C., June 25, 1918. Mr. Henry H. Wilson, Summerland, B.C. Dear Sir: We are pleased to offer for your investment, subject to prior sale and advance in price, the (32) new issue of Anglo-French 5% Five-year Gold Bonds at 97 and interest, netting close to 5½%.

The loan is definitely due and payable in five years. At (65) your option, however, these bonds may be converted into a 4½% obligation maturing in from fifteen to twenty-five years. If we may draw any conclusion from the past, (97) it would seem that this may become a valuable investment privilege.

The bond is unusual in that the United Kingdom of Great Britain and the Republic of France are not only jointly liable, (130) but each of the two nations is severally liable for the punctual payment of the entire loan, principal and interest.

We recommend these bonds for investment and shall be very glad to (162) be advised of your wishes. Yours very truly, ———, Manager Bond Department, (173).

2. Vancouver, B.C., May 1, 1918. Mr. E. H. Gill, Victoria, B.C. Dear Sir: In reply to your recent letter, it gives me pleasure to say that I am quite willing (32) to entertain the proposition to enlarge my business by taking a partner. I note that you have $4,500 in cash to invest, and realize that the offer of a (65) liberal line of credit by the house you have so long represented would be a great advantage to us. It would be practically the same as an enlargement to that extent of (97) the capital in hand.

At the present time I have a stock of saleable goods that cost something over $3,200, office furniture worth about $200, and could probably (130) turn in $500 in cash. Let me say further that I have a friend in New Westminster who would, I think, like to go into business for himself. He is (162) a book-keeper for a manufacturing company and has saved his money. I believe he would like to join us in this enterprise, and if agreeable to you I should be pleased to have (195) him come in. He would invest from $3,000 to $5,000. This would enable us to put the business on an easy footing. Can you not come up soon (227) and talk the matter over? Very truly yours (235).

3. Victoria, B.C., June 17th, 1918. Mr. Robert Brown, Vancouver, B.C. Dear Mr. Brown: Returning to the city, I find your letter of the 10th, which is very satisfactory. It seems (32) to me that we are making progress. It is a happy thought of yours to ask Mr. Embler to come into the business. It would give us all the capital we need, and (65) make just the right sort of working force to carry on the business comfortably. You would naturally take general charge of the store, Mr. Embler is just the man to take care (97) of the accounts, while I could utilize my favourable acquaintance with the trade by spending a large part of my time on the road.

It seems that what we need now is to (130) get together and agree on details, in case it should appear on personal inspection that we all feel satisfied to cast in our lots together. So, if it is agreeable to you (162) and Mr. Embler, I will meet you on Thursday evening next at the Hotel Vancouver and will remain in Vancouver as long as circumstances may require. Yours very truly (191).

4. Calgary, Alta., January 3, 1918. Geo. H. Black, Kamloops, B.C. Dear Sir: Your application for the position of Sales Manager was duly considered by our Board of Directors, and I am (32) instructed by them to notify you that they have decided to give you the position. Sincerely yours (49).

5. Winnipeg, Man., April 16, 1918. Messrs. James Morley & Co., Yonge St. East, Toronto. Gentlemen: The exigencies of my business necessitating my frequent absence abroad, I have accorded power of procuration to (32) Mr. Henry Polland, who has ably assisted me for the last twenty years, and has been connected with this business from the date of its establishment.

Below you will find a facsimile of (65) his signature, which you will please regard as my own. Yours respectfully (77).

Section A.

FRUIT LANDS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Roughly speaking, there are about a million acres of land suitable for orchards in the settled portions of the Province. The lands are so widely distributed, and so intersected by great ranges of mountains, that an accurate estimate is impossible. In the eastern portion is situated the vast Kootenay District, having within its boundaries many beautiful and extensive valleys, and penetrated everywhere by lakes and rivers of unsurpassed loveliness. Some of these valleys have sufficient rainfall to grow fruit successfully without irrigation, and this is particularly true of those lands which are adjacent to the larger bodies of water.

The District of Yale, which borders Kootenay on the west, embraces the valleys of the Okanagan, the Nicola, the Kettle River country, the valleys of the North and South Thompson, the Shuswap Lake District, the Similkameen, and a portion of the district lying north of Lytton, where the Thompson pours its waters into the Fraser River. Speaking broadly, this whole territory may be described as the semi-arid portion of British Columbia—a region characterized by a rainfall insufficient for successful horticulture without irrigation.

Within the territory so described, however, there are sections of country so well watered by nature that they may dispense with irrigation. The Westminster District, comprising the great area on each side of the Fraser River and stretching from the coast eastward to Yale, embraces a vast quantity of rich agricultural lands, where there is a heavy rainfall and where, from a fruit-growing point of view, a careful attention must constantly be given to those fungous diseases which attack fruits and fruit-trees so much more readily in moist than in dry climates.

There remains on Vancouver Island a very large area of land admirably adapted for fruit-culture, an area to a considerable extent covered by a luxuriant growth of heavy timber, with a climate neither so wet as the coast mainland, nor so dry as the large interior districts. Apart from the large areas which have been referred to, there is a vast territory lying to the north of the Province, only a small portion of which has been even explored, and in which the future will doubtless reveal the existence of thousands of acres suitable to the culture of many kinds of fruits. (380 words.)

ON DISCRETION.

I have often thought that if the minds of men were laid open, we should see but little difference between that of a wise man and that of a fool. There are infinite reveries, numberless extravagances, and a succession of vanities which pass through both. The great difference is that the first knows how to pick and cull his thoughts for conversation, by suppressing some and communicating others, whereas the other lets them all indifferently fly out in words. This sort of discretion, however, has no place in private conversation between intimate friends. On such occasions the wisest men often talk like the weakest; for, indeed, talking with a friend is nothing else than thinking aloud. Tully has, therefore, very justly exposed a precept, delivered by some ancient writers, that a man should live with his friend in such a manner that if he became his enemy, it should not be in his power to hurt him. The first part of this rule, which regards our behaviour towards an enemy, is indeed very reasonable as well as prudential; but the latter part of it, which regards our behaviour towards a friend, savours more of cunning than discretion, and would cut a man off from the greatest pleasures of life—which are, the freedoms of conversation with a bosom friend. Besides, when a friend is turned into an enemy, the world is just enough to accuse the perfidiousness of the friend rather than the indiscretion of the person who confided in him. Discretion not only shows itself in words, but in all circumstances of action, and is, like the under-agent of Providence, to guide and direct us in the ordinary concerns of life.

Section B.

Vernon, B.C., March 20th, 1918. Messrs. Newton and James, 1168 19th Street, Edmonton, Alta. Gentlemen: Though we see no reason whatever for changing our opinion regarding the alleged violation of the rules of the Anglo-American Fire Insurance Co., we have decided to return all the policies for cancellation to the various companies interested. While we have considered the question of asking the companies to stand by us in an issue on the subject, we have not asked any company to take this position, preferring to place the insurance outside of your jurisdiction, and thus dispose of the numerous complications. Yours very truly.

The Algoma Central and Hudson Bay Railway Company, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 1, 1918. A. J. Kirst in Canadian Company, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. Dear Sirs: During the past summer we used one of your "One-man Stump-pullers" in connection with the construction of wagon-roads on our land in the "Clay Belt of Northern Ontario." As you claimed, the machine showed great strength and wonderful power, and it gave us perfect satisfaction. Our settlers, also, are highly pleased at the possibilities offered by your "One-man Stump-puller" for clearing land. Yours truly, ———, General Superintendent and Chief Engineer.

Vancouver, B.C., June 7, 1918. A. O. Freeman, Esq., Customs, Freight, and Claims Broker, Calgary, Alta. Dear Sir: Herewith we return claim of E. D. Potter & Co., declined. ¶ We fail to understand why the C.P.R. should be held in any way responsible for this loss. The halibut was delivered to consignees in good order. If the parties so receiving the fish thought best to leave them on the platform for thirty-five days, or even more, it is not our fault if the goods perished. ¶ Had the consignees immediately upon receipt of the shipment showed and verified their loss, we might entertain the claim, but under the circumstances we cannot pay it. Yours truly.

1. Write the following in good letter form:—

Ashcroft, B.C., March 20th, 1918. Brown Brothers, Vancouver, B.C. Gentlemen: Will you please consider me the first time there is a vacancy in your force of clothing salesmen? ¶ I am at present employed with Smith & Co., grocers, but have advanced as far as it is possible with this firm and want to get where I shall have a chance to do more. ¶ I am twenty-three years old, single, and have a good sales record with Smith & Co., with whom I have been for the last four years as clerk and book-keeper. I went with Smith & Co. after graduating from the Commercial Department of the King Edward High School, Vancouver. I have decided that clothing would be the most agreeable line to me, and I am determined to get into the work sooner or later. I feel sure that I could bring with me the trade of a number of my acquaintances. Could you offer me a chance now? I should be pleased to come in to see you at any time that you could talk with me. Yours truly.

2. Write rapidly six times:—

"Rome to the charge!" cried Aulus;
"The foe begins to yield!
Charge for the hearth of Vesta!
Charge for the Golden Shield!"

3. Copy the following line of figures twenty times, preserving the regular spaces between the groups so that the work shall stand in vertical columns, as if for adding (rulers must not be used):—

A. Rapid Calculation.

[NOTE.—The time allowance for Arithmetic, Third-year Course, Commercial, is 2½ hours; after the expiration of 30 minutes, answers to Section A (Rapid Calculation) will be collected, and Section B (General) will then be distributed to candidates.]

1. How many days is it from June 12, 1915, to December 14, 1917?

2. What sum increased by $^{8}/_{9}$% of itself equals $81.72?

3. What will it cost to fence a square 10-acre field at 80c. a rod?

4. Find the total number of board-feet in the following: 80 pcs. 2″ x 4″ x 18′; 60 pcs. 2″ x 4″ x 12′; 120 pcs. 2″ x 6″ x 12′.

5. At a certain point in Alberta the rainfall by months was as follows: 1.6, 1.2, 1.4, 1.6, 1.0, .5, .4, .7, 1.0, 1.2, 1.3, and 1.3 inches. What was the average monthly rainfall?

6. Navy brass is composed of .62 copper, .01 tin, and .37 zinc. The weight of a certain brass casting is 2,785 lb. How much of each kind of metal was used to produce the casting?

7. An agent for the Okanagan Fruit Co. sold 100 bbls. apples at $3 per bbl., 100 bbls. at $2.50 per bbl., and 30 bbls. at $2 per bbl. What was his charge for commission at 5%?

8. A person having $5,000 Bank Stock sells out when it is at 40% premium. What amount of money does he receive, brokerage being ⅛%?

9. Express each of the following as a percentage:—

(a.) The rate of commission when an agent receives $52.20 for collecting $1,740.

(b.) Eleven games won out of fifteen games played.

(c.) The rate of increase in population of a town from 15,624 to 17,245.

(d.) The increase in price of milk from 8 quarts for $1.00 to 7 quarts for $1.00.

(e.) A leakage of 7 pints from a 10-gallon cask.

(f.) The increase in capacity when a potato-bin 30′ x 4½′ x 2½′ is reconstructed as a bin 40′ x 4½′ x 2½′.

(g.) The loss in capacity of a water-tank 5′ deep when sand to the depth of 3″ has accumulated in the bottom.

10. A contractor pays his men on what is called the "differential bonus" plan. A labourer is paid for shovelling dirt at $2.00 a day. For every yard he shovels over 12 he receives a bonus of 6c., and for every yard over 18 he gets an additional 5c. Find the pay of the following labourers:—

No. 29 ..... 15 yd.
No. 32 ..... 21 yd.
No. 34 ..... 22 yd.

1. A cylindrical oil-tank on a car is 5 ft. in diameter and 30 ft. long. What is its capacity (a) in cubic feet, (b) in barrels, (c) in gallons? (One barrel of oil contains 35 gallons.)

2. On January 1, 1917, I bought a house and lot for $5,000.00. During the year I built an annex which cost $3,567.27 and put in a heating plant which cost $963.04. I paid taxes amounting to $55.00, spent $450.00 for repairs and $55.60 for grading the yard. My income from rents during the year was $1,775.00. At the end of the year I sold the house for $9,650.00, paying the agent a commission of $193.00 for selling. What did I lose or gain upon the entire investment?

3. Henderson's assets on January 1, 1917, were $13,456.27. His liabilities were $3,429.68. During the year his gains were $10,564.59 and his losses were $5,789.67. His liabilities at the end of the year were $4,862.36. What were his assets at the end of the year?

4. The Bronson Machinery Co. sold $4,500 worth of machinery to the Wilson Valve Co. on April 1, 1918, on the following terms: Cash, $1,000; note for $1,500, without interest, payable in 4 mo.; note for $2,000, without interest, payable in 6 mo. At what value should these notes be listed among the assets of the Bronson Machinery Co. on July 1, 1918?

5. A mortgage of $2,500, bearing interest at 6% per annum, payable half-yearly, has two years to run. Find its present value, calculating at 8% per annum, payable half-yearly.

6. A contractor, having engaged to lay 12 mi. of railway in 180 da., finds that 90 men have finished 4 mi. in 100 da. How many more men must be employed to finish the work in the given time?

7. If milk yields 18% of cream, and cream yields 24% of butter, how many gallons of milk will be required to make 500 lb. of butter? (A gallon of milk weighs approximately 10 lb.)

8. Smith and Brown form a partnership and invest in their business capital in the proportion of 2 to 3. It is agreed that at the end of the first year Smith is to receive 40% of the profits for conducting the business, and that the remaining profits will be divided according to the capital invested by each. On this basis of calculation Smith receives $2,560 and Brown $1,440. Find the amount invested by each, if the profits were 25% of the capital.

9. A western farmer forwarded 4,000 bushels of wheat to a commission merchant in Fort William with instructions to sell and return the proceeds, after deducting freight and other charges. The agent's statement contained the following: Freight charges, $760; elevator and other expenses, $232.00; commission, $108.00. If the farmer received $2,500, find (1) the rate of commission charged, (2) the selling price of a bushel of wheat at Fort William, (3) the selling price of a bushel of wheat at the farmer's market town if he would have lost 20% by selling there.

10. A company with a paid-up capital of $60,000 made net profits during 1917 of $5,640.80.

(a.) What dividend could they have declared?

(b.) They declared a dividend of 7½% and passed the balance to reserve. What was passed to reserve?

(c.) J. Brown owns 80 ($50) shares. What was his dividend?

(d.) He bought this stock at 10% below par. What rate per cent. did his investment pay?

ACCOUNTANCY THEORY. (Time, 2 hours.)

1. Explain briefly what you understand by:—

Credit Note, equity, capital expenditure, expenditure chargeable to revenue, fictitious asset, overhead expenses, credit men's association, demurrage charges, auxiliary or subsidiary books.

2. Describe the ordinary merchandise account and state what it does not accomplish that is desirable in accounting. Name proper substitutes for such an account.

3. "A" purchased 100 shares of bank stock at par value, $50 each for $5,000. Later he sold 20 of the shares to "B" at 10% premium.

(a.) Give "A's" entries. (b.) Give "B's" entry.

4. (a.) Explain how would you ascertain the net loss or net gain, also the net worth or net insolvency of a business when the books have been kept by single entry.

(b.) In what two ways may each of the above results be obtained when the books have been kept by double entry?

(c.) What steps would you take to change from the former to the latter system?

5. What do you understand as the differences between:—

(a.) A Trial Balance and a Balance Sheet?

(b.) A Statement of Profits and Losses and a Statement of Receipts and Expenditures?

(c.) Gross Profit and Net Profit?

(d.) Bond Holders and Stock Holders?

6. The capital of three partners, "X," "Y," and "Z," in a manufacturing business on January 1 was $25,000, of which "X" owned one-fifth, "Y" two-fifths, and "Z" two-fifths. On December 31, one year thereafter, the condition of the business was found to be as follows:—

Assets.		Liabilities.
Land and building	$17,000	Creditors	$6,000
Plant and machinery	6,000
Stock on hand	3,000
Book debts	7,000
Cash in bank	4,000
	$37,000

Partners' withdrawals: "X," $1,500; "Y," $1,000; "Z," $2,000.

Credit each partner with interest at 6% on capital appearing to his credit at the beginning of the year, and prepare the partners' accounts, showing the condition of each at the end of the year.

ENGLISH LITERATURE. (Time, 2 hours.)

(See paper set on this subject for the Junior Matriculation examination, page cxxxii.)

Intermediate Grade.

COMPOSITION. (Time, 2 hours.)

Write an essay on one of the following subjects:—

(1.) A Welsh Bard's Prophecy.

(2.) The Puritans.

(3.) Conscription and Conscientious Objectors.

ENGLISH LITERATURE. (Time, 3 hours.)

1. Show in what measure each of the four selections from Milton is a self-revelation of the poet. Note any change of feeling expressed in "Lycidas," and account for it.

2. Write a paragraph or two on "A Song for St. Cecilia's Day" and "Alexander's Feast," commenting on their poetical qualities—feeling, imagination, form, movement, diction.

3. Give a short account of the "ode," as Gray understands the term.
Write a summary of the subject-matter presented in the "Progress of Poesy."

4. (a.) Tell briefly the story related in "The Prisoner of Chillon."
(b.) Point out how the poet has made the form harmonize with the subject-matter; or point out what you consider most poetical in the poem.

5. Discuss the chief merits of "The Eve of St. Agnes," stating in what respects it is characteristic of the author.

6. At what date were the "Sir Roger De Coverley Papers" written? In what publication did they first appear? Who were the leading contributors? What special motive prompted their composition? What qualities have made the work enduring?

7. Show clearly, using quotations or references, the attitude of Macaulay to Milton and the Puritans, as we find it expressed in his "Essay on Milton."

8. Write a few brief notes on the style of the following passage, touching on the thought, diction, phraseology, sentences and movement:—

> Vocal cries are of a much larger extent, and, indeed, so full of incongruities and barbarisms, that we appear a distracted city to foreigners, who do not comprehend the meaning of such enormous outcries. Milk is generally sold in a note above ela, and in sounds so exceeding shrill, that it often sets our teeth on edge. The chimney-sweeper is confined to no certain pitch; he sometimes utters himself in the deepest bass, and sometimes in the sharpest treble; sometimes in the highest, and sometimes in the lowest note of the gamut. The same observation might be made on the retailers of small coal, not to mention broken glasses or brick-dust. In these, therefore, and the like cases, it should be my care to sweeten and mellow the voices of these itinerant tradesmen, before they make their appearance in our streets, as also to accommodate their cries to their respective wares; and to take care in particular that those may not make the most noise who have the least to sell, which is very observable in the vendors of card-matches, to whom I cannot but apply that old proverb of "Much cry, but little wool."

BRITISH HISTORY. (Time, 1½ hours.)

[NOTE.—Five questions to be answered.]

1. Give a short account of the Roman Occupation of Britain under the heads:—
   (a.) Roman Civilization.
   (b.) Roman Influence.
   (c.) Extent of Roman Sway.
2. "In his whole realm, there was probably no firmer believer in the doctrines of the Catholic Church than Henry VIII."
   To what extent does the part taken by Henry in the Reformation justify this statement?
3. Give a clear account of the grounds of the quarrel between Charles I. and his subjects in England and Scotland.
4. Sketch briefly the conflicts between France and England in which Colonial Supremacy was involved.
5. Give an account of the Industrial Development in Britain during the first quarter of the Nineteenth Century.
6. What important acts dealing with the franchise were passed in the Nineteenth Century? Give a short account of the first of these.
7. Give a short account of the "Irish Question" during the Nineteenth Century, noting legislative attempts to improve conditions in Ireland.

GRECIAN HISTORY. (Time, 2 hours.)

[NOTE.—Any five questions constitute a full paper.]

1. Name and locate the most important Greek colonies. By what races were they respectively colonized? Briefly state the effects of Greek colonization on the ancient world.
2. What parts did Draco, Solon, and Cleisthenes respectively play in the progress of Athens towards democracy?
3. Write a short account of Spartan Training.
4. The battle of Marathon has been described as one of the "decisive battles of the world." Give reasons for the correctness of that description.
5. Describe briefly the life and achievements of Philip of Macedon.
6. The Age of Pericles is said to form the most brilliant period of Athenian Art and Letters. Discuss this statement.
7. What are the principal sources of our knowledge of Grecian History? Name and compare the two great Greek historians. With what period does each deal?

GEOGRAPHY. (Time, 1½ hours.)

[Where advisable make diagrams.]

1. Describe the means by which solar heat is distributed over the globe.
2. What is an isothermal chart? How are its lines determined? Give an illustration.
3. Explain the statement, "It is upon the change of air-pressure that most of the winds of the globe depend."
4. State the causes of Land and Sea Breezes, Monsoons, Belt of Calms.
5. How are frost and fog produced? Why are there dense fogs on the North Atlantic Coast?
6. Describe the chief causes which tend to limit or to extend the areas of vegetable and animal life.

ALGEBRA. (Time, 2 hours.)

[N.B.—All work must be shown. It must be neat and accurate.]

1. (a.) Divide $3y^6 - 37y^4 + 2 + 35y^3 + 7y^2$ by $y(y-1)(y+4) - 2$.
   (b.) Under what conditions will $x^2 + px + q$ be a perfect square?
2. (a.) Solve $ax = by$, $bx + ay = c$.
   (b.) A man invests \$3,770, partly in 3 per cent. stock at \$102, and partly in railway stock at \$84 which pays a dividend of $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. If his income from these investments is \$136.25 per annum, what sum does he invest in each?
3. (a.) Solve $ax^2 + bx + c = 0$.
   (b.) Solve $3x^3 + 5x^2 - 3x - 5 = 0$.
   (c.) The perimeter of a rectangular plot of grass is 50 yards, and the area is 144 square yards. Find the lengths of the sides.
4. Factor :—
   (a.) $a^4 + b^4 - 11a^2b^2$.
   (b.) $3x^2 - (4a + 2b)x + a^2 + 2ab$.
   (c.) $a^3 + 3a^2b + 3ab^2 + b^3 + 1$.
   (d.) $-x^2 + 2x - 1 + x^4$.
5. Simplify :—
   (a.) $\dfrac{3.2^{x} - 4.2^{x-2}}{2^{x} - 2^{x-1}}$.
   (b.) $\left(\sqrt[5]{\dfrac{a^{\frac{1}{2}}x^{-2}}{x^{\frac{1}{2}}a^{-2}}} \times \sqrt[3]{\dfrac{a\sqrt{x}}{x^{-1}\sqrt{a}}} \right)^{-4}$
6. (a.) Find the square root of $11 + 2\sqrt{30}$. What surd is conjugate to $11 + 2\sqrt{30}$?
   (b.) Rationalize the denominator of $\dfrac{\sqrt{1+x^2} - \sqrt{1-x^2}}{\sqrt{1+x^2} + \sqrt{1-x^2}}$.
   (c.) Solve $\dfrac{x-1}{\sqrt{x}-1} = 3 + \dfrac{\sqrt{x}+1}{2}$.

GEOMETRY. (Time, 2 hours.)

1. Use the properties of the equilateral triangle to trisect a given finite straight line.

2. In an obtuse-angled triangle the square on the side opposite the obtuse angle is greater than the sum of the squares on the other two sides by twice the rectangle contained by either of those sides and the projection of the other side upon it.

3. (a.) If a straight line drawn through the centre of a circle cuts a chord at right angles, it shall bisect it.

   (b.) In a circle whose diameter is 34 inches, a chord is drawn 30 inches in length. What is the distance of this chord from the centre of the circle?

4. To draw a tangent to a circle from a given point outside the circle.

5. The angle at the centre of a circle is double of an angle at the circumference standing on the same arc.

6. In the triangle ABC perpendiculars AH and BK, drawn from A and B to the opposite sides, meet at O. Prove that the rectangle AO , OH is equal to the rectangle BO , OK.

7. Two circles intersect at P and Q; and through P any straight line XPY is drawn terminated by the circumferences. Show that XY subtends a constant angle at Q.

CHEMISTRY. (Time, 2 hours.)

[N.B.—Answer any seven questions.]

1. Make a drawing of a piece of apparatus with which you could prepare and collect hydrogen. If 2.5 grams of hydrogen are burned in oxygen, what weight of water will be formed—O = 16, H = 1?

2. You have three test-tubes; the first is supposed to contain pure water, the second a solution of hydrochloric acid, and the third a solution of sodium chloride. How would you proceed to show the supposition correct in each case?

3. Write chemical equations illustrating the action of hydrochloric acid upon metallic iron, ferrous sulphide, calcium hydroxide, zinc oxide, and aluminium hydroxide.

4. Oxygen and nitrogen are two constituents of the atmosphere. Describe experiments by means of which you could show the relative amounts of these gases present in the atmosphere.

5. Write briefly describing two oxides of sulphur.

6. Of what use to the chemist is the hypothesis of Avogadro? Illustrate its application in any selected case.

7. How could you prepare the element chlorine in the laboratory? Make a drawing of the necessary apparatus. What are the properties and uses of this substance?

8. In what form does sodium occur in nature? How can this element be isolated in the metallic state?

Latin. (Time, 3 hours.)

A. Translate into Latin:—

(1.) When this was settled, finding the weather suitable for sailing, he set sail at the third watch and ordered the cavalry to follow.

(2.) On coming there, he noticed that large forces of the enemy had been drawn up on the other bank of the river.

(3.) Caesar sent scouts in advance to choose a suitable place for a camp.

(4.) If I had been informed in what danger you were, I should have come to you at once.

Il naître à Paris en 1782.

3. Substitute demonstrative pronouns for the words in italics:—

(1.) J'ai perdu ma canne et la canne de mon frère. (2.) La cravate que j'ai achetée est bleue. (3.) Cicéron et Virgile étaient célèbres; Virgile était poète et Cicéron orateur. (4.) Voulez-vous ces gants-ci ou ces gants-là?

4. Rewrite the following, choosing the correct word from among those in brackets:—

(1.) (Ce, il) est à désirer que la guerre finisse. (2.) Sont-(ils, ce) soldats? Oui, (ils, ce) (le, les) sont. (3.) Sont-(ils, ce) les soldats du roi? Non, (ils, ce) ne (le, les) sont pas. (4.) La reine est morte! Est-(ce, il) vrai? Oui, (il, ce) est vrai que la reine est morte. (5.) Qui vous a dit cela? (Elle, ce) est une Française.

5. Complete the following by inserting, if necessary, the correct form of the definite or indefinite article, or that of the partitive:—

(1.) Ce thé vaut cinq francs . . . livre. (2.) J'ai . . . amis, mais je n'ai pas . . . argent. (3.) N'avez-vous pas . . . frères? (4.) J'ai été là bien . . . fois. (5.) Combien . . . mots avez-vous appris? (6.) Son père est . . . soldat. (7.) J'ai vu . . . beaux bijoux. (8.) J'ai vu . . . raisins mûrs. (9.) Il y a beaucoup . . . arbres en . . . Angleterre. (10.) Il ne faut pas perdre . . . courage. (11.) Les Anglaises ont souvent . . . cheveux blonds. (12.) Elle avait fermé . . . yeux.

6. Put the verbs of the following sentences in the passive voice:—

(1.) Le père a donné une pomme à son fils. (2.) Le serviteur suivait son maître. (3.) On m'a trompé. (4.) Qui a bâti ce château?

And the following in the active or the reflexive form:—

(1.) Ce livre est publié à Paris. (2.) Ils seront aimés de tous. (3.) La montre lui a été donnée par son père. (4.) Par qui cette lettre a-t-elle été écrite?

7. Put into French:—

9. Translate:—

(a.) Ils allèrent en corps en faire la proposition à la reine, qui ne s'attendait pas à une pareille déclaration. Les états généraux étaient assemblés alors; les conseillers de la régence y proposèrent l'affaire: il n'y eut pas une voix contre. La chose fut emportée d'une rapidité que rien ne pouvait arrêter; de sorte que Charles XII souhaita de régner, et en trois jours les états lui déférèrent le gouvernement. Le pouvoir de la reine et son crédit tombèrent en un instant. Elle mena depuis une vie privée, plus sortable à son âge, quoique moins à son humeur. Le roi fut couronné le 24 décembre suivant; il fit son entrée dans Stockholm sur un cheval alezan ferré d'argent, ayant le sceptre à la main et la couronne en tête, aux acclamations de tout un peuple, idolâtre de ce qui est nouveau, et concevant toujours de grandes espérances d'un jeune prince.

(b.) Les Suédois sont bien faits, robustes, agiles, capables de soutenir les plus grands travaux, la faim, et la misère; nés guerriers, pleins de fierté, plus braves qu'industrieux, ayant longtemps négligé et cultivant mal aujourd'hui le commerce, qui seul pourrait leur donner ce qui manque à leur pays. On dit que c'est principalement de la Suède, dont une partie se nomme encore Gothie, que débordèrent ces multitudes de Goths qui inondèrent l'Europe, et l'arrachèrent à l'empire romain, qui en avait été cinq cents années l'usurpateur, le tyran et le législateur.

Les pays septentrionaux étaient alors beaucoup plus peuplés qu'ils ne le sont de nos jours, parce que la religion laissait aux habitants la liberté de donner plus de citoyens à l'État par la pluralité de leurs femmes. Mais la Suède, avec ce qui lui reste aujourd'hui de la Finlande, n'a pas plus de quatre millions d'habitants. Le pays est stérile et pauvre; la Scanie est sa seule province qui porte du froment. Il n'y a pas plus de neuf millions de nos livres en argent monnayé dans tout le pays. La banque publique, qui est la plus ancienne de l'Europe, y fut introduite par nécessité, parce que les payements se faisant en monnaie de cuivre et de fer, le transport était trop difficile.

GERMAN. (Time, 3 hours.)

1. Turn the second clause of each sentence into a subordinate clause with either daß, damit, da, obgleich, or ſobald :—

(1.) Wir wollen ausgehen; du biſt fertig. (2.) Ich ſpreche deutlich; alle verſtehen mich gut. (3.) Er ſagte: mein Bruder wird kommen. (4.) Das Holz ſchwimmt im Waſſer; es iſt leichter als das Waſſer. (5.) Die Soldaten fochten tapfer; ſie wurden beſiegt.

2. Rewrite the following sentences (a.) in the imperfect, and (b.) in the pluperfect :—

(1.) Der Mann ſitzt am Tiſche. (2.) Der Knabe reitet auf dem Eſel. (3.) Der Bettler bittet um Brot. (4.) Der Sieger bietet Seinem Gegner die Hand. (5.) Warum brennt ein Licht auf ſeinem Zimmer?

And the following in the present :—

(1.) Die Frau trug einen Schirm, und hielt den Hut in der Hand. (2.) Er lief durch die Straßen und brach ſich den Arm. (3.) Er traf ſeinen Freund auf der Straße.

3. Insert in blank spaces suitable prepositions with the article or a possessive adjective :—

(1.) Er geht — — Baum; er ſteht — — Baum. (2.) Die Brücke iſt — — Fluß. ſie führt — — Fluß. (3.) Der Zug fährt — — Stadt. (4.) Er trinkt — — goldenen Becher. (5.) Der Hund läuft — — Herrn. (6.) Er geht — — Onkel ſpazieren. (7.) Meine Taute kam — — Mutter. (8.) Du biſt unglücklich — — Bruders.

4. Turn the second clause of each sentence into a relative clause :—

(1.) Der Knabe ist krank ; ich habe ihn gesehen. (2.) Mein Freund wohnt in England ; ich reise zu ihm. (3.) Du sollst nicht mehr arbeiten ; du bist sehr müde. (4.) Das Papier ist weiß ; er schreibt darauf. (5.) Die Leute sind freundlich gegen uns ; wir wohnen neben ihnen.

5. Put into German with special attention to words in brackets :—

(a.) (1.) Pray (do) come in. (2.) He is my father (you know). (3.) He is (not) coming (before) Friday. (4.) (Just) come in. (5.) That is (no doubt) true. (6.) Will you have (another) cup?

(b.) (1.) When I said that I was not believed. (2.) Everybody thought Mr. B. an excellent man ; on this account he was chosen chairman. (3.) I am of the same opinion, and I am convinced of his innocence. (4.) As long as he needed my help he flattered my vanity. (5.) How long have you been living here? For the last three years. (6.) Before leaving he insisted on our visiting him. (7.) Not having had experience enough, I knew not what to do.

6 Translate :—

(a.) „Die Stiefel des kleinen Däumling?" rief der Schuster freudig aus, „die Siebenmeilenstiefel?"

"So ist es," erwiderte der Zwerg. „Da nimm sie hin und brauche sie zu deinem Glück. Gehab dich wohl!"

Der Zwerg war verschwunden, der Nebel war plötzlich verweht, und Crispin stand auf der sonnbeglänzten, von Pappeln umsäumten Landstraße. In der Hand hielt er die Siebenmeilenstiefel.

„Das soll ein Leben werden!" jubelte er und setzte sich auf einen Steinhaufen, um die Wunderstiefel sogleich anzuziehen. „Nun marschiere ich zunächst ins Goldland," sprach er zu sich selbst, „und fülle mir alle Taschen mit Goldsand, das Weitere wird sich dann finden."

(b.) Dann, wieder nach einer Reihe von Jahren, war er als frischgebackener Doktor noch einmal zurückgekehrt,—diesmal uneingeladen und unerwartet. Er war inzwischen mündig geworden, und es war sein eignes Haus, in dem er als Herr abstieg. Unangemeldet trat er in das Wohnzimmer der Frau Senatorin, die zufällig in der Küche beschäftigt war. Ein großes, schlank aufgewachsenes Mädchem stand am Fenster und erschrak sichtlich, als es ihn erkannte. Rasch ging er auf sie zu ; doch sie verbeugte sich vor ihm und gab ihm dann erst zögernd die Hand, ihn zwar mit dem Vornamen, aber mit „Sie" anredend.—Er wurde genötigt zu Tisch zu bleiben und saß neben ihr ; aber die jungen Leute konnten sich nicht wieder finden.

(c.) Unterdessen aber gerieten nicht nur sie, sondern das ganze Städtchen Capri in lebhafte Aufregung durch ein anderes unerhörtes und schreckliches Ereignis, dessengleichen seit Menschengedenken auf der Insel nicht laut geworden war. Giuliano, Concettas Geliebter, stürzte eines Morgens mit großem Geschrei in ihre Hütte und verkundete mit herzzerreißendem Geberdenspiel, seinem Vater sei in der Nacht seine ganze Barschaft auf unerklärliche Weise gestohlen worden. Der Alte bewahrte nach Art ländlicher Geizhälse sein ganzes Vermögen in barem Gelde oder Banknoten in einem Kästchen auf, das unter seinem Bette stand, und dieses Kästchen war nun verschwunden mit allem, was darin gewesen. Der alte Geizhals war dadurch in einer Nacht zum armen Manne geworden, denn der Teil seines Besitzes, den er nutzbringend verwertete, war sehr gering. Der Alte geberdete sich mit der vollkommensten Raserei des Schmerzes, deren ein echter Südländer nur immer fähig ist. Auch Giuliano war in bitterer Erregung, denn es ist keine Kleinigkeit, aus einem stattlichen Erbsohn plötzlich ein besitzloses Männchen zu werden, wenn ihm auch der Reichtum seines Vaters bisher mehr Kummer als Vorteil gebracht hatte.

University Matriculation. (Junior.)

ENGLISH COMPOSITION. (Time, 2 hours.)

1. Write an essay of about a page on one of the following topics:—
   (a.) Holiday Plans.
   (b.) The Character of Jaques.
   (c.) The Triumph of Gareth.

2. Write an essay of at least two pages on one of the following:—
   (a.) The Spirit of Christmas in "The Sketch Book."
   (b.) Queen Elizabeth as depicted in "Kenilworth."
   (c.) Silas Marner's Change of Character.
   (d.) The genius of Lord Nelson.

3. State clearly what you understand by the following terms:—
   Parallel construction, point of view in description, contrast, impropriety, loose sentence.

ENGLISH LITERATURE. (Time, 2 hours.)

[Candidates will answer either Section A or Section B. Section C is compulsory.]

SECTION A. "THE MERCHANT OF VENICE."

1. Give the context of the following passages:—
   (a.) "An evil soul, producing holy witness,
   Is like a villain with a smiling cheek."
   (b.) "I will not jump with common spirits,
   And rank me with the barbarous multitudes."
   (c.) "These naughty times
   Put bars between the owners and their rights."
   (d.) "He knows me, as the blind man knows the cuckoo,
   By the bad voice."

2. (a.) Point out that a certain word (jump excepted) in the above quotations has a somewhat different meaning from that in which we to-day use it.
   (b.) Give the Shakespearian meaning of complexion and presently.
   (c.) Explain the phrase, "A Daniel come to judgment."

3. Write as fully as time may permit on the following:—
   (a.) The high (not the serious) spirits of Portia.
   (b.) The humour of the Launcelot scenes.

   (About two-thirds of the marks assigned to this section will be given for question 3.)

SECTION B. "KING HENRY THE FIFTH."

1. Give the context of the following passages:—
   (a.) "And God forbid, . . .
   That you should fashion, wrest, or bow your reading,
   Or nicely charge your understanding soul."

(b.) "But I had not so much of man in me,
And all my mother came into mine eyes
And gave me up to tears."

(c.) "I kiss his dirty shoe, and from heart-string
I love the lovely bully."

(d.) "Five hundred poor have I in yearly pay,
Who twice a day their withered hands hold up
Toward heaven, to pardon blood."

2. (a.) What is the meaning of nicely in part (a), question 1?
(b.) Explain the italicized phrases in the following quotations:—
"The swords
That make such waste in brief mortality."
"In that nook-shotten isle of Albion."
(c.) Give the Shakespearian meaning of imp and presently.

3. Write as fully as time may permit on the following:—
(a.) Patriotic feeling in the play of Henry the Fifth.
(b.) The humorous presentation of Pistol and his friends.
(c.) The kingly qualities of Henry V.
(About two-thirds of the marks assigned to this Section will be given for question 3.)

SECTION C. "POEMS OF THE ROMANTIC REVIVAL."

1. Explain the following, keeping in mind the general thought of the poems from which the quotations are taken:—
(a.) "Shades of the prison-house begin to close Upon the growing boy." (Ode on Immortality.)
(b.) "O joy! that in our embers
Is something that doth live." (Ode on Immortality.)
(c.) "And thus we half-men struggle." ("Andrea del Sarto.")
(d.) "Sometimes on lonely mountain-meres
I find a magic bark." ("Galahad.")

2. Give the titles of the poems from which the following quotations are taken:—
(a.) "The tumult of thy mighty harmonies
Will take from both a deep autumnal tone."
(b.) "While barred clouds bloom the soft-dying day,
And touch the stubble-plains with rosy hue."
(c.) "Lived in his mild and magnificent eye."

3. Write a full and carefully constructed paragraph on either:—
(a.) Keats's love of beauty as exemplified in "The Eve of St. Agnes."

Or

(b.) Wordsworth's treatment of nature in the group of poems, "Lines Written in Early Spring," "To my Sister," and "The Cuckoo."

4. Write about two pages on "Three Leading Characteristics of Tennyson's Poetry."

HISTORY. (Time, 2 hours.)

[Answer five questions only.]

1. Give an account of the Babylonians and their Empire.
2. State the causes, events, and results of the Persian invasions of Greece.
3. State the causes of the fall of the Roman Republic and the establishment of the Empire.
4. Describe the struggle for power between Popes and Emperors from Pope Gregory VII. to Emperor Frederick II.
5. Give an account of the Mahommedan religion and the conquests of the Mahommedans.
6. Give an account of the Norman Conquest of England and its results.
7. Give an account of the life and influence of Martin Luther.

ALGEBRA AND ARITHMETIC. (Time, 2 hours.)

1. A gallon of water contains 277.274 cubic inches and a cubic foot of water weighs 1000 ounces. Find the weight in ounces of a pint of water.
2. A rectangular field is two acres in area and its perimeter is 402 yards. Find the lengths of its sides.
3. Solve $\frac{x}{3}+\frac{y}{4}+2=0,\ 3x=y-10$; and verify your result by drawing the graphs of the equations on squared papers.
4. Solve :—
   (a.) $5(x+1)^2-12(x+2)^2=-7(x+3)^2$.
   (b.) $x+y=a+b,\ ax-by=b^2-a^2$.
5. Factorize :—
   (a.) $64a^4+b^4$.
   (b.) $ab(x^2-y^2)+xy(a^2-b^2)$.
   (c.) $\frac{a^3}{125}-8b^3$.
6. Solve :—
   (a.) $16x^2+ax=0$.
   (b.) $\frac{x-1}{\sqrt{x}-1}-\frac{x-1}{\sqrt{x}+1}=3-\frac{\sqrt{x}+1}{2}$.
7. Simplify :—
   (b.) $\left(\frac{1}{25}\right)^{-\frac{1}{2}}-3(32)^{-\frac{3}{5}}-\frac{\sqrt[7]{2}}{2(4)^{-\frac{3}{7}}}$.
   (c.) $\frac{\sqrt[6]{(x^6y^6+x^{12})}}{\sqrt[6]{(y^{12}-x^6y^6)}-1}$.

8. Find the square root of :—

(a.) $8\left(\frac{2y}{x^2} - xy^{-\frac{1}{2}}\right) + x^2y^{-1} + 24 - \frac{32\sqrt{y}}{x}$.

(b.) $47 - 12\sqrt{15}$.

9. A steamer whose speed is 15 miles per hour runs from a town A at the mouth of a river to another town B up-stream. It is found that the journey up-stream takes 4 hours longer than the journey down-stream. Find the distance between the two towns; given that the river flows at a uniform rate of $3\frac{3}{4}$ miles per hour.

GEOMETRY. (Time, 2 hours.)

1. Describe a circle of 2.5 inches radius and take a point 1.2 inches from its centre. Draw the shortest possible chord through this point and find its length by calculation and by measurement.

2. If two chords of a circle intersect at a point within it, show that the rectangle contained by the segments of the one is equal to the rectangle contained by the segments of the other.

3. (a.) Show that the three angles of any triangle are together equal to two right angles.

(b.) One angle of a pentagon is a right angle, and the other angles are equal to each other. Find in degrees the size of each of the equal angles.

4. Draw two unequal squares and show that their difference in area is equal to the rectangle contained by the sum and the difference of their bases.

5. ABC is a triangle with the side BA produced to the point P. Show how to draw from P a line to meet BC at O, making the triangle PBO equal in area to one half of the given triangle ABC.

6. Show how to cut off from a given circle a segment containing an angle of given size.

7. (a.) If two circles touch one another, show that the point of contact lies in the straight line which passes through their centres.

(b.) Draw a circle to touch a given circle at a given point K on the circumference and to pass through another given point P outside the circumference.

8. AB is a diameter and AC a chord of a circle whose centre is O; OP is drawn at right angles to AB, meeting AC in P. Show that the circle which passes through the four points O, P, C, B is equal to the circle circumscribed about the triangle AOP.

CHEMISTRY. (Time, 2 hours.)

[Answer any seven questions.]

1. Give a short account of the occurrence, preparation, and properties of the element chlorine.

2. What do you understand by the terms "element," "atom," "water of crystallization," "electrolysis," "anode," and "cathode."

3. State Dalton's Law of Multiple Proportions and Gay Lussoc's Law of Gaseous Volumes. Of what use to the student of chemistry are these conceptions?

4. Write briefly regarding the preparation and properties of the oxides of carbon. If a litre of oxygen weighs 1.430 grams, what volume will be necessary for the conversion of 24.5 grams of carbon to carbon dioxide? C = 12.04, O = 16.00.

5. Make a line-drawing of the apparatus you would use in the laboratory for the preparation of ammonia. What are the commercial sources of this substance? If a litre of nitrogen weighs 1.2505 grams and a litre of hydrogen 0.08958 grams, under standard conditions, what volumes of these gases will be necessary for the preparation of 8.58 grams of ammonia? N = 14.01, H = 1.00.

6. Compare the substances oxygen and ozone as regards their constitution and chemical properties.

7. Discuss the importance of the contributions to chemistry that have been made by Lavoisier, Avogadro, and Bunsen.

8. Make a drawing of a piece of apparatus that could be used for the preparation of acetylene. What are the properties and uses of this substance? What weight of water and of carbon dioxide will be formed by the burning of 5.52 grams of acetylene?

PHYSICS. (Time, 2 hours.)

[Ten questions constitute a full paper.]

1. A stone is dropped down a deep mine and two seconds later another stone is dropped from the same point. How far apart will the two stones be after the first has been falling for 5 seconds?

2. Find the force which in 5 seconds will change the velocity of a mass of 20 grams from 50 cm. per second to 100 cm. per second in the same direction.

3. What is a machine? Sketch a system of pulleys of mechanical advantage 3, and also one of mechanical advantage 4.

4. A piece of metal of mass 120 grams weighs 100 grams in water and 105 grams in alcohol. Find the volume and density of the metal and the density of the alcohol.

5. What do you understand by the term relative humidity? Show how it may be measured. What is the relation of humidity to health?

6. What mass of ice at 0° C. must be dissolved in one litre of water at 20° C. to reduce the temperature of the water by 10° C.?

7. Discuss the effect of pressure on the boiling-point of a liquid.

8. How must a body behave in order to emit sound? Show that a material medium is necessary to conveyance of sound to the ear.

9. What are the laws of transverse vibration in the case of a stretched string?

10. How was the velocity of light measured?

11. What is the origin of colour in natural objects?

12. Describe the gold leaf electroscope and show how to charge it by induction.

13. Describe an electric bell.

14. The resistance of the filament of an incandescent lamp is 200 ohms. Find the heat in calories developed in this lamp in 1 minute when it is carrying a current of 6 amperes.

15. Given 3 cells each of E.M.F. 1 volt and each of 1 ohm internal resistance, find the current sent through an external resistance of 10 ohms when these cells are arranged (1) all in series, (2) all in parallel.

BOTANY. (Time, 2 hours.)

[NOTE.—Where possible make diagrams.]

1. (a.) Write an account of the part taken by the root in carrying on the life processes of a plant.
   (b.) Describe three kinds of roots whose structures have become specialized in accord with the work which each performs.
   (c.) Describe an experiment to illustrate the principles of osmosis.

2. (a.) Distinguish between a fruit and a seed.
   (b.) Describe a bean seed and a grain of corn. Compare the structures found in each, noting the significance of both similarities and differences.

3. Give examples of plants that grow:—
   (1.) In the water.
   (2.) In a humid atmosphere.
   (3.) In an arid atmosphere.
   Point out the main differences in the leaves of such plants.

4. Compare the stem and leaves of a plant grown in the shade with those of another plant of the same species grown in the bright sunlight.

5. (a.) Give examples of plants belonging to each of the four divisions: Thallophytes, Bryophytes, Pteridophytes, and Spermatophytes. Denote briefly the distinguishing characters of each division.
   (b.) Distinguish between Gymnosperms and Angiosperms, giving examples.
   (c.) Describe the inflorescences and flowers of genera representing two of the following families: Gramineæ, Salicaceæ, Rosaceæ.

AGRICULTURE. (Time, 2 hours.)

[Any eight questions will constitute a full paper.]

1. Give, in detail, the life-history of one of the following: Cabbage Maggot; Peach Twig Borer; Strawberry Weevil.
   What is the most vulnerable period in its life-history?
   Give an efficient means of control.

2. Define the following terms as related to the orchard: Clean cultivation; sod mulch; intercrop; cover crop; filler.
   What are the main advantages of cover crops?
   What are the main disadvantages of intercrops?

3. Give, in detail, the method of home manufacture of Bordeaux Mixture.

4. Name and describe four utility breeds of poultry.

5. State the advantages and disadvantages of (1) the stationary poultry-house, and (2) the portable poultry-house.

6. A general stock and grain farm of one hundred acres slopes gradually down the side of a hill. The lower field of ten acres is largely peat and the upper field of ten acres is largely light sand and gravel. Outline methods of treatment that you might employ in order to bring both fields under a profitable state of cultivation.

7. Outline, in detail, the cultural methods or requirements of one of the following crops: (a) Corn for the silo; (b) Alfalfa; (c) Field mangels.

8. Give four reasons why dairy cattle are essential to successful farming in British Columbia.

9. What are the essential characteristics of a typical draught horse?

10. Tell how to feed and properly care for pigs from weaning-time till they are ready for market.

LATIN GRAMMAR AND COMPOSITION. (Time, 2 hours.)

1. Give:—

(a.) Ablative singular of vis and fructus.

(b.) Accusative plural of iter and agger.

(c.) Genitive plural of civis and animal.

2. Give the other degrees of comparison of: primus, summus, bene, humiliter.

3. Write:—

(a.) Nominative singular of the future participle of eo.

(c.) Third plural of the present tense of the subjunctive mood of nolo, patior, moneo active and passive.

4. Give the principal parts of: audeo, divido, tollo, repello, quaero, parco, nanciscor, prosum, infero, excedo.

5. Translate into English:—

(1.) Re impetrata. (2.) Tempus defuerat. (3.) Nisi venias, infelix sim. (4.) Quaesivi quid egisset. (5.) Ab utroque latere. (6.) Adulescentulo duce. (7.) Laxare manipulos. (8.) Passis manibus. (9.) His dictis. (10.) Sua cuique placent.

6. Express in Latin:—

I asked him not to leave me. Tell me where you have been. He is going to come to see me. I promised to return the hostages. They must not disembark. It happened that the trench was wide. At the beginning of summer. On the next night. On all sides. Do not send ambassadors to Caesar.

7. Translate into Latin:—

(1.) They surpass the rest in their knowledge and experience of naval matters.

(2.) Having got ready his corn supply he moved camp.

(3.) Everything had to be done by Caesar at the same time.

(4.) This circumstance was indeed opportune for finishing the business.

(5.) On arriving there he levied soldiers on the state.

(6.) Diviciacus, who had gone to Rome to obtain assistance, had returned without accomplishing his purpose.

(7.) Suddenly so furious a storm arose that not one of those ships could keep its course.

(8.) Labienus summoned the tribunes of the soldiers by night and explained what he wished done.

8. Translate into Latin:—

(a.) Caesar ordered the soldiers not to attempt to attack the foe.

(b.) Do you believe that he remained at home because I was absent?

(c.) The soldiers were afraid that they would be cut off from their supplies.

(d.) A few days afterwards envoys came from the Gauls to beg Caesar to spare their city.

LATIN AUTHORS. (Time, 2 hours.)

[Candidates will write on either A, B, and E or C, D, and E.]

A.

CAESAR. BOOKS IV. AND V.

1. Translate:—

Caesar questus quod, cum ultro in continentem legatis missis pacem ab se petissent, bellum sine causa intulissent, ignoscere imprudentiae dixit obsidesque imperavit; quorum illi partem statim dederunt, partem ex longinquioribus locis arcessitam paucis diebus sese daturos dixerunt. Panic in the Camp of Marcus Rufus.

His rubus cognitis, Marcus Rufus quaestor, in castris relictus a Curione, cohortatur suos, ne animo deficiant. Illi orant atque obsecrant, ut in Siciliam navibus reportentur. Pollicetur; magistrisque imperat navium, ut primo vespere omnes scaphas ad litus adpulsas habeant. Sed tantus fuit omnium terror, ut alii adesse copias Jubae dicerent, alii cum legionibus instare Varum, jamque se pulverem venientium cernere, alii classem hostium celeriter advolaturam suspicarentur. Itaque, perterritis omnibus, sibi quisque consulebat. Qui in classe erant, proficisci properabant.

LE CHASSEUR MALADROIT.

Un bon bourgeois qui ne connaissait d'autre arme à feu que ses pincettes voulut se mettre à chasser. Chaque fois qu'il allait en campagne il rentrait bredouille. Tout le monde le raillait. Certain jour qu'il revenait bien fatigué il rencontre un enfant qui portait un lapin vivant, "Bon! se dit-il, cette fois j'aurai du gibier." Il achète le lapin, prend une ficelle, attache un des bouts à la patte de l'animal, l'autre bout à une branche, recule de quelques pas, met en joue et tire. Le plomb coupe la ficelle et le lapin s'enfuit à toutes jambes, à la grande stupéfaction du chasseur.

pincettes = fire tongs.

rentrer bredouille = to return from hunting without any game.

gibier = game.

mettre en joue = to aim firearms.

(a.) So blieb es denn nicht aus, daß der Bauer bald im ganzen Lande als Erzgeizhals verschrieen war. Das kam schließlich auch zu Ohren des Berggeistes, und er beschloß, den erbärmlichen Geizhals dafür zu züchtigen. Zu dem Zwecke nahm er die Gestalt eines Bauernknechtes an, aber eines sehr schwächlichen. So ging er zu dem Bauern und sprach: „Ach, Herr, nehmt mich doch als Dreſcher an; ich arbeite für zwei Mann und verlange nur wenig Lohn."—„Ich muß zuerſt ſehen, ob du ſtark genug biſt," ſprach der Bauer, und ſie gingen mit einander zur Scheune, wo dem ſchwächlichen Knechte Arbeit angewieſen wurde. Wie erſtaunte aber der Bauer, als er ſah, mit welcher Kraft und Gewandtheit der Knecht den Flegel handhabte; und das ging von morgens früh bis abends ſpät, ohne Aufhören immer fort und fort; und dabei aß und trank der Burſche faſt nichts. Da rieb ſich der Bauer vergnügt die Hände; denn ſolch einen Dreſcher hatte er noch nicht gehabt.

(b.) Thereupon she started on her way home. But soon the basket of leaves which she had gathered for her goat seemed to get heavier and heavier, and she reached home with great difficulty, but before she went to bed she fed the goats with the leaves. She then put her children to bed. Next morning she found both goats lying dead on the ground. On examining them more closely, she found that the leaves had turned into gold-pieces. She was full of joy, collected the money, and took it to the parish priest to keep for her.

3. Compare the lengths of the sides of a right-angled triangle when the values of the squares on the sides form an Arithmetical Progression.
4. (a.) Form the equation the sum of whose roots is m and the sum of the squares of whose roots is n^2.
   (b.) The difference of the roots of the equation $x^2+ax+6=0$ is 6. Deduce the value of a to 2 places of decimals.
5. (a.) If ${}^nC_r$ is the number of combinations of n things taken r at a time, show that ${}^{n-1}C_{r-1} : {}^nC_r = r : n$.
   (b.) A cricket eleven has to be chosen from 13 men, of whom only 4 can bowl. In how many ways can the team be made up so as to include at least 2 bowlers?
6. (a.) Write down the first four terms of the expansion of $\left(x+\frac{2}{x}\right)^{15}$.
   (b.) Find the middle term in the expansion of $\left(3x-\frac{1}{x}\right)^{2n}$.
7. (a.) Prove $\log_a b^2 \times \log_b c^2 = \log_a c^4$.
   (b.) Find the log of 125 to the base of $5\sqrt{5}$.
8. (a.) Calculate the value of $6\sqrt[12]{65}$; given—
   log 2 = .3010300,
   log 3 = .4771213,
   log 13 = 1.1139434,
   log 84962 = 4.9292247,
   log 84963 = 4.9292298.
   (b.) Given log 2, solve the equation $(\frac{1}{2})^{x+4} = (25)^{3x+2}$.
9. With the same axes draw the graphs of: (1.) $y=3x^2-4x+2$ and (2.) $y=6x+12$. Find the values of x at the point where the graphs intersect and verify by solving the equation $3x^2-4x+2=6x+12$.

GEOMETRY. (Time 3 hours.)

1. In a trihedral angle the sum of any two of the face angles is greater than the third.

2. Show that in general three planes meet at a point. Indicate three exceptional cases.

3. The areas of similar triangles are proportional to the squares on corresponding sides.

4. If ABC be a triangle, right-angled at A, and AD be drawn perpendicular to BC, show that:—
   (1.) $BC^2 : BA^2 :: BC : BD$.
   (2.) $BC^2 : CA^2 :: BC : CD$.
   Hence deduce that $BC^2 = BA^2 + AC^2$.

5. The rectangle contained by the diagonals of a quadrilateral inscribed in a circle is equal to the sum of the two rectangles contained by its opposite sides.

6. P is a point on the arc BC of the circum-circle of an equilateral triangle ABC. If P be joined to A, B, and C, show that PB + PC = PA.

7. If two straight lines are parallel and one of them is perpendicular to a plane, then the other is also perpendicular to the same plane.

8. Prove that all points in space equidistant from two given points lie in a plane.

TRIGONOMETRY. (Time, 3 hours.)

1. On a globe of 6 miles diameter, an arc of 495 yds. is measured. Find the radian measure of the angle subtended at the centre of the globe.

2. Solve the equations for the smallest positive angles:
   (a.) $\cos 9\theta = \cos 5\theta - \cos \theta$.
   (b.) $\operatorname{cosec} x = 1 + \cot x$.
   (c.) $\cot (20^\circ + \theta) = \tan (40^\circ + 2\theta)$.

3. Prove the identities:—
   (a.) $\dfrac{\cos B}{\cos C} = \dfrac{c - b\cos A}{b - c\cos A}$.
   (b.) $1 + \cos 4A = 2\cos 2A\,(1 - 2\sin^2 A)$.
   (c.) $\sin\alpha\cos(\beta+\gamma) - \sin\beta\cos(\alpha+\gamma) = \cos\gamma\sin(\alpha-\beta)$.

4. Solve $\left.\begin{aligned} 2^x &= \frac{1}{5^y} \\ 5^{x+1} &= \frac{2}{2^y} \end{aligned}\right\}$ given $\log 2 = .30103$.

5. Prove:—
   (a.) $\tan \dfrac{B - C}{2} = \dfrac{b - c}{b + c} \cot \dfrac{A}{2}$.
   (b.) $\sin \dfrac{A}{2} = \sqrt{\dfrac{(s-b)(s-c)}{bc}}$.
   (c.) $\triangle = \frac{1}{2}\, ab \sin C$.

6. Prove that the triangle is ambiguous and find the other angles, having given—

$b = 16$ $\log 2 = .30103$ L sin 33° 15′ = 9.7390129.
$c = 25$ L sin 58° 56′ = 9.9327616.
B = 33° 15′ L sin 58° 57′ = 9.9328376.

7. A vertical pole (more than 100 feet high) consists of two parts, the lower being $\frac{1}{3}$ of the whole. From a point in the horizontal plane through the foot of the pole and 40 feet from it, the upper part subtends an angle whose tangent is $\frac{1}{2}$. Find the height of the pole.

Or

A tower stood at the foot of an inclined plane whose inclination to the horizon was 9°. 100 feet up the incline the tower subtended an angle of 54°. Find the height of the tower, having given log 2 = .30103, log 114.4123 = 2.0584726, L sin 54° = 9.9079576.

8. A flagstaff, 100 feet high, stands in the centre of an equilateral triangle which is horizontal. From the top of the flagstaff each side subtends an angle of 60°; prove that the length of the side of the triangle is $50\sqrt{6}$ feet.

9. (a.) Prove $\Delta = 2\,R^2 \sin A \sin B \sin C$.
(b.) The sides of a triangle are 13, 14 and 15 feet; prove that (1) R = $8\frac{1}{8}$ feet; (2) $r = 4$ feet.

CHEMISTRY. (Time, 3 hours.)

1. Describe in detail an experiment by means of which you would determine quantitatively the chemical composition of water. Illustrate by means of a line drawing.

2. Write a brief account of the element aluminium, describing its occurrence, preparation, properties, and uses.

3. 0.555 gram of iron is dissolved in hydrochloric acid out of contact with air. Write the chemical equation showing what has taken place. What volume of hydrogen is liberated, the gas being measured over mercury at 735 mm. pressure and 22° C.? Fe = 55.88, H = 1.00, O = 16.00.

4. Explain the terms "equivalent weight," "supersaturated solution," "electrolyte," "electrolysis," "cathode," "ionization." When calcium chloride is dissolved in water it is said to be ionized; what evidence is there in favour of this assumption? Write a chemical equation illustrating the reaction involved.

5. State in your own words what is meant by the periodic arrangement of the elements. What properties are the elements of the second group of Mendelejeff's table likely to have? How will these properties vary with the increase in atomic weight?

6. What are the chief ores of iron? Describe a process by which the metal is obtained from one of these ores.

7. Give the chemical formulæ of the more important acids of phosphorus and the sodium salts derived from these acids.

8. If you suspected that a solution contained salts of mercurous mercury, copper, bismuth, iron, and zinc, what tests could you apply to confirm your suspicions? Write the principal chemical equations involved in these tests.

9. Write the structural formulæ for methane and methyl alcohol, also for ethane and ethyl alcohol. How is ethyl acetate prepared? How could you prove that the substance prepared was ethyl acetate?

PHYSICS. (Time, 3 hours.)

[Twelve questions only to be answered.]

1. A balloon ascends with a uniform acceleration of 5 feet per second per second. At the end of one minute a body of mass 10 pounds is released from it. Find (a) how long the body will take to reach the ground, (b) the kinetic energy of the body when it strikes the ground. Neglect air friction.

2. A cubical block of granite of edge 3 feet and weighing 4500 pounds is raised by thrusting one end of a crowbar 40 inches long under it to a distance of 4 inches and then lifting on the other end. What force must be exerted?

3. Show how to determine the specific gravity of lead shot by means of a specific gravity bottle.

4. Describe an experimental proof of Boyle's law.

5. Give a careful description of a laboratory method of finding the velocity of sound in air.

6. On mixing 1,000 grams of a substance having a specific heat of 0.85, at a temperature of 12° C., with 500 grams of a second substance at a temperature of 120° C., the resulting temperature is 45° C. What is the specific heat of the second substance?

7. At a temperature of 15° C. the barometric height is 763 mm. as indicated by a brass scale which is correct at 0° C. What would be the reading if the temperature fell to 0° C? The coefficient of linear expansion of brass is 0.000019, of mercury 0.000062.

8. Describe any method of measuring the illuminating power of a light source.

9. How would you proceed to determine the focal length of (a) a concave and (b) a convex mirror?

10. Describe a simple method of measuring the refractive index of glass.

11. Write fully upon the magnetic field of the earth.

12. Explain the action of a simple electrical condenser.

13. A circuit is formed of 6 similar cells in series and a wire of 10 ohms resistance. The E.M.F. of each cell is 1 volt and its resistance is 5 ohms. Determine the difference of potential between the positive and negative poles of any one of the cells.

14. Describe the construction and mode of action of an induction coil.

15. A 25-candle-power tungsten lamp used on a 25-volt circuit takes 1 ampere. Find its efficiency.

Translate into Latin:—

1. Alarmed by Caesar's arrival the Germans immediately sent a delegation to see what could be done in the way of obtaining peace. Caesar answered that they must return into Germany and make their home in the territory of the Ubii.

2. One of the captives said: You can reach the town in three hours; there the Roman army has amassed all its treasure; the garrison is so small that even the wall cannot be manned and no one dares venture outside the fortifications (use indirect narration).

3. (a.) He said that if night had not put a stop to the battle, no one would have survived.
   (b.) He did not perceive the nature and extent of the danger.
   (c.) When asked his opinion, Themistocles advised the citizens to build one hundred ships.

4. (a.) The Aedui said that their children ought not to have been carried off into slavery.
   (b.) Caesar said that he would save the town if the inhabitants surrendered before the battering-ram touched the wall.
   (c.) It was not possible to persuade the cavalry to sustain the attack of the enemy.

Tres pueri ad ludum ventitabant. Ludi autem magister eos multa et utilia docere voluit: curam enim adhibebat non modo ut Latine et Graece loquerentur, sed et ea, quae geometrae et mathematici scripsissent, intellegerent. At, quum tres menses haec didicissent, ludi magister experiri voluit, utrum ea quae docuisset in memoria retinerent necne. "Dic mihi," inquit ille, "orbisne terrarum circum solem movetur an sol circum orbem terrarum volvitur?" Pueri autem quid respondere possent nesciebant: primus igitur respondit orbem terrarum circum solem moveri, secundus autem rem contrarie dispositam esse affirmavit. Sed tertius in diversas partes distractus, "Uno die," inquit, "sol circum orbem terrarum, altero orbis terrarum circum solem movetur."

French Language. (Time, 3 hours.)

1. Put into French:—

Her novelettes (nouvelles) and novels alone fill eighty-four volumes. After her first successes and wide reading in the philosophers of the eighteenth century, she embraced the socialistic tendencies of her time and produced some novels showing her dream of a golden age, in which equality and fraternity are established and the fusion of the classes is brought about by love. Then she returned to her beloved Berry and revealed herself as a great painter of nature.

2. Translate:—

Quant à moi, je dévisageai pour la première fois la petite visiteuse qui, depuis tantôt deux semaines, partageait mon logis: d'une couleur fauve de lapin sauvage, toute mouchetée de taches comme un tigre, avec le museau et le cou blancs; laide en effet, mais surtout à cause de sa maigreur maladive,—et, en somme, plus bizarre que laide. . . . Assez différente d'ailleurs de nos chattes françaises: basse sur pattes, allongée en fouine, avec une queue démesurée; de grandes oreilles droites, avec un visage en coin de mur; tout le charme dans les yeux, relevés aux tempes comme tous les yeux d'extrême Asie, d'un beau jaune d'or au lieu d'être verts, et sans cesse mobiles, étonnamment expressifs.

3. (a.) Take the negation out of the following sentence:—
Cette femme ne parle pas mieux qu'elle écrit.

(b.) Reconstruct the following sentences, beginning with c'est, ce sont, or voilà, followed by the part in italics:—
Son père est intelligent.
Je cherche mon frère.
Ils parlent de leurs professeurs.
Nous étions assis sur le banc.
Il comte sur mon amitié.

4. Repeat the following sentence ten times, inserting the words given below:—

Il a acheté des livres beaucoup; bien; plusieurs; ne . . . pas; ne . . . que; ne . . . que peu; quelques; la plupart; tant; une centaine.

5. Put the following sentences into French, paying special attention to the correctness of the verb forms used:—
He knows it by heart.
There is nothing lost or gained.
I want him to do it at once.
After they had finished they went out.
He appears to be very poor.
Whatever he may say he will not convince me.
I believe he is leaving to-morrow.
He wants me to paint his portrait.
I doubt if he will follow such an example.
I hoped he would do it without my telling him.

6. Sustitute un soir for chaque soir in the following passage and make any changes that this renders necessary :—

Chaque soir, vers les onze heures, un rugissement retentissait dans la montagne. L'ours paraissait presque aussitôt au coin du verger, s'avançant en droite ligne vers le poirier du paysan ; il montait lestement sur l'arbe et se mettait à y faire une grande consommation de poires. Lorsqu'il était rassasié, il descendait lentement, comme s'il avait du regret d'en laisser, repassait près de la maison et se retirait tranquillement dans la montagne.—D'après ALEX. DUMAS.

Turn the following passage, the verbs of which refer to habitual actions, into a narrative referring to single action by putting the verbs in italics in the past definite :—

Quand le soleil se levait nous faisions une longue course à travers l'île. Nous la traversions dans tous les sens. Nous allions à la ville acheter le pain ou les légumes qui manquaient au jardin d'Andréa. Nous rapportions un peu de tabac, cet opium du marin, qui l'anime en mer et qui le console à terre. Nous rentrions enfin à la nuit tombante, les poches et les mains pleines de nos modestes munificences.

GERMAN GRAMMAR AND COMPOSITION. (Time, 3 hours.)

1. Translate into German :—

It was a beautiful day as Eric and Karl set off early in the morning for their trip. They went to the station in the street car, as they had very little luggage and did not think it necessary to take a cab. Besides, they wouldn't have had room enough in a cab, for the whole Weinhold family was to accompany them to the station. When they arrived there, they went at once to the wicket to get their tickets. The Wienholds had to get platform tickets at the slot machine and then they all went out together to the platform, where they chatted as they waited for the train.

2. Translate into German :—

At half past ten the friends arrived at Eisenach. They soon found a hotel, where they were given a pleasant room, after which they found many interesting things to see. They visited the famous Wartburg and there saw the room in which Luther had dwelt. They were much amused by the story of the ink spot on the wall, where, according to the legend, Luther threw an inkwell at the devil.

They greatly admired the fine Minstrels' Hall with Schwind's mural painting of the contest in song between the old minstrels. Then they met some students and took a walk with them to the forester's house, through a beautiful wooded valley. There they had supper and afterwards walked back to the city by moonlight.

Der Sankt-Gotthard Tunnel.

Anfangs erhoben sich viele Stimmen gegen den Plan, den Verkehr zwischen dem Norden und Süden durch eine Gotthardbahn zu erleichtern, weil die Schwierigkeiten eines solchen Unternehmens so groß wären und die Kosten desselben ans Unglaubliche grenzten. Nachdem aber alles, was für und wider das Projekt zu sagen war, gehörig erwogen worden, wurde im Jahre 1869 beschlossen, einen Tunnel durch den Sankt-Gotthard zu führen. Der Plan wurde alsdann ohne Verzug ausgeführt. Seit der Tunnel dem Personen- und Güterverkehr eröffnet worden ist, hat sich das Unternehmen in glänzender Weise als ein großer Erfolg bewiesen, und die Stimmen, die sich früher gegen den Plan erklärten, sind verstummt. Man kann nun sonder große Mühe und Beschwerden eine Reise nach Italien machen, was ohne den Tunnel nicht möglich wäre.

5. Translate into German :—

(1.) Germany is situated in the middle of Europe.

(2.) The Rhine, Germany's most famous river, rises in Switzerland, flows through the western part of Germany and empties into the North Sea in Dutch territory.

(3.) The German Empire is a federal state, that is, it is composed of a federation of twenty-five individual states.

(4.) After we had walked to and fro a few minutes, Eric asked how long we must wait for our train.

(5.) They had a compartment to themselves, so each chose a corner-seat and put his luggage up in the rack.

(6.) It was a magnificent morning ; not a cloud was in the sky, and the wind, which blew from the east, was cool and pleasant.

(7.) Just before the train got under way, an old gentleman got in and seated himself opposite me.

(8.) I told him that his American friend had done pretty badly and that we knew at least somewhat more German than that.

(9.) "You have given us one of the finest evenings we have ever experienced," we told the students, as we took leave of them.

(10.) "The Goethe house is said to look just as it did 150 years ago," said Eric as we turned into the Hirschgraben.

Lehrt einen alten Soldaten nicht die Welt kennen. Wir, liebe Adelheid, ſitzen ruhig und lachen über dieſe Schwächen.

(b.) Aber Sie ſind zu gütig, Herr Oberſt, wenn Sie alle dieſe Demonſtrationen auf mich allein zurückführen, mein Antheil daran iſt doch gering. Ich habe nichts gethan, als die öffentliche Meinung ein wenig redigiert. Dieſe vielen Menſchen ſind keine Puppen, welche ein gewandter Puppenſpieler an den Drähten umherziehen könnte. Alle dieſe Stimmen gehören tüchtigen und ehrenwerthen Perſonen an, und was ſie Ihnen geſagt haben, das iſt in der That die allgemeine Meinung der Stadt, das heißt, die Ueberzeugung der Beſſeren und Verſtändigen in der Stadt. (b.) Der Mond schien nicht mehr in die Fensterscheiben ; es war dunkel geworden ; der Alte aber saß noch immer mit gefalteten Händen in seinem Lehnstuhl und blickte vor sich hin in den Raum des Zimmers. Allmählich verzog sich vor seinen Augen die schwarze Dämmerung um ihn her zu einem breiten dunkeln See ; ein schwarzes Gewässer legte sich hinter das andere, immer tiefer und ferner, und auf dem letzten, so fern, daß die Augen des Alten sie kaum erreichten, schwamm einsam zwischen breiten Blättern eine weiße Wasserlilie.

COMPOSITION. (Time, 2 hours.)

Write an essay on one of the following subjects:—

(1.) The Education of Girls.

(2.) The Political Background of "Henry Esmond."

(3.) "When the War-Drum Throbs No Longer."

ENGLISH LITERATURE. (Time, 3 hours.)

1. Sketch the character of Silas Marner, commenting on its fidelity to life.

2. Discuss the means Thackeray uses to intensify our interest in the story of Henry Esmond. In this respect compare it with "Silas Marner."

3. Examine critically, in view of present world-conditions, Ruskin's views on the education of women.

4. "The superior character of truth and seriousness, in the matter and substance of the best poetry, is inseparable from the superiority of diction and movement marking its style and manner."

   With reference to the foregoing statement, discuss briefly "The Rape of the Lock," "The Vanity of Human Wishes," and "The Ode on Intimations of Immortality."

5. Write a short essay on "Adonais," touching on the form of the poem, the circumstances suggesting it, the author's feeling, the leading ideas expressed.
   Quote some of the most beautiful lines.

6. Give some account of English literary production between 1780 and 1820. Indicate carefully the chief causes to which it was due.

7. Write suggestive notes on the following passages and name the selection in which each occurs:—

   (a.) "Who strike the blow, then plead your own defence, Glory your aim, but Justice your pretence."

   (b.) "A virtuous populace may rise the while,
   And stand a wall of fire around their much-lov'd Isle."

   (c.) "He prayeth best, who loveth best
   All things both great and small;
   For the dear God who loveth us,
   He made and loveth all."

   (d.) "He left the name, at which the world grew pale,
   To point a moral, or adorn a tale."

   (e.) "The clouds that gather round the setting sun
   Do take a sober coloring from an eye
   That hath kept watch o'er man's mortality!"

   (f.) "That through thy prowesse and victorious armes
   Thy country may be freed from forraine harmes!"

8. Discuss the style of the following passage, referring definitely to words, phrases, sentences, movement, etc.:—

   "So with our youths. We once taught them to make Latin verses, and called them educated; now we teach them to leap and to row, to hit a ball with a bat, and call them educated. Can they plow, can they sow, can they plant at the right time, or build with a steady hand? Is it the effort of their lives to be chaste, knightly, faithful, holy in thought, lovely in word and deed? Indeed it is, with some, nay with many, and the strength of England is in them, and the hope; but we have to turn their courage from the toil of war to the toil of mercy; and their intellect from dispute of words to discernment of things; and their knighthood from the errantry of adventure to the state and fidelity of a kingly power. And then, indeed, shall abide, for them, and for us an incorruptible felicity, and an infallible religion; shall abide for us Faith, no more to be assailed by temptation, no more to be defended by wrath and by fear;—shall abide with us Hope, no more to be quenched by the years that overwhelm, or made ashamed by the shadows that betray; shall abide for us, and with us, the greatest of these; the abiding will, the abiding name, of our Father. For the greatest of these, is Charity."

ROMAN HISTORY. (Time, 2 hours.)

1. Put in the correct tenses the infinitives in brackets :—

Madame Simon, qui (dormir) auprès de sa fille et qui (rêver) gendarmes, se (réveiller) en sursant et (courir) à la fenêtre. Elle (être) cruellement désabusée en voyant des ennemis où elle (espérer) des sauveurs. Ce qui l'(étonner) le plus, c'est le nombre de cette expédition. Elle (compter) jusqu'à soixantes hommes. L'idée d'une évasion, qu'elle (repousser) l'avant-veille, se (présenter) à son esprit. Comme elle (réfléchir), elle (voir) défiler une arrière-garde qu'elle n'(attendre) pas. Vingt hommes! Il ne (rester) donc plus personne au camp! "Mary-Ann!" (crier)-elle. Le défilé (continuer) toujours. La bande se (composer) de quatre-vingts brigands; il en (partir) quatre-vingt dix! Une douzaine de chiens (fermer) la marche; mais elle ne (prendre) pas la peine de les compter.

2. Correct, if necessary, the past participles in brackets :—

(1.) Voilà la maison que j'ai (fait) bâtir. (2.) La femme de chambre l'a (entendu) sonner. (3.) Les tableaux qu'elle a (vu) peindre sont ravissants. (4.) La servante que j'ai (envoyé) chercher les a (laissé) emporter.

3. Replace the infinitives in brackets by either the indicative or the subjunctive :—

(a.) Napoléon, qui croit ses ordres exécutés, se remet en marche le 16 juin au matin, et découvre l'armée prussienne rangée en bataille entre Saint-Amand et Sombref, et faisant face à la Sambre: elle est composée des trois corps qui étaient cantonnés à Charleroi, à Namur et à Dinant. Sa position est détestable, car elle prête son flanc droit à Ney, qui, s'il a suivi les instructions reçues, doit être à cette heure aux Quatre-Bras, c'est-à-dire à deux lieues sur ses derrières. Napoléon fait ses dispositions en conséquence: il range son armée sur une même ligne que celle de Blücher, pour l'attaquer de front, et envoie un officier de confiance à Ney pour lui ordonner de laisser un détachement en observation aux Quatre-Bras, et de se rabattre en toute hâte sur Bry pour tomber sur les derrières des Prussiens. Un autre officier part en même temps pour arrêter le corps du comte d'Erlon, qui forme l'arrière-garde et qui, par conséquent, ne doit être encore qu'à Villers-Perruin: il lui fera faire un à-droite et le ramènera sur Bry.

(b.) Napoleon had been living a few months in his little empire when the suspicions of the European powers were aroused by the seizure of some letters, which seemed to indicate that the island was the centre of a conspiracy. As soon as he was aware of this, he hastened to send secret agents to France and to Vienna to find out whether his friends were still devoted to him. These emissaries reported that the nation was dissatisfied with the rule of the Burbons and was eagerly awaiting his return. In less than a week the Emperor had made up his mind. To deceive his enemies, he busied himself with making new roads, finishing his house, and ordering statutes and vases in Italy, as if he were going to live in Elba all his life.

They decided not to lay siege to the city; but after their return they constructed a wall across the intervening space, cutting off the sun's rays from the moon. This wall was double and built of clouds; the consequence was total eclipse of the moon, which experienced a continuous night. This severity forced Endymion to negotiate. He entreated that the wall might be taken down and his kingdom released from this. He offered to pay tribute, conclude an alliance, to abstain from hostilities in future and give hostages for these engagements.

Il alla droit "à son allée," et quand il fut au bout, il aperçut toujours sur le même banc, ce couple connu. Seulement, quand il approcha, c'était bien le même homme; mais il lui parut que ce n'était plus la même fille. La personne qu'il voyait maintenant était une grande et belle créature ayant toutes les formes les plus charmantes de la femme à ce moment précis où elles se combinent encore avec toutes les grâces les plus naïves de l'enfant; moment fugitif et pur que peuvent seuls traduire ces deux mots: quinze ans. C'étaient d'admirables cheveux châtains nuancés de veines dorées, un front qui semblait fait de marbre, des joues qui semblaient faites d'une feuille de rose, un incarnat pâle, une blancheur émue, une bouche exquise d'où le sourire sortait comme une clarté et la parole comme une musique, une tête que Raphaël eût donnée à Marie posée sur un cou que Jean Goujon eût donné à Vénus. Et, afin que rien ne manquât à cette ravissante figure, le nez n'était pas beau, il était joli; ni droit ni courbé, ni italien ni grec; c'était le nez parisien; c'est-à-dire quelque chose de spirituel, de fin, d'irrégulier et de pur, qui désespère les peintres et qui charme les poètes.

4. Traduisez :—

Val. Hé quoi! charmante Élise, vous devenez mélancolique, après les obligeantes assurances que vous avez eu la bonté de me donner de votre foi! Je vous vois soupirer, hélas! au milieu de ma joie! Est-ce du regret, dites-moi, de m'avoir fait heureux? et vous repentez-vous de cet engagement où mes feux ont pu vous contraindre?

Él. Non, Valère, je ne puis pas me repentir de tout ce que je fais pour vous. Je m'y sens entraîner par une trop douce puissance, et je n'ai pas même la force de souhaiter que les choses ne fussent pas. Mais, à vous dire vrai, le succès me donne de l'inquiétude; et je crains fort de vous aimer un peu plus que je ne devrais.

Val. Hé! que pouvez-vous craindre, Élise, dans les bontés que vous avez pour moi?

Él. Hélas! cent choses à la fois: l'emportement d'un père, les reproches d'une famille, les censures du monde; mais plus que tout, Valère, le changement de votre cœur, et cette froideur criminelle dont ceux de votre sexe payent le plus souvent les témoignages trop ardens d'une innocente amour.

Val. Ah! ne me faites pas ce tort, de juger de moi par les autres! Soupçonnez-moi de tout, Élise, plutôt que de manquer à ce que je vous dois. Je vous aime trop pour cela; et mon amour pour vous durera autant que ma vie.

Él. Ah! Valère, chacun tient les mêmes discours! Tous les hommes sont semblables par les paroles; et ce n'est que les actions qui les découvrent différens.

Quatre bonnes murailles me répondront de ta conduite et une bonne potence me fera raison de ton audace. (4.) Vous donnez furieusement dans le marquis, et, pour aller ainsi vêtu, il faut que vous me dérobiez. (5.) Toujours parler d'argent! Voilà leur épée de chevet, de l'argent.

Charles était encore auprès de Thorn, dans cette partie de la Prusse royale qui appartient à la Pologne; il portait de là sa vue sur ce qui se passait à Varsovie, et tenait en respect les puissances voisines. Le prince Alexandre, frère des deux Sobieski enlevés en Silesie, vint lui demander vengeance. Charles la lui promit d'autant plus qu'il la croyait aisée et qu'il se vengeait lui-même; mais, impatient de donner un roi à la Pologne, il proposa au prince Alexandre de monter sur le trône dont la fortune s'opiniâtrait à écarter son frère. Il ne s'attendait pas à un refus. Le prince Alexandre lui déclara que rien ne pourrait jamais l'engager à profiter du malheur de son aîné. Le roi de Suède, le comte Piper, tous ses amis, et surtout le jeune palatin de Posnanie, Stanislas Leczinski, le pressèrent d'accepter la couronne; il fut inébranlable. Les princes voisins apprirent avec étonnement ce refus inouï, et ne savaient lequel ils devaient admirer davantage, ou un roi de Suède qui, à l'âge de vingt-deux ans, donnait la couronne de Pologne, ou le prince Alexandre qui la refusait.

One day, as the king was dictating to a secretary some dispatches (lettres) for Sweden, a bomb fell into the house, came through (percer) the roof and burst very near his room. Part of the floor fell in (s'effondrer), but the ante-room (cabinet) where he was at work, being attached (pratiqué) to a thick wall, was undisturbed (demeurer intact), and by a lucky chance none of the splinters (éclats) came in at the door, though it was open. In this noise and confusion the secretary dropped his pen, thinking that the house was coming down. "What is the matter?" said the king calmly; "why are you not writing?" The man could only stammer out (balbutier), "The bomb, sire!" "Well," said the king, "what has that to do with our writing? Go on."

Don Rodrigue.

De quoi qu'en ma faveur notre amour t'entretienne,
Ta générosité doit répondre à la mienne;
Et pour venger un père emprunter d'autres bras,
Ma Chimène, crois-moi, c'est n'y répondre pas:
Ma main seule du mien a su venger l'offense,
Ta main seule du tien doit prendre la vengeance.

Chimène.

Cruel! à quel propos sur ce point t'obstiner?
Tu t'es vengé sans aide, et tu m'en veux donner!
Je suivrai ton exemple, et j'ai trop de courage
Pour souffrir qu'avec toi ma gloire se partage.
Mon père et mon honneur ne veulent rien devoir
Aux traits de ton amour ni de ton désespoir.

Don Rodrigue.

Rigoureux point d'honneur! hélas! quoi que je fasse,
Ne pourrai-je à la fin obtenir cette grâce?
Au nom d'un père mort, ou de notre amitié,
Punis-moi par vengeance, ou du moins par pitié.
Ton malheureux amant aura bien moins de peine
A mourir par ta main qu'à vivre avec ta haine.

CHIMÈNE.

Va, je ne te hais point.

Je dois à ma maîtresse aussi bien qu'à mon père :
J'attire en me vengeant sa haine et sa colère ;
J'attire ses mépris en ne me vengeant pas.
A mon plus doux espoir l'un me rend infidèle,
Et l'autre indigne d'elle.

4. Traduire :—

Que ne permettra-t-il à son ressentiment?
Et jusques à quel point ne porte sa vengeance
Une juste colère avec tant de puissance?
Il nous perdra, ma fille.

PAULINE.

FÉLIX.

Tu veux flatter en vain un père malheureux ;
Il nous perdra, ma fille. Ah! regret qui me tue
De n'avoir pas aimé la vertu toute nue!
Ah! Pauline, en effet, tu m'as trop obéi ;
Ton courage étoit bon, ton devoir l'a trahi:
Que ta rébellion m'eût été favorable!
Qu'elle m'eût garanti d'un état déplorable!
Si quelque espoir me reste, il n'est plus aujourd'hui
Qu'en l'absolu pouvoir qu'il te donnoit sur lui ;
Ménage en ma faveur l'amour qui le possède,
Et d'où provient mon mal fais sortir le remède.

PAULINE.

Moi! moi! que je revoie un si puissant vainqueur,
Et m'expose à des yeux qui me percent le cœur!
Mon père, je suis femme, et je sais ma foiblesse ;
Je sens déjà mon cœur qui pour lui s'intéresse,
Et poussera sans doute, en dépit de ma foi,
Quelque soupir indigne et de vous et de moi.
Je ne le verrai point.

5. Commentez les expressions mises en italiques dans le passage qui précède (4), et faites en ressortir clairement le sens.

Et l'heur de vous revoir lui semblera plus doux.

(b.) Hélas ! c'était lui-même, et jamais notre Rome
N'a produit plus grand cœur, ni vu plus honnête homme.

(c.) Qui marche assurément n'a point peur de tomber :
Dieu fait part, au besoin, de sa force infinie.

(d.) Père barbare, achève, achève ton ouvrage ;
Cette seconde hostie est digne de ta rage.

(e.) Si, toutefois, après ce coup mortel du sort,
J'ai de la vie assez pour chercher une mort.

(a.) Les œufs couvés, les petits sont éclos et ont été nourris avec les soins les plus attentifs. Le coin de ma fenêtre était devenu un théâtre de morale en action, où les pères et mères de famille auraient pu venir prendre des leçons. Les petits ont grandi vite, et, ce matin, je les ai vus prendre leur volée. Un seul, plus faible que les autres, n'a pu franchir le rebord du toit, et est venu tomber dans la gouttière. Je l'ai rattrapé à grand'peine et je l'ai replacé sur la tuile devant l'ouverture de sa demeure ; mais la mère n'y a point pris garde. Délivrée des soucis de la famille, elle a recommencé sa vie d'aventurière dans les arbres et le long des toits. En vain je me suis tenu éloigné de ma fenêtre pour lui ôter tout prétexte de crainte ; en vain l'oisillon infirme l'a appelée par les petits cris plaintifs, la mauvaise mère passait en chantant et voletait avec mille coquetteries. Le père s'est approché une seule fois, il a regardé sa progéniture d'un air dédaigneux, puis il a disparu pour ne plus revenir !

(b.) I have not seen Paulette for a year. I had almost forgotten her. She knocks at my door and comes in. She is not pretty, she is pale and thin and ill-clad ; but I do not find her ugly. I recognize her when she smiles, but not before.

Who is Paulette? She is a little girl whom I saved once at the risk of my life. It was two years ago, on the evening of a public festival. A large crowd was watching the illuminations and the fireworks and admiring the sheaves of flame in the middle of the Champ de Mars.

All at once a panic struck the multitude. It crushed underfoot the weak—women and children—who stumbled in their terror. I heard the cry of a child, returned immediately and rescued her. That child was Paulette.

Bei der Kargheit des Raumes iſt es mir hier unmöglich, auf geſchichtliche Einzelheiten einzugehen. Es war ein furchtbar heißer Schlachttag unter den Wällen von Metz, ein mörderiſcher Kampf, meiſt auf engem Raum zwiſchen den feindlichen Verſchanzungen und dem nahen Höhenterrain in unſerm Rücken, bis auch Noiſſeville endlich genommen und die drei franzöſiſchen Korps unter Deckung der kaiſerlichen Garde in die Forts zurückgeworfen waren. Bazaine hatte alſo dasſelbe Unglück gehabt wie ſeine Kameraden der Rhein-Armee.

Das ganze Schlacht-Tableau dieſes Tages war der Weinberge wegen unüberblickbar und in dem engen Raum oft derart durch undurchdringlichen Pulverdampf eingehüllt, daß ſelbſt die Sonne vergeblich mit ihren Strahlen in dieſes Kampfgewühl zu dringen ſuchte. Zerſchmetterte Geſchütze, zerriſſene Pferde, Haufen von Verwundeten lagen in dem engen Raum vor den franzöſiſchen Verſchanzungen ; in all dem Qualm und Dunſt unterſchied man nur die rauchgeſchwärzten Geſichter der Kämpfenden oder ſchon Kampfunfähigen.

And so it happened. At eight o'clock in the morning the thunder of cannon began again. The shells were still hissing over the village when I stood with one of the regiments on the square. All the enemy's positions were taken, and they retreated on Orleans. Here at length the troops found rest. The Loire campaign was at an end, and doubtless the whole war too. Orleans was taken, and occupied by three brigades. But the French still hoped for the impossible.

„Lieber Himmel," fuhr ſie fort, „unſeren Männern iſt es nicht beſchieden, ſich auf dem Feld zu tummeln, wo der Adel Lorbeeren pflückt, darum müſſen ſie ſich auf eine andere Weiſe nützlich zu machen ſuchen."

COMMISSIONER'S REPORT, VANCOUVER ISLAND RIOTS, 1913-14.

VICTORIA, B.C., December 21st, 1916.

To His Honour FRANK STILLMAN BARNARD,
Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of British Columbia.

SIR,—Pursuant to the terms of a Commission issued to me on the 3rd day of August, 1916, under the provisions of the "Public Inquiries Act," whereby I was appointed "Sole Commissioner to inquire into—

> "All claims for compensation for injury, either to person or property, arising out of and in the course of the riots or disorders which occurred during the coal-miners' strike on Vancouver Island in the years 1913 and 1914,"—

I have the honour to report as follows:—

Upon receipt of the Commission, I at once published the necessary notices in the Gazette and newspapers circulating in the county in which the inquiry was to be held, took the oath of office prescribed by section 6 of the "Inquiries Act," and entered upon the work of the inquiry.

Mr. Harry Langley was appointed Secretary and Stenographer, and Mr. H. W. Herchmer, counsel to represent the Government.

Claims to the number of 380 were filed with the Commission, the great majority of them within the time originally fixed by the notice calling for the same, but some during the sittings, as on the opening day of the hearing I announced that any claims filed before the sittings were closed would be heard, provided there was no unnecessary delay or expense incurred.

No claimant was refused a hearing. Sessions were held at Nanaimo and Ladysmith. The Commission was opened at the Court-house, Nanaimo, at 2.30 p.m. on the 16th day of August, 1916, when the letters patent addressed to me were read and the scope of the inquiry explained.

Hearings were held at Nanaimo and Ladysmith from August 16th to September 30th without any unnecessary interruption. On the latter date I had to adjourn sine die in order to attend to my judicial duties and was unable to resume the hearings until the 22nd day of November, when a hearing was held at Victoria. On November 27th hearings were resumed at Nanaimo and continued until December 1st, when after due notice the hearings at Nanaimo were closed. Two additional hearings were held at Victoria on December 14th and 15th for the accommodation of two large claimants who had been unable to fully present their cases at Nanaimo.

Hereto annexed are two Schedules, A and B, showing the amount of each claim presented, the amount of damage assessed by me, who represented the claimants at the hearing, and any special circumstances which it seemed advisable that I should bring to Your Honour's attention.

From the evidence adduced it is quite clear that between August 12th and 16th, 1913, there was a general disturbance amounting to a riot among the coal-miners on Vancouver Island, and that serious damage was done by them at Extension, South Wellington, and Ladysmith to the person and property of many people, and that had it not been for the aid of the militia, called in at a late hour, much further damage would have been done.

I was not required by the terms of the Commission to inquire into the cause of the riots, nor the efforts made by the authorities to prevent them; but incidentally some evidence was given to show that there was a general feeling of uneasiness in the communities, and very pronounced and justifiable fears that riots would take place, and that before any actual damage was done these fears were communicated to the Provincial police and authorities, and protection asked for.

I am directed by the letters patent to report, inter alia, "the opinions which you (I) may have formed in relation to the matters aforesaid"—that being my inquiry into the claims for compensation, etc. I do not understand that this requires me to express an opinion as to the liability of the Government to make good the losses suffered by the claimants. Neither Mr. Herchmer, representing the Government, nor counsel for the claimants addressed any argument to me upon this point, although I asked them if they wished to do so. I confined my attention to ascertaining and assessing the amount of damage done to person and property arising out of and in the course of the riots or disorders, and unless and until I first found that the damage done was caused by and in the course of such riots or disorders, I made no attempt to assess them.

I cannot say that I am thoroughly satisfied with the result of my labours; and it is quite possible that I have done an injustice to some claimants; but I carefully and conscientiously devoted myself to the task, and I feel sure that my findings in the vast majority of cases are reasonable and just. I did not enforce the strict rules of evidence pertaining in the Courts, but I required claimants to describe as well and as fully as possible the different articles they claimed for, as that was the only way I had of forming any estimate of the correctness of the value placed upon them. Many seemed to resent this, and thought it sufficient to say, for example, one cooking-stove, value $60, and thought that that amount should be allowed them, as it would cost that sum to buy a new one to replace the one lost; apparently feeling that that was the measure of their damage, forgetting entirely that a new stove would have a larger life, and that they could only be allowed for the value of the article as it existed at the time of loss, taking into account the make, the age, and the amount of use it had been put to.

It will be easily understood that I was greatly handicapped by the fact that the inquiry was not held until three years after the damage was done.

In a number of cases claimants did not appear before the Commission to present their claims; this was particularly the case with the Chinese. The majority of these claims were prepared shortly after the disturbances and presented to the Government in anticipation of some compensation being granted, and when the Commission sat many of them had disappeared.

By reference to Schedule A it will be seen that a large number of Chinese claimants who appeared were allowed nothing; and I think a short explanation with reference to these might be made.

Some fifty-odd claims, Nos. 168 to 219, both inclusive, were presented by Mr. Ross, barrister, Nanaimo, who received his instructions from one Wo Kee. After the examination of a number of witnesses Mr. Ross decided that he could not proceed with the claims and abandoned them; and it appeared clear to me that while some of the claimants might have lost some things, the claims as a whole were faked and thoroughly unreliable, and that in all probability Wo Kee had made them all up since the Commission was issued. They had never been filed with the Government. I allowed nothing to any of these claimants, as it would be a hopeless task to attempt to find the small amount of genuine loss from the tainted mass; and I think Mr. Ross agreed with me.

The same remarks apply generally to the thirty-three claims, numbered from 340 to 372, both inclusive, presented by Messrs. McGill & Grant, barristers, of Vancouver. These claims had not been filed with the Government. Jang Yick Jon and Jang Dick were the prime movers in the presentation of these claims, which were for the loss of a lumber camp, etc. They were both called as witnesses; but after cross-examination I was unable to believe them, and so stated. Mr. Dockerill, of Messrs. McGill & Grant's office, then said it would be useless to proceed, and he withdrew all the claims. A number of the claimants were then interrogated by the Official Interpreter as to whether they desired to proceed without Mr. Dockerill's assistance, but they declined to do so; and it appeared to me that they felt greatly relieved in abandoning their claims.

From inquiries made by me subsequently it appeared that the camp had not been destroyed, and the teamster who carted the tents and provisions, etc., claimed for back to Nanaimo was found.

The remainder of the Chinese claims other than those specially referred to in Schedule B may be divided into two classes—those purporting to be presented by the Chinese Benevolent Society and those presented by the Chinese Consul at Vancouver; both had been prepared and presented to the Government shortly after the riots.

The Benevolent Society claims were represented when first called at the hearing by Mr. Eli Harrison, barrister, of Victoria. Nineteen of these claims were considered. There was so much irregularity in their preparation and so many unbelievable statements made that it seemed as if I would have to refuse to consider them, although it was evident that some had suffered genuine loss. I therefore adjourned the further hearing of these cases and caused private inquiries to be made with a view to ascertaining, if possible, how many of them had actually suffered loss. After receiving a report these cases were taken up again, and were represented by Mr. Victor Harrison, barrister, of Nanaimo. Schedule A shows how each of them was disposed of.

From the evidence given before me it appeared quite clear that a deliberate attempt had been made by one Lore Gune to impose upon the Government. Every claim was grossly and fraudulently exaggerated, and in the majority of cases the witnesses had evidently been schooled and carefully instructed as to what they were to say. I found a number of cases of personation —cases where claimants claimed to have written with their own hand a list in Chinese of the articles they had lost, and when put to the test were unable to write at all. One who claimed never to have had such a list, on being asked what papers he had in his pocket, produced a list containing the items claimed for. Others who claimed that no list of their missing goods had been made were able to remember all the articles mentioned in their claim, reciting them in their exact order, and giving the amounts set out with remarkable accuracy. I finally arrived at the conclusion that the whole plan had been originated by Lore Gune, and that he was mainly responsible for the fraud. I consequently allowed nothing to those claimants who appeared to have been willing to assist his fraud, even though they might have suffered some loss. There were other cases where the claimants were ignorant and appeared to have been deceived themselves; to them I made an allowance generally of $25, feeling sure that that was probably the extent of their loss. I may add that Lore Gune did not appear when the cases were called the second time; and, of course, I acquit Mr. Eli Harrison of any part in the attempted fraud. Since the inquiry closed I have been informed that while Lore Gune was an officer in the Chinese Benevolent Society, and purported to represent it, he had no authority to do so, and in reality only represented himself.

From these Chinese claims it is a relief to turn to those presented by the Chinese Consul at Vancouver. These claims were carefully and honestly prepared, and with few exceptions were allowed in full, with a deduction for wear and tear, as the values placed upon the articles were the prices when new, and the great majority of them had, of course, been used.

The Chinese Consul was represented during the inquiry by Mr. Victor B. Harrison, assisted by Mr. David Lew, Assistant Consul. Immediately after the riots the Consul visited Nanaimo, Extension, South Wellington, and Ladysmith, and by notice invited all Chinese who had suffered damage to submit claims to him for presentation to the proper authorities; and had all the Chinese availed themselves of this offer in their behalf, no doubt they would have profited by it, instead of suffering through association with dishonest speculators. I can call them nothing else; for, so far as I could ascertain, they were to receive a percentage of the amount to be allowed as remuneration for their services.

Among the claims of the miners were a number claiming for loss of time. This was particularly the case with the Ladysmith claimants, all of whom, I think, so claimed; but I allowed nothing on that account, feeling that such losses did not arise out of the riots or disturbances, but solely because of the strike, and is an incident of every strike. The only case in which I made any allowance for loss of time, and they were very few; at present I can only recall two—McKinnon (No. 126) and Rennie (No. 31)—and these were cases where the claimant had suffered personal injury and had to go to the hospital; and in their cases I allowed for the time they were unable to work.

A number of claims were presented, including one of Thomas W. Gray (No. 40), for $31,000 for loss caused by fire at South Wellington in August, 1914.

It appears there was quite a large fire at South Wellington at that time in which Mr. Gray's mill and a number of dwellings were destroyed. Before inquiring into the amount of the losses I called for general evidence showing that the fire came within the terms of my Commission, as the actual riots and disturbances had taken place long before this, although the strike was still on. From the evidence adduced it appeared that the fire started in the neighbouring woods or bushes, and was carried by the wind to the buildings in question. The only evidence to suggest that it had been set by the strikers was the fact that after the fire had been in progress in the village for some time, quite a large number of strikers had gathered and they rendered no assistance in endeavouring to extinguish the fire and save the property endangered; but this I considered, unfortunately, the usual attitude of strikers, who would render no assistance to preserve the property of non-strikers, no matter how the fire originated. I asked for negative evidence to exclude the possibility of the fire in the woods having been started in any other way than by the strikers, but none was produced. At that season of the year, when everything is so dry, and many people possibly passing through the bush, it seemed to me not at all unlikely that the fire might have been caused inadvertently by any careless smoker having dropped a burning match. In these circumstances I declined to inquire into the value of the damage done, feeling that to do so would be a waste of public money and raise false hopes of remuneration. It is needless to say that the claimants were greatly disappointed.

The only claims for damage done in 1914 were those of James Rennie (No. 31), who was actually attacked and shot by strikers, and that of Elizabeth Berry (No. 32), who was allowed $58.75 for the destruction by fire on April 5th, 1914, of a tent, etc. Personally I made no inquiry into the cause of the fire, because Mr. Herchmer, representing the Government, stated that he had made inquiries and was satisfied on that score; so it being a small claim and an isolated case, I only inquired into the amount of damage done.

There are two other claims which require special mention—viz., the Canadian Collieries (No. 38) and the Western Fuel Company (No. 123). The former had a genuine claim for damage by fire on August 13th at the time of the actual riots (as to which, see Schedule A), and in addition a claim for some $300,000-odd consequential damages for injury to the underground workings consequent upon the inability to secure miners to keep the mine working.

The Western Fuel Company's claim was $72,256.19, being the cost of flooding and pumping out what is known as the South Side Mine on account of a fire which was discovered in the mine on August 10th and 11th, 1913. There is no suggestion that the fire was caused by the rioters or strikers, but it is claimed that on account of the riots they were unable to obtain men to fight it; and so after consultation with the officials of the mine and Mr. Thomas Graham, Provincial Inspector of Mines, it was decided to flood it, and on the 23rd the work of pumping sea-water into the mine was actually begun. It did not appear to me that every effort to obtain men was exhausted before this step was taken; but there can be no doubt that Mr. Stockett, the general manager, after the consultation already referred to, believed it was the only course to pursue to save the mine. It is clear that before the necessity for flooding the mine arose the actual riots were under the control of the militia authorities, and also that Mr. Stockett had been informed by the strikers that he could get all the men he wanted if he would recognize the United Mine Workers of America. It is equally clear, I think, speaking generally, that the great majority of non-striking miners were afraid to go to work for fear of injury to themselves or their families, notwithstanding the presence of the militia, as the strikers might find a way secretly of causing the injury.

From the evidence adduced it appeared to me that the inability to get men to work the mine or fight the fire was an incident only of the strike, and did not in any true sense "arise out of and in the course of the riots or disturbances." I therefore declined to inquire into the amount of injury suffered.

When the Canadian Collieries claim for consequential damage was called, Mr. H. B. Robertson, barrister, of Victoria, who represented that company and who knew of my decision in the Western Fuel Company's case, made the following statement:—

"The Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Limited, in presenting these claims for consideration by the Government, desires to state that it regards its claims for damages to its property caused by actual violence as a valid and proper one for which it is entitled to compensation. But that, as to the second claim, it was not the intention of the company to make any claim for damages caused through the idleness of the mines until the company learned that the Western Fuel Company, an American corporation, had made a claim for damages caused through idleness; whereupon this company, a Dominion corporation representing British capital, feels that if the claim of the Western Fuel Company is to be considered, then the British-Canadian bondholders of the Canadain Collieries (Dunsmuir), Limited, are equally entitled to consideration. But if the Government should decline to consider the claim presented by the Western Fuel Company for underground or other damages caused by idleness, then the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Limited, will beg the permission of the Government to withdraw its second claim which is based upon these same grounds."

I agreed with Mr. Robertson that in the circumstances it was unnecessary to offer any evidence; and I recommend that, in case the Government decides to consider the Western Fuel Company's claim, his claim should also be considered and an opportunity given of presenting proof.

Should the Government eventually decide to consider either of these cases, I respectfully suggest that the extent of the damage done could be much more expeditiously and cheaply ascertained by entrusting the inquiry to a practical mine manager and accountant than to this Commission, as it lacks the technical knowledge which would be required and could only be supplied by a large amount of expert advice.

Accompanying this report I am forwarding to Your Honour my notes taken down during the inquiry; also all claims presented, whether proved or not. My notes are very brief, and are contained partly on separate sheets of paper and partly in marginal notes on the particulars of claims filed. All the notes are numbered and arranged in numerical order for convenience of reference; the numbers also correspond to the numbers given to the claims in Schedule A.

I am also forwarding the stenographer's shorthand notes of the full evidence taken, together with such portions as he has transcribed for my reference and convenience.

As I followed the plan of taking the evidence during the day of as many claims as possible and working during the evenings settling the amounts to be allowed thereon whilst the evidence and the impression made on me by the witness was still fresh, I have found it unnecessary to have the full notes transcribed. This can, however, be done if desired.

Accompanying this report is a memo. of the time occupied by the inquiry and the expenses incurred, all of which is respectfully submitted.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
F. B. GREGORY.

SCHEDULE B.

No. 31. JAMES RENNEY.

This man was not injured by rioters, but by strikers, in April, 1914. He was attacked and was shot with buckshot, necessitating an operation and three weeks in the hospital. From the effects of his wounds he has developed varicose veins, and will have to undergo another operation.

I have allowed him for clothing destroyed, operation, and hospital charges, also for time lost while in hospital; and similar allowances for the second operation, which is necessary to restore his full working power.

I have made no allowance for pain and suffering, as that does not seem to come within the scope of this Commission; but if that were allowed, I would think his claim of $2,055 most reasonable.

No. 32. ELIZABETH BERRY.

This claim was for the loss of a tent, etc., on April 5th, 1914. Upon my proceeding first to inquire if the damage had been caused by rioters or strikers, Mr. Herchmer, representing the Government, stated that the Government would admit the damage was so caused, as he had made inquiries and had satisfied himself on that point. I therefore proceeded to assess the damages sustained.

No. 39. JAMES BAXTER.

This man is a contractor at Nanaimo, and suffered from a gunshot wound which confined him to the hospital for ten days. His claim is for:—

Medical and hospital expenses	$ 100 00
Loss of time and suffering	1,500 00
Total	$1,600 00

The only evidence given as to expenses incurred was, hospital expenses about $30. His evidence of damage through loss of time was most unsatisfactory, and his business was carried on just the same. Claimant says he suffered agony, but I do not consider that compensation for bodily pain comes within the scope of this Commission.

In any case, I cannot recommend the payment of any sum to this claimant. There is evidence that he sympathized with the strikers, if he did not actually take part in their doings. He mixed freely with them, and one of them had suggested to him that he take a gun. He had no business at the time being within four miles of the disturbance. He had heard that there was shooting going on, and had actually been warned twice not to proceed. His wound was, I believe, an accident which never would have happened had he not been guilty at least of idle and foolhardy curiosity. But my opinion is that he went to the scene of the trouble and mixed with the strikers and rioters with a view of at least leading them to believe that he was in sympathy with them and their doings.

No. 40. THOMAS B. GRAY.

This very large claim was for the loss of a sawmill at South Wellington, burned on August 11th, 1914. The mill had not been running for some months previously.

Before going into the details of the loss, I stated to Mr. Yarwood, who represented the claimant, that I would first require evidence that the fire was caused by strikers (the riots had been over for a year). Mr. Yarwood replied that he was unable to offer any other evidence than that already heard with reference to the 1914 fire at South Wellington. On my stating that that evidence had not satisfied me that the fire was caused by strikers, Mr. Gray gave some formal evidence, and the claim was not further proceeded with.

No. 126. ALEXANDER NEIL MCKINNON.

This man has been terribly abused. He and his family were actually blown up by a bomb. Fortunately his family escaped personal injury. But he is permanently injured, as follows:—

(1.) Right arm amputated at the elbow:
(2.) Right eye seriously injured, only a quarter normal vision left, and sight of left eye endangered:
(3.) Hearing more than half destroyed; right ear practically useless; ear-drum destroyed, and left ear very defective:
(4.) Private parts badly injured and deformed:
(5.) Legs in a very bad condition, with scars and adhesions, and power of locomotion interfered with.

Before the injuries occurred claimant was a big strong man, earning about $6 a day as a miner. He is no longer able to perform manual labour, and he has not at present the educational qualifications for clerical work; but he is only thirty-four years of age, has normal mental faculties, and, strange as it may seem, after his terrible experience, his nervous system is only slightly if at all impaired, and he can, if given the opportunity, qualify himself for clerical employment.

No amount of money can compensate him for the injuries he has received; and under my interpretation of the scope of the Commission, I cannot allow him anything for pain and suffering.

I assess his actual damage as follows:—

To furniture, etc.	$ 111 25
Share of injury to house (see note to Hillis Coulter, Claim No. 152)	302 50
Personal injuries	7,500 00
Total	$7,913 75

In estimating the personal injuries I have been governed by what I think from my experience a jury would award; but it might easily be increased to $10,000, but even that sum would in my opinion be inadequate.

No. 143. BENJAMIN ROZZANO.

This man's claim is for:—

Damage to property	$ 24 25
Loss of time and hotel expenses	104 00
Total	$128 25

Sixteen dollars would have covered the actual damage, if he had stated that he returned to work when the others did. After claimant left the room I learned that he had joined the strikers, and had not returned to work until March, 1915. I wished to examine him on these matters, and sent word of this; but although he agreed to return, he failed to turn up.

I cannot recommend the payment of any money to him.

No. 152. HILLIS COULTER.

This claim is for damage to the house occupied by Alexander McKinnon (No. 126), which was wrecked by a bomb. At the time of the explosion Mr. McKinnon had agreed to purchase it, and had made some payments on account of his purchase. After the explosion McKinnon was unable to continue his payments and surrendered the house to the claimant. At my suggestion Mr. McKinnon and Mr. Coulter came to an agreement whereby Mr. McKinnon was to be allowed $302.50 on the house being restored.

Mr. Kent, a contractor, estimated the damage to the house at $659.25, and I have accepted his figures, and therefore allow Mr. McKinnon the sum of $302.50, and Mr. Coulter the difference between that amount and $659.25—viz., $356.75. This, I think, will be more satisfactory than allowing the whole amount to either one or the other and having them make a payment back; besides, it provides against accidents in the matter of payments.

No. 315. HONG FUNG YUEN.

This claim, originally filed with the Chinese Consulate, amounted to	$10,345 00
Not including repairs to buildings, fences, fixtures, and fittings, afterwards claimed at	500 00
	$10,845 00
As filed with Commission	9,945 00
As amended and filed by Mr. Henderson	3,995 00

This claim I believe to be absolutely fraudulent and an impudent attempt to impose on the Commission, and I cannot recommend the payment of any part of it. It is so unreliable that it is open to the suspicion that the little damage done was connived at by the claimant. The only damage done to the building, fences, and fixtures was the breaking of one window.

My previous preliminary inquiries caused me to suspect, or rather believe, that the claim was a fraudulent one, and I determined to visit the shop. I invited claimant's counsel, Mr. Eli Harrison, to accompany me, but he declined, and when on my return the case was called he declined to proceed with it and withdrew. At claimant's request the hearing was adjourned to enable him to obtain other counsel.

The most casual observation was sufficient to enable a child to see that the claim was more than grossly exaggerated.

When the case was eventually heard the claim had been reduced to $3,995; but even then there was no serious attempt made to prove the value of the stock alleged to have been destroyed.

A claim was made for the loss of $2,605 alleged to have been in the safe. But the circumstances disclosed render it impossible for me to believe this statement. The safe was undoubtedly broken at some time, and apparently by a sledge-hammer from the outside, but the condition of the hinge-bolts, the door-bolts, and the interior woodwork make this impossible of belief, and the combination button was absolutely undamaged. I feel satisfied that the safe was opened in the usual way, and the damage done afterwards as a blind—which rioters would have no object in doing.

The shelving and fixtures were absolutely untouched, and many packages of tea, drugs, etc., still remained on the shelves when I visited the premises. (The place had been locked up and abandoned, with a Chinaman living in the rear.)

I have assessed the damage at $150, but I consider it an extravagantly generous estimate, and I only make it because Mr. Mainwaring, who saw the place a few days after the riot, said that the floor was covered with tea and rice, etc., at that time. The only physical damage he saw to the buildings, etc., was one broken window in the front; but claim was made for $500 under this heading.

No. 317. BING KEE.

Claim was made for the total destruction of a house in riot of August, 1913	$1,500 00
And injury to other buildings at same time	720 00
Total	$2,220 00

Claim was also made for a number of buildings subsequently burned, amount unstated.

Mr. Bing Kee was asked to provide full particulars in writing of his claim, showing the damage done to his several buildings. When his claim was called this request had not been complied with, and he said he preferred to abandon his claim rather than do so. I informed him through his counsel, Mr. V. B. Harrison, that he must do so, as otherwise I had no means of checking it. He thereupon formally abandoned that portion of his claim.

No evidence at all was offered in support of the claim for buildings burned subsequently to August, 1913.

I heard the evidence with reference to the claim for house burned in August, 1913, during the riot. Bing Kee was the only witness called, and he declined to state positively that it was burned then; said that he was not there at the time, but that his son had so reported it to him, etc. The son was present at my inquiry, but was not called. Subsequently, when investigating another claim (No. 228), a Chinese witness stated that Bing Kee's house had been burned in June; but Mr. Mainwaring, who had made some investigations shortly after the riots, said the place was burned at the time he was there, and he understood it had been burned during the riot in August, 1913. In these circumstances I told Mr. Harrison he would have to furnish further evidence, and he replied that he could get a Mr. McKay, who was an engineer at the mine, to so testify, and I directed him to produce this witness the following morning. This was not done, and the following afternoon the Nanaimo sittings closed. I wrote Mr. Harrison on December 5th and 9th on the subject, and asked him to obtain at least a notarial declaration from some white man as to the date of burning. At the time of writing this report I have not heard further from Mr. Harrison; but I am to-day in receipt of a report from Mr. William Goodwin, who was a special constable at Extension from May 2nd, 1913, to September, 1914, stating that the building was burned between June 28th and July 1st; and in view of the evidence of Claimant No. 228, I have accepted the unsworn report, and allowed Bing Kee nothing for his claim, which I am now satisfied was fraudulent and that he was a party to the fraud.

Nos. 340-372.

These claims were presented by Mr. Dockerill, of the firm of Messrs. McGill & Grant. The claims are for the loss of personal effects and a lumber camp, with tents and equipment, alleged to have been destroyed in August, 1913.

General evidence was heard, and some addressed to Claims Nos. 355, 366, and 364. The main witnesses were Jang Yick Jon and Jang Dick, who in my opinion proved unworthy of belief. In my preliminary investigations I had been unable to find any trace of any such loss as claimed by these claimants, who claimed that everything, including tent, blankets, and provisions, had been destroyed.

There were a number of suspicious circumstances connected with these claims.

Some time after I had disposed of these cases I was informed by Mr. Hastings, whom I asked to make a private investigation, that so far as he could ascertain there had been no loss, and that all the tents, provisions, etc., had been taken to Nanaimo to a certain Chinese store, and he had found the teamster who had hauled them in.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF MUNICIPALITIES.

VICTORIA, B.C.,
December 1st, 1918.

Hon. J. W. de B. Farris,
Attorney-General.

SIR,—I submit herewith statement showing the assessed values of property within the municipalities of the Province as shown by the rolls for the current year; also the rates of taxation imposed. The statement also exhibits the financial operations of the municipalities during the year 1917 and the amounts of the several liabilities at the end of the year. It may be noted that owing to unusual conditions the annual reports were greatly delayed, the municipal officials in some cases being unable to furnish a complete report for 1917 until October of the current year.

IV.—SINKING FUNDS, DECEMBER 31ST, 1917.

The total of the sinking funds on hand December 31st, 1917, as shown below, was $10,592,742.61, represented by cash on hand, $3,728,578.73, and other investments of $6,864,163.88; these other investments being distributed as follows:—

Dominion of Canada bonds	$2,566,959 61
Mortgages	290,450 24
Debentures of the municipality	3,991,207 33
Properties held by foreclosure of mortgage	15,546 70

Mortgages are not now among the investments available to municipalities, but it has not come to my attention that any investments of this class have been made since the change made in that respect in the Act in 1914. In one case, however, on the maturity of debentures a mortgage was taken over from one sinking fund account to another. Municipalities are not allowed under the "Municipal Act" to invest sinking funds in their own bonds, but of the amount shown as investments of this nature, the sum of $3,523,233.11 is held by the City of Vancouver, which is under a special charter.

The municipalities of the Province do not appear to have obtained in the past a satisfactory return by way of interest upon their sinking fund investments. On December 31st, 1916, the sinking funds on hand amounted to $10,320,563.60, and the amount received during the year 1917 as interest was $376,715.14, or 3.65 per cent. In explanation, it may be noted that a substantial amount was withdrawn for investment in Dominion bonds in December, 1917, and the interest for the month on the amount withdrawn does not appear in the 1917 statement, but in so far as it can be estimated this feature is not sufficient to make any substantial difference in the average rate. It is hoped, however, that with the larger investment in Dominion bonds there will in the future be a more adequate return. The total amount invested in this way during 1917 was $1,391,369.24.

VI.—RECEIPTS, 1917.

The statement of receipts given herewith, as also the statement of expenditures given below, is probably in some cases not entirely accurate, but may be relied upon as being sufficiently near to accuracy for all practical purposes. An attempt has been made to eliminate items which would mislead by inflating the totals, such as deposit accounts, trust accounts, and entries made only for convenience in book-keeping and accounting. In making these adjustments it has not always been possible to obtain full knowledge of the facts. It will also be borne in mind that the statement is not one of possible revenue, but of actual receipts, and must to some extent be read along with the statement of arrears of taxes given above.

X.—PUBLIC UTILITIES.

The statement shown with respect to municipal public utilities is intended to show only the extent to which the public utilities supplement revenues from other sources, or, as the case may be, the extent to which taxes on land are obliged to assist in sustaining public utilities.

I am unable to furnish a statement which will show with any degree of accuracy the real profits or losses of the systems. No uniform system has been adopted in determining what might be considered a reasonable allowance for depreciation or as a reserve for replacement. In many cases no attempt has been made to estimate this item. Also, although the statement includes in the total of revenue received the amount contributed by the municipality itself for public service, the wide differences in the allowance made in this respect makes it difficult to compare one system with another. In the matter of street-lighting, for instance, in some cases no credit is given to the electric-light system, while in other cases the amounts charged to the municipality at large and credited to the system for street-lighting run as high as 40 per cent. of the total revenue.

It must also be noted that, while the profit and loss as shown here is arrived at by taking into consideration as one of the elements the interest and sinking fund on the liability incurred, these liabilities have been incurred for varying periods and at varying rates of interest upon undertakings of the same nature, the life of the debentures varying from twenty to fifty years.

While it is thus impossible to bring the several utilities to the same standard, yet this statement will, as I have noted, exhibit the extent to which they have actually had effect upon the current revenues of the several municipalities.

REPORT OF THE DEPUTY MINISTER OF LABOUR for the

YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31ST, 1918.

Owing to conditions brought about by the continuance of the war the greater part of the period under review was, so far as the leading industries of the Province were concerned, one of unexampled activity. Until the granting of the armistice in November the ranks of those normally engaged in the various extractive, industrial, and commercial pursuits of the Province were very considerably drawn upon to maintain our quota of the Allied Forces at the requisite standard of numerical strength. Such official figures as are available show that up to July, 1918, more than 50,000 men had enlisted or been drafted into the Canadian Expeditionary Forces from this Province, and it is reasonable to state that the great majority of these were drawn from the classes above referred to. This depletion, accentuated by the extraordinary demand made upon the various industries for the greatest possible output of the necessary food and material required by the Allies, resulted in such industries being fully employed and a considerable shortage in the supply of manual and other workers.

Of the leading industries of the Province, ship-building, lumber, and metal-mining, with the interrelated smelting, were those most markedly affected. The building of both wooden and steel vessels was carried on to a degree unexampled in the history of the Province. Existing yards were very greatly extended and a number of new ones established, all of which were fully occupied. The demands which these in turn made upon the lumber industry were further augmented by the call for spruce for aeroplanes.

A further result of the war which had an important effect upon the carrying-on of the various industries of the Province is presented by the rise in the cost of the various necessaries of life. Wages had to be adjusted to meet this increased cost of living. In the great majority of cases this was effected by mutual agreement between the employers and the workers. Such strikes as occurred in the leading industries traceable to this cause were of brief duration. A commendable spirit was shown by both sides to such disputes to get the matter settled as quickly as possible, so that output should not be interfered with.

In anticipation of the conditions which were expected to result from the cessation of hostilities, the Provincial Government entered into an agreement with the Minister of Labour for Canada under the provisions of the "Employment Offices Co-ordination Act," whereby free Government employment offices were to be established in the Province in accordance with the plan formulated by the Dominion Government and adopted by the other Provinces in Canada. Under this arrangement part of the cost of the maintenance of such employment office is borne by the Dominion Government. A uniform system of keeping records of applications for work and applications for help is, under this co-ordination scheme, used throughout the Dominion, which permits of the establishment of Provincial clearing-houses, through the operation of which the problem of the distribution of labour to the points where it is required is treated in Dominion-wide manner. Each employment office is in daily communication with the Provincial clearing-house, which is thus kept in close touch with the situation in the Province. The Provincial clearing-house is, in turn, in communication with the remaining Provincial clearing-houses through the medium of the Dominion clearing-houses at Winnipeg and Ottawa. Immediate contact is thus maintained with the situation throughout the Dominion. One of the most important objects of this co-ordination plan is to assist in the rehabilitation of the returned soldiers into civil life. A representative of the returned soldiers is present in each employment office, whose duty it is to assist in every way possible the returned men looking for employment. In this Province the system was inaugurated by the establishment of an office in Vancouver in July last. During the period it has been in existence this office has done excellent work along the lines indicated. Detailed account of its working will be found in that section of this report dealing with employment offices. Immediately upon the cessation of hostilities preparations were made for the extensive expansion of the system. After a thorough canvass of the situation it has been decided to open a second office at Vancouver, and to establish offices at Victoria, New Westminster, Nanaimo, Prince Rupert, Nelson, Cranbrook, Kamloops, and Fernie, with an auxiliary system of sub-offices at Prince George, Revelstoke, Rossland, Trail, Grand Forks, Vernon, Kelowna, Merritt, and Chilliwack. All these will be in active operation early in the month of February, and their number will be added to whenever need for such addition becomes evident. At the end of December it may be said that, whilst there was considerable unemployment in some of the larger centres, the situation was not unpromising. There were ample indications that the surplus labour available would be absorbed in such industries as had remained more or less dormant through the period of the war, and the resumption of such public and private improvement work as the outbreak of war had interrupted.

The work of the Minimum Wage Board is fully dealt with in a special section of this report. The principle of the establishment of a minimum wage for women has proved to be acceptable both to the employees in the industries affected, to the employers, and to the public in general.

The splendid work of the women and girls in connection with the saving of the berry, fruit, and other crops of the Province is dealt with in a special section of this report.

A further special section is devoted to a directory of the trade-unions and other organizations of workers in the Province, and will be found to contain the latest information as to the officials, meeting nights, etc., of these organizations.

Special account is also given of the more important strikes which occurred during the year and of the action taken by the Department in effecting conciliation.

Statistical tables relating to the workers in the various industries carried on in the Province have been prepared and will be found in the report.

In closing, I wish to gratefully acknowledge the courteous and painstaking manner in which the majority of the employers in the various industries of the Province and the officials of labour organizations have, from time to time, responded to the requests made upon them by the Department for information. In no case has it been necessary even to hint at the powers vested in the Department for compelling the giving of such information. There is not the slightest doubt but that this co-operation with the Department by the various interests concerned will be still more marked as the nature and scope of the work carried on by the Department becomes better and more widely known.

STATISTICS OF TRADES AND INDUSTRIES.

In connection with the presentation of the annexed tables, attention is particularly directed to the fact that they constitute the first attempt which has been made to lay before the public reliable and up-to-date figures as to the number and wage-rates of the various groups of industries in the Province. The tables are brought down to July 31st. This, it was deemed, would be the latest date to which the investigation could be extended so as to leave the necessary time, as well for the employer to collect and give the required information, as for the limited staff at the disposal of the Department to analyse and tabulate the data supplied in time to incorporate the same in this report. Here it may be said that this work will in the coming year be carried forward and on the next occasion will cover a complete twelve months, and, if possible, will embrace every industry or calling in which labour is employed and, as far as possible, a return from every employer. On the present occasion several trades and occupations had to be omitted. Among these are:—

(1.) The canning industry—fish and fruit and vegetables—which could not be included, as the period under review did not embrace the season during which canneries are working:

(2.) The operation of railways, to give intelligible figures concerning which requires a different form of questionnaire:

(3.) Other trades and callings where it was found difficult to draw a distinct line between employees engaged as salesmen and those engaged as workmen:

(4.) Express companies, hotel and restaurant employees, Dominion and Provincial Government employees.

The broad motive of the present inquiry was to collect and classify reliable information under the heads set out in the tables, regarding those engaged in the Province in manual labour. It is hoped that in the near future it will be found possible to extend the scope of the inquiry to include all labourers, clerical as well as manual. Included in the tables are returns from over 1,000 firms. In addition to these, returns have been received from about 700 others which had been rejected from tabulation for various reasons. Some of these are from employers in the trades mentioned above as being excluded; some were rejected because the answers were unintelligible; others because no workmen were employed; and so forth. All these returns have been carefully gone over and none have been rejected that were of the slightest value to the present investigation.

A very few words will suffice to explain the method in which the information contained in the tables was collected. The index of employers in use by the Workmen's Compensation Board was used as a basis, and to every employer therein mentioned a form of inquiry was sent. The style of the form is an adaptation of such portions of the very excellent questionnaire used by the State of Massachusetts as were best fitted for the purpose of this inquiry. Copy of the form will be found immediately preceding the tables. The replies to these were classified and tabulated with the results shown. Although it was thought that the desired information had been asked for in the simplest and clearest manner, yet it was unfortunately apparent from a very large number of the returns that the persons making the same had failed completely to understand the printed instructions with regard to the filling-in of the form. However, a special and successful effort was made to get returns from all the largest employers of labour in each of the respective groups, and it may accordingly be reasonably claimed that the state of affairs regarding each group disclosed by the tables is fairly representative of the proportional distribution of the workmen in each group as to earnings and hours of labour.

The replies to Query No. 1 of the form have not been tabulated. In the case of companies carrying on several distinct operations, the office-work for which was cared for by one staff, it was found almost impossible to allocate the correct proportion of the management expense to each of the operations. Consideration was also given to the fact that many of the employers were, owing to the conditions brought about by the war, working at very high pressure and with reduced staffs, and it was not thought desirable to press for anything further in the way of statistics than what was absolutely necessary. For these and other similar considerations, replies to Query No. 1 were not insisted upon.

With regard to the average number of wage-earners in each of the months from January to July, attention is drawn to the fact that the figures represent not the actual number employed, but the average. If, for example, during the first week of the month 10 workmen were employed, during the second 30, during the third 40, and during the fourth 20, the average number employed during the month would be 25, and this is the figure which appears in the tables.

The figures regarding the nationality of the various workers must be accepted as approximate only. Some of the industrial establishments in the Province have no machinery whereby the nationality of their employees is recorded, and save where such machinery exists the employers have undoubtedly given the required information as best they could short of a personal canvass of each man in their employ.

In dealing with the hours of labour, industries where these are well defined (e.g., coal-mining, metal-mining, etc.), the number working 48 or 56 hours per week, and so forth, are definitely given. In other industries (e.g., baking) the number of hours worked varied so greatly, a different scale prevailing in almost each bakery, that the system of grouping has been adopted. The hours are given as "44 per week and under; over 44 and not exceeding 48," and so forth.

No tabulation is made of the hours worked by women. Under the provisions of the "Factories Act" these must not exceed 48 hours per week, and, from the returns made by the firms employing female labour, 48 hours is clearly the standard number worked in the Province.

In connection with the number of hours normally worked per week, it is unfortunate that the answers to Query No. 7 of the form were not given in a large number of cases. With regard to the number of days worked full time during the period under review, it is certain that, owing to the conditions brought about by the war and the shortage of labour, all those engaged in the industries mentioned in the tables were fully employed.

With regard to the industries generally, it will be noted that the tables disclose very little evidence as to the "seasonal" nature of the various groups. This is undoubtedly due, in great measure, to the conditions brought about by the war. Every industry whose products in any way assisted our cause was fully employed, thus absorbing all surplus labour from less necessary occupations. This absorption was particularly marked in the case of the shipyards, where very large numbers of workers in both wood and metal have been continuously employed who in pre-war days would have been affected by the winter lull in the building and other kindred industries. The shortness of the period under review must also be taken into consideration, and, lastly, the fact that such distinctly seasonal industries as canning have been omitted from the present survey. The classification of the returns which have been received from firms engaged in the last-mentioned industries will appear in the next report, when the figures for a full year's operation will be presented.

A summary of the figures of all the tables will be found on page 35.

CONTENTS OF TABLES.

With regard to the tables immediately following (pages 12 to 35), the general headings of such tables are hereunder given and the trades included under such heading:—

Table No. 1. Bakeries.—Includes manufacture of cakes and bread.

Table No. 2. Blacksmithing (Custom).—Includes horse-shoeing, marine blacksmithing, and oxy-acetylene welding.

Table No. 3. Boat and Scow Building.—Here are tabulated the firms engaged in the construction and repair of small craft.

Table No. 4. Boiler-making.—Here are grouped firms engaged solely in boiler-making.

Table No. 5. Breweries.—Under this heading are tabulated mineral-water manufacturers, breweries, soft-drink manufacturers, and bottling departments where the same are operated in connection with breweries.

Table No. 6. Building Trades.—This table includes firms making returns as building contractors, constructors of dry-kilns, refuse-burners, mills, and brick furnaces, electrical contractors, hardwood and sanitary floor layers, and bricklayers.

Table No. 7. Candy-manufacturing.—Also comprises the manufacture of biscuits, confectionery, syrup, macaroni, and spaghetti.

Table No. 8. Cereal-milling.—Includes also rice, flour and feed, and grist mills.

Table No. 9. Cigar and Tobacco Manufacturing.—Comprises only these trades.

Table No. 10. Coal-mining.—This group contains also the operation of coke-ovens and coal-shipping docks.

Table No. 11. Coast Shipping.—Includes the operation of passenger and freight steamships, tug-boats (both general towing and towing logs), and river navigation, but does not include the operation of vessels in the off-shore trade.

Table No. 12. Creameries and Dairies.—Also includes butter and ice-cream manufacturing.

Table No. 13. Explosives.—Includes only the manufacture of that commodity.

Table No. 14. Fertilizers and Chemicals.—Includes the manufacture of these two products only.

Table No. 15. Garages.—Here are grouped garages, auto-repair shops, electric-motor repairing, auto-top and commercial carriage-body builders, storage-battery engineers and automobile electricians, motor-cycle and bicycle repair shops, vulcanizing, and truck-tractor manufacturers.

Table No. 16. Garment-making.—Includes tailoring, the manufacturing of buttons, pleating, embroidery, etc., jute and cotton goods, shirts, overalls, knitted goods, ladies' cloaks and suits, women's garments, ladies' waists, millinery and ladies' outfitting.

Table No. 17. Gas, Water, Power, and Electric Light.—This group comprises generating and distribution of light and power, manufacture of gas, the supplying of water to towns, operation of irrigation systems, manufacture of dissolved acetylene and oxygen, operation of hydro-electric power plants, and gasolene lighting and heating devices.

Table No. 18. General Contracting.—Here are grouped contractors for industrial plants, heating and ventilating, structural-steel fabricating, unloading coal, railway fencing, sewers, public works, pipes and valves, dredging, pile-driving, wharves, bridges, roofing, and automatic sprinklers.

Table No. 19. House Furnishings.—Comprises firms engaged in the manufacture of furniture, beds and bedding, springs and mattresses, upholstering, and carpet and linoleum laying.

Table No. 20. Iron and Brass Foundries.—Includes also brass-manufacturing, stove-manufacturing, and scrap-metal dealers.

Table No. 21. Lime, Stone, Cement, etc.—Includes brick-manufacturers, cut-stone contractors, stone quarries and dressing, manufacturers of Portland cement, lime, tiles and firebrick, dealers in sand, gravel, and crushed rock.

Table No. 22. Logging.—Here are grouped the firms making returns for purely logging operations.

Table No. 23. Logging-railways.—This table is confined to the operation of these only.

Table No. 24. Lumbering.—In this table are grouped all the firms making returns covering two or more operations in the manufacture of lumber; e.g., sawmilling and logging, sawmilling and planing-milling, lumber-manufacturing, lumbering, and so forth. Where separate returns are made covering each of such branches of the industry, the returns are classified each under its own appropriate heading: e.g., logging, sawmilling, etc.

Table No. 25. Lumber-dealers.—Includes importers and exporters of hardwood lumber, operation of lumber-yards, wholesale and retail lumber, and builders' supplies.

Table No. 26. Machine-shops.—Comprises machine and pattern shops, logging-engine manufacturers, manufacturers of pumps, marine gas-engines, canning machinery, elevators, ore-concentrating machinery, lead pipe, babbitt-metal solders, saws, mill machinery, and repairs to same.

Table No. 27. Manufacture of Jams, Blending of Teas, etc.—Comprises also the manufacture of pickles, catsups, spices, extracts, coffee, and jellies.

Table No. 28. Manufacture of Jewellery.—Includes the repair as well as manufacture of jewellery and watches and optical instruments (where same is carried on in a factory).

Table No. 29. Manufacture of Leather and Fur Goods.—Comprises furriers, leather-garment makers, boot and shoe manufacturers, manufacturers of leather Indian novelties, gloves, harness, saddlery, trunks, bags, shoe findings, also leather tanners and hide, wool, and fur dealers.

Table No. 30. Manufacturers of Wood (not elsewhere specified).—Here are grouped general wood-workers, manufacturers of sash and doors, interior finish, water-proof plywood, veneer, store and office fittings, barrels, boxes, ships' knees, ready-cut buildings, wooden pipes and tanks, wooden pulleys, wooden toys, caskets, coffins and undertakers' supplies, cabinetmakers.

Table No. 31. Metal-mining.—Includes all metalliferous mining.

Table No. 32. Miscellaneous Metal Trades.—Here are grouped certain metal trades, the number of returns for which did not warrant a separate table. These comprise nut and bolt manufacturers, manufacturers of bands for wooden pipes and tanks, logging equipment, hand-saws, and galvanizing and electroplating.

Table No. 33. Miscellaneous Trades and Industries.—In a similar manner to the last table there are here grouped various trades which could not conveniently be included in any other of the groups and returns for which were not sufficiently numerous to warrant special treatment. They include manufacture of sails, tents, and awnings, paper boxes, tin containers, corn brooms and whisks, wholesale paper dealers and stationers, wool-pullers, soap-manufacturers, putting up ice for railroad companies, and cold storage.

Table No. 34. Oil-refining.—Includes also the manufacture of fish-oil.

Table No. 35. Packing-houses.—Also comprises ham and bacon curers.

Table No. 36. Painting and Paper-hanging.—Here are grouped also sign-painters, glaziers, kalsominers, decorators, and automobile-painters.

Table No. 37. Paint-manufacture.—Includes also white-lead corroders and varnish-manufacturers.

Table No. 38. Planing-mills.—This table embraces all returns made for this distinct branch of the lumber industry only.

Table No. 39. Plumbing and Heating.—In this table are also grouped installers of heating systems, steam-fitters, and plumbing and heating engineers.

Table No. 40. Printing and Publishing.—This table includes the printing and publishing of newspapers, job-printing, paper-ruling, bookbinding, engraving and embossing, blue-printing, lithographing, draughting and map-publishing, and the manufacture of rubber and metal stamps.

Table No. 41. Pulp and Paper Manufacturing.—Comprises only firms engaged in that industry.

Table No. 42. Sale and Delivery of Fuel.—Includes dealers in wood and coal fuel.

Table No. 43. Sawmilling.—Comprises all returns which refer exclusively to the operation of sawmills.

Table No. 44. Sheet-metal Works.—Here are tabulated also tinsmiths, installers of hot-air furnaces, blower systems for planing-mills and refrigerating apparatus.

Table No. 45. Shingle-mills.—Includes only such returns as refer exclusively to the operation of shingle-mills.

Table No. 46. Ship-building.—Comprises both wooden- and steel-ship building and repairing, also salvage.

Table No. 47. Smelting.—Comprises firms engaged exclusively in that industry.

Table No. 48. Summary of all Tables.—In summarizing the "classified weekly wage-rates" the returns for Coast shipping were omitted, as the custom of the Coast is that the men engaged in this calling receive board in addition to the rate of wages quoted. For obvious reasons it was impossible to give the number of hours normally worked per week by this class of employee, and they do not therefore figure in that summary. They are, however, included in the summary of the average number of wage-earners engaged during the various months, and also in the summary of the various nationalities.

UNION DIRECTORY.

The compilation of a complete up-to-date directory of the several organizations of workers established in the Province will fill a long-felt need. The information in lists of these available up to the present has been unreliable if for no other reason than that a considerable time has elapsed between the collection and the publication of the information. This has resulted in the appearance in such lists of organizations defunct at the time of publication; in the omission of others which have been established; and, in cases where the officials are elected at shorter intervals than one year, of errors in the names of the officials. In the present instance the whole of the information given has been checked over by direct reference to the various organizations immediately before the presentation of this report, and the information is therefore reliable and brought down to the latest possible date.

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT FREE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU VANCOUVER.

The system of Provincial Government Free Employment Bureaus was inaugurated by the opening, on July 24th, of the first of these offices at 140 Cordova Street West, Vancouver, in charge of Mr. W. S. Dickson. The institution has proved itself to be popular, both with employers and those seeking work, right from the outset, its services being made use of in a steadily increasing ratio as its establishment and the scope of its activities became more widely known.

From September the system of co-ordination with other Provincial offices throughout the Dominion was introduced in accordance with the agreement entered into with the Dominion Department of Labour. Records are now kept in a manner uniform with those of the various offices throughout the Dominion, and by the interchange of information thus obtained the problem of unemployment is studied and dealt with in the most comprehensive manner possible. So far as may be judged from the brief experience available of the working of this system, it promises to be one of the most efficient means of dealing with the difficulties of the labour situation.

As the result of conditions consequent upon the termination of hostilities, many of the local industries have considerably reduced their staffs. This, added to the return of our soldier citizens from active service, has brought about an unbalanced state of affairs in the ranks of labour of all classes. At the close of the year there was a pronounced surplus of workers. There were not wanting signs, however, that this condition would not continue in an aggravated form. Both public bodies and private enterprises have announced their intentions of immediately proceeding with projects of expansion which will in no small measure relieve the pressing need of the hour. Whilst it is not possible to estimate, even approximately, the number of presently unemployed workers who will be thus absorbed, it is confidently expected that the work thus provided will reduce the most trying period to one of short duration.

Immediately following is given an analysis of the work carried out by the office since its inception. The figures will demonstrate the useful part which the Bureau has played in the polity of the Province. Separate figures are given of the number of returned soldiers assisted in procuring employment through the medium of the Bureau. The particulars of the salaries and wages paid by the employers in all cases where help has been furnished will, it is hoped, be of interest to sociological and other observers.

NOTE.—In connection with the above tables, it must be explained that Table No. 1, wherein the applications for help and positions filled are classified according to the various kinds of occupation, only accounts for the results obtained since the installation of the co-ordination system in September. During the first six or seven weeks such detailed records were not kept, as it was not thought expedient to incur the expense of putting in a system of cards, books, etc., which would at an early date have to be discarded.

In Table No. 2 it will be noted that a surplus of "Applicants for work unplaced" is shown. In this number are men to whom the wages or other circumstances connected with positions offered did not appeal, and also men applying for a particular form of work in which there were no vacancies. The figures for the last two weeks in December respectively were very considerably affected by large gangs supplied for the Canadian Northern Railway in Sooke District in the one case and the Dominion Public Works Department on the pipe-line at William Head in the other.

Up to December 31st 773 returned soldiers had applied to the Bureau for assistance in procuring employment. Of these, 618 were placed; of the 155 unplaced, the following are the main groups: 8 applying for work as stationary engineers; 12 applying for work as extra gang railroad labourers; 13 applying for work as watchmen; 23 applying for work as carpenters; 60 applying for work as labourers.

STRIKES IN BRITISH COLUMBIA DURING 1918.

JANUARY.

Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Ltd., Union Bay.—The machinists, blacksmiths, moulders, carpenters, and their helpers and outside labourers employed by the company at Union Bay, and numbering about twenty-seven, made a demand, towards the latter part of January, that they be paid time and a half instead of straight time for overtime work. The employers demurred and the men came out on strike. Through the intervention of the Deputy Minister of Labour, who persuaded both parties to submit to a local arbitration, the men returned to work after being out one day. Later the men asked the Dominion Government for a Conciliation Board under the "Industrial Disputes Investigation Act," which was granted, and Mr. Justice Eberts was appointed Chairman, assisted by Thos. R. Stockett as nominee of the employers and Joseph Naylor representing the men. A majority of the Board recommended that the increase be not given. The report is dated June 4th, 1918.

MARCH.

Shipyard Strike, all Coast Points.—Following protracted negotiations between the representatives of organized labour and the employers in the ship-building industry with the object of having the scale of wages fixed by the United States Macey Board apply to ship-building plants in this Province, a Commission was appointed by the Dominion Government, acting on the advice of the Department, to go into the whole question. The Commission sat under the Chairmanship of Mr. Justice Murphy, and assumed two functions: (1) To give decisions on the various points at issue, and (2) to make recommendations with a view of stabilizing labour conditions in the ship-building industry in British Columbia for the period of the war. The men demanded that: (1) They were entitled to an all-round 10-per-cent. increase in the wages then being paid in wooden and steel ship-building yards; (2) that the differentiation which then existed in the yards as between men classed as house-carpenters and those classed as ship-carpenters was unjust and should be abolished; (3) that ordinary labourers should be paid $4 per day; and (4) that an agreement should be entered into between the Imperial Munitions Board and organized labour. Other matters before the Board were: (1) The question of the shortage of caulkers and the attitude of the Caulkers' Union with regard thereto; (2) the efficiency of organized labour; (3) as to whether the night shift should receive an increase over the rates paid to the day shift; and (4) as to the position of the machine-shops which had contracts to supply material to the shipyards in the event of wages being increased.

The Commission, after a lengthy review of the circumstances, found that the men in the wooden shipyards were entitled to a 10-per-cent. increase provided they worked a 48-hour week, except during June, July, and August, and provided they accept the ruling in the Macey award as to carpenters and labourers; in other words, provided carpenters should work three months in the yards at the house-carpenters' rate of $4.50 per day before being entitled to the full rate of $6 per day awarded ship-carpenters. The Commission recommended that common labourers be paid $3.85 per day provided they worked a 48-hour week, and further turned down the proposal of the Metal Trades Council with regard to the agreement which it was proposed should be entered into between organized labour and the Imperial Munitions Board, on the ground that the money contributed to the munitions industry was raised by taxes on the people of Canada generally, and there should be no interference with the unrestricted right of any individual to obtain employment, which would be the case were the agreement to be entered into as it provided for a "closed shop." With regard to the additional 10 per cent. for the night shift, the Commission found that the men were entitled to it, but suggested that where the shift was of five hours' duration the increase should be only 5 per cent. The Commission was unanimous in its decision that organized labour in British Columbia was as efficient as any on the Coast. Other recommendations were made covering the adjustment of wages in the future to the cost of living, etc., and provided for the classification of new grades of labour. The finding of the Board was not acceptable to the men, and following numerous ballots in the unions embraced by the Metal Trades Council a strike was called on May 23rd, whereby about 5,000 men quit work. The strike lasted until June 4th, when it was settled through the mediation of Senator Robertson, who was successful in prevailing upon both the employers and the men to accept an agreement, the main features of which were that the week should be forty-four hours in place of the forty-eight hour week established by the Murphy Commission; that quarterly revisions of the scale of wages should be made and the same adjusted to meet the cost of living; the establishment of shop committees composed of representatives of the men and the employers for the settlement of grievances arising in the yards; the settling of a scale of wages covering all grades of work in shipyards. The Boilermakers' and Electrical Workers' Unions respectively were not parties to the Robertson agreement.

APRIL.

Freight-handlers, C.P.R., Vancouver.—On April 4th the freight-handlers at the freight-sheds of the C.P.R., Vancouver, struck work in protest against the dismissal of one of their number. They also wished to have a definite arrangement with the company along similar lines to that obtaining at Calgary and Winnipeg. On the 5th they resumed work as the result of direct negotiation between the company and the union officials.

Employees of "White Lunch," Victoria.—The employees at this restaurant, members of the Cooks and Waiters' Union, being refused their demand for an eight-hour instead of a ten-hour day, came out on strike on April 16th. On the 18th work was resumed as the result of the employers conceding the demand. About fifteen persons were affected.

Civic Employees, Vancouver.—The outside employees of the City of Vancouver having presented a demand for increase of wages varying from 75 cents to $1 per day, which the Council refused to grant, a strike involving about 300 men was the result. The strike started on April 27th. After it had lasted a week the Council conceded the demands of the men, and the following rates were established: Waterworks labourers, $4.25 per day; maintenance-men, $4 per day; construction-men, $4.25 per day; teamsters, $4.50 per day; with eight-hour day and forty-four-hour week.

MAY.

Machinists, Victoria.—The machinists employed at the engineering and ship-building plants in Victoria went out on May 1st to enforce their demand for an increase in wages from 68⅝ cents to 82½ cents per hour. About 200 men were affected. The dispute was settled, together with other matters affecting shipyard labour, by the Robertson agreement, full notation as to which will be found in the notice of the shipyard strike.

Electricians, Coughlan's Yard, Vancouver.—About forty men quit work to enforce their demand for an increase in wages from $5.25 to $6 per day without the sanction of the Metal Trades Council. In response to the representations of the union officials they resumed work on May 9th after being out about a week.

Fish-packers, Prince Rupert.—The fish-packers who had gone on strike to enforce their demand for an increase in wages from 50 cents to 62½ cents per hour resumed work on May 10th and accepted a compromise of 60 cents per hour offered by the employers.

JUNE.

Boiler-makers, Victoria.—One hundred boiler-makers at the Victoria Machinery Depot struck on June 14th in support of their demand that they be paid extra for working on the night shift. The strike was settled by direct negotiation between the parties, resulting in the conceding of the demands of the men.

Bakers, Vancouver.—A strike involving about thirty men was the result of the employers turning down the men's demand for an increase in wages and a reduction of hours from nine to eight per day. The strike commenced on the evening of June 17th and was settled by negotiation between the parties on July 28th, when the masters conceded the demands of the employees.

JULY.

Employees of the British Columbia Electric Railway and the Employees of the Western Power Company.—This strike, which involved the employees of the above companies on the street-cars and at the power-houses at Vancouver, Victoria, and New Westminster—in all about 1,350 men—began on July 1st. It had for its object the securing for the men of an eight-hour day and an increase in wages. At the time the strike began there was sitting in Vancouver a Conciliation Board appointed under the provisions of the "Industrial Disputes Investigation Act," which, however, the men ignored. Work was resumed on July 11th as the result of direct negotiations between the men and the companies, whereby the men secured the advances asked for and the eight-hour day.

Pulp, Sulphite, and Paper-mill Workers, Powell River.—The men engaged at the works of Powell River Company, Limited, numbering about 450, struck on July 2nd to enforce their demands for a raise in wages of 5 cents per hour, a written agreement embodying same, and a "closed shop." The strike terminated on July 5th, a compromise being accepted whereby the men secured the raise asked.

Truckmen, Warehousemen, and Machinemen, Brackman-Ker's, Victoria.—The above-mentioned employees, numbering about twenty-five, who had been working a ten-hour day at 36 cents per hour, presented a demand to their employers for an increase to 40 cents and a nine-hour day. The firm conceded the reduction in hours, but offered a compromise of 38 per cent. The men went out on strike on the morning of the 4th to enforce their demands. The Deputy Minister of Labour was successful in arranging a conference between the representatives of the men and the firm, at which he was present, and the result of which was that the demands of the men were conceded in full. Work was resumed on the morning of the 5th.

Miners and Smeltermen, Anyox.—About 2,000 men went on strike on July 20th to enforce their demand for an increase in wages. After being out about two weeks work was resumed as the result of satisfactory negotiations carried on between the men and the employers.

Postal Clerks, etc.—In company with the letter-carriers throughout the Dominion, those of British Columbia went out on strike on July 22nd to enforce their demand for increased wages and the payment of certain bonuses which had been voted by Parliament but not yet paid. In some of the cities the postal clerks joined in the movement. On July 31st the men in the Western points returned to work on the understanding that their grievances would be immediately inquired into by the Civil Service Commission.

Steam and Operating Engineers, Province-wide.—The steam and operating engineers throughout the Province went on strike to enforce their demands for increased wages and shorter hours. With regard to hours, the principal demand of the men was for the establishment of an eight-hour day. After protracted negotiations carried on between the representatives of the men and of the employers, a settlement was reached upon terms favourable to the men in a number of cases, although it did not concede all their demands.

August.

Painters, Vancouver.—Strike commenced on August 1st, involving about 150 men, to enforce their demand for increased wages. The strike was settled by direct negotiation between the parties, as a result of which the increase was granted and work resumed on August 15th.

Chambermaids and Waiters, Vancouver Hotel, Vancouver.—This strike, involving about fifty hands, was called on August 1st for the purpose of enforcing the demands of the employees to increased wages. After about a week's duration the strike was settled as the result of negotiation between the parties, whereby partial increases in wages were given.

Millmen and Factory-workers, Vancouver.—About 150 men went on strike on August 1st to enforce their demand for increased wages and shorter hours. A compromise was accepted and work resumed on August 13th, the basis of settlement being that the men accepted from 50 cents to 55 cents instead of 50 cents to 65½ cents originally asked for a nine-hour day instead of an eight-hour day as demanded. Saturday afternoon was conceded the men, with time and a half if they worked. The eight-hour question will be arbitrated by a Board which is to commence its sittings on February 1st.

Carpenters, Vancouver.—A strike involving about 300 men began on August 1st to enforce demand of carpenters for the standardization of carpenters' wages whether working in or outside of shipyards. This meant an increase in wages from $5.50 to $6.60 per day. A compromise was effected and work resumed on August 12th.

All Trades, Vancouver.—A strike of twenty-four hours was called on August 3rd in all trades in Vancouver as a protest against the shooting of Albert Goodwin, a draft-evader, by Dominion Constable Campbell. In the face of pronounced adverse public opinion the strike collapsed after lasting a few hours.

Masters and Mates, Coasting Steamers.—The masters and mates of all coasting passenger and freight steamships and tugs resigned their positions on August 24th to enforce their demand for recognition of the Canadian Merchant Service Guild and for increased wages. As a result of the strike the coasting services were completely tied up for four days. A Royal Commission having been appointed by the Dominion Government to go into the whole of the question, work was resumed at 1 a.m. on the 28th.

SEPTEMBER.

Dominion Express Employees, Vancouver.—Part of a Dominion-wide movement to obtain an increase in wages in place of the system of war bonus in force in the company's service and for the recognition of the union. Work was resumed on September 14th after four days' cessation. The demand for recognition of union was withdrawn and an increase of 35 per cent. in wages granted in place of the bonus.

Victoria Civic Firemen.—On October 1st the members of the City Fire Brigade went on strike to support their demands for the reinstatement of the Chief of the Brigade, who had been dismissed by the Council; the introduction of the double-platoon system; and the adjustment of the wage-scale to conform to that of Vancouver. After the strike had lasted thirty-three hours the men returned to work on October 3rd, when the Council, acting upon the recommendation of a special joint committee appointed to go into the matter, reinstated the Chief and referred the whole matter of the double-platoon system and wage-adjustment to a joint committee of members of the Council, representatives of the men, and officials of organized labour—the latter in advisory capacities only.

Garbagemen, Victoria.—On October 18th twenty-six men engaged in this work by the City of Victoria went on strike to enforce their demand for higher wages. After the strike had lasted four days the demands of the men were acceded to, wages being raised from $3.75 to $4 per day, whilst one truck-driver was raised from $99 to $110 per month. Work was resumed on the 22nd.

NOVEMBER.

Laundry-workers, Vancouver.—About 300 laundry-workers in Vancouver went out on strike on September 9th to enforce their demands for increased wages and recognition of union conditions. Immediately it was apparent that a speedy settlement would not be effected by direct negotiations between the employers and the union officials, the Deputy Minister proceeded to Vancouver and placed his services as mediator at the disposal of the opposing interests. Numerous conferences were held with both the employees and the employers and several propositions and counter-propositions submitted, none of which was accepted. At intervals during the course of the strike the proprietors of some of the laundries made attempts to run their plants with the assistance of strike-breakers, and disturbances resulted. Still further attempts were made by the Department to bring about a settlement, which culminated in the following proposition on the part of the employers:—

October 8th, 1918.

J. D. McNiven, Esq.,
Deputy Minister of Labour, Vancouver, B.C.

DEAR SIR,—With further reference to the laundry-workers' strike and our conference with you this morning, we beg to state through yourself that we are prepared to adopt the scale of wages submitted to us by the workers this morning, with the exception that the drivers will be paid commission on collections as heretofore, and that piece-workers will be paid on the basis of the present price-list, with a minimum of $15 per week.

We are still prepared to reinstate union workers in the various laundries as their services may be required, with the exception of those who may have been convicted of offences.

We are also prepared to enter into an agreement with the laundry-workers giving effect to these proposals, but under no consideration shall we entertain the closed-shop principle. As far as these questions are concerned, this is positively final.

Yours respectfully,

VANCOUVER LAUNDRY OWNERS.

Per W. L. DAVID."

At a subsequent conference with the employees this proposal was submitted to them by the Deputy Minister, but was not accepted.

During the further continuance of the strike an inquiry was held by the Minimum Wage Board into the laundry industry of the Province in accordance with the "Minimum Wage Act." Following upon the recommendation of the conference called in connection with that inquiry, a minimum wage for women workers in the laundries of the Province was fixed at $13.50 per week. This was $1.50 per week in excess of the demands of the strikers in Vancouver.

Eventually, after it had lasted sixteen weeks, the strike collapsed and the employees went back to work on the terms offered them by the employers in their letter of October 8th, quoted above, as modified by the order of the Minimum Wage Board referred to. Work was resumed at the beginning of the New Year.

Moulders, Vancouver.—Moulders in Vancouver to the number of about 150 struck work on the morning of November 22nd for the purpose of enforcing their demand for an increase in wages from $6 to $6.60 per diem. They contended that they were not parties to the Robertson agreement which terminated the ship-yard strike, and refused to be bound by the terms thereof. On December 12th work was resumed following a conference between the representatives of the employers and the men, at which the men agreed to withdraw their demands and return to work at the scale of wages which came into force on December 1st for machinists. There were seven or eight shops in Vancouver, North Vancouver, and New Westminster which were affected by the strike.

DECEMBER.

Shipyard Employees, Coughlan's Shipyard, Vancouver.—A strike of about 3,000, the employees at the above yard, was the result of the firm's refusal to reinstate a returned soldier engaged as a blacksmith in the yard and who had been discharged. After the strike had lasted a week the man was reinstated and work resumed.

CONCILIATION.

As will be noted in that part of the report which deals with the various strikes during 1918, agreement between conflicting interests has on several occasions been effected directly through the intervention of the Department. The policy of the Department has been to offer its services in the capacity of mediator whenever it was apparent that a deadlock had been reached in direct negotiations. On such occasions moderation with justice has been the key-note of the Department's recommendations, and it is gratifying to be able to record much success in dealing with such situations, with resultant re-establishment of mutual goodwill and respect between employer and employee at the termination of the several disputes.

On other occasions the Department has actively intervened to avert a threatened strike. For example, during the course of events which led up to the unsatisfactory state of affairs in the ship-building industry in the early months of the year, and which culminated in a threatened general strike in this vitally important work, the Department maintained close touch with the situation and with the Dominion Department of Labour. When the crisis seemed eminent in February, the following telegrams were sent to the Department of Labour in Ottawa:—

February 21st, 1918.

F. A. Acland,
Department of Labour, Ottawa.

After consultation with Metal Trades Council at Victoria and Vancouver I have reached the conclusion that unless the Imperial Munitions Board concedes the ten per cent. demanded a strike cannot be averted on March first. Men refuse to arbitrate this matter, claiming they had a distinct understanding with Mr. Buchart that scale finally agreed upon for Pacific Coast would be paid by Board. That they had not accepted the first award of the U.S. Wage Adjustment Board as final, but continued to work under protest until final decision was reached. Believe they have some grounds for this contention, and will mail you to-morrow from Victoria correspondence on this matter, together with copy minimum-wage scale and agreement submitted to employers to become effective March first. Situation looks very serious. Going to Victoria to-night.

J. D. McNIVEN.

February 26th, 1918.

F. A. Acland,
Deputy Minister of Labour, Ottawa.

After thorough canvass of strike situation am satisfied there will be general suspension of work on March first. Believe this should be averted if at all possible, and with that object in view would recommend that Commission be appointed to-morrow notwithstanding previous refusal of men to accept. To-morrow is mentioned in order to afford persons named on Commission time to get in touch with men and request suspension of strike order and grant time for investigation and decision on merits of demand. Gordon J. Kelly, President of Vancouver Trades and Labour Council, would be acceptable to labour men as member of Commission, and believe no objection would be raised to Judge Murphy as Chairman. If Imperial Munitions Board would suggest third member and establishment of Commission is announced to-morrow, believe crisis may be averted or at least deferred. Scope of Commission should be broad enough to include all claims and matters in dispute. If strike occurs, dispute will be eventually referred to Commission; therefore think it preferable that work should proceed while Commission investigates.

J. D. McNIVEN.

That the authorities at Ottawa should be fully apprised of the gravity of the situation and the necessity for immediate action the following message was sent by the Hon. the Minister of Labour to the Dominion Minister of Labour:—

February 26th, 1918.

Hon. T. W. Crother,
Minister of Labour, Ottawa.

Regard situation shipyards strike serious. Strongly urge that suggestion offered you by Deputy Minister McNiven as to Commission be acted upon without delay. This Government glad to co-operate in any way towards solution of difficulty.

J. W. de B. FARRIS,
Minister of Labour.

As the result of the above telegrams the Commission was appointed under the Chairmanship of Mr. Justice Murphy, and throughout its sittings work in the shipyards was continued.

When the Commission had brought down its award containing the unpopular forty-eight-hour week stipulation, the situation was again clearly placed before the Dominion authorities by the following telegram, in which the immediate appointment of some adjusting authority with full power to act was urged:—

May 9th, 1918.

F. A. Acland,
Deputy Minister of Labour, Ottawa.

All machinists in city still on strike and remain firm in demand for six-sixty, with not much likelihood of return to work until demands are conceded or whole shipyards scale finally agreed to by Metal Trades Council. That body is awaiting official information before taking definite action. Believe Judge Murphy's report and recommendations are generally acceptable, except that portion relating to forty-eight-hour week. Opinion amongst the men against this proposal is very pronounced and will likely precipitate a general shipyard and machine-shop strike if attempt at enforcement is made. It might be possible to avert this calamity by prompt appointment of proposed Adjustment Board with instructions to immediately deal with the matter. Will inform you of any new development locally.

J. D. MCNIVEN.

As set out in the report of the shipyard strike, the general cessation of work predicted in the above telegram eventually took place, and was settled by the intervention of the Department at Ottawa in the manner above indicated, the agreement effected by Senator Robertson being the outcome.

Miners in Slocan District.—In the early part of the year a dispute arose between the Miners' Union at Silverton and the employers as to the disposal of certain moneys deducted by the employers from the wages of the men for the purpose of defraying the cost of medical attention. The Workmen's Compensation Board being a third interested party further involved matters. The dispute threatening to cause a strike, the Department, at the request of the various parties, intervened to avert this if possible. Conferences were held with the representatives of the various interests concerned, which, whilst they did not result in the settlement of the matter in direct dispute, advanced the amicable discussion of the situation to a point which obviated the threatened cessation of work.

At the beginning of July the miners, through their union officials, presented a demand for an increase of 50 cents per day for every man employed in or about the mines; for a maximum working-day of eight hours for surface men; and for a closed shop with the check-off system. Failing these demands being complied with, a strike threatened. To avert this if possible the Deputy Minister again went to Silverton and was successful in bringing about an amicable settlement of the matters in dispute. From inquiries made upon the ground he found that ever since the camps had been established the men boarding at the boarding-houses maintained by the operators had been charged $1 per day. Under the unprecedented conditions caused by the war, the employers found it impossible to continue boarding the men at that rate.

After both sides had duly considered the various aspects of the case, a settlement was arrived at whereby the 50 cents per day increase was conceded, making the wages of miners, skilled labourers, and mechanics $5 per day, and of muckers $4.50. The employers were to charge $1.25 per day instead of $1 to such as boarded at the boarding-houses. This arrangement chiefly affected the unmarried workers. Those who were married and maintained their own homes got the full benefit of the 50-cent increase. The question of the closed shop was not pressed by the men in view of the above concessions. About 400 men were involved in the dispute.

Municipal Employees, Kamloops.—The Deputy Minister spent two days in Kamloops in the early part of June endeavouring to bring about an amicable understanding between the municipal authorities and the city employees, who wished to form a trade organization. Matters had, however, reached a stage that it was impossible to do anything, and the efforts of the Department were unavailing.

BERRY AND FRUIT PICKING, ETC.

To co-operate in the campaign for greater food production which was initiated throughout the Dominion, the Department of Labour made a special effort to cope with the shortage of labour in the agricultural and fruit-growing districts of the Province, caused by the enlistment of the men for service at the Front, by organizing and distributing such girls and women as were willing to undertake this class of work.

Arrangements were made with the Young Women's Christian Association of the Province, through Miss Gertrude M. Perry, Dominion Service Secretary of the National Council of that organization, whereby the association undertook the management of the registration and distribution of the above class of help, a special grant of $2,000 being set aside by the Legislature to defray the estimated expense of carrying on the plan.

Towards the end of March the Women's and Farmers' Institutes throughout the Province were communicated with by the Department; the scheme of co-operation with the Y.W.C.A. was fully explained, and the attention of all intending employers directed to the duty cast upon them of suitably providing for the comfort of the girls during their engagement and of paying them fair wages. A supply of special forms was sent to each of the institutes for distribution among such of their members as desired to bespeak workers, wherein the applicants were required to state the kind of work offered, what was supplied in the way of sleeping accommodation, the arrangements for serving meals, the wages, both time and piece, and the date when, and length of time for which, the assistance was required. At the same time another special circular was distributed through the various branches of the Y.W.C.A. amongst their members, and through them to such other girls and women as wished to undertake this class of work, which circular was accompanied by a registration card whereon the worker was asked to give particulars of when she could commence work and the length of time she could stay with it. This circularizing was supplemented by ample notice to both employers and workers through the medium of the press.

As a result of the above propaganda 1,586 workers registered with the Vancouver office of the Y.W.C.A., of whom 1,149 were placed as follows:—

Fraser Valley, picking, 659; general, 14	673
Kelowna, picking, 100; cannery, 145	245
Vernon, picking, 116; general, 2	118
Keremeos, picking, 38; general, 7; cannery, 22	67
Summerland, picking, 2; general, 6	8
Penticton, cannery, 5	5
Oyama, picking, 5	5
Peachland, picking, 2	2
Vancouver Island, picking, 26	26
Total	1,149

With the Victoria office 750 registered, of whom 658 were placed as follows:—

Summarizing, 2,564 were registered, of whom 1,981 were placed—1,756 as pickers, 184 in the canneries, and 41 as general farm help.

The reports received at the end of the season from the various employers are at one in commending the women and girls for the splendid manner in which they responded to the call made, and of the way in which they stayed with their work and undoubtedly saved the season's fruit and berry crops, the value of which is estimated to have been $2,200,000. A great deal might be said as to the determination shown by the workers in overcoming the difficulties resulting from inexperience in the work and the altered conditions of living, and special mention is certainly due to those who so courageously faced and endured the exquisite tortures of the mosquito-infested Fraser Valley. The determination of the women and girls of the Province to do their part was nowhere better shown nor more severely tested than in the last-mentioned district. Throughout the whole Province the patriotic manner in which our women and girls undertook the work of saving the crops will be remembered as one of the most inspiring incidents of the time of the Great War. They did their duty, and did it well.

Unfortunately, when we come to deal with the earnings and treatment of the workers, the summary is not so uniformly satisfactory. Although in the great majority of cases the girls spoke most highly of their employers in both above respects, in some—and they stood out the more distinctly by reason of the contrast—conditions were far from satisfactory. The main cause in bringing about this state of affairs was the overestimate made by the farmer of the number of helpers he would require. In a great many of the cases now being dealt with requisition was made for such a number of hands (in many instances more than double the number necessary) that, work as hard as they would, the girls were unable at piece-work rates to make their expenses, some even going behind. This particular phase of the question will be dealt with during the coming season, when it is hoped to arrange a system of remuneration which will guarantee a requisite minimum wage to the workers. During the coming season, also, particular attention will be given to the subjects of accommodation and food, and girls will not be sent to any point where matters are not satisfactory in both these respects. The reports of the past season from both the employers and the workers have been very completely gone into and will form the basis for the coming season's work.

The Department wishes to acknowledge in no uncertain manner the valuable and untiring services of Miss Perry, in charge of the Vancouver Branch of the Y.W.C.A. work. The able way in which she conducted the supervision of matters on the Mainland contributed very largely to the success which attended the undertaking. Similarly, for her splendid work on Vancouver Island, the thanks of the Department are extended to Miss Marlatt, of the Victoria Branch of the Y.W.C.A. Grateful acknowledgment is also made of the courteous assistance of the officials of the Ordnance Department at Vancouver and Esquimalt in lending tents and camp equipment, and to the press and Women's Institutes throughout the Province for their co-operation in making the aims of the Department clearly known to all interested. It is extremely gratifying to be able to record that in a work of such national importance no request made by the Department for co-operation or assistance was refused.

REPORT OF THE MINIMUM WAGE BOARD OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

To the Honourable the Minister of Labour,
Province of British Columbia.

SIR,—We have the honour to present the first report of the Minimum Wage Board of British Columbia. Before entering into the activities of the Board, it may be of interest to note the development of public sentiment in British Columbia which finally culminated in a "Minimum Wage Act" (chap. 56, 1918, S.B.C.).

Owing to the popular belief that less than living wages were being paid women and girls in many occupations in British Columbia, sufficient representation was made in 1914 to a Provincial Commission on Labour to elicit comment in their report on the recommendation made to them at that time by the labour unions of New Westminster. The Commission—consisting of Messrs. H. G. Parsons, Golden (Chairman); A. M. Harper, Vancouver; J. S. McKelvie, Vernon; R. A. Stoney, New Westminster; John Jardine, Esquimalt—expressed themselves as not supporting the introduction of a minimum wage on the rather vague and indefinite basis then suggested, and as therefore unable to recommend the introduction of the blanket wage then proposed. These statements were apparently based upon opinion concerning, not the theory or principle of a minimum wage for women, but merely the rate and plan proposed. We cannot assume that it included any survey to ascertain the correctness of the current impression that women and girls were receiving inadequate wages.

Various organizations interested in social reform and social economics, principally those consisting of women, continued to discuss the theory of minimum wage for women and girls, and to pass resolutions endorsing the same. In 1917 a delegation approached the present Government urging the enactment of such legislation in this Province, supported as they were by the endorsation given the principle by nearly all public organizations, and supplied with definite information not only as to the theory of such wage, but facts as to the then prevalent labour conditions amongst women, the delegation was able to place convincing evidence before the Government of the need for the Act. The obvious trend of public sentiment in this direction and the fact that various members of the Government had advocated a reform of this nature upon the public platform brought matters to culmination, and the Bill was introduced as a Government measure and successfully piloted through the Legislative Assembly by Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.L.A., receiving assent April 23rd, 1918.

The advantages of the fixing of a minimum wage are not alone to the employee. Such wage is the fair employer's protection against the unfair employer, who otherwise is able to undersell his competitor by paying his workers starvation wages. The satisfied, contented employee is an important factor in industrial success. It requires no argument to prove that the woman worried by debt or harassed by the difficulty of making both ends meet cannot give good or efficient service. If no employer may pay his experienced workers less than a living wage, then the serious handicap is removed under which the employer with broader vision at present struggles. This might not be true if all underpaid labour meant inefficiency or incompetency. It does not. Some competent workers are totally lacking in the power to bargain, and it is this class that needs protection; the right-minded employer should be protected from the worker's lack of ability to successfully demand a proper wage from his grasping competitor and from the underselling of a commodity necessary to his business.

The business that cannot pay its employee a reasonable, living wage either has no legitimate existence and is parasitic, or the financial and business management is poor, and for this the employee is paying the price. In such case the employer, instead of improving his methods, is penalizing his employees.

The theory, then, of the minimum wage is that no person or class has a right to make money at the expense of the health or well-being of any other person or class, and the community has a right to be protected from economic conditions which cannot exist without the detriment to all.

The "Minimum Wage Act" of British Columbia (chapter 56, 1918) declares that the minimum wage shall be "adequate to supply the necessary cost of living." Elsewhere it defines "employee" as including every "female person who is in receipt of or entitled to any compensation for labour or services performed for any employer"; and the term "wages" shall include "any compensation for labour or services measured by time, piece, or otherwise."

Provision is made for administration by a Board of three persons, one of whom shall be the Deupty Minister of Labour, who shall be the Chairman. The Lieutenant-Governor in Council appoints the other two, and the law requires that one of these shall be a woman. On July 19th, 1918, the first Minimum Wage Board of British Columbia was appointed, consisting of J. D. McNiven, Esq., Deputy Minister of Labour and Chairman; Mrs. Helen Gregory MacGill, Judge of the Juvenile Court, Vancouver; and Thomas Mathews, Esq., of the Vancouver Board of School Trustees.

The purpose of the Act set forth in the last clauses of section 7, stating that the minimum wage should be "adequate to supply the necessary cost of living," is held to apply to female employees eighteen years of age or over, since by section 11 the Board is specifically empowered to determine for girls under eighteen both wages and conditions of labour, and is authorized to issue obligatory orders concerning the same.

The first formal meeting of the Board was held in Vancouver on August 1st, 1918. It was arranged that Mrs. MacGill act temporarily as Secretary (without salary) until a permanent officer should be required. At this meeting the Chairman submitted suggestions for forms of inquiry in regard to wage schedules being then paid, as authorized under section 5. Another form was prepared for employees, both forms to be sent out broadcast over the Province. The forms appended were finally decided upon, and were sent to employers in accordance with the duty of the Board as set forth in section 5. (See Appendix.)

The second form to be used for the purpose of ascertaining as accurately as possible the cost of living in various industries and occupations was to be distributed to employees; the returns made in connection with both forms, as stated on the form itself, to be held in strict confidence by the Board. (See Appendix.)

Many communications had been received already, urging the Board to take up the question of the wages paid girls and women employed in stores and shops. It was therefore resolved to deal with the mercantile occupations first and to investigate the wages paid.

To carry on such an investigation properly and obtain approximately accurate returns necessarily required a certain length of time, and hence in the eyes of the public seeming delay on the part of the Board.

The Minimum Wage Board of Washington State, known there as the "Industrial Welfare Commission," extended an invitation to the Minimum Wage Board of this Province to attend a War Emergency Conference to be held in Olympia, Washington, on August 28th and 29th, 1918. Owing to war conditions this Conference was unusually wide in scope, and the Board, realizing that conditions on the Coast are very similar, took advantage of this opportunity, particularly since it was plain that some time must elapse before the returns from the forms already printed and sent out could be secured and properly tabulated. The War Emergency Conference proved very illuminating, and the British Columbia Board wishes to acknowledge the courtesies offered upon that occasion. Office methods and records were demonstrated and matters of policy discussed. The Washington Commission has also supplied this Department with much literature and many printed forms, copies of orders, minutes, etc.

The Oregon Industrial Welfare Commission was next visited by the Chairman and the Secretary (Mr. Mathews being obliged to return to Vancouver). The very highly developed system of licences to minors and apprentices which had been evolved in the latter State was exhaustively explained, to which thanks are due to Mrs. Millie Trumbull, Secretary of the Oregon Board.

In San Francisco the methods of the California Industrial Welfare Commission were compared with those already visited and many hours spent in their office. This last Board, which is slightly different in constitution from that of British Columbia and Washington, carries on a very wide range of work, and many times is called upon to act as a Board of Arbitration in cases of industrial troubles and threatening strikes and lock-outs. Again, the British Columbia Board received many courtesies and much assistance, for which grateful acknowledgment is hereby offered.

The British Columbia Board met again in Vancouver on October 18th, and the Chairman reported that the returns from the replies already received showed that the wages paid in the mercantile industries frequently were not adequate, and that the minimum wage actually indicated by these reports was $4 a week.

The investigation justifying the calling of a public meeting as authorized by section 7 of the Act, the Chairman was empowered to notify all those interested that the first Conference would be held on November 13th, 1918, in the Court-house, Vancouver. Advertisements were inserted in newspapers having Provincial circulation, in which the mercantile occupation was defined as follows:—

"Places where goods are sold, exposed, or offered for sale, including cigar-stands, news-stands, fruit-stands, millinery-stores, drug-stores, book and stationery stores, bakery and confectionery shops, produce houses, dairies, machinery-supply houses, etc."

The health authorities in the meantime placing a ban upon all public meetings, the Conference purposed to be held on November 13th was postponed until December 4th.

Preliminary to this, the first Minimum Wage Conference held in British Columbia, a public meeting was held in Vancouver at the Labour Temple on Tuesday, November 26th, 1918. The Deputy Minister, Mr. McNiven, having been called to Ottawa with the Premier on war-emergency business, Mrs. MacGill presided, assisted by Mr. Mathews. The meeting was well attended, the Hon. J. W. de B. Farris, Minister of Labour, of whose Department the Board is made a branch, gave an address explaining the Act and its various provisions, indicating the protection the Government hoped this legislation would give the workers. Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.L.A., gave a brief account of the passing of the Act through the Legislature and the general principles of such laws. Other speakers took part in the programme and very general interest was displayed.

A public meeting of a similar sort was held in Victoria on Thursday, November 28th, in the Belmont Building. At this Miss Helen G. Stewart and Mrs. Ralph Smith were the principal women speakers. The Honourable John Hart, Minister of Finance, explained the purpose of the Act and voiced the Government's wishes and intentions in the matter. Messrs. Hall, M.L.A., and Giolma, M.L.A., in short addresses declared their sympathy, accompanied by the hope that the women workers of the Province would receive substantial benefit therefrom. Upon both occasions Mrs. Sutton, Mrs. Ellis, Miss Hartney, Mrs. Thexton, and other employees took an active part in the discussion.

One of the most gratifying features of these two meetings was the deep interest displayed by the women's organizations in the welfare of their sisters, all the most important associations authorizing their presidents or other officers to take seats upon the platform and to express sympathy in the proposed Conference.

Previous to the departure of the Chairman, the Board elected those persons whom they purposed calling to the Conference to represent the three groups designated in section 7. Letters were mailed to each person selected, enclosing copies of the Act and the form in which the question of the minimum wage proper in the mercantile occupation would be submitted.

Upon Mr. McNiven's return from Ottawa, the Board held a meeting on December 3rd, 1918, in Vancouver, when the replies from those elected to take part in the Conference to be held the next day were confirmed, and rules adopted for the governing of the same. Inquiry bringing out the fact that all the larger Court-rooms were in use for legal purposes, the Board determined to obtain a larger meeting-place in order that all those who desired should be able to attend. Through the courtesy of the City Council the Council Chamber of the City Hall was secured, and the change of place advertised as widely as possible. The mode of procedure and rules adopted for the Conference were very simple:—

(1.) Speeches to be limited to five minutes (except by general consent):
(2.) Bourinot to be the Parliamentary authority:
(3.) No speaker to speak twice on the same question until all others who desire to speak have done so:
(4.) All formal resolutions and recommendations from the Conference to the Board to be in writing.

The question having been raised as to the definition of mercantile industry and what employees are included in any minimum-wage order, the Board ruled as follows:—

"That the expression 'mercantile industry' shall include all establishments operated for the purpose of trade in the purchase or sale of any goods or merchandise; and any order made in this connection shall apply to all female employees engaged therein on the sales force; the wrapping force; the auditing or check-inspection force; the shoppers' force in the mail-order department; the receiving, marking, and stock-room employees; sheet-music saleswomen; and those otherwise engaged in the sale, purchase, or distribution of any goods or merchandise."

The public hearing held on December 4th, 1918, in the City Hall, Vancouver, called forth a good attendance, Mr. J. D. McNiven, Chairman of the Board, presiding, and Mrs. MacGill acting as Secretary, assisted by Mrs. N. G. Warke. The following were the members forming the Conference:—

Employees: Mrs. Sutton, Miss Dunbar, and Miss Howatt.

Employers: R. W. Wood, H. T. Lockyer, and Chris. Spencer.

Disinterested public: Rev. Wm. O'Boyle, Miss H. G. Stewart, and Mrs. W. H. Griffin. (Mrs. Griffin being suddenly attacked by illness, her place was taken by Mrs. J. A. Clark.)

The morning session opened at 10 o'clock according to programme as previously arranged.

The first consideration at the public meeting was the cost of living as itemized in the forms sent out by the Board, namely:—

"A fair estimate of the amount required yearly by a prudent, self-supporting woman employed in a mercantile, mechanical, or other industrial establishment, in order to maintain herself in reasonable comfort."

The Board presented tabulations made from the various forms returned to the Department, which with other estimates and schedules offered at the meeting were fully discussed. Representatives of the Retail Clerks' Association and Miss Helena Gutteridge submitted estimates on various items, and Miss Hartney and Mr. M. Cotsworth also spoke on the cost of living. After two sittings, ending with a short session in the afternoon, the public meeting adjourned, and the Board and those selected to represent the three groups—employees, employers, and disinterested public—as under section 7, went into Conference.

The Board submitted average on cost of living compiled from returns made by employees in the mercantile industry.

While in all such conferences there will inevitably arise many contentious matters, good feeling and restraint was shown on all sides. After several hours of frank and full discussion the members of the Conference submitted this recommendation to the Board:—

"Be it Resolved, That this Conference on the Mercantile Industry in the Province of British Columbia, meeting in the City Hall, in the City of Vancouver, B.C., on the 4th day of December, 1918, do hereby make the following recommendation to the Minimum Wage Board of the Province of British Columbia: That it shall be unlawful for any employer in the Province of British Columbia to employ or pay any female employees of eighteen years of age or over, engaged in the mercantile industry, less than twenty-six and nine-sixteenths cents (26 9-16c.) per hour and less than twelve dollars and seventy-five cents ($12.75) a week.

"Be it further Resolved, That this rate shall remain in force for twelve (12) months from the date of the Order made thereon, subject to section 9 of the Act, chapter 56, 1918, S.B.C., being the 'Minimum Wage Act.'

Throughout this Conference the Board had the valuable advice and assistance in matters of procedure of Mrs. W. D. Udall, of the Industrial Welfare Commission of Washington.

The Board met again in Vancouver on December 5th, 1918, and adopted the recommendation of the Conference as before given, and the Chairman was authorized to take the necessary steps to put it in force.

The next Conference called was that upon the laundry and dyeing and cleaning industries of British Columbia, held on Wednesday, December 18th, 1918, in the Court-house, Victoria, forms and notices having been sent to employers and employees and advertisements again duly inserted.

Upon this occasion Mrs. MacGill presided, assisted by Mr. J. D. McNiven and Mr. Thomas Mathews. The conferees called were:—

Employers: M. W. Graham, H. Barrett, and E. Granville.

Employees: Agnes Thexton, Martha Dearman, and Mary E. Laxton.

Disinterested public: Rev. Robert Connell, Helen G. Stewart, and Pauline B. Saunders.

As at the other Conference, the first consideration was the cost of living in this occupation. The Board submitted estimates compiled from the tabulations of the forms returned to them.

Average, $14.85 per week.

Other figures presented at the meeting showed estimates of $19.90, $19.86, and $17.30 weekly, this last being a combination of other forms brought to the meeting by several witnesses.

One of the most difficult items discussed was the cost of board and lodging, an item upon which there seemed to be much variety of opinion.

The public meeting again consisted of two sittings, one in the morning and a short one in the afternoon. After its adjournment the members of the Conference met to consider their recommendation.

Following a short discussion, it was resolved to omit the second part of the question relating to the fixing of a piece-work rate, it being agreed by the employers and employees that this matter was not of material consequence.

Cost of living was again discussed, and the Conference unanimously agreed to make the following recommendation:—

"Be it Resolved, That this Conference on the Laundry, Cleaning, and Dyeing Industries in the Province of British Columbia, meeting in the Court-house, Victoria, B.C., on December 18th, 1918, do hereby make the following recommendation to the Minimum Wage Board of the Province of British Columbia: That it shall be unlawful for any employer in the Province of British Columbia to employ or pay female employees of eighteen years or over, engaged in the laundry, cleaning, and dyeing industry, less than twenty-eight and one-eighth cents (28⅛c.) per hour and less than thirteen dollars and fifty cents ($13.50) a week.

"And be it further Resolved, That the minimum wage recommended by this Conference be effective ninety (90) days after the approval of this recommendation by the Board.

The members of the Board met again on December 19th, 1918, in the Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., to discuss the wage to be fixed in the mercantile occupation for apprentices (section 10) and those under eighteen years of age (section 11), but adjourned in order to obtain further information.

At a meeting called on January 3rd, 1919, in the Minimum Wage Board Room 3, Fifth Floor Provincial Court-house, Vancouver, B.C., the Board again took up this question and the same subject in regard to the laundry and cleaning and dyeing industries in British Columbia. At this meeting the laundry employers called the attention of the Board to the unfair competition they met from the Chinese and Oriental laundries, and requested the Board to make recommendations at the next sittings of the Legislature which would bring all laundries under the "Factories Act" and similar restrictive legislation.

At a meeting held on January 4th in the Minimum Wage Room in the Court-house, Vancouver, representatives of laundry employers met the Board for the purpose of discussing the matter of hours, etc. It was suggested by some of the delegation that all laundries might be prohibited from operating between the hours of 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. The delegation also informed the Board that it was difficult to get out their work in those weeks in which there is a legal holiday. It was concluded that no effective solution of these difficulties can be arrived at without carefully considered legislative action. That there is unfair competition is obvious, but how this condition can be best remedied may be a serious problem.

Again at this meeting the important matter of the length of apprenticeship necessary in the mercantile industry was gone into, and after comparison with the decisions of other Minimum Wage Boards and Commissions, and careful inquiry among employees and employers, the general consensus of opinion seemed to the Board to favour one year. It being the experience of other Boards that better results are obtained if this period be divided into four equal periods of three months, each beginning at a fixed wage and rising a stated amount upon the termination of each period, the British Columbia Board therefore resolved to rule that such apprenticeship be for one year, and that it be divided into periods based upon the rising wage.

The Board met again in Victoria on January 15th, 1919, and agreed that the order on the mercantile industry in British Columbia should be made effective on and from February 24th, 1919, and authorized the Chairman to issue the same and have the proper notices published in the British Columbia Gazette as required by law. (These Orders, Nos. 1, 2, and 3 will be found in the Appendix to this report.)

At this meeting the vexed and complicated question of a wage schedule for those under eighteen was again taken up. To the members of the Board this is a subject presenting many perplexing phases. If the wage be fixed on a low standard the unfair employer is thereby offered an inducement to employ very young girls, discharging them when they arrive at the age at which they would be eligible for the minimum wage. On the other hand, if it be fixed high, mercenary parents are tempted to remove their children from school to thrust them into the wage-earning world upon their reaching the age-limit for compulsory attendance at school.

The question also was raised, if a young girl under eighteen has been employed a full year or more in the mercantile industry before attaining that age, should she be required to serve another year after that age as an apprentice at apprentice wages? Since a girl may enter business life very young and serve several years while under age, it seems plainly unjust to require a further term of apprenticeship. Having all this in mind, the Board therefore decided to rule:—

"That any girl who shall have been employed for a total period of at least one year shall be deemed to have completed her apprenticeship, and on her attaining the age of eighteen years she shall be paid the minimum wage for adult workers fixed by Order No. 1 and no further apprenticeship shall be allowed: Provided always that if, when she attains the age of eighteen years, the said girl shall not have completed one year's employment, she may, with the consent of the Board in accordance with the provisions of section 10 of the 'Minimum Wage Act,' be permitted to complete her apprenticeship of one year."

At the same meeting it was determined that the wage schedule for girls under eighteen should be issued as Order No. 2. Here again the members found a very involved and many-angled subject. One of the phases calling for much thought being whether a wage should be set for girls under sixteen different from that for girls over sixteen and under eighteen, or whether the same schedule should apply to all girls under eighteen. In concluding in favour of the latter proposal, the Board based its decision upon the belief that it is not in the best interests of the community to encourage the entry into business life of extremely young girls who might otherwise continue at school. This, it is held, is more justified in view of the fact that there is a large and growing section of our citizens who hold that the school age should be raised to sixteen. This ruling is embodied in Order No. 2, which sets forth the wage schedule for girls under eighteen, and may be found in the Appendix. The Board authorized the Chairman to issue Order No. 3 concerning the wages, etc., in the case of apprentices. This order also may be found in the Appendix.

All three orders become effective on and from February 24th, 1919. While no ruling can be equally just to all, and there must always be inequalities and injustices so long as men and women are merely human, so of limited finite wisdom, it is only right to point out that all the members of the Board spent many hours of anxious deliberation before coming to any final conclusions, and in making these orders have no thought that they are perfect or lasting, but such as appear best suited to the present conditions.

Much valuable data has been collected in the Department of Labour, to which the Minimum Wage Board belongs, during the investigation as to the wages current in the mercantile and the laundry and dry-cleaning and dyeing industries in British Columbia. Tabulations made from numerous returns as made by employers both as to wages and hours will be found in the Appendix.

Among other interesting details, these returns indicate that 2,043 women are employed in the mercantile industry in British Columbia. This is probably only approximately correct, as some employers have not yet learned the necessity of making complete returns to the Board. Of these, 73.8 per cent. received less than the minimum wage of $12.75 a week now fixed by the Board and 26.2 per cent. received over that sum, and 83.2 per cent. were eighteen years old or over and 16.8 per cent. were under that age. At $10 and $11 the peak was reached; that is, the largest number to receive any one wage is found at this sum. The highest wage reported was given, in accordance with the printed form sent employers, as $25 or over, and only 1.22 per cent. were in receipt of this.

There is not seemingly much part-time work in the mercantile industry, and the peak is found at forty-nine hours in Vancouver and outside places, while the peak in Victoria is reached at 46½ hours. The returns show not only that a forty-eight-hour week was not thoroughly established, but in several cases the extremely long hours stated appear to call for explanation, such as a week of seventy hours, the maximum, found in Vancouver. The maximum for Victoria was sixty hours and in outside points fifty-seven hours.

Some information of value may be obtained from the figures submitted in the laundry and dry-cleaning and dyeing industry investigation. In the laundry industry a large proportion of the employees are women, while in the dry-cleaning and dyeing industry few women are found. Of the women in laundries, 80 per cent. were eighteen years of age or over, while 20 per cent. were under that age. In the laundries the minimum wage paid women eighteen or over was between $6 and $7 while the maximum was reached at $20 to $21. The average wage under the minimum of $13.50 recommended by the Conference and approved by the Board, and paid to women eighteen years and over in laundries, was $10.36, and the average over the minimum wage of $13.50 was $14.83. The average wage paid to all women eighteen or over was $11.22.

For girls under eighteen in the laundries the minimum wage was between $6 and $7 and the maximum was between $13 and $14, though less than 6 per cent. of these girls received the maximum wage, and 78.9 per cent. of the total number of laundry-workers reported received less than the minimum wage recommended by the Conference; only 21 per cent. were in receipt of a larger sum.

In the cleaning and dyeing industries the weekly wages paid were considerably higher, and 75 per cent. were receiving more than the recommended minimum wage of $13.50 in these occupations, 90 per cent. were eighteen years of age or over, and 10 per cent. were under that age. The minimum wage for those eighteen and over was between $11 to $12, and the maximum was reached at from $20 to $21. The average minimum wage below $13.50 was $12.25, and the average above $13.50 was $16.16.

The minimum wage for those under eighteen was between $9 and $10 and the maximum between $12 and $13, and the average wage received by those over eighteen years of age was $11.50. The average wage to all girls in these industries was $15.10.

One of the inevitable impressions left upon those interested in these investigations was the futility of endeavouring to fix a just and equitable minimum wage where there is no power to control hours of labour. While it is true that the greatest number of employers reported a forty-nine-hour week, there were a sufficiently large number reporting longer hours to call for comment.

As Professor Michell, of the Department of Political Economic Science in Queen's University, has well said: "Not only are excessive hours of labour injurious to the health and longevity of the worker, but they are injurious to the employer as going beyond the maximum time profitable for him to keep his operatives at work, in causing the returns accruing from the hours above the ideal maximum to fall below his running expenses." We therefore arrive at the obvious conclusion that excessive hours of toil are injurious to worker and employer alike.

These statements have been so often and so convincingly proven that, as Mr. Gompers recently declared, the demand for an eight-hour day "is justified by experience as an economic, social, moral, and political necessity."

Finally, in closing this report, the Board beg to state that in their opinion more effective results could be obtained were the same power given us to regulate hours and conditions as have been given elsewhere to the Minimum Wage Boards, well named Industrial Welfare Commissions or Boards.

In conclusion, we desire to thank those who have extended to this Board so many courtesies, including the Commissions in Washington, Oregon, and California, and those labour leaders, employees, employers, and public-spirited citizens, both men and women, who aided and encouraged us with their advice and assistance; also we thank you yourself, sir, for the help and advice so freely given.

We have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servants,

J. D. MCNIVEN, Chairman.

It shall be the duty of the Board to ascertain the wages paid to employees in the various occupations, trades, and industries in which women are employed in this Province, and to fix the minimum wage. The Board shall have full power and authority, either by any member of the Board or by any duly authorized representative, to inspect and examine any and all books, pay-rolls, and other records of any employer that in any way appertain to or have any bearing upon the question of wages of any employees, and to take extracts from or make copies of any entries in such books, pay-rolls, and records, and to require from any employers full and true statements of the wages paid to his employees. A register of the names, ages, and residence addresses of all employees shall be kept by employers.—Sec. 5 of chap. 56 of the Statutes of 1918.

FORMS FOR ESTIMATING COST OF LIVING.

MINIMUM WAGE BOARD,

VICTORIA, B.C.

Below is given a statement which I believe to be a fair estimate of the amount required yearly by a prudent, self-supporting woman employed in a mercantile, mechanical, or other industrial establishment, in order to maintain herself in reasonable comfort.

NOTE.—The above estimate is desired by the Minimum Wage Board for the express purpose of determining the average of opinion and as a guidance for the Conferences composed of representatives of the Employers, Employees, and the Public, who will recommend to the Board an estimate of a minimum wage as provided by the law. It is not intended as a direct means of establishing a minimum wage. Your name in connection with this matter will be held in strict confidence by the Board. Please complete this form at your earliest convenience and return to Minimum Wage Board, Parliament Bldgs., Victoria.

If, after investigation, the Board shall find that in any occupation, trade, or industry the wages paid to employees are inadequate, the Board is empowered to call a conference composed of an equal number of representatives of employers and employees in the occupation or industry in question, together with one or more disinterested persons representing the public; but the representatives of the public shall not exceed the number of representatives of either of the other parties; and a member of the Board shall be a member of such conference and chairman thereof. The Board may make rules and regulations governing the selection of representatives and the mode of procedure of said conference, and shall exercise exclusive jurisdiction over all questions arising as to the validity of the procedure and of the recommendations of said conference. On request of the Board, it shall be the duty of the conference to recommend to the Board an estimate of the minimum wage proper in the occupation or industry in question, and adequate to supply the necessary cost of living. The findings and recommendations of the conference shall be made a matter of record for the use of the Board.—Sec. 7, Chap. 56, Statutes, 1918.

CIRCULAR TO ACCOMPANY COST OF LIVING FORMS.

MINIMUM WAGE BOARD FOR PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Read Carefully.

Before filling in the accompanying estimate of the annual cost of living of a prudent, self-supporting woman, please read over carefully the following and adhere strictly to the instructions. By so doing you will furnish an estimate that will be of real value to the Conference which is about to be called for the purpose of fixing a minimum wage for women and girls employed in the industry at which you are engaged.

First: Do not give any estimate for items in the list of which you have no personal knowledge. It is your own personal estimate which is desired with regard to each item, and if, with regard to any of them, you are not in a position to give an estimate, rather leave it blank than fill in the estimate of some other person, the correctness of which you have no means of testing.

Secondly: Do not merely copy the estimate of some friend. If you feel unequal to making the estimate required, it is better that you make no return at all.

Thirdly: Immediately after your signature at the foot of the estimate give your age in brackets—[18] or [30] or whatever it may be. This is necessary as a guide to the Conference when deciding upon the minimum wages for women and girls respectively.

Fourthly: Note particularly that the estimate desired is that of the amount required by a prudent self-supporting woman to maintain herself in reasonable comfort. It is the minimum wage that will be fixed—not the usual or maximum wage. An employer will be free to pay such higher wage than the minimum fixed as he may think fit. In fixing the minimum, however, it is essential that the estimates placed before the Conference should be based upon a consideration of the words italicized above.

Fifthly: When you have carefully made your estimate, mail the same directly to: The Minimum Wage Board, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C. As it is your own personal estimate that is desired, and as you are particularly asked to give an estimate only in regard to items in the list of which you have a personal knowledge, the usefulness of your estimate to the Conference will be lost if, before sending it in, you allow any person to intervene between yourself and the Board.

Sixthly: Complete and mail your estimate so that it will reach the Board at least five days before the date fixed for the Conference. The information contained in all the estimates has to be tabulated and analysed before the sitting of the Conference.

Lastly: Note particularly that the identity of any of the informants is not disclosed to the Conference. This is guarded by the Board as strictly confidential. The results of the tabulation and analysis mentioned above is all that is submitted.

MINIMUM WAGE BOARD.

FORM IN WHICH WAS SUBMITTED THE QUESTION OF THE MINIMUM WAGE PROPER IN THE MERCANTILE OCCUPATIONS AND ALSO IN THE LAUNDRY AND CLEANING AND DYEING INDUSTRIES IN BRITISH COLUMBIA, 1918.

(Question submitted.)

What is the minimum wage in the mercantile occupation in British Columbia adequate to supply the necessary cost of living to maintain a prudent, self-supporting female employee over eighteen (18) years of age in reasonable comfort?

(It is suggested that the Conference in its recommendation define the minimum wage at so much per hour and not less than so much a week.)

(Question submitted.)

What is the minimum wage in the laundry and cleaning and dyeing industries in British Columbia adequate to supply the necessary cost of living to maintain a prudent, self-supporting female employee over eighteen (18) years of age in reasonable comfort?

(It is suggested that the Conference in its recommendation define the minimum wage at so much per hour and not less than so much a week.)

N.B.—What provision (if any) should be made for piece-work rate?

At the Conference it was unanimously agreed to omit the clause relating to piece-work as immaterial.

ORDER No. 1.—FIXING THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR EXPERIENCED WOMEN EIGHTEEN YEARS OF AGE OR OVER IN THE MERCANTILE INDUSTRY IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Upon the receipt of the recommendations from a Conference held on the fourth day of December, 1918, pursuant to the provisions of the "Minimum Wage Act," touching the minimum wage proper in the mercantile industry, as follows:—

"Be it Resolved, That this Conference on the Mercantile Industry in the Province of British Columbia, meeting in the City Hall in the City of Vancouver, B.C., on the fourth day of December, 1918, do hereby make the following recommendation to the Minimum Wage Board of the Province of British Columbia: 'That it shall be unlawful for any employer in the Province of British Columbia to employ or pay any female employees of eighteen years of age or over, engaged in the mercantile industry, less than twenty-six and nine-sixteenths of a cent per hour (26 $^{9}/_{16}$c.) and less than twelve dollars and seventy-five cents ($12.75) a week.'

"Be it further Resolved, 'That this rate shall remain in force for twelve (12) months from the date of the Order made thereon, subject to section 9 of the Act, chapter 56, Statutes of British Columbia, 1918, being the "Minimum Wage Act."'"

And this Board having approved all of the said recommendations of the Conference, it is hereby ordered as obligatory on all persons, copartnerships, associations, and corporations, pursuant to the provisions of the said Act, as follows:—

The minimum wage for every female person eighteen years of age or over that age (except as to women and apprentices to whom a special licence is issued by the Board under section 10 of the said Act) who is in receipt of or entitled to any compensation for labour or services performed for any employer, within the meaning of the said Act, in any mercantile industry in the Province of British Columbia shall be the sum of twenty-six and nine-sixteenths cents (26 $^{9}/_{16}$c.) per hour and the sum of twelve dollars and seventy-five cents ($12.75) a week.

And, where used in this Order, the expression "mercantile industry" shall include all establishments operated for the purpose of trade in the purchase or sale of any goods or merchandise; and this Order shall apply to all female employees engaged therein on the sales force; the wrapping force; the auditing or check-inspection force; the shoppers' force in the mail-order department; the receiving, marking, and stock-room employees; sheet-music saleswomen; and those otherwise engaged in the sale, purchase, or distribution of any goods or merchandise.

This Order shall come into force and be effective on and from the twenty-fourth day of February, 1919.

MINIMUM WAGE BOARD.
J. D. McNIVEN, Chairman.
HELEN GREGORY MACGILL.
THOMAS MATHEWS.

Section 13 of the Act provides that: "Every employer employing an employee for whom a minimum wage has been fixed under this Act, at less than the minimum wage, or who violates any other provision of this Act, shall be liable, upon summary conviction, to a penalty of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars."

Each employer is required to post a copy of this Order in each room in which employees affected by the Order are employed. ("Minimum Wage Act," section 8.)

ORDER No. 2.—FIXING THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR FEMALES UNDER EIGHTEEN YEARS OF AGE IN THE MERCANTILE INDUSTRY IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Take notice that by virtue of the authority vested in the Minimum Wage Board by the "Minimum Wage Act," being chapter 56 of the Statutes of British Columbia, 1918, the said Board, having inquired into the wages and conditions of labour of girls under eighteen years of age employed in the mercantile industry in the Province of British Columbia, and having determined wages and conditions of labour suitable for such girls, hereby orders that:—

1. No employer shall employ any girl in the mercantile industry in the Province of British Columbia under the age of eighteen years at less than the following wage, namely:—

$7.50 a week during the first three months of such employment.

$8.00 a week during the second three months of such employment.

$8.50 a week during the third three months of such employment.
$9.00 a week during the fourth three months of such employment.
$9.50 a week during the fifth three months of such employment.
$10.00 a week during the sixth three months of such employment.
$10.50 a week during the seventh three months of such employment.
$11.00 a week during the eighth three months of such employment.

Any girl who shall have been employed for a total period of at least one year shall be deemed to have completed her apprenticeship, and on her attaining the age of eighteen years she shall be paid the minimum wage for adult female workers in the mercantile industry fixed by Order No. 1 of this Board, and no further apprenticeship shall be allowed: Provided always that if, when she attains the age of eighteen years, the said girl shall not have completed one year's employment, she may, with the consent of the Board in accordance with the provisions of section 10 of the said Act, be permitted to complete her apprenticeship period of one year.

And, where used in this Order, the term "employer" shall include every person, firm, or corporation, agent, manager, representative, contractor, sub-contractor, or principal, or other persons having control or direction of any employee in the mercantile industry, or responsible, directly or indirectly, for the wages of another.

And, where used in this Order, the expression "mercantile industry" shall include all establishments operated for the purpose of trade in the purchase or sale of any goods or merchandise; and this Order shall apply to all female employees engaged therein on the sales force; the wrapping force; the auditing or check-inspection force; the shoppers' force in the mail-order department; the receiving, marking, and stock-room employees; sheet-music saleswomen; and those otherwise engaged in the sale, purchase, or distribution of any goods or merchandise.

This Order shall come into force and be effective on and from the twenty-fourth day of February, 1919.

HELEN GREGORY MACGILL.
THOMAS MATHEWS.

Section 13 of the Act provides that: "Every employer employing an employee for whom a minimum wage has been fixed under this Act, at less than the minimum wage, or who violates any other provision of this Act, shall be liable, upon summary conviction, to a penalty of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars."

Each employer is required to post a copy of this Order in each room in which employees affected by the Order are employed. ("Minimum Wage Act," section 8.)

ORDER No. 3.—BEING THE WAGE SCHEDULE FIXED BY THE BOARD FOR APPRENTICES (INEXPERIENCED WOMEN EIGHTEEN YEARS OF AGE OR OVER) IN THE MERCANTILE INDUSTRY IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

To Employers in the Mercantile Industry:

The Minimum Wage Board have, by Order No. 1 of the said Board, fixed the minimum wage to be paid women employees in the mercantile industry eighteen years of age and over that age; and have, by Order No. 2 of the said Board, fixed the minimum wage to be paid women employees in the mercantile industry under eighteen years of age; both of which Orders become effective on and from the twenty-fourth day of February, 1919.

By section 10 of the "Minimum Wage Act" (chapter 56, Statutes of British Columbia, 1918) the Board is empowered to issue to any woman apprentice a special licence authorizing her employment in the above industry (being an industry for which a minimum wage has been fixed) at a minimum wage to be fixed in the licence, less than the minimum wage fixed for the said industry; the licence to remain in force for such period as is fixed by the Board: Provided that the number of employees holding special licences under said section employed in any plant or establishment shall not exceed in number one-tenth of the whole number of the employees in that plant or establishment.

To obviate unnecessary correspondence and delay in the issue of such licences, the Board desire that you take notice that such licences will only be issued under the following conditions, namely:—

The length of apprenticeship term for female employees eighteen years of age or over that age in the mercantile industry in British Columbia shall be one year, and such apprenticeship term shall be divided into four periods of three months each. No employer shall employ any such apprentice during the first period at a weekly wage of less than $9; or during the second period at a weekly wage of less than $10; or during the third period at a weekly wage of less than $11; or during the fourth period at a weekly wage of less than $12.

The length of apprenticeship term for female employees under eighteen years of age in the mercantile industry in British Columbia shall not extend beyond the said apprentice attaining the age of eighteen years (save as provided in said Order No. 2 of the said Board), and no employer shall employ any such apprentice at a weekly wage less than the weekly wage fixed by said Order No. 2 for female employees under eighteen years of age in the said mercantile industry.

Where used in this Order, the term "employer" shall include every person, firm, or corporation, agent, manager, representative, contractor, sub-contractor, or principal, or other persons having control or direction of any employee in the mercantile industry, or responsible, directly or indirectly, for the wages of another.

And, where used in this Order, the term "mercantile industry" shall include all establishments operated for the purpose of trade in the purchase or sale of any goods or merchandise; and this Order shall apply to all female employees engaged therein on the sales force; the wrapping force; the auditing or check-inspection force; the shoppers' force in the mail-order department; the receiving, marking, and stock-room employees; sheet-music saleswomen; and those otherwise engaged in the sale, purchase, or distribution of any goods or merchandise.

This Order shall come into force and be effective on and from the twenty-fourth day of February, 1919.

CHAPTER 56.

AN ACT TO FIX A MINIMUM WAGE FOR WOMEN.

[Consolidated for convenience only, March 31st, 1919.]

HIS MAJESTY, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of British Columbia, enacts as follows:—

1. This Act may be cited as the "Minimum Wage Act."

2. In this Act the following expressions shall have the following meanings respectively:—

The term "employer" shall include every person, firm, or corporation, agent, manager, representative, contractor, sub-contractor, or principal, or other persons having control or direction of any employee in any trade, business, occupation, or calling, or responsible directly or indirectly for the wages of another:

The term "employee" shall include every female person who is in receipt of or entitled to any compensation for labour or services performed for any employer:

The term "wage" and "wages" shall include any compensation for labour or services, measured by time, piece, or otherwise:

The term "minimum wage" shall mean the amount of wages fixed by the Board:

The term "Board" shall mean the Minimum Wage Board constituted under the provisions of this Act.

3. For the purposes of administering and carrying out the provisions of this Act, there shall be in the Department of Labour of this Province a Board, to be called the "Minimum Wage Board," which shall consist of three members, one of whom shall be the Deputy Minister of Labour, who shall be Chairman of the Board, and the other members shall be appointed by and hold office during the pleasure of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council. One member of the Board shall be a woman. Two members of the Board shall constitute a quorum.

4. No member of the Board shall receive any salary as such. The Board may employ a secretary and such expert clerical and other assistants as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act, who shall hold office during the pleasure of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council. All necessary expenses incurred by said Board shall be paid by the Department of Labour from the Consolidated Revenue Fund unless moneys have been appropriated by the Legislature for that purpose.

5. It shall be the duty of the Board to ascertain the wages paid and the hours and conditions of labour and employment in the various occupations, trades, and industries in which females are employed in this Province, and to fix the minimum wage, the maximum hours, and such conditions of labour and employment as in the opinion of the Board seem necessary or expedient for the welfare of employees. The Board shall have full power and authority, either by any member of the Board or by any duly authorized representative, to inspect and examine any and all books, pay-rolls, and other records of any employer that in any way appertain to or have any bearing upon the question of wages, hours, or conditions of labour and employment of any employees, and to take extracts from or make copies of any entries in such books, pay-rolls, and records, and to require from any employer full and true statements of the wages paid to his employees and the hours and conditions of labour and employment of such employees. A register of the names, ages, and residence addresses of all employees shall be kept by employers.

6. The Board may from time to time hold public meetings at a time and place to be fixed by them, at which employers and employees and all persons interested may appear and be heard. For the purpose of obtaining information, the Board shall have the powers and authorities conferred by the "Public Inquiries Act" on a Commission issued or appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, and the provisions of that Act shall, mutatis mutandis, extend and apply to any inquiry held by the Board under this Act. All witnesses subpœnaed by the Board shall be paid the same witness fees and mileage as are now allowed by law to witnesses before the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

7. If, after investigation, the Board shall find that in any occupation, trade, or industry the wages paid to employees are inadequate or the hours of labour are excessive, the Board is empowered to call a conference composed of an equal number of representatives of employers and employees in the occupation or industry in question, together with one or more disinterested persons representing the public; but the representatives of the public shall not exceed the number of representatives of either of the other parties; and a member of the Board shall be a member of such conference and chairman thereof. The Board may make rules and regulations governing the selection of representatives and the mode of procedure of said conference, and shall exercise exclusive jurisdiction over all questions arising as to the validity of the procedure and of the recommendations of said conference. On request of the Board, it shall be the duty of the conference to recommend to the Board an estimate of the minimum wage proper in the occupation or industry in question, and adequate to supply the necessary cost of living; and also, when so requested, to recommend the maximum hours of labour proper in the occupation or industry. The findings and recommendations of the conference shall be made a matter of record for the use of the Board.

8. Upon the receipt of such recommendations from a conference, the Board shall review the same, and may approve any or all of such recommendations, or it may disapprove any or all of them and recommit the subject or the recommendations disapproved of to the same or a new conference. After such approval of the recommendations of a conference the Board shall issue an obligatory order specifying the minimum wage for employees in the occupation affected, and may also specify such maximum hours of labour and such conditions of labour and employment as are deemed necessary or expedient for the welfare of the employees. Such order shall become effective in sixty days from the date thereof, or if the Board shall find that unusual conditions necessitate a longer period, then the Board shall fix a later date on which such order shall become effective. Said order shall be published in one issue of the British Columbia Gazette at least thirty days before the same becomes effective. After such order is effective, it shall be unlawful for any employer in the occupation named in said order to employ or pay employees less than the minimum wage or to require or to permit employees to work for longer hours or under conditions of labour and employment contrary to the terms specified in said order. The Board shall send by mail, so far as practicable, to each employer in the occupation named a copy of said order, and each employer shall be required to post a copy of said order in each room in which employees affected by the order are employed.

9. After a minimum wage has been fixed by the Board in any occupation, upon petition of either employers or employees the Board may in its discretion reopen the question and reconvene the former conference or call a new one, and any recommendations made by such conference shall be dealt with by the Board in the same manner as the original recommendations of a conference.

10. (1.) In the case of women who are physically defective, and in case of female apprentices in any occupation in which apprentices are usually employed, the Board may in respect of any occupation as to which a minimum wage has been fixed issue to any such woman or apprentice a special licence authorizing her employment in that occupation at a minimum wage, to be fixed in the licence, less than the minimum wage fixed for that occupation. Such special licences shall be issued only in the discretion of the Board, and in cases where the Board is satisfied that the application therefor is made in good faith, and in the case of apprentices shall remain in force for such period as is fixed by the Board.

(2.) The number of employees holding special licences under this section employed in any plant or establishment shall not exceed in number one-seventh of the whole number of the employees in that plant or establishment: Provided, however, that in any plant or establishment, where less than seven employees are employed, one apprentice holding a special licence may be employed.

11. The Board may at any time inquire into wages and conditions of labour of girls under eighteen years of age employed in any occupation in the Province and may determine wages and conditions of labour suitable for such girls. When the Board has made such determination in the cases of girls under eighteen years of age it may proceed to issue an obligatory order in the manner provided for in section 8 of this Act, and after such order is effective it shall be unlawful for any employer in said occupation to employ a girl under eighteen years of age for less wages or for longer hours than is specified for girls under eighteen years of age in said occupation, or under conditions of labour prohibited by the Board for said girls under eighteen years of age in its order.

12. Any employer who discharges or in any other manner discriminates against any employee because such employee has testified or is about to testify, or because such employer believes that said employee may testify, in any investigation or proceedings relative to the enforcement of this Act shall be liable, upon summary conviction, to a penalty of not less than twenty-five dollars and not more than one hundred dollars.

13. Every employer who employs an employee for whom a minimum wage has been fixed under this Act, at less than the minimum wage, or who employs an employee for whom maximum hours of labour have been fixed under this Act, for longer hours than the maximum so fixed, or who neglects or fails to comply with any order made under this Act as to conditions of labour and employment, or who violates any provision of this Act, shall be liable, upon summary conviction, to a penalty of not less than twenty-five dollars and not more than one hundred dollars.

14. If any employee is paid less than the minimum wage to which she is entitled under this Act, the said employee shall be entitled to recover from her employer, in a civil action, the balance between the amount of the minimum wage and the amount paid, together with costs and solicitors' fees, to be fixed by the Court.

15. This Act shall not apply to farm-labourers, fruit-pickers, or domestic servants or their employers.
